Mrs. W. J. Harper visited her daughter, Mrs. Charles Wolfraim, Castleton, on Friday, and while there took in the debate, "Resolved that the influence of Knox was greater in Scotland than Wesley in England." The debate took place between members of the Shiloh Epworth League and the Castleton League. The affirmative was taken by Mr. Everett Allen and Miss Nellie Mutton, of Shiloh, while Castleton put up a winning fight for the negative by Misses Maude Harnden and Gertrude Newman. Many well thought points were brought out, and the judges—Mr. Phelp, of Shiloh, Mr. R. Reynolds, Castleton, and Rev. G. S. Hammond, Warkworth, decided that the negative had won.

Dr. Gordon Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong and daughter, Doreen, of Roseneath, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Armstrong, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolfraim and family, of Castleton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Harper on Sunday.

Mrs. A. Dunwoodie returned to Campbellford on Sunday after spending some time with Dr. C. C. Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Garbutt were guests Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Nelson, Morganston, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Carlaw are spending a few days in Toronto.

LENA BARTON

A STORY OF THE EARLY SETTLEMENT IN PART OF EMILY TOWNSHIP

By JOHN J. GLASS

While affairs between them were at this stage, Mr. Barton was called from home on a matter of business which would detain him over night. When this news reached George's ears he was not slow to take advantage of an opportunity, affording him a chance for a long, uninterrupted talk with Lena, so when the shades of evening fell on the day her father left home, he hit the trail for the Barton cabin to enjoy the anticipated visit. Lack of data prevents any record of the conversation which ensued between them, but it is safe to presume that time sped rapidly until the "witching" hour arrived "when church yards yawn," at this time they were seated in the cabin before an open window, for the night was sultry. Without warning, a missile was thrown through the window which came dangerously near hitting Lena and fell on the floor. George, thinking that some of the boys had got on his track and had come to play tricks, ran out to catch the culprit, but there was no one in sight. The moon, near full, was shining brightly, and the night was quite calm. The only sound that disturbed the silence was the distant barking of a neighbor's dog. In the meantime Lena had arranged her seat to give her a better chance to see out should anything more occur. When George had searched the premises without effect he returned to report. They then resumed their seats and began speculating on who the intruder could have been when another missile was thrown in. This time Lena looked quickly out and saw her mother standing outside, close to the window with a troubled look on her face and shaking her hand at her in a menacing manner. When Lena saw this apparition, she sprang to her feet, uttered a piercing scream, and dropped in a faint to the floor.

It was now George's turn to be alarmed, for Lena lay at his feet the picture of death, and he did not know if she were dead or alive. He had never heard of such a thing as first aid and had no idea of how to act. It was quite a run to the next house, and even had it been but a few rods, he would have been afraid to have left her alone in that condition while he went to summon help.

While those thoughts were passing through his mind he noticed Lena's hand move. He then raised, supporting her in a sitting position on the stool until she recovered, plying her all the while with questions as to what had happened. When she had recovered sufficiently to speak, disregarding his questions, she told him he must go away at once and leave her. This he at first refused to do, but Lena would accept no compromise and finally told him he must leave without more delay on the penalty of a break in their relations. Seeing she was obdurate, he left. Lena did not wait to hear "the sound of his departing footsteps dying in the distance," but as soon as he went out she closed the door, bolting it securely. She then fastened the window and retired to her little room, the door of which she also bolted.

It was not so dark in her room but objects could be seen without the aid of candle ligh , for the moon was shining in through the upper part of the window which threw a spot of moonlight on the floor. As soon as Lena had retired and extinguished the candle light she heard a footstep on the floor outside her room. Glancing at the door she saw her mother appear through it with as much ease as though no obstacle had been in her way. Her face still bore the troubled look and in her hand she carried a goodly-sized switch. Slipping to the bed where Lena lay she threw back the light covering and administered several sharp strokes of the switch across her shoulders. She then retired into invisibility and was seen no more.

Next day when Mr. Barton returned he found Lena confined to her bed suffering from a high fever. The hamlet doctor was called who, after a diganosis, ordered the room kept tightly closed against draughts lest the patient catch cold, and that no nourishment be given but hot broths, gruel or other hot drinks. He then opened a vein in her arm and drew from it nearly a pint of blood, after which he administered a real old allopathic dose of calomel. Then he took his departure, promising to call next day and note progress.

The doctor's treatment of Lena's case as reported here, may seem to be slightly overdrawn, but it is a fact that a treatment along that line was a sort of a standard there at that time for all manner of physical ailments from an accident to the white plague. If an accident, which was thought at all serious, happened, the doctor was called, and if the trouble consisted of a cut or a bruise he would bandage it, but if no bones were found broken, he would bleed the patient and leave him to his fate. Bleeding was thought to be an infallible panacea for all ills, and calomel was more used as a medicine than any other drug.

This ignorance of the people concerning ills and their treatments no doubt arose in a measure at least from the fact that the doctor, the only one around there at the time settled, knew little more about such matters than the common people. When he settled there he was quite a young man and had no experience. He was not a medical graduate, and had no diploma. He had entered a college in Dublin to study medicine, but soon after met a young girl with whom he became infatuated and they were married. The marriage was a runaway affair, and to prevent trouble with the parents the young couple came to Canada, and by some chance or fate, found their way to Cottingham's Village, where he started practising medicine and became very popular.

The doctor was an interesting character and a few words describing him may not be uninteresting. He no doubt belonged to what was known as a good family. He was over six feet in height with faultless proportions. His facial features were strong, handsome and manly and intellectually he was much above the average. His every word and gesture denoted the culture and refinement that comes of generations of habit and careful training. He seemed to hold a sort of hypnotic influence over those with whom he came in contact. He was an interesting talker and considered quite a good public speaker but took little interest in politics and never sought a public office. The doctor was no business man and seemed to have no instinct or interest in business affairs. In spite of the fact that he was not even a half pledged doctor and had no authority to practice. The people had every confidence in his skill and ability to cure them. If there were any laws at the time in Canada preventing other than regularly authorized physicians to practice they were never enforced in his case, and he remained for a number of years the only doctor in that section.

But after a time the doctor acquired the habit of going too often to the sideboard. As a result his patients were neglected. Another doctor settled in the village and secured this neglected practice. The doctor who had never kept any business account with those with whom he dealt, had few bills to collect and his obligations were not met. In this dilemma he went to the wall, financially and otherwise, and died of the white plague while yet in the prime of life.

The news of Lena's illness soon spread through the settlement and the neighbors began coming to offer their sympathy and assistance. The good women took in the situation at a glance and just there formed themselves into a relief committee to nurse Lena day and night and do her housework until she recovered or the worst should come. A resolution which was well and faithfully carried out. Lena's illness occurred during a hot wave in mid-August and day after day she lay on a feather bed in a little stuffy room into which a breath of fresh air was scarcely allowed to enter and the only nourishments given were the hot potions prescribed by the doctor. Under such treatment it is not remarkable that she remained almost constantly in a state of delirium. Occasionally she would awaken and become conscious but soon relapsed into delirious ravings. It was in one of these rational moments that she confided to the good friend that watched by her bedside, the story of her broken vow and her mother's appearance.

But in spite of the doctor's most expert skill and the tender nursing of kind-hearted neighbors, Lena continued to grow worse and early the ninth morning after her mother's mysterious advent, just as the sun was rising, her spirit bade adieu to earthly things and passed on to join her irate mother in the unknown and mysterious beyond towards which all mortality is so surely and so rapidly moving.

George Colby, whose affections for Lena were perfectly sincere, was disconsolate at this sudden ending of his love dreams. A few weeks after her demise he joined a party of surveyors, and taking all his worldly possessions, tied up in a red bandanna handkerchief, he went to a new settlement in far Western Ontario where no object on which his eye might rest would call up tender memories, and where he afterwards married and became a useful and respected citizen.

Lena's remains were tenderly laid away close beside those of her mother in the little old burying ground that surrounged the Anglican Church in the Village of Omemee, the same church in which she and her mother had so often worshipped.

It seems strange that those in authority have not had more respect for the miserable plot of ground, and seem to have kept at least for decency sake, where so many bones of the courageous old pioneers, both men and women, who were first to open up the country, as well as those of the forefathers and mothers of the hamlet lie buried.

Many years ago the old church was abandoned as a place of worship and torn down. A new cemetery was purchased outside the village and burials were no longer permitted in the church yard, which was deserted and allowed to grow wild. At the present time scarcely a trace of the old church site remains. Trees and shrubbery sprang up and have grown almost to maturity. The old wooden fence which once enclosed this hallowed spot disappeared long since, leaving it an open prey to all manner of desecrations. Domestic animals roam at will where grave mounds once were numerous, and quietly graze above what remains of those who lie beneath. The only indications that a grave yard ever existed on the spot are the old fallen and broken headstones scattered here and there amongst the weeds and grass.

So the exact location of Lena's Betty Cooper and of the whereabouts of whose grave an old Scotch epitaph has the following:

The place where Betty Cooper lies is here or hereabout
The place where Betty Cooper lies
there, none can find it out
The place where Betty Cooper lies there's none on earth can tell
Till at the resurrection day when Betty tells hersel'.

Though I frequently heard the story of Lena Barton when I was a boy and every incident connected with it vouched for with the most vehement protestations as being the truth, pure and simple, yet there has always lingered in my mind a doubt as to the truth of the appearance of Lena's mother throwing missiles at the young couple through the window or punishing Lena with a switch as she lay trembling in bed. I rather cling to the belief that fever germs had already been doing their work in Lena's case, and when she had parted with her company and retired for the night she would naturally feel some remorse for having violated her vow to her dying mother. A severe attack of nightmare, induced by fever delirium would, in my opinion, account for the supernatural appearance.

IMAGINARY ILLNESS.

Nervous Breakdowns Are Forms of Mental Disorders—Control the Mind.

Yet there are few people, suffering from nervous trouble, who will admit that the seat of their trouble is in their minds.

The technical name of these nervous disorders is psychoneuroses, and among the psychoneuroses, are found those individuals who contribute so largely to the discomfort, distress and unhappiness of many homes and communities.

Mrs. Mann remembered a woman, living on another street. All her acquaintances strongly believed that her physical health was almost perfect, to say the least.

Yet when they would meet her, they would ask her how she was feeling and invariably the answer was the same:

This woman would have been highly insulted if some one had told her that nothing was wrong, and that most of her troubles were in her mind only.

LAKEFIELD HAS PLEASANT PARTY

Miss Effie Webster Was Given Shower—Fire Alarm Obtained.

LAKEFIELD, April 9.—On Monday evening about forty ladies of the Methodist Church gathered at the home of Mrs. Spence and proceeded in a body to the home of Miss Webster, where they presented Miss Effie Webster with a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. Reddick read an address expressing the good wishes of the ladies of the church on her approaching marriage and assuring her of their continued friendship throughout her new life. The gifts were all of varied character and all both useful and ornamental. Refreshments were served and a social hour was spent.

New Fire Alarm.

A new electric fire alarm has been purchased for the village and will be installed at the Town Hall and will be operated from the Town Hall and the telephone office and will be a municipal asset, as heretofore the village has been dependent on the courtesy of the rector and wardens of St. John's Church for the use of the church bell for a fire alarm. The fire brigade have worked very hard to get this alarm for the village and its installation is due in a great measure to their persistent efforts.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

NOT PUBLIC LIBRARIES

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir: May I ask you to publish the following letter which I have received from Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, President of the Local Branch of the National Council of Women

The wording of the press despatch published a few days ago was so misleading that it would be an act of fairness to the N.C.W., and would put in its proper light a matter which many interested in the dissemination of good literature will probably be willing to endorse.

F. M. DELA FOSSE.

"Dear Mr. Dela Fosse:

"I am sorry a misappreheasion has arisen as to what libraries came under discussion when the N. C. W. interviewed the Ontario Government.

"The resolution reads as follows

"'To amend the Municipal Act, so as to give municipalities the power of instituting some form of supervision over Lending Libraries, preferably licensing.'

"And only had reference to the small lending library conducted for the most part by private individuals through the medium of shops, and which puts into circulation a great deal of pernicious and immoral literature.

"The Public Libraries never came under discussion at all, as the system under which they are managed should and does provide adequate supervision.

"Believe me, sincerely yours,

"G. MAUDE E. STEVENSON."

AGNES McPHAIL WINS.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir: Agnes McPhail wins in the first round and Duff of Lunenberg lies unconscious under the ropes, and the mayor of Glace Bay is referee. Agnes won again only a few days ago with her prison reform measure, winning the approval of all three leaders, only to be stabbed under the ribs by a man who was so narrow that he would not fill a crack in the floor.

What we want to-day in the public life of our country is at least 25% of good, sane, outstanding women who will stand true to principle. Recently I heard it said that it was the women that elected the woman on the Peterboro' Board of Education, and in a very short time the same person said that woman would not vote for woman for they were jealous of each other (not very consistent).

I believe that women are going to stand behind each other. It has been said that the workingmen would not support a woman for public life. This is an absolute libel on our workingmen, for they have always taken our woman member of the Board of Education upon their slate. The workingman knows that women will stand for their moral and social rights stronger then men. Now we have in the constituency of Peterboro' women who can trim any man we have upon the public platform, and with the present feeling we have throughout the constituency can trim any man we have at the polls.

Women, who, from their outstanding personality, we would be proud to say that our representative now as a close student of politics for over forty years. I am willing to go the limit and support any good sane woman for any office in the public life of our community, regardless of party politics.

We cannot submit to the men of the Dominion Government in shirking their responsibility of one-third of the relief that is constantly arising around us. They are receiving our money, as well as the Provincial and Municipal Government, not to boost the cost of Government with our nine millions of people to $2,900,000, while the cost of Government in Great Britain is only $1,300,000, with its many millions of people, but to assist in building up a great nation.

Thanking you, I remain yours, &c.,

—W. H. Merrill.

DISCONTINUE EXPORT OF ELECTRIC ENERGY.

April 5th, 1925.

To the Editor:

Dear Sir,—Last week's paper announced that the licensees for the export of electric energy had filed declarations that the power to be exported is not required for consumption in Canada, on which declarations licenses were issued, subject to the export duty provided for by this year's budget.

Now, the above indicates that the export of power is only a year to year contract, subject to the non-requirements of Canada, instead of a 99 year cast iron contract the licensees would like us to think.

With Toronto being put on short rations, and forbidden extensions, and Hamilton being precautionarily notified that the same would apply here shortly, all on account of the general shortage of power.

A declaration from power users, municipal associations, or the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, would be rather better evidence of its necessities, or otherwise, than would the sellers and exporters of power.

If by chance the exporters are right and the energy is not immediately required, then why not sell it in Canada to start pulp and paper mills along the Welland Canal, where Canadian pulp wood, now delivered to Ogdensburg, N.Y., by water, and Buffalo and vicinity by rail, would be equally tributory to to Welland Canal either by rail or water, and manufacture the 1,400,000 cords of raw Canadian pulp wood now being exported, thus distributing $90,000,000 of wages in Canada instead of nothing.

W. O. Sealey.

Diagram 1.

The above diagram illustrates the faults of brush marks in lead and oil paint, and other mixed paints. Points A are weak spots in the film. Points B indicate where an excess of paint gives only surface drying, leaving a soft centre and producing surface cracking. Dirt and destructive fungi collect in the dales at points C, giving a dirty appearance and early destruction of the film. Light does not reflect a good gloss from such a rough surface. Too much paint is piled up at points D, which lessens its covering capacity.

25% Greater Paint Value

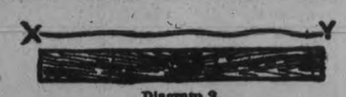

Diagram 2.

The above diagram illustrates a typical

Floglaze Exterior Surface

There are no weak hollows to destroy the film. Its self-levelling qualities produce a level, unbroken surface. There are no brush marks. Dirt and fungi cannot collect to mar or destroy the film. Light is evenly reflected, giving a glossy enamel finish on both interior and exterior surfaces.

It can also be seen that the length of the zig-zag line from X to Y in diagram No. 1 is much greater than the length of the line X to Y in diagram No. 2, which plainly illustrates why FLOGLAZE EXTERIOR actually covers from 20% to 25% more surface than any paint made with ordinary raw linseed oil.

There Is a Floglaze Line for Every Purpose

MARCHIONESS LIVES IN POVERTY WHILE CHILDREN HAVE MILLIONS

MARRIED SAILOR

Naturalized German Became First Sea Lord of British Admiralty.

By MILTON BRONNER.

LONDON, April 9.—Cousin of the King of Belgium, mother of the Crown Princess of Sweden, and mother-in-law of the richest woman in Great Britain, but herself living in poverty!

That's the description that has been given of the Marchioness of Milford Haven. And it has set all tongues wagging in British society. It's one of the sensations of the day. So much so, that the great Labor daily of London has asked cynically what is meant by "poverty." It insinuates that the great lady's circumstances may be what very rich people call "poverty," but what poor people would call rich.

It all came about because the executor of the estate of the late Marquis of Milford Haven asked the Royal Commission on Awards to Inventors to pay something to the Milford Haven estate because of the Battenberg course indicator.

The device was invented in the nineties and still is used in the naval service. It is claimed the country has been saved thousands of pounds sterling because it helped ships avoid collisions.

The inventor got nothing for his instrument because at the time he was an officer in the navy and it is against the laws of the navy to patent things and get money for them. Now, owing to the straitened circumstances of his widow, an award is asked.

tragedies of the war. He was born Prince Louis Battenberg, son of Prince Alexander of Hesse and grandson of Louis II., Grand Duke of Hesse. So he was a German prince. He married his cousin, Princess Victoria, daughter of Louis IV., Grand Duke of Hesse, and of Princess Alice. The latter was a daughter of Queen Victoria of England. So Princess Battenberg is a full cousin of King George.

Her husband beacme a naturalized British citizen and went into the navy. He became a real tar and rose gradually in the service until the outbreak of the World War found him First Sea Lord of the Admiralty.

At the request of the King, owing to the war, Battenberg gave up his German rank and titles and was created by royal patent Lord Mountbatten and afterwards Marquis of Milford Haven.. The passions of the war grew to such an extent that the marquis was practically forced out of his job because of his German birth, although men in the know were convinced there was no one in England more devoted to England's cause.

That broke his heart. The war and the revolution in Russia wiped out a great part of his fortune. Hence the present application on behalf of his widow.

But what society can't understand is why she risked publicity and almost certain refusal of her claim, seeing how well two of her children have done in their marriages.

Her daughter, Princess Louise Mountbatten, married the Crown Prince of Sweden, who is not a poor prince. And her youngest son, Louis Mountbatten, married the granddaughter and principal heiress of Sir Ernest Cassel and reputed to be worth over $30,000,000.

Miss Irene Wagner Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"I was troubled with pimples from the time I was twelve years of age. Some of the pimples were large and some were small. They were hard and red at first but after the second or third day they usually came to a head and gradually disappeared. They looked so badly that I was disgusted and did not want to go anywhere.

"One day I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided I would send for a free sample. I purchased more and in two or three months the pimples disappeared." (Signed) Miss Irene Wagner, Box 881, Havre, Mont., Aug. 27, 1923.

For every purpose of the toilet and bath, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are excellent.

MUST CUT WEEDS.

Agricultural Committee To Frame Resolution— Prevent Spread From Highways.

TORONTO, April 9.—(Canadian Press).—At the final meeting of the Agricultural Committee this morning the necessity of weed cutting was discussed at length. The resolution adopted read:

"That the Minister of Agriculture consult with the Minister of Highways with a view to taking whatever steps may be necessary and notify the municipalities that weeds must be cut along all roads as a precaution to prevent spread to adjoining farms, and that this will be taken into consideration in connection with the road grants given."

STIRLING'S TAX BEHIND $176.65, ROLL RETURNED

BUY FIRE REEL.

Council Granted $25 to Horticultural Society—I.O.O. F. to Visit Peterboro.

STERLING, April 8 — At the reguar meeting of the village council on Monday night all the members were present. After the usual routine business was transacted, Mr. J. B. Belshaw was heard on behalf of the Horticultural Society. He enumerated several of the good things the Society had done for the village, making beauty spots to appear where other conditions were before their work began. After some consideration the Council made the usual grant of $25.00 to the Society.

The collector of taxes for 1924 having completed his work as far as possible, returned the roll with a balance of $176.65 as uncollectable out of a total for the year of $19,802.74.

The sanitary inspector was instructed to order the cleaning up of certain places of which complaint had been made to the council.

Mr. Sprental informed the Council that he had made arrangements whereby the village could get the use of a transformer quickly, in an emergency, thus saving the purchase of one at the present time.

New Fire Apparatus

A new hose reel was ordered for the fire department. The old ladder wagon was given to the memorial committee to be disposed of at a sale they purpose holding.

Mr. McGuire reported regarding policy recently taken out by the some good features in the accident County Council.

Sap Runs Freely

Maple syrup making still continues, the sap running freely this week . Some of the farmers are working the land, but very little seeding is done yet.

Mr. Wm. Good held a successful sale of his farm stock on Tuesday. Good prices were obtained under the hammer wielded by Mr. H. Wallace.

Mr. Good has rented his farm to Mr. Arhtur Juby and will take a rest and regain his former health if possible.

The Bell Telephone Co. are endeavoring to extend their service in this section and to this end two of the employees of heir extension department have been canvassing here this week.

UNITE TO BREAK MONOPOLY HELD BY THE BRITISH

TRADE WAR ON.

Britain Restricts Production and Export of Raw Product.

AKRON, O., April 9.—Three great American minds are about to engage Great Britain in a trade war in an effort to save millions of dollars yearly to those affected by the high prices of rubber.

Two years ago Firestone, prominent tire manufacturer, suggested that America should produce its own rubber in retaliation for the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act, which curtailed production and exportation of raw product.

This suggestion now has become a warning, because of the furthering of the Restriction Act by Great Britain.

And to this end Ford, Firestone and Edison are bending their efforts to produce rubber in this country on large land holdings in Florida.

"Rubber restrictions this year will cost American car owners at least $100,000,000, and it very likely will be nearer $300,000,000," Firestone says. "Every 10-cent advance in the cost of crude rubber means an additional burden of about $75,000,000 loaded upon the American people.

80 Per Cent. in Tires.

"About 80 per cent. of the world's supply of rubber is grown in the British possessions of the Far East. America consumes 75 per cent. of the world's supply. Eighty per cent. of the rubber consumed in America goes into automobile and truck tires.

"Rubber was around 14 cents a pound when the Restriction Act became operative. Today it is 200 per cent. higher and indications point to further advances."

Ford, Firestone and Edison have been carrying on extensive investigations in Florida. On the Ford and Edison estates in Fort Myers, Fla., some very promising rubber trees are growing. On the Ford farm near Labelle and on the Government Experimental Farm near Cocoanut Grove some varieties of rubber trees, plants and shrubs are growing in a very encouraging manner.

During a recent conference of the three men in Florida, Edison made several important suggestions regarding new processes of extraction—something different from the methods now in vogue in the Far East.

Plantation in Liberia.

It is believed by Edison that a greatly improved method of extraction is possible, and that it may be advantageous in hastening yields of latex and greatly reduce cost of production.

Firestone is determined that Americans shall produce their own rubber. He was instrumental in having Congress vote an appropriation two years ago, giving $400,000 to the Department of Commerce for investigation of new sources of rubber supply, and $100,000 to the Department of Agriculture for experimental purposes.

He now has a complete organization in Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, operating a rubber plantation and preparing to plant rubber on an extensive scale.

"The British Restriction Act limits production and exportation to just one-half the normal crop," Firestone says.

"Americans must awaken to the necessity of doing something to relieve the grip now held by foreign interests on a commodity so important to our welfare and prosperity."

CANADA'S IMMIGRANTS.

OTTAWA, April 9. — (Canadian Press).—An analysis of Canada's immigrant population at the last census shows that of 8,788,483 people in Canada in 1921, 1,955,726 were immigrants. Of these, 54.48 per cent. were British born.

A census bulletin issued to-day by the Bureau of Statistics gives the result of an exhaustive analysis of the last census from the point of view of nativity. It shows that about 55 per cent. of the total immigrant population came to Canada before 1910.

Will Balloons Give the Mileage?

Goodyears Will!

EVERYBODY concedes the comfort of balloon tires. But some people who have not used them are still doubtful of their mileage.

As far as Goodyear Balloons are concerned, the mileage question has been fully answered.

For a year we have kept a record of Goodyear Balloons in use on the cars of salesmen all over Canada—men who drove fifteen to twenty thousand miles last year. The mileage given by Goodyear Balloons averages fully as high as that of former sizes.

In other words, you sacrifice no mileage when you change to Goodyear Balloons.

Why?

Because Goodyear Balloons are built of a new material—a remarkable cord fabric called Supertwist. It is more elastic. It yields to the bumps without breaking.

Supertwist is the direct result of Goodyear's enormous, world-wide business. World-wide business demands constant development to meet new conditions in every part of the globe. Enormous demand makes possible constant improvements.

Supertwist is an exclusive development of Goodyear's own fabric mills and is used only in Goodyear Tires.

Goodyear builds a complete line of tires to meet varying needs as to price and size and maintains a chain of branches across Canada so that no Goodyear Selected Dealer need wait for tires.

Wherever automobiles run—there you will find Goodyear Tires.

RUTH TO PLAY NEXT TUESDAY

Bambino's Illness Due to Acute Indigestion, Manager Announces.

NEW YORK, April 9. -- Babe Ruth, the Yankee slugger, forced by illness to return to New York before the completion of the Yanks' exhibition tour in the south, will appear in the opening game of the season at the Yankee stadium next Tuesday against the Washington Senators and he may possibly play in Sunday's exhibition contest against Brooklyn at Ebbets' field, Edward G. Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, announced yesterday.

After a long distance telephone conversation with Miller Huggins, manager of the team, Barrow said: "Ruth's recent ailment was due to acute indigestion. His present condition is not serious."

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

The 'pull down' starts with a left-arm pull, from the top of the back swing, directly toward the ball. You take off with this downward, left-arm pull by shoving the entire body forward to the left, and with all the weight transferred back to the left leg.

This left leg arrests this body-forward movement and holds the body in line with the ball. Meantime, your left-arm pull on the clubhead has swept the club down and the clubhead is nearing the ball—left arm straight, body stiffened on the left heel for the blow. Here you hold the head fixed—and come right on through with your left-arm pull. At the instant the clubhead meets the ball you will have pulled as far as you can with the left side, and by instinct at this point, the right side moves in automatically—you don't have to give this much attention. The main detail is, there will be a tendency to drop the right shoulder since the right side has a tendency to collapse as the clubhead meets the ball. There is a "dip" there you must look out for. Keep the right shoulder up and slam it right into the ball. Go clear through. Go through so hard that your right foot will drag clear over against the left one as you finish.

GIANTS NAMED IN OLD LEAGUE

NEW YORK, April 9.—Can the New York Giants win their fifth consecutive pennant in the National League?

It is the consensus of the managers of that organization that McGraw's team has the power to turn the trick.

A vote of the managers taken on the spring training trip reveals the fact that every rival leader of the New York club picks the Giants to win.

Brooklyn is favored for second. There is a difference of opinion as to the chances of Pittsburg and Chicago. The Cubs are a slight favorite for the show position.

1. New York Giants
2. Brooklyn Dodgers
3. Chicago Cubs
4. Pittsburg Pirates
5. Cincinnati Reds.
6. St. Louis Cardinals.
7. Philadelphia Nationals
8. Boston Braves

BIG SOCCER GAME ON GOOD FRIDAY

Seniors and Juniors Play Down on King Edward Park.

To-morrow (Good Friday) the soccer enthusiasts will witness an excellent game down on King Edward Park. Kick off at 2.30 prompt.

The junior executive have picked a team that will make the seniors travel all the way to uphold their honors. Four ex-seniors are in the team which Captain C. Hotston will lead on the field. The players will wear the C.P.C. uniforms.

The senior boys will be under the care of Captain George Blowers. Robertson Young's place will be fielded by Hugh Richmond, on the right wing, but the team will be same as chosen by the executive. They will wear Quaker Oats uniforms.

Alex McKinley, the well-known referee, will handle the whistle and both teams will have dressing accomodation down at the DeLaval. Tommy Stewart is the official trainer and David Menzies, the linesman for the seniors.

This is the first occasion upon which a junior and senior team has met on the field of play for the city honor of superiority in soccer.

HELP DEVELOP BALL PAYERS

GET SOME NEW ONES.

The slogan in wartime was "Raise your own vegetables!" Now for a good many fans the cry is "Why don't we raise our own ball players? Why are there no young fellows coming up" The answer is easy to find. There is no lack of boys who like to play ball, who want to play ball, and who woud develop into real ball players if given the proper encouragement. But the trouble is this. They have to play unorganized ball on any vacant lot. There are enough lads in town to make four teams in each of the minor series of the O. B. A. A. In organized leagues they would have proper umpiring. They would have men of experience to implant in them the true spirit of sportsmanship. But, you say, why is this not done? Why doesn't somebody manage all these teams? With too many of the fans the cry is "Let George do it."

On Thursday evening of next week there will be a meeting to organize the city league for 1925. The kids are clamoring for a chance. Two or three have already said they would enter teams. Come out and enter a team. It doesn't need an expert or an old time player to run a team. If you are at all familiar with the rules you can handle the kids. Everybody come out Thursday night, Chamber of Commerce, 8.00 p.m. Be sure to be there.

A PAIR OF GOLF INVADERS

WALTER HAGEN AN D GLENNA COLLETT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 9.—Walter Hagen is without a doubt America's greatest man golfer, to Glenna Collett goes that honor among the women.

These two super-golfers will invade England this year and hope to bring back with them Britain's two most coveted titles, the British open and the women's championship.

During the winter Miss Collett has been tutored by Hagen in the best style of play for the English courses. Hagen regards her as the greatest feminine golfer in all the world and believes she has an excellent chance to win British honors despite the classy field that will oppose her. She is due to sail on April 11.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

LEAGUES DIFFER.

SARASOTA, Fla., April 9.—The two major leagues differ widely on their spring training program.

The National League permits clubs of their own league to meet each other in spring exhibition games.

The American League sanctions games with the National League but refuses to let clubs of their own league get together.

After watching more than a dozen games between big league teams in the south, I am inclined to think that the American League system is the better.

Nothing takes the edge off the opening game or the enthusiasm for a big year more than a bad training trip. Let us suppose that a certain National League club has 12 games arranged with other teams in its league and that it loses 10 of them.

It is an easy matter to picture the feelings of the fans in that particular city. Before the season is opened they have reached the decision that their club is outclassed.

If the teams break pretty much even in their games there is no bad effect, but if one club happens to be temporarily outclassed in the spring, it starts them under a big handicap. That is usually the case.

Since the American League teams cannot play each other there is no chance for such a condition arising. The weak teams get away on the same footing as the strong ones. That makes for keen interest.

STYLE OF PLAY.

In watching these games between the two leagues and clubs of the same league, I have noted one striking difference in the play.

John McGraw has been a great success as a big league manager. That being the case, it is only natural that his methods should be imitated.

McGraw is a firm believer in the hit and run. The sacrifice has but little appeal to him, a play to be used only on rare occasions.

In all the games I saw the Giants play, not once did I see the team employ the sacrifice. It was always the hit and run, occasionally a steal.

All the other National League clubs played a similar game. The McGraw system is universally followed. Get runs in bunches rather than one at a time is the thought.

While the hit-and-run play is also very popular with American League managers, still the sacrifice gets a big play. I saw it pulled once or more times in every game in which an American League club took part.

Both systems have their good and weak points. However, if one was to judge purely on results, the showing of the Giants and the records of McGraw would make the hit-and-run style have a decided edge.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY!

The question right now for some of the fellows is whether there will be an Intermediate series this year. A number of last year's Juniors are too old for that series now and don't want to spend their time in the grandstand. Besides, there are a lot of fellows around who have played Intermediate ball for the last few years with the C.G.E. and Raybestos teams. Now that the electricians' championship combination has broken up, there is no chance for the old alibi "The C.G.E. is too strong," so a good league should be easy to organize.

Several of the players and managers of the last few years say they are through, but when the crack of the bat and the thud of the big decker are heard, they will be found out there as spry as ever.

Lew LeBarr is already looking for players to fill the holes in last year's championship team. He has to find a first baseman to repace Lew Jr., but thinks he has the right man in Jack LeBarr, last year with the Maple Leaf Juveniles. All last year's outfield—Whitlow, McIntyre and Ash—have passed the age limit and new players are required to fill their places.

The defeat of Daylight Saving in the Council the other night was a rather severe blow to the local sporting moguls, but they say the fight is not over yet, and are planning to come back stronger than ever at the May meeting.

The signing of Ernie Legon by the Kingston Ponies was rather a surprise to Peterborough fans. Red was always popular with the fans and was known as a willing worker in whatever he undertook. His friends hope that he is doing better for himself and, although they would like to see him in left field again this year, will wish him the best of luck in Kingston.

Peterborough is indeed fortunate that there are lots of outfielders in the city. If any of our present Senior infielders were to desert us the hole would be hard to fill, although it is likely that some young unknown would appear and make us forget the missing one. But the loss of an outfielder more or less, does not create such a problem. In fact it simplifies matters, as there are more outfielders trying out yet than the rules of the game allow at once.

WIDER RURFAL ROADS.

No Government Grant If Width Less Than 18 Feet.

WOODSTOCK, April 9.—The effect of the new county road system of Oxford County on a township road administration within the county, was extensively discussed at a largely attended meeting held here yesterday, when A. Sedgewick, Ontario Highways Department municipal engineer for the local district spoke on the new regulations brought into effect by the new general road plan. County councillors, Township councillors, road superintendents and a number of other township and county officials were present, and were informed by Mr. Sedgewick that the roads to be built under the new plan were expected to be 24 feet in width whenever possible. The government would allow no grant for township roads less than 18 feet in width, he said.

PAGING BALL SQUAD FOR CAMPBELLFORD

Meeting Next Tuesday to Re-organize County League Team.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9. — A meeting of all those interested in baseball has been called for Tuesday evening in the assembly room of the Public Library, and a large turnout is hoped for. Archie J. Wood, who has always been actively interested in sports of all kinds, is at the head of the movement.

It is proposed to have a team in the Northumberland County League again this season, care to be taken to select only those players who will be able to turn out for every game besides practising regularly. The local team was obliged to drop out of the League last season in the height of the season, and just when they had struck a winning streak and were carrying everything before them. The only reason for their failure to carry on was that many of the best men on the team found it impossible to get away from their employment just when they were most needed in the line-up.

Softball League.

It is also proposed to organize a Softball League, to consist of at least eight teams, composed of members of the different industries and professions. The Woollen Mill employees can easily get up two teams, the bankers have plenty of promising material for a third, and electric light workers can also be depended upon. An effort will be made to secure a trophy to be competed for by the teams in this league.

Softball was a favorite pastime in Campbellford last summer, so that it should be an easy matter to get the game onto the status of a league.

WOOLENS TEAM IS NOW REORGANIZED

Changed Name to Peterborough Cubs, and Elected Officers.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Miss Edna Mann, Brock Street, Tuesday, April 7, when the ladies' softball team was re-organized and is now known as the Peterboro Cubbs. Business of importance was discussed and the following officers were elected:

Manager and Treasurer — H. C. Jay.

President—Miss Edna Mann.

Vice-President—Violet Langton.

Secretary—Miss Annie Logan.

It was decided to hold a dance at a later date.

Refreshments were served at the close of a very enjoyable evening.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK $325.00.

A 21-Day Tour, Including All Expenses.

Under the personal supervision of Professor Sinclair Laird, Dean of the School for Teachers, MacDonald College, P.O., Quebec, a special train will leave Toronto Union Station at 2.15 p.m., Monday, July 20th, 1925, en route to Victoria, via Canadian Pacific, through Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise and Vancouver, and thence by steamer across Puget Sound to Victoria, the famous Canadian resort.

The return trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, Kootenay Lake, Windermere Bungalow Camp, by motor from Windermere to Banff over the 104-mile newly completed Banff - Windermere Highway with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps, with a full day at Banff, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, Kenora. From Fort William to Port McNicoll by the C.P.R. Great Lakes steamers and by rail to Toronto will complete this interesting and varied trip.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to anyone desiring to go. The train will consist of the most modern equipment. The cost is for one person only occupying a lower berth. Proportionate fares from all points in Eastern Canada. The charge includes rail, steamer and sleeping car fares, hotel and bungalow camp accommodation, meals, sight-seeing tours and all gratuities.

A descriptive booklet giving details of the trip will be gladly mailed upon request to Dean Laird or any Canadian Pacific Agent. As the party is limited to 150 it is advisable to make reservations early.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

"WHITE SISTER," ONE OF FINEST PRODUCTIONS EVER PRODUCED AT ROYAL NOW.

"The White Sister" comes to the Royal to-day. This is one of the better photoplays and marks another milestone in the advance of the movie art. The story by F. Marion Crawford is so widely known that to go into detail is unnecessary.

The Boston Telegram: "The White Sister" is the biggest and best motion picture that Boston has seen in many, many years. It is the biggest picture because of the great care and skill with which the picture itself was made. The superb acting of Miss Gish has given the picture rare value and has created a new standard.—Margaret Harris.

Boston American: Probably nothing enhances the beauty of the picture so much, other than Miss Gish's excellent interpretation of her role, as did the scenic effects. The glorious finale is the criterion of thrillers. Artistic seems rather an inadequate word. You must go.

Boston Evening Transcript: Exceptionally fine photography. "The White Sister" deserves high praise. Miss Gish holds fast the interest and sympathies of her audience. She proves herself once more the tragic mistress of the screen.

JULIA ARTHUR, as Saint Joan, at the Grand Monday, April 20th.

AT THE REGENT

MacLEAN FILM LITERALLY A HOWLING SUCCESS

Audience Kept in Constant Gales of Laughter — Runaway Cab Scenes Almost Causes Hysterics.

"Never Say Die," Douglas MacLean's latest laughing success, had its first showing to-night at the Regent Theatre and will set a new laugh record in hilarious comedy.

The audience rolled in a heavy sea of laughter which reached the tempo of a howling tornado of glee in the final sequences. MacLean proved himself an adroit and graceful comedian, clean-cut and refreshing. "Never Say Die" is decidedly the funniest picture Douglas MacLean ever produced.

The piece is an adaptation of William Collier's lively stage success of international fame which swept Broadway with gales of laughter for a year. In adapting it for the screen the comedy values have been intensified through the wider scope of the motion picture camera and thrills have been injected into the picture which could not even be imitated on the stage.

In the leading feminine role supporting the star, is Lillian Rich and this beautiful girl never looked more lovely or appealing. Helen Ferguson has an important role as a vivacious little French dancer who comes between Douglas and his sweetheart.

The story concerns a wealthy young man who is pronounced in a serious condition by eminent physicians. A friend, to secure a share in his estate, concocts a scheme for him to marry the friend's fiancee. Contrary to plan the hero recovers his health and everybody is disappointed except the wife. The situation develops into a smart rip-roaring comedy.

Douglas is accused of "treachery" by the disgruntled gold-diggers who hire a gun-man to put him quietly out of the way.

In the final scenes the terrified young man tries to escape in a dilapidated hackney-cab. A runaway follows wihch is about the funniest and most thrilling ride ever seen on the screen. George J. Crone, who directed the picture, is to be complimented, while Raymond Cannon, who wrote the scenario, and Raymond Griffith and Wade Boteler, who adapted the play for motion pictures, did splendid work. The beauty of the many scenic shots and artistic interiors is to be credited to Jack Mackenzie, the photographer.

The picture os a whole marks a new epoch in the career of Douglas MacLean, and places him on a par with Chaplin yet with a typa of clean, wholesome comedy which is all his own. If you like to laugh, don't miss this one.

AT THE CAPITOL

TOM HAS GREAT CAST IN LATEST.

Lila Lee Leading Woman in "Coming Through."

Some four-hundred odd persons appear in support of Thomas Meighan in his new Paramount picture, "Coming Through," which will be the feature next Monday at the Capitol Theatre to remain for three days.

Here's the answer, folks. The four hundred are real honest-to-goodness miners who appear in the coal mine scenes of the story. The others all have prominent roles in the cast.

Lila Lee, who returns to the screen after a year's absence in "Coming Through," adapted to the screen from Jack Bethea's novel, "Bed Rock," is featured in the leading woman's role opposite Tom. It's like old times to have Lila back with Meighan. Miss Lee appeared with the star in many of his earlier successes.

Wallace Beery, whom the fans will remember for his excellent work in "Robin Hood" and in "The Sea Hawk," is the villain in this picture. He is cast in the role of a roughneck mine foreman who does his best to put Tom out of the way for keeps. As Joe Lawler, Beery is claimed to have the greatest opportunity of his career.

John Miltern plays Lila Lee's father in the production. He is John Rand, president of the steel corporation in which Meighan is an employee. Frank Campeau, another screen favorite, portrays the role of Shackleton who makes his living by the sale of bootleg liquor in the mining camp at Colton where Meighan is sent as superintendent.

Laurance Wheat, seen with Tom in "The Confidence Man" and many others, is also well cast as are Gus Weinburg and Alice Knowland.

Here's Tom with one of finest casts ever—in a story of the Alabama mining camps that might have been written to order for him.

Edward Sutherland, until recently assistant to Charles Chaplin, directed "Coming Through," as his first work for the screen. Paul Schofield is credited with the screen play.

AT THE GRAND

THE ORIGINALS IN "STEPPING OUT."

Something extraordinary in theatrical entertainment, the season's biggest laugh, is coming to the Grand Opera House tomorrow (Good Friday) matinee and night, and Saturday night, when Canada's celebrated soldier performers, The ORIGINALS, will present "Stepping Out", an entirely different conception of entertainment, on their annual visit to the city. Theatregoers of Peterborough look forward to the boys engagement here each season and are assured of a rare treat in "Stepping Out." They have a comedian who is without a peer on this continent. Bob Anderson is one of those talented Lancashire funmakers who is just naturally funny, his every appearance on the stage is the occasion for riotous laughter.

Gene Pearson, the owner of one of the most extraordinary male soprano voices before the public, and who created a sensation here last season with "Her" singing, has added greatly to his stage wardrobe, and also his vocal repertoire. In the new show he plays the role of a dashing Prima Donna in a one act Operetta which has been specially written for him; Sings and dances in an elaborate Carnival scene; and plays the part of Lady Violet Sudds, the daughter of the Duchess of Dishwater, in the new and screamingly funny burlesque 'The Duchess Performs."

The singing of the Originals has invariably been a joy, and their forces are strengthened even more by the addition to the cast of Thomas Dunn, a brilliant new baritone, and Gus McKinnon, a delightful new tenor; Bertram Langley and Jerry Brayford, as always, add much to the musical and to the humorous excellences of "Stepping Out." Alan Murray, the old favorite, blossoms forth this season in a quite new line of characterization which is a surprise and delight to those who know him only as a graceful dancer and an attractive young man. His portrayals of the Apache Girl, of Lady Elizabeth Sudds, and as a Dancer with both Jerry Brayford and Thomas Dunn, are all features of the show, and it is quite evident that this latest Original revue is surpassing its immediate predecessor 'Rapid Fire" in its uproarious comedy and beautiful music, all of which qualify for the chacteristic that supplies this clever troupe with its trade name.

"SAINT JOAN."

B. C. Whitney will present George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan" with Miss Julia Arthur as the Maid, at the Grand on Monday, April 20.

Possibly the most distinguished honor that this latest and, many think, greatest play of Shaw's has received, is that which occurred at the end of the third act, when the play was having its greatest success at the Empire Theatre, New York, when the Gold Medal of Joan of Arc, in the, name of the Joan of Arc Statue Committee, was presented to the actress portraying Joan by Gaston Liebert, Minister Plenipotentiary of France.

Cardinal Hayes blessed the medal. Similar medals have been presented to Pope Pius XI, Marshall Joffre, Marshal Foch, Premier Poincare, General Henri Gourard, Admiral de Bon, and M. A. Croizeau, Mayor of Blois, the town from which the Maid of Orleans led 10,000 men into the victorious assault that wrested Orleans from the English. The medal is in the shape of Joan's shield, with the fleur-de-lys upon its surface.

Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan" has not only won the State, but the Church by the masterly way in which he has presented one of the most remarkable characters in history.

Patrons are reminded that the curtain rises on "Saint Joan" at 8:00 o'clock sharp. No one will be seated until after the prologue.

On its first production in New York a cable was sent to Shaw asking him to make cuts in the play to enable outof-town folk to catch their trains, and a typical Shaw cable came flashing back: "Change the railroad schedules."

Mr. G. N. Gordon has returned from Ottawa, and will be home during the Easter adjournment until Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Baulch of Port Hope are guests of Mrs. Baulch's sister, Mrs. J. H. Callander, Weller St., over the holiday.

The Morning Musicale Club had a delightful programme this morning in the organ recital given by Mr. Charles Peaker at Knox Church, in a series of chorale preludes, illustrating the harmonies and word meanings of the old German hymns and chorales. Mr. Peaker, whose music was listened to with keen appreciation by the ladies present, commenced a beautifully-played programme with an introductory presentation of the old hymn, "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded," as interpreted by Gounod, Bach and Brahms. He then progressed through the music of the old German school, giving a historical musical survey from 1560 down to present-day composers, playing in turn four Bach preludes, passing to the music of Mendelssohn and Brahms, and finishing with some of the moderns; Karg-Elert the Scandinavian, Vaughn-Williams the Englishman and Joseph Bonnet of France.

Mr. Amas Hastie, of Villiers, was in the city Thursday on business.

WEDDING BELLS

rang out for Gloria Gordon, who rateld a typewriter in a real estate office on Water street, and she started out on married life as she had lived in single — a flapper. Her negative ideals were no babies, no work and no worry — her positive ambitions, good looks, good clothes and a good time.

DAYLIGHT SAVING IS NOT DEAD YET

General Opinion is That it May Revive and Put Up Battle.

It seems to be the general feeling among the aldermen that the last has not been heard about daylight saving. The friends of the measure, in the council and out, are coming back stronger than ever at the May meeting, it is said to day. Aldermen Turner, Phelan, Greene and Denne have all expressed the opinion that daylight saving for June, July and August at least will pass at the next meeting of the council. Alderman Fife expects to see the question brought up aagin but did not think it would pass. Alderman Crowe was somewhat surprised to hear that there would be more discussion on the subject which he considered properly snowed under.

MORE HARD LIQUOR.

Canada's Output Increased Half Million Gallons in Year 1924.

OTTAWA, April 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Canada's output of hard liquor increased in the fiscal year 1924, when 4,411,896 proof gallons of spirits was actually manufactured in Canadian distilleries, compared with 3,828,879 in 1923.

WEDDING BELLS.

DEARMAN—FIELD

COBOURG, April 9.—An interesting event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Field, Ball Street, at noon on Wednesday, April 8, when their daughter, Miss Flora L. Field, was married to Mr. James Dearman of Cobourg. Rev. J. N. Norton, pastor of the Cobourg Baptist Church, officiated. About forty guests were present; a number coming from out of town for the happy event.

The bride was attended by Miss Lily Gibson, and Mr. William McDonough was groomsmon. Mr. and Mrs. Dearman left on the International Limited for a trip to Western points before taking up residence in Cobourg.

LAYFIELD—SHULTZ.

At St. James' Parsonage, 163 Romaine Street, Peterboro, on Wednesday, April 8th, 1925, Mr. William Allan Layfield was united in holy wedlock to Mrs. Ethel Shultz. The sacred rite was solemnized by Rev. J. D. Richardson, M.A., pastor of St. James' Church. Both young people belong to Peterboro, and will reside in the city.

JEWELL—McCRACKEN.

At St. James' Parsonage recently there were united in holy wedlock, Miss Dora Luella McCracken, Peterboro, and Mr. Wm. Jewell, Peterboro. The sacred rite was duly solemnized by Rev. J. D. Richardson. The young couple will reside on Stewart Street, Peterboro.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GEORGE T. HARDWICK.

The death occurred at half-past eight o'clock last evening, after a long and painful illness, of Alice Jones, beloved wife of George T. Hardwick, 305 Frederick Avenue.

The deceased, who was born in County Radnor, North Wales, coming to this country as a small child, had lived for many years in Peterboro where she had a large circle of friends. She is survived by her sorrowing husband, one son, Arnold, and three daughters: Mrs. J. E. Flett, and the Misses Edith and Robena, all of Peterboro.

The funeral will take place at half-past two o'clock on Friday after noon to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D., pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church, officiating.

HANNAH ROBINSON.

News has reached here of the death, on March 31, of Hannah Robinson, wife of Arthur Abbott, Tisdale, Sask., after a few days' illness. Mrs. Abbott was the youngest daughter of the late Thomas and Mrs. Robinson, of Smith Township where she was bornr, and resided till about nineteen years ago, when she moved, with her husband, to the West. There are left to mourn her loss, two sisters, Mrs. Gerald Murphy, of Bobcaygeon, Mrs. Jennie Robinson of Toronto, and one brother Charles on the homestead.

HERRIOT CABINET FORCED TO RESIGN BY ADVERSE VOTE IN CHAMBER ON QUESTION OF CONFIDENCE IN RESULT OF EXCESS INFLATION OF THE CURRENCY

MINISTERS TO CONTINUE IN OFFICE UNTIL SUCCESSORS ARE APPOINTED

Poincare and Millerand Share Glory of Crushing Leader Who Had Triumphed Over Them Ten Months Ago.

PRESIDENT CONSULTING LEADERS.

Defeated twice within three days in the Senate, M. Herriot and his Ministers quickly decided there was no alternative but to resign. When a vote of lack of confidence—156 to 135—was announced, the Cabinet repaired immediately to the Foreign Office where the formal letter of the Ministry's resignation was drafted.

From the Foreign Office the defeated ministers, headed by M. Herriot went to the Elysee Palace, where they were immediately admitted to the office of President Doumergue. M. Heriott placed the resignation in the hands of the chief executive, who acepted it, and the retirement of the Cabinet thereupon became official.

As is usual, however, M. Doumergue requested the Ministers to continue to transact the business of their respective departments until their successors were appointed.

After the customary exchange of compliments with the president the ministers, with the exception of M. Herriot, remained with the president for a half hour discussing the situation.

It was thought last night that M. Doumergue would be unable to decide upon the man who will be offered the Premiership before Sunday, as besides consulting with the party group leaders of both Houses of Parliament, he intends to discuss the situation with various eminent politicians, notably former Premier Briand, Louis Loucheur, former Minister of Commerce, and Jules Steeg, former Minister of the Interior. The Presidents of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies also will be consulted.

Monzie May Succeed.

There is much speculation over who will succeed M. Herriot. The men whose names were mentioned most prominently last night are Paul Painleve, President of the Chamber of Deputies; Anatole de Monzie, Minister of Finance in the Herriot Government, and former Premier Briand. In the opinion of political observers, M. Painleve would not survive long as Premier, and would merely pave the way for a return to office of M. Herriot, with a better selected Ministry.

M. De Monzie, who has gained much political credit by his frank handling of the financial situation, would in the view of politicians find less opposition in the Senate than any other member of the Left. M. Briand, at least for the present, would have difficulty in securing a reliable majority in the Chamber.

The fall of the Herriot Government was due to former Premier Poincare. For six hours the battle waged in the Senate between the Govern ment and the Opposition, with the fortunes of war swaying from one side to the other, until Poincare, throwing the weight of his authority into the attack, brought down the Cabinet with a crash. The vote of lack of confidence was 156 against 132.

Glory for Millerand.

It was a glorious day for a former president of France, M. Millerand. He had sent M. Francois-Marsal, his former Lieutenant and Minister of Finance, to lead in the attack, and was ready to intervene personally had the fight appeared to go against the opponents of the government. M. Herriot appeared to be extremely fatigued. He seemed on the verge of physical collapse after his long oratorical effort, but as the vote against his ministry was announced he squared his broad shoulders in a shrug and his ministers gathered about him he heaved a sigh of relief which seemed to bear the stamp of genuineness.

Foremost among the sympathizers with M. Herriot was Leon Blum, the Socialist leader in the Chamber of Deputies. As the Premier and his Ministers were leaving, M. Blum

Falsified Satement Of Franc Circulation

Premier Herriot's appeal for a vote of confidence followed the weekly statement by the Bank of France Thursday showing an increase of 2,100,000,000 francs in circulation, bringing the total to 43,000,000,000 francs, or 2,000,000,000 above the legal limit. It was revealed that this increase was made at the request of the Government.

NAVIGATION OPEN FROM MONTREAEL

MONTREAL(April 11. — The 1925 season of navigation of the port of Montreal was officially opened at 1.40 yesterday afternoon when the Government icebreaker, Lady Grey, arrived in the harbour from Three Rivers.

According to her master, Capt. L. Corriveau, the trip was one of the easiest on record and no work of any kind was required to clear the last stretches of the river. The captain reported the ship channel clear of ice from Montreal to Quebec with only the replacing of the gas buoys remaining to be done before the river is fully equipped for navigation. This work, it is announced by the Department of Marine and Fisheries will commence Monday or Tuesday.

E. M. TROWERN HAS RESIGNED

Secretary of Dominion Retail Merchants Sees Fire Association in Control.

HELPED FOUND IT.

OTTAWA, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—E. M. Trowern, who has been associated with the Retail Merchants' Association since its foundation 29 years ago, has tendered his resignation as secretary and general manager to take effect on August 29 next. In a letter to the members of the Executive Council and Dominion board of the association, Mr. Trowers gives as a reason for this step. The association's connection with the North-Western Mutual Fire Association, which has resulted, he says, in the control of the association passing to a great extent into the hands of the North-Western Mutual Fire Association.

In his letter, Mr. Trowern writes: "I would suggest to the Dominion Executive Council and Dominion board of our association that, inasmuch as the North-Western Mutual Fire Association has now secured considerable control of the association, and is now directing its policy, that they be asked to take it over completely and own it outright, and make an insurance company out of it if they so desire. I regret personally, very much indeed, the way matters have developed, and I am sure that the association's usefulness and original intention is fast being destroyed. I should dislike very much to see the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada close its doors and sink, but if it goes down I would like to see it go down straight and honorably and without any disguise."

In concluding his communication, after expressing regret at having to sever all connections with it, Mr. Trowern says:

"I cannot continue any longer to be identified with an association that is being gradually torn apart and rendered ineffective through departing from the original high ideals that it aimed at, and which is being diverted and transformed for monetary and commercial purposes."

MRS. M'CLINTOCK'S DEATH BELIEVED BY STATE TO HAVE BEEN CAUSED BY MERCURY

Coroner and Chemist Find Enough Poison in Organs to Kill—Further Report Expected on Two Bodies.

CHICAGO, April 11—Following a report from his chemist of the finding in the viscera of Mrs. Emma McClintock of a sufficient quantity of mercury to have caused death, Coroner Oscar Wolff announced that the mother of William Nelson McClintock, the millionaire orphan, for whose murder by administering typhoid germs William D. Shepherd has been indicted, had probably died from mercuric poisoning.

"A careful study of Dr. McNally's report on the anaysis of the vital organs of Mrs. Emma McClintock permits me to say that the amount of mercury found in the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowles are of sufficient quantity to have caused death commonly known as death by mercury poisoning," read the first statement issued by the Coroner.

"The analysis of the vital organs of Dr. Oscar Olson is not yet complete and the result probably will not be announced until 10 o'clock next Monday."

Coroner Wolff later issued the second statement, in which he indicated his belief that the woman who was so intimate with the Shepherds and designated them as foster parents of her son was a victim of mercurial poisoning.

The bodies of Mrs. McClintock and of Dr. Olson were exhumed on the suggestion of Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal Court, who initiated the investigating which led to the indictment of Shepherd on a charge of murdering young McClintock.

Justice Olson declared that certain circumstances surrounding Mrs. McClintock's death sixteen years ago struck him as suspicious at the time. Her body appeared bloated and Shepherd and his wife, Mrs. Julie Shepherd, who lived in the McClintock home at the time, exhibited an indecent haste in the funeral plans, he charged.

Dr. Olson, a brother of the jurist, was for many years the McClintock family physician and took a fatherly interest in young McClintock. According to Justice Olson, Shepherd and his wife paid a visit to the doctor the night before he died. It was their first visit to the Olson home in six years. Shepherd, Justice Olson declared, was alone with the doctor for a few moments.

"And my brother's death, too, in a way, was peculiar," he says. "He was suffering from an attack of ptomaine poisoning at the time but appeared to be about recovered. But a few hours after Shepherd left his bedside his face turned a pinkish purple and he soon died in great agony."

Time to present a plea for bail before the Supreme Court was granted to counsel for Shepherd and Shepherd will not have to plead to the charge that he murdered William Nelson McClintock until next week. Chief Justice Hopkins of the Criminal Court announced in his chambers that if Shepherd's attorneys were making an honest effort to obtain his release he would postpone the arraignment until April 16.

ASYLUM CLOSES ON GIRL KILLER

BRIEF FORMALITY.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11—Seventeen-year-old Dorothy Ellingson, the pretty bronze-haired girl whose pursuit of jazz and pleasure culminated last January in a quarrel in which she killed her mother in a bedroom of their home, was taken to the State Asylum for the Insane at Napa Thursday night after a jury at noon in Superior Court adjudged her insane.

Thus the murder charge against the young matricide was shelved. The jury impaneled to try the case, excused until next Monday, will be formally dismissed then and the matter wil be placed on the "deferred calendar, perhaps for all time. Should she ever be pronounced sane, the murder charge may be revived.

The girl had been bitterly opposed to the sanity proceedings launched by her attorneys. She had denounced them in open court; once threatened to choke one of them for "telling lies," and another time threw water at them. Wednesday she testified as a witness for the prosecution; calm, clear, attired in her best; determined to persuade the jury that the assertion of insanity was unfounded. Thursday when the verdict was announced, after only forty-five minutes of deliberation, she fainted without uttering a sound. When she was revived she sobbed convulsively in the arms of jail matrons, and was not able to leave the room for half an hour.

Thursday she was brought into court for the formality of commitment. She had regained her composure and sat steadily while Judge Harold Louderback pronounced the words committing her. The procedure required less than three minutes. Within another hour she was on her way to the State institution at Napa.

The sanity jury contained nine men and three women. The verdict, requiring an agreement of nine, was voted by eleven, one man dissenting. Members of the jury gave indications that they had taken into consideration all factors; the girl's deed in killing her mother on what was said to be a trivial pretext, the girl's outbursts in the court room and the testimony of the alienists.

Municipal Rate the Same as Last Year.

OTTAWA, April 11. — (Canadian Press).—Ottawa's civic tax rate for 1925 is 31.70 mills on the dollar, the same as last year. This rate is made possible by the City Council agreeing to use $76,000 from the hospital assets to meet the new hospital debenture falling due this year.

The above rate was tentatively set by the City Council a month ago, but owing to the hospital debentures falling due, it had been thought that the rate would be increased to meet this obligation rather than using up existing assets.

BRISBOIS' CAR IS PADLOCKED

WAS FINED $100.

LINDSAY, April 11.—According to local motorists whose business takes them to Toronto, via the Whitby highway, Police Magistrate Willis, of Whitby, is handing out stiff fines to those who violate the Motor Vehicles Act. Last Wednesday a Peterboro man, Moses Brisbois, was brought into court by Highway Officer Reid, charged with reckless and negligent driving. A conviction was recorded by the Magistrate, who fined Brisbois $100 and costs and cancelled his driving license for thirty days, his car being held at Whitby during that time. Several disinterested witnesses came to court and gave evidence against Brisbois, who was described as travelling at a very high rate of speed.

TRADE REPORT IS UNCHANGED

Little Improvement in the East—Easter Helps in Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, April 11.—(Canadian Press).—The weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Limited, reads:

Halifax: Wholesale trade continues satisfactory. Retailers generally report slight improvement.

St. John: Both wholesale and retail trade up to expectations. Collections satisfactory.

Montreal: Boots and Shoes: Trade during past week holding up fairly well. Hardware: No material change has been noted since our last report. Dry goods: Improvement is still being noticed. Groceries: Trade generally is about the same as reported last week, with better conditions looked for. Collections generally fair.

Toronto: Conditions, both wholesale and retail, report not much change over last report.

Winnipeg: Splendid weather has stimulated retail sales in all lines of seasonable goods and increased volume of Easter trade is anticipated as compared with last year. Wholesale business steady. Collections fair.

Regina: Wholesale trade reported unchanged and retail trade is showing a slight improvement over the last week.

Calgary: Owing to better conditions in the country business generally is showing a slight improvement. Collections fair.

Edmonton: Wholesale and retail trade show increase over last few weeks' business. Collections fairly good.

Vancouver: No material change has been noted in wholesale and retail trade generally, but prospects brighter for the future.

TROUBLE LOOMS IN NOMINATION OF HINDENBURG

Bankers Apprehensive of Disturbance of Foreign Credit Which Dawes Plan Aided.

POLITICAL ALARMS.

Turmoil Predicted By Republicans if the Old General is Elected.

BERLIN, April 11. — The nomination of Field Marshall Von Hindenburg as the candidate of the parties of the United Right for President of the Republic apparently was as much of a surprise to German banking and financial circles as to the outside world.

Although prominetn bankers and leaders on the Bourse declined to discuss the Field Marshal's entry into Presidential politics, it is evident that these quarters are highly impatient with, if not chagrined over the manner in which Dr. Karl Jarres was thrown everboard in favour of the former army leader.

When Von Hindenburg's name was first brought into discussion, it was believed to be a move to checkmate the Fascist General Lundendorff, or at least to persuade him to retire from the race, thus insuring the National Bourgeois bloc 800,000 votes. In financial circles and on the Bourse yesterday apprehension was plain of possible inimical effects upon Germany's credit abroad especially insofar as the nomination of Von Hindenburg was liable to interfere with credit operations in the United States, and the discounting of German paper in London, which has assumed heavy proportions since the adoption of the Dawes reparation program.

Within Germany the Republicans are vociferously raising the cry of "monarchy and war or the Republic and peace," and without attacking von Hindenburg personally, declares his nomination is a catastrophe and a rallying signal for all the active elements working for a monarchist counter revolution.

Strikes Feared.

The blackest pessimists even forsees general strikes of Socialist workers and Communist revolts if Von Hindenburg is elected, and National Monarchist putches if he is not elected.

Such forebodings need not be taken seriously, for the political and economical foundation of Germany is too firmly laid for that. It remains true, however, that business fears that political disquiet and possible growth of international tension will have a bad effect on trade and possibly interfere with foreign credits.

Von Hindenburg's candidacy has aroused the aspirations of all those who are still under the hypnotism of the monarchistic splendor of the past. Backers of Von Hindenburg insist, however, that the question of republic or monarchy is not an issue and that when Von Hindenburg takes the oath to guard the Republican constitution he can be expected to keep his oath.

It is also pointed out that the German president has little to say and that the real ruler is the cabinet. But the misgivings aroused by his candidacy have increased the lukewarmness of the support already displayed by elements of the right block itself, particularly of the Stresemann's people's party. This lukewarmness is held likely to defeat him.

Meanwhile General Lundendorff has come out for Von Hindenburg as "The best soldier in Germany," who will make "Germany honest again."

Sacrifice for Germany.

Lundendorff said:

"We've just learned that the best soldier of the old German army General Field Marshall Von Hindenburg, has accepted the Presidential candidacy. You must realize what this means for a man over 77 years of age—you must realize what this means when this man makes this decision. This most German of Germans makes this sacifice for the Fatherland. German men and women this sacrifice should stand as an example to us. Let us follow his example and sacrifice for Germany."

Vorwarts satirically comments, "Hindenburg President, Lundendorff Chancellor?" This leading Socialistic paper deplores the fact that Hindenburg's nomination has upset negatiations of the security compact which was to ensure Europe's peace.

"Let us give the old gentleman of

Leopold and Loeb Met First Time In Prison On Passover Festival

CHICAGO, April 11—Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, serving life sentences for the murder of Robert Franks, met Thursday for the first time since they entered Joliet penitentiary last Fall, when they were released from work in the prison shops in celebration of the Jewish Passover holidays.

In company with fifty-six other Jewish prisoners, the boys were taken from their cells to a room behind the chapels and sat down to a special meal.

There was no demonstration between the youths when they met. Both seemd to enjoy the meal of matzos, hard boiled eggs, vegetables and coffee. After they had finished the men were allowed to sit and talk. Leopold and Loeb kept to themselves and talked in low voices until 7:30, when they were sent to their cells.

Friday Loeb was back boring holes for chair rungs and Leopold resumed his rattan work. Next Thursday they again will be permitted to spend the day with the others of their faith at services conducted by a rabbi in the ante-room of the prison chapel.

FARM SUCCESS BY AUTHORESS

English Woman, With 800 Acres, to Encourage Other Old Country Girls.

WILL TRAIN THEM.

MONTREAL, Que., April 9. — "I am very hopeful that my scheme for bringing out old country girls of a good class with a little money, and placing them on Western Canadian farms will materialize, and I must admit that during my short stay in England I have received numerous applications from girls of this type who are only too willing to have a try at farming in Western Canada on their own account."

This statement was made here on Wednesday night by Miss P. Carlyle, an English authoress, who owns and runs a ranch of 800 acres near Calgary and who has just returned from a short holiday in the Old Country, where she has found many girls who are quite willing to follow her example.

"Although the girls themselves are willing to come out and take up and work farms of their own out here," said Miss Carlyle, "no one seems keen on the idea. I came out last year, and having got used to farming conditions bought an 800 acre ranch, 17 miles from Calgary, and harvested 7,000 bushels from the 250 acres under wheat, and there are any number of girls of my acquaintance who could have done the same. Until I get outside assistance, my idea is to bring out annually six girls and train them on my farm until they are fit to manage farms of their own. I am not out to make money out of the scheme and only intend to charge the girls for their food."

Miss Carlyle expects to be joined in June by Dr. Partridge, the eminent London woman surgeon, who will go into partnership with her.

"We shall call our ranch the 'P. & C Ranch,'" said the visitor, "and Dr. Partridge is just as keen as I am about the scheme I have outlined. I consider that highly educated girls are as much required in Canada as girls of the domestic classes, and I am very sanguine as to the result. We may be laughed at in the beginning but the laugh will be on the other side if we succeed, as we intend to."

WEATHER

Notwithstanding that "Probs" foretold showers for Good Friday, and in the morning it looked as if they would be right, rain failed to come. We had one of the finest Good Fridays in many years. During the last 25 years we have had only one warmer Good Friday, that of 1910, when the thermometer rose to 68 degrees, while yesterday it reached 63 degrees. Since 1900, rain or snow has fallen on 17 Good Fridays, while it has been overcast and threatening on 4, and fine on 4 days. Easter Sunday on the contrary, is generally bright and warm, though there have been some notable exceptions, such as that of 1923, when we had it 4 below zero, and wintry conditions to the accompaniment of Easter bonnets.—W. GOLD BURDENED ASHANTI CHIEFS DAZZLE PRINCE

PREMPEH PRESENT.

Former King Released By British From Exile Last Year Was Prominent.

KUMASSI, Ashanti, April 11. — (Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wales yesterday met the chiefs of the Ashanti at a grand palaver, following his arrival here in the morning from Secondee. The chiefs presented the Prince with an address of welcome, and a gold duplicate of the Ashanti sword of state, made by local goldsmiths.

A noted figure among the chiefs who greeted the Prince was former King Prempeh, who was exiled by the British in 1900 to Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean. He was released last year and yesterday was a member of the reception commission. Prempeh was the only native on the Royal Dais.

When the Prince drove up to the great semi-circular gathering of the chiefs, two of them advanced and presented gifts. The scene was a perfect riot of gold, one chief being covered with massive gold ornaments that hung around his neck, wrists, ankles and knees, while he carried huge bangles on his arms. Even the retainers wore fortunes in the shape of gold staves, while the executioners each had four large solid gold knives slung across their backs.

There was an impressive scene when the Ashanti drummer performed on the native drums, with which the natives are able to communicate for great distances. Some of the chiefs travelled 500 miles to attend the ceremony.

HOLSTEIN SALE TOP PRICE $800

TOTAL $7,145.

The Belleville Holstein sale held on Wednesday afternoon was a very successful event. There were 59 head of cattle which brought a total of $7,145, and prices ranged from $65 to $800. The high price was paid to W. H. Gough, of Bloomfield, for a cow bought by Mr. Manhard, of Brockville, for shipment to Western Canada. Mr. Manhard bought two other cows from Mr. Gough for $300 each. He bought four animals for the West altogether. The top price for male cattle was $150, for which Bertram Hoskins, of Cobourg, sold a yearling steer. Another high priced cow was sold by Fred. Hubbs, Bloomfield, for $260. The prices for two-year-old heifers ranged from $65 to $190, as did the price for mature cattle. Only three or four mature cows sold for less than $100.

W. H. Gough had the best herd at the sale. He had 8 cattle and received $2,145 for them. Norman Montgomery of Brighton was the auctioneer, and James Caskey of Madoc was manager of the sale.

BY BALLOT

Farmers Asked to Express Their Convictions for City Guidance.

It has been suggested that daylight saving in Peterboro would inconvenience the farmers in the district surrounding Peterboro. It is important that the truth of this should be known, and the Examiner asks the co-operation of the agricultural community in laying a definite answer before the City Council at its next meeting.

To do this it is necessary that a vote be taken, and the ballot is given herewith. Mark an X opposite your decision as to whether you favor daylight saving and write "Yes" or "No" opposite the other questions. Then mail it to the Examiner Office, or place it in the ballot box just inside the office door.

One ballot will be printed every day until Saturday next. Have every adult in your household, including hired help, fill one in. Every ballot will count in showing the City Council the wisdom or not of adopting daylight saving. Voting closes at 10 o'clock on Saturday night, April 18th. The ballot will be counted by an equal number of those favoring daylight saving and those opposed assisted by neutral members of the Examiner staff.

For Daylight Saving.....

Against Daylight Saving.....

If the council decides in favor, I would prefer daylight saving in the months I have marked..	May	June	July
	August	Sept.

Will you stop trading in Peterborough if daylight saving is adopted? (Yes or no)

Will you work on daylight saving if the city adopts it? (Yes or no)

Name .....

Address ..... (Not for publication)

Letters from farmers on the subject will be published by the Examiner if short. A pen name may be used, but the letter must also bear a signature. Long letters cannot be used.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF ONTARIO.

PURSUANT to the judgment in this action, and to the order of this Court, dated 6th Nov. 1924, there will be sold freed from plaintiff's dower with the approbation of O. A. Langley, Esquire, Master of this Court, at Peterboro, Ontario, by J. F. Thornton, auctioneer on the Market Square, in the City of Peterborough, at the hour of two thirty o'clock in the afternoon, on Saturday, the 18th day of April, 1925, the following lands and premises, in one parcel, namely:—in the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, and Province of Ontario and being composed of the North one third of Lot Number Twenty, North of Murray Street, and West of George Street in the said City of Peterborough, save and except thereout and therefrom that portion thereof described as follows, that is to say:—

COMMENCING at the North east angle of said lot; thence Southerly along the Eastern limit thereof four feet; thence Westerly and parallel to the Northern limit of said lot, seventy nine feet, nine inches; thence Southerly and parallel to the Eastern limit of said lot four feet; thence Westerly and parallel to the Northern limit of said lot thirty-five feet, five inches more or less to the Western limit of said lot; thence Northerly along the Western limit of said Western limit of said lot; thence Northerly along the Western limit of said lot eight feet more or less to the North West angle thereof; thence Easterly along the said Northern limit to the place of beginning.

The property will be offered for sale, subject to a reserved bid, which has been fixed by the said Master, and subject to the mortgage hereinafter refered to.

The bidding will be based on the whole property irrespective of the mortgage.

Terms of payment—ten per cent of the purchase price at the time of sale, as a deposit; and the balance within fourteen days thereafter, when the purchaser will be entitled to possession, to be obtained at his own expense, and subject to a registered mortgage to Joseph Succee for $1100 and interest, the amount due upon which will be allowed to the purchaser, at time of closing.

On the said lands is said to be erected a modern two storey brick vencer dwelling, comprising seven rooms, toilet and wash basin, in fair ly good state of repair. The premises are heated by a Heela hot-air furnace, and are connected with City water, electric light and gas. The house is said to be 24 feet by 30 feet, with frame kitchen and shed attached, and is known as 497 Donegal Street, in the City of Peterborough. Lands are approximately 60 x 114 feet.

In all other respects the terms and conditons of sale, will be the standing conditions of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

"O. A. LANGLEY."

THE GUMPS—THE MORE HASTE THE LESS FEED

WELL, HERE'S WHERE I LOSE ABOUT EIGHT POUNDS- I'M GOING TO WALK HOME- IT'S ONLY FIVE MILES- WHEN I GET THERE I THINK I'LL EAT ABOUT THREE OUNCES OF LEAN BEEF OR FOUR CUBIC INCHES OF COTTAGE CHEESE AND PERHAPS A LITTLE LETTUCE- I'LL GET THIS FAT OFF-FIRST QUARTER-
GOSH- LOOK AT THOSE PIES- BOY, OH BOY! HOW I'D LIKE TO BE IN A PIE-EATING CONTEST RIGHT NOW- I'LL BET I'D EAT ELEVEN MORE PIES THAN THE CHAMPION-
AT THE HALF-
GEE IT'S HARD TO PASS THIS WINDOW- WOULDN'T IT BE TERRIBLE IF SOME WICKED MAN CAME ALONG AND POINTED A GUN AT MY HEAD AND FORCED ME TO EAT THAT STEAK? WITH MY APPETITE I COULD EAT IT PLATTER AND ALL-THREE QUARTERS-
GIVE ME HALF A DOZEN DOUGHNUTS AND SOME OF THOSE CUP CAKES AND A FEW OF THOSE COCOANUT MACAROONS- YOU'D BETTER MAKE THAT A DOZEN DOUGHNUTS-THE MILE-
SIDNEY SMIT

Ring, snow-white bells, your purest praise
To glorify this Easter day,
And let our risen Saviour's joy
Your voiceless, fragrant breath employ;
Fill every valley with perfume
And lighten death's appalling gloom,
Teach ye our troubled hearts the way
To trust our Saviour every day.

Easter in the Churches

The fasts are done; the Aves said;
The moon has filled her horn;
And in the solemn night I watch
Before the Easter morn.
So pure, so still the starry heaven,
So hushed the brooding air,
I could hear the sweep of an angel's wings
If one should earthward fare.

From a devotional point of view, Easter lifts our souls in communication with our better impulses. It gives us a new incentive for finer living.

The churches whose announcements appear on this page welcome you to attend their special services for this occasion.

Clergymen of all denominations in Peterborough were asked to contribute an Easter message to this special page. The following responded:

REV. G. OSBORNE TROOP.

THERE are two sayings of our Lord Jesus Christ which have absolutely no parallel in human literature. The first was addressed to Martha in her broken-hearted mourning over her brother Lazarus: "I am the Resurrection and the life. He that believeth in Me, though he die, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me, shall never die."

The second was spoken from Heaven to the beloved disciple, St. John, lying as one dead before the vision of his glorified Master: "Fear not! I am the First, and the Last, and the Living One; and I was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore; and I have the keys of death and of the spirit world."

I, for one, am humbly convinced that both these sayings carry conviction with them. They are beyond human invention. They are as high above the loftiest human conception as the heavens above the earth. They contain within themselves the whole gospel. They are intended to kindle within us the sure and certain hope of the Resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Let us open our hearts wide to this great and endless comfort.

Awake, thou wintry earth—
Fling off thy sadness!
Fair vernal flowers, laugh forth
Your ancient gladness!
Christ is risen.
—Thomas Blackburn.

Tomb, thou shalt not hold Him longer;
Death is strong, but Life is stronger;
Stronger than the dark, the light;
Stronger than the wrong, the right;
Faith and Hope triumphant say
Christ will rise on Easter Day.
—Phillips Brooks.

REV. J. L. HUGHES.

"In the garden faith was failing.
By the cross hope perished, wailing,
Out of death love rose, prevailing."

IF any one Christian Festival appeals, and is observed, more strongly than any other it is that of Easter, and in this there need be no surprise. It is certain that no event in our Lord's earthly life, no not the cross itself, was found in Apolistic day, nor since, to be so suggestive, so helpful, so inspiring, as the fact of His Resurrection from the tomb. The Resurrection of Jesus Christ was the mainspring of the faith of the early Christians, it built up and sent forth His servants to win triumphs only Heaven can estimate. The Holy Apostle St. Paul saw in the Resurrection of Jesus Christ not only the assurance and guarantee of our own resurrection, but the incentive to steadfastness of faith and perseverance in Christian life and service; "Thanks be unto God which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore..... be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord."

We need that particular Easter lesson in these present days, there is a great deal of stupid, causeless, weak, infectious pessimism about. Men full of faith in Jesus Christ forget themselves and pose as Cassandras and Jeremiahs. Men are talking just as the disciples might have talked, and no doubt did talk, when Jesus lay dead in the sepulchre. Let us remind ourselves that the power of Jesus' resurrection is always in the world, always working to bring things on to the better day.

Divine love abides, changeless, undefeated, ever victorious in the end. Be it for us "to know Him and the power of His resurrection", and, to be His witness. Assuredly the victory is with the Lord's people, even though at times it seems otherwise. The poet Tennyson wrote: "We trust that, somehow, good Will be the final goal of ill."

Easter comes with its message, love triumphs over hate, good over evil, life over death. Jesus lives!" "This, then, is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith."

REV. J. D. RICHARDSON.

ONE of the strongest arguments for an immortality of existence which is furnished by human thought is that which is founded on instinctive desire. Within the human heart are immortal longings. Man is endowed with an instinctive and powerful love of life. He refuses to entertain the idea that at death he sinks into oblivion and is forgotten. He has an irrepressible faith in his survival of the grave.

An this belief is normal. It is imbedded in the constitution of the human mind. This, not a mere selfish desire, but an essential element of his inner being. It is an instinct of self-preservation, and is woven into the very fibre of the soul. And so deeply inwrought is this instinct of the human heart that no argument can overthrow it, or doubt efface it.

Tennyson has given beautiful expression to this instinct of the soul in his "In Memorian."

"Thou wilt not leave us in the dust
Thou modest man, he knows not why
He thinks he was not made to die
And thou hast made him, thou art just."

Our Lord has written the promise of the resurrection, not in books alone, but in every leaf in spring-time.—Luther.

The diamond that shines in the Saviour's crown shall beam in unquenched beauty, at last, on the forehead of every human soul, risen through grace to the immortality of heaven.

Spring bursts today,
For Christ is risen and all the earth's at play.
—Christiana G. Rossetti.

"Christ the Lord is risen today",
Sons of men and angels say.
Raise your joys and triumphs high;
Sing, ye heavens, and earth reply.
—Charles Wesley.

Easter means more than a Church Observance. It means more than Prayer and Feasting.

Easter conveys into the life of every mortal the expectation of immortality. It is the glorious banner of hope that leads the sons of men over the ramparts of death into the Heaven of Everlasting Life. It brings not only Life, but Life triumphant over sin.

The Easter of Christ's Resurrection means that every man and woman everywhere may be glad this year and next year and throughout th years to come. when loved ones pass away. They may be glad in the knowledge that they are not dead, but shall awake to glorious life.

REV. DR. R. C. BLAGRAVE

THE gospel of the Resurrection has grown so familiar that we often miss its real value and significance. It is a great advantage for Christendom that the church has preserved the Feast of Easter as the anniversary of the event with which this gospel is forever associated. Easter gives us at least once a year, by it traditional joy and rejoicing, a fresh appreciation of the meaning of the empty Tomb and an inspired vision of the Heavenly glory that irradiates human life. Holiness was crucified on the cross that it might illumine the darkness of the grave and, having put to flight the power of death, emerge triumphant into the universal life. The Goodness of God, in which all are invited to become sharers, cannot be attained by a sealed stone in a rock-hewn sepulchre. The truth of God, lived out in the chastened splendour of the Christ life, transforms the grace into a beacon light that illumines the way to eternity. The Resurrection of the Son of Man blazed a trail through the toils of death and cleared the way to glory. It broke the sealed bars that sin had erected against the gates of Heaven. It shattered the bands that enslave humanity and proclaimed the freedom of the cross as the triumphant symbol of the crown of victory. The grain of wheat fell into the ground and died and by its death entered the universal life. The invitation to the mariage feast of time and enternity is forever passed on by the church to all those who will to share the life of the risen Christ. The fruits of His victory are the gift of God to all who live in the faith of the Son of Man. The Victor over death has eternal life abiding in Him and the life He gives freely to those who are able to drink of His cup and be baptized with His baptism. It is our privilege this blessed Eastertide to open the windows of our soul to the light that shines from the empty tomb upon the way that leads to the glorious liberty of the children of God.

REV. M. C. MACKINNON.

WHAT Easter means! We can here have only some hints of its inexhaustible glory. It means the death of death.

"And, death once dead, there's no more dying then." Well, death is dead, ended by One who is the Resurrection and the life, and He tells us that because He lives we shall live also. His rising is to us a presage and a promise, standing, "as 'twere on death's dark storm the rainbow of the soul." Think of what a rainbow means after the storm, you have a hint of what Easter means.

Franklin gives us another hint in his epitaph, written by himself—"The body of Benjamin Franklin, printer, (like the cover of an old book, its contents torn out, and stripped of its lettering and gilding), lies here....., yet the work itself shall not be lost, for it will (as he believed) appear once more in a new and more beautiful edition, corrected and amended by the author." How precious is the old book of one's life! And how uncovered and lost it seems at death! Well, the Resurrection guarantees a re-issue of the same life in a new and more beautiful edition, corrected and amended by the author. The same life, the same friends, the same loved ones of the old circles. "See that it is I myself," He said to His questioning friends.

There are voices even now to be heard telling the secrets of Easter. May we listen quietly this Eastertide.

"The fasts are done; the aves said;
The moon has filled her horn;
And in the solemn night I watch
Before the Eastern morn.
So pure, so still the starry heaven,
So hushed the brooding air,
I could hear the sweep of an angel's wings
If one should earthward fare."

We may be very certain they are not far away, for Easter comes on the sweep of angel's wings. Thank God.

REV. C. W. ROSE, D.D.

THE statements of Scripture assure us that the soul will outlive the severest storms of time and enter at last, through faith in Christ and His mercy, the harbor of God. Christ showed himself alive after death by many infallible proofs. Our loved ones who have gone before into "that other chamber of the King, larger than this and lovelier" will also show themselves alive by equally indubitable evidence. Thank God for such a hope! It is the anchor of the soul.

There is a light ship anchored in the Bay of Fundy about fifteen miles from Yarmouth, out where the tides race over ragged ledges. Through the long pitiless winter that ship with her crew face the storms that come from broad Atlantic. At times in the dark night, when it seems that no ship can live in the face of such gales and rolling mountains of water, the captain will work his way with difficulty to the bow of the ship, which is cleaving the billows, and there with intensity of feeling he puts his hand on the long anchor chain to determine whether the anchor is holding or being dragged along the bottom. The word is given, "The anchor holds." All then know that the strong fluke of the anchor is hooked under some rock or deeply embedded in the foundation of the sea. So the soul anchored to the Rock of Ages will outlive the storms of time.

REV. W. HAROLD YOUNG

HISTORY records no more startling transformation than that which took place in the followers of Jesus immediately following the first Easter Day. Crushed and broken by the spectacle of their Lord done shamefully to death on the Cross, their high hopes all shattered by His defeat disillusioned and despairing they fled to their homes saying sadly to themselves in disappointment and almost bitterness. "We thought it had been He that should have redeemed Israel." With a suddenness, however that history elsewhere cannot match, they transformed. Their seeming defeat was turned to triumph, their sighs of despair gave place to songs of exultation, and the very men who had been fleeing in fear to hiding-places of safety turned about and set out to face and conquer the world. The cause of the amazing transformation cannot be mistaken,-it was conviction that the defeat of Jesus was only seeming, that death had not been able to hold Him, that He was still alive.

Into every generation and every heart the Easter message comes to work the same transformation. The sadness of those first disciples is but typical of the doubts and fears which sooner or later come to the most of men. The universe seems all awry, the very things to which most completely we pin our faith seem to go down in defeat, death rudely shatters our happiness and our hopes, and sometimes even God himself seems to have forgotten. For all this there is one sure corrective—the message that Jesus is still alive, and that, as over his death-bound Son, so over all that is right and true and holy the unsleeping

"And very early in the morning, the first day of the week, they came to the Sepulchre, the sun being now risen."

Tomorrow the Christian world will rejoice on the anniversary of the most glorious day in the history of mankind.

Easter!—with its wonderful message that for Christians has such significance, the message of immortality, of victory over death.

"Christ's resurrection is our Fount of Joy
In silver spray upspringing to the sun;
Our Flame of Paradise, our Golden Star,
Unchanged, unchangeable, though woes annoy,
Our hope of amethystine light afar,
Our strength, our power to reach it, one by one."

Easter Sunday, coming when Nature is demonstrating the yearly miracle of the triumph of spring over the death of winter, is the most joyous festival of the year.

The great outdoors proclaims the fact that there is no death, and the outward manifestation of that great truth is symbolic of the revival of faith in human hearts as the significance of Easter again makes itself felt.

"SEE CANADA FIRST."

Windsor man, just back from a tour of Florida, declares that the best part of a trip is getting back home, and urges Canadians to advertise their country to visitors as they do in Florida.

It is excellent advice.

We don't do enough talking about what we have in this country.

And, incidentally, perhaps many of us don't know enough about these things to talk about them.

It would be interesting, for instance, to know how many Peterboro people have visited the Muskoka Lakes, or how many have seen the 1,000 Islands.

It would be equally interesting to learn how many Kingston folk have travelled through the Kawarthas.

There are people in Peterboro who, although they have lived here for years, have never seen Stoney Lake, one of Ontaio's popular playgrounds located right at our door.

It is even said there are many who have not even seen our own famous Lift Lock being operated.

As Canadians it would pay us to see what a wonderful country is ours before we go a-travelling to foreign lands, and a start can be made by getting acquainted first withour own district and with the Province of Ontario.

CHILD TRAGEDIES.

Within the last two weeks three Hamilton children have been killed by automobiles, and the tragedies have led a corner's jury to point out in its verdict that the pavements are deathtraps as playgrounds.

The latest fatality was caused by a seven-year-old girl tripping on the rope with which she was skipping and toppling out into the pathway of an automobile.

The remark of the chief coroner in regard to such accidents should be heeded by parents everywhere.

"If children will insist on playing such games on the pavements as marbles, baseball, skipping and hop-Scotch and riding their bicycles on any side of the street," Dr. Cornett remarked, "then fatal accidents are likely to happen.

"We were all boys and girls once, and this playing of games is a natural tendency, but when we were young there were no automobiles to be reckoned with. Now the streets are alive with them."

It is indeed difficult to get people to realize that the conditions are different, and thus we find in Peterboro and elsewhere references to supervised playgrounds as a fad, simply because those who have failed to appreciate the menace of the motor car declare that "we didn't have supervised playgrounds when we were young and we got along all right."

It might as well be recognized that what was good enough twenty or thirty years ago is not good enough now.

The streets are deathtraps for children, and the urban communities must keep them out of danger by providing facilities for recreation under safe conditions.

ALMOST CRIMINAL LAXTY.

While the Government Auditor, who has been investigating the Highway Improvement Fund accounts, has reported to the Public Accounts Committee that only in very "minor matters" had he found any suspicion of dishonesty, his findings reveal an almost criminally lax system of bookkeeping in the department during the Drury regime.

His report is but another proof of the unfitness of the previous government to administer the affairs of the Province.

Imagine a Government department handling hundreds of thousands of dollars without even an original book of entry being used for over two years, spending large sums of money without operating a cash book or keeping any record of outgoing expenditures!

The Auditor has been able by means of cheques at the bank, adding machine tabs and what documents were available to reconstruct the accounts of the department, and has succeeded in arriving at the conclusion that the discrepancy was not more than $5,100—but that does not excuse those responsible for the unbusinesslike manner in which public business was done.

Apparently the expenditures of the Highway Department during the Drury period were handled without as reliable or accurate a system of bookkeeping as a corner grocery considers necessary—in fact, it is impossible to think that any business firm would tolerate such laxity.

"I am satisfied," the Auditor remarked, "that the department did not know where they stood."

And he might have added that the system followed made it almost impossible for anybody else to find out where the department stood.

EXPERT HELP BADLY NEEDED.

No better evidence of the need for a committee of competent experts to advise the Minister of Finance on matters affecting the tariff and taxation in general could be asked than was contained in the Budget which recommended the appointment, says the Financial Post. Hardly had this Budget reached the public than what was regarded as perhaps the most important proposal, that relating to anti-dumping of goods from under-par currency countries, was withdrawn by Mr. Robb.

The explanation for Mr. Robb's rather startling volte face is said to be that everything provided in the new resolution in regard to anti-dumping had already been provided in previous legislation. In view of the displeasure with the new proposals evinced by the Progressives, the discovery was a fortunate one, particularly from the Government's standpoint, but what a commentary on the laxness of the existing system that the measure should have been introduced at all. Here was the Government taking its political life in its hands and the interests of the commercial and industrial community thrown into the arena of the Commons in order to get the House to vote on something it had evidently already passed.

And if it is true that provision against the dumping from which business in Canada has been already suffering was already on the statute books, what a weakness in the present handling of such matters is indicated in that no one seemed to know of the weapon already provided to meet the evil.

Particularly since the outbreak of the war the business community has been given the impression that the Federal Budgets contain a lot of taxation experiments which are being tried out and which are put into effect without any adequate understanding of what may be expected. The result is that trade is constantly upset and apprehensive as to what may be tried next.

For this situation the Minister of Finance is not to blame. His big job is to find revenue, and it is natural that he should try whatever method promises to bring results. The appointment of an advisory board as now proposed, and as the Financial Post has urged for years, should overcome the present difficulties. With such a board to represent the interests of farmers, workers and manufacturers and consider the whole question of the effects of taxation on business and on various industries, it should be possible for the Minister to work out a much more business-like program of taxation than under the present haphazard system.

CUTTING DOWN.

Still another voice has been added to the insistent chorus for a reduction of Governmental expenditure and a consequent lowering of taxation in Canada. The Ontario Commercial Travellers' Association, meeting in London, went on record, unanimously, as favoring a fifty per cent. reduction in the size of both the Ontario Legislature and the House of Commons. Here is the resolution in full:

"We, the members of the Ontario Commercial Travellers' Association here assembled, feeling that we know the feeling of the people throughout the country, do hereby submit to the Dominion and Ontario Governments the following resolution:

"Resolved, that in view of the urgent necessity for the exercise of the greatest economy, especially when talk of redistribution and changes in the B. N. A. Act are in process, urge a reduction in the number of members in each House by fully one-half, and that Parliament be conducted on the basis of boards of directors, dealing with matters of great concern in a thorough business way.

"We realize, too, that economy must come from those who occupy high places, and that copies of the resolution be sent to the Prime Minister of the Dominion and Ontario Parliaments, also leaders of the Opposition in each House, and also to our local members, J. F. White, M.P., and Hon. Sir Adam Beck, M.L.A., and sister commercial travellers' associations throughout Canada."

Government on a business basis—that is all the Travellers are asking for, that is all the country is asking for, but it is not getting it either at Ottawa or Toronto. It is getting, on the contrary, the old-fashioned, extravagant, inefficient form of political rule that may have been all right thirty or forty or even ten or twelve years ago, but is absolutely out of date, not to say suicidal, now. "That Parliament be conducted on the basis of boards of directors, dealing with matters of great concern in a thorough business way," the commercial men ask. They know, and the country at large knows, that it is not being conducted that way now. They know, and the country knows, that the Ontario Legislature is not being conducted that way. And without having any special knowledge of the subject, it is a safe wager that most other Provincial Governments in Canada are being conducted in the old style—politics first, economy, efficiency and genuine business administration, second.

We must get away from the present political attitude if this country is ever to come into her own. We must forget about the success of parties and the glorification of individual politicians and start thinking more about the success of the nation. Just now the interests of the party loom larger than the interests of the country. This must be changed, even if the change brings the wreck of every existing party. Perhaps it would be a splendid thing if this were the result. It may be hard to break with the past, we may be reluctant to dispense with many of our cherished traditions, but in times of emergency drastic measures have to be employed. The Border Cities Star respectfully submits that a time of emergency has arrived in Canada. It is a time that calls for leadership, big leadership, clear-thinking leadership, leadership unclouded by political or personal considerations, leadership that is bigger than any party, bigger than any selfish motive. This is the kind of leadership that Canada needs—NOW!—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The current copy of "The Pioneer" somehow conveys the impression that that organ is not feeling very kindly toward the stronger beer amendment.

And now we have the cigar-box mystery to clear up. Quick, Watson, the needle!

With Church Union, the O. T. A., the Public Accounts Committee and redistribution the members of the Legislature have no reason to complain of lack of interesting topics.

Wise and Otherwise.

And there are those among our readers who say the author of "The Green Hat" was talking through his.

"Big Crops from Little Gardens" is a nice book to read to your lettuce and radishes.

Even though a new novel called "Bobbed Hair" was written by 20 authors, that number wasn't enough.

And you would expect a book named "The Decline of Man" to say something about our coming from monkeys, but it doesn't.

New complete works of Shakespeare sells for $2.98, which is about the price of a shirt.

"Eyes of India" is an excellent book. When it comes to beauty one might say these eyes have it.

You may read "Roads of Doubt" if you care to do so, but do not mistake it for a tourist guide book.

And "The Isle of Fear" is a book having nothing to say about the dark aisles in our movies.

We were surprised at a book called "Along the Pyrenees" because it was about neither fire extinguishers nor tooth paste.

You will find "With Shotgun and Rifle" is a new book about hunting instead of honeymooning.

"Fishes" is a new book for fishermen. We thought so. But then, too, we thought it might be a stock market report.

We went to the New York aquarium once. And as we were leaving they thought we were escaping.

The bank book continues to be our Great Canadian Novel.

Mrs. Sanger, birth controller, sees destruction ahead of us. We would like to see a baby make a face at Mrs. Sanger.

COTTON TRADE WORST KNOWN

NEED GOOD SUPPLY

LONDON, April 10. (Associated Press). — The state of the cotton trade in England is the worst known since the days of the American Civil War, and improved condition can only be looked for if the costs of production of the finished article are reduced, according to representatives of the Cotton Spinners and Manufacturerers Association, who gave evidence before the Governmental Committee on Trade and Industry. The chief need of the industry, according to these representatives, is an abundant supply of cotton and a succession of crops in America of 14,000,000 to 15,000,000 bales a year. They urged that everything possible be done to encourage the growing of cotton within the empire, to increase the world's supply of raw material.

Among many reasons for the decline in trade submitted by the representatives were shortage of cotton and its high price, purchasing power of foreign customers not increasing in the same ratio as the advance in price of cotton goods, under-consumption, increasing tendency of continental countries to develop their own textile industry and supply their own markets, reluctuating and depreciating exchanges and currencies, high freights, transpor chares and finishing costs, and dearness of commodities used in manufacturing.

WEDDING BELLS

SOLMES—McKEOWN

BONAR LAW, April 11.—A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. Wm. McKeown on Monday, April 6, when their daughter, Frankie, was united in marriage to Albert Solmes. The marriage ceremony was performed by Mr. Richard Irving of Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Solmes left by motor for Toronto and Hamilton, where they will spend a brief honeymoon. On their return they will reside in the 7th Concession of Rawdon, where Mr. Solmes has purchased a lovely home.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

SATURDAY, April 11.—If to-day is your birthday, you will take quite a fling at life in your early years. You will be very Bohemian. But toward middle age a great change will come over your life. You will hate all the Bohemian things, and settle down to a quiet and successful home and business life.

SUNDAY, April 12.—If to-day is your birthday, you will become intensely interested in religious work at some stage of your life. You may be a minister, a missionary, a nurse, or a faithful worker in the church. One of your faults is apt to be narrowness.

MILLIONS SPENT ON SOCIAL WORK

£338,319,000 Spent on Various Pension Funds in 1923.

MANY VARIETIES

In 1923 Great Britain expended 338,319,000 pounds on various forms of public social service to the community. This included health insurance, unemployment insurance, war pensions, old age pensions, education reformatory and industrial schools, the reform of inebriates, public health, housing, poor relief, lunatics and deficients. According to an official statement just published, and transmitted to the Bankers Trust Company of New York by its British Information Service, the expenditures for similar purposes in 1891 were 22,629,000 pounds, in 1901, 35,994,000 pounds; in 1911, 62,994,000 pounds, and in 1921, 306,738,000 pounds. These are the expenditures not only from parliamentary grants, but also from local taxation and from receipts for all purposes except borrowing, as for example, revenue from endowments and voluntary contributions in the case of education, and in the case of health insurance and unemployment insurance, contributions of employers and employed which provide the major portion of the expenditure on these two services. In the case of housing, expenditures are largely provide for from rents.

Many of the large expenditures are of recent origin and date from a period just before the great war or since. Expenditures for the poor, and for the sick date back to the earliest times, but expenditures in Great Britain for public education did not assume importance until along in the 60's. Expenditures for health insurance and unemployment insurance did not appear in the census reports until 1921, indicating that they must have originated in the period between 1911 and 1921, while old age pensions were inaugurated as recently as 1911. Of the total expenditures of upwards of 338,000,000 pounds in 1923, the latest date for which statistics are obtainable, the largest amount was for education, 88,228,000 pounds, or 26.07 per cent. of the total; the next largest amount was for war pensions and aggregated 75,217,000 pounds, or 13.96 per cent of the total; for the relief of the poor the sum of 47,27,000 pounds or 13.95 per cent of the total, was expended.

Unemployment insurance required an expenditure of 49,003,000 pounds, but only 12,001,000 pounds was required from public moneys, the balance being provided from fees and similar sources. Health insurance called for an expenditure of 29,438,000 pounds, of which sum public moneys provided 6,940,000 pounds. To provide housing for working people an expenditure of 11,715,000 pounds was required; but half of this sum was provided from public moneys, the balance coming from other sources.

The object of the provisions of the national insurance acts relating to health insurance is to provide for insurance against lors of health, and for the prevention and cure of sickness and for purposes incidental thereto. With certain unimportant exceptions, all persons above the age of 16 and below that of 70 employed under contract of service, are compulsorily insured. Broadly therefore the scheme embraces the whole wage earning community. Ordinary benefits to which insured persons are entitled are: Medical benefit in sickness, disability and maternity benefits. These three benefits take the form of cash payments during incapacity for work. Although the health insurance scheme is primarily a contributory one, the state provides two-ninths of the cost of benefits, and of their administration by approved societies and insurance committees, and bears the whole cost of the central administration, with the exception of certain special funds; 15,249,000 perosns are directly benefiting from the operations of the helath insurance acts.

UNSURPASSED FOR CHILDHOOD AILMENTS

Mrs. Howard King, R.R. No. 5, Truro, N.S., says:—"I am the mother of four children and have always used Baby's Own Tablets when any of them needed a medicine, and I can recommend the Tablets as being unsurpassed for childhood ailments." Thousands of other mothers agree with Mrs. King as to the merits of the Tablets. There are thousands of homes throughout Canada where the Tablets are always kept on hand in readiness for the least sign of any of the minor ailments which afflict little ones. Baby's Own Tablets never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels, thus they banish constipation and indigestion; relieve colic and bring the baby through that dreaded teething period in safety. The Tablets never do harm — always good —as they are guaranteed absolutely free from any injurious drugs. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ELGIN, Ill., April 11.—A new way to pay for broadcasting is to be tested by stations WTAS and WCEE here.

For this purpose Charles E. Erbstein, noted Chicago attorney, who owns both WTAS and WCEE, has leased the Blackstone Theatre, in Chicago, for nightly radio and public entertainments. It is the first time this stunt has ever been attempted.

WTAS artists and the WTAS orchestra will broadcast nightly from the Blackstone stage. A low admission fee will be charged to defray the expenses. Nearly 1,500 people will have this opportunity of watching the nightly radio broadcasting program.

Stars of the vaudeville, theatrical and concert world are also expected to appear on Elgin programs, facing their audiences nightly on the Blackstone stage and at the same time broadcasting their entertainment by microphone through WTAS and WCEE.

The Blackstone experiment will be a step farther in the line of broadcasting before an audience. Erbstein has been staging his studio entertainments for the past year every Monday night before audiences of 500 persons in Kimball Hall, here.

"I am sure the venture will be successful," he says. "We have consistently turned away thousands of people at Kimball Hall on our public broadcasting nights.

"At the Blackstone Theatre there will be plenty of room for everyone. If the public wants it, we will continue indefinitely to broadcast from the Blackstone Theatre. It is an experiment and we will give it a thorough trial."

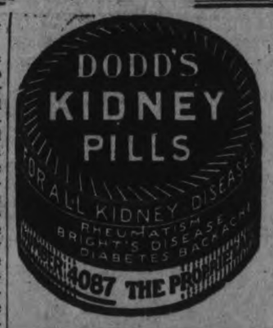
Make a box-type loop with four celluloid or wood coat hangers and two stips of wood each 24 inches long. A coat hanger is screwed at the middle to the ends of the wood strips. The two strips are notched in the middle and mortised so each strip will be at right angles to the other. Use 100 feet of single lamp cord for the inductance.

Make your set tune to the longer wavelengths by hooking a coil of 20 turns of No. 20 wire in series with the aerial or by connecting a .0001 Mfd. fixed condenser across the variable condenser and across the aerial and ground binding posts.

If the socket binding post is not long enough to hold several loops of bus wire, remove the binding post screw and replace it with a longer one.

Use small test clips in making temporary connections while experimenting with a hookup. They can be snapped on and off in a instant.

Tighten a loosened binding post on the panel by putting a lock washer under the nut at the rear of the panel before the nut is screwed down.



THE PREACHER AND LITERATURE

Dr. Trevor Davies Touches Many Points of Interest to Church Readers.

WRITERS SPIRITUAL

TORONTO, Ont., April 11— The literary art of two great preachers, Dr. Campbell Morgan and the late Dr. W. L. Watkinson, illustrated an address by Dr. Trevor H. Davies to the local Anglican and Methodist ministers. Any attempt to rewrite a Ruskin or a Campbell Morgan paragraph would indicate in his view "how far the second-best word is from the best." While advocating note-taking in index-making for sermonizers, he recalled Dr. Watkinson coming into his study and saying: "There on your shelf, Davies, is a book I read twenty years ago; in the middle of second chapter is an illustration that I haven't read since but shall use in my sermon next Sunday."

This A Prodigal Age

Prescribing the use of English literature by Canadian preachers, Dr. Davies said that in Britain's century-long struggle against materialism her writers, from Coleridge to Browning, had been "on the side of the angels." They were valuable allies of all preachers of the spiritual. Materialism as a system of thought was now almost extinct and this age, in life and literature alike, was "a prodigal longing to return home to God." Thither all recent poets of note would lead if able, but apparently they had lost their way and their only language was a cry after better things.

Unsurpassed Since Greece.

It was not literature's business to preach a full and completely-rounded gospel, said Mr. Davies. That was for preachers of the Christian religion. But if English literature voiced anything it was the claim and protest of the human spirit against a life fed by bread alone. Newman was right in saying that literature was the history of man. For this self-revelation it was easy to discover that God had never left himself without a witness in the world of human nature and of nature. In this spiritual elment the literature of the British race was unsurpassed since Greece.

Aid To Message And Form.

"Some of us owe our souls to Robert Browning," said the speaker, who will be remembered as the author of a work on "Spiritual Voices in Modern Literature." He found in poets, esayists and novelists a way of escape from the world of the specialist into the world. Hence ministers needed the companionship of books.

Every book would also be of some help in providing materials for the high vocation which is ours." Literature would cultivate anyone's faculty or expression and of illustration and in its highest examples fortified the message as well as the form of the Christian sermon.

Index Cards Vs. Memory.

In this address the minister of Eaton Memorial Church revealed not only the methods of self-discipline in preparation which has made his name familiar in Canada but also evinced a student's love of the English poets and prose stylists. Prose writers were good but poets were better for the preacher, in his opinion. Style involved the sweat of practice. Illustrations depended on pencils, notebooks and files rather than on memory. Style was beneath no preacher's dignity. Laziness was inexcusable.

The Peril Of Slang.

Modern preachers, he feared, had swung too far away from the rhetorical eloquence of fifty years ago. To make eloquence effective the words had to be selected and the construction revised with toil. A good exercise was to read a great passage, close the book, then try to reproduce the thought in worthy language of one's own, and then compare with the original for precision of word and lucidity of thought. This was particularly valuable "in a county like our, where the current coin of our vocabulary is constantly in peril of becoming debased."

ODOR OF GARLIC

WASHINGTON, April 11—(Canadian Press.)—The best method of eliminating the odor of garlic from the breath is to refrain from eating it, Department of Agriculture scientists have determined after a olng study of the question.

The enquiry was instituted after several parties had appealed to the department for a solution of the problem of a garlicky taste in milk from a cow which had eaten garlic. Now the experts announce that the only thing to do is to keep the cows from the weed, in which they revel.

MODERN PACE KILLING YOUTH

Jazz, Liquor and Lax Discipline Driving Young Insane, Says Alienist.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 11—Records of the state asylum for the insane at Milledgeville, Ga., show that an alarming number of boys and girls are going crazy, and alienists report that this same condition is nationwide, due largely to too many white lights, too much jazz, and not enough of the old commonsense way of living.

Pocket flasks, sex magazines, pampered children who need liberal application of the back side of the hair brush, high powered automobiles, and too much speed are given as the reasons for the increase in the number of "child lunatics."

An excess of the hectic quality in business is also offered by Dr. R. C. Swint, head of the state sanitarium, as one of the causes why so many young men end their careers now in asylums. Keen competition and a general speeding up of the wheels of business wreck the nerves of many, he said.

At the state sanitarium are more than 3,500 insane patients, of whom 60 per cent. are under the age of 40. Many are boys and girls of less than 20.

Dr. H. W. Allen, of Milledgeville, who has devoted his life to study of mental diseases, sums up the increase of insanity among young people in two words — "white lights."

"There is too much excitement now," he said, "too much jazz, too much fast living. People need to quiet down."

Paddle Needed.

One Atlanta alienist in discussing the increase of insanity among boys and girls said: "Children need to be disciplined more to keep them mentally stable. If they are petted too much, or are allowed to break into tantrums of anger at the least provocation, if they are allowed to see movies of the wrong sort, go to dances too soon, lead a life of unwholesome excitement, the result is a loss of mental and emotional balance.

"Thirty years ago children were taught obedience, either through a love for their parents or frequent paddling. We need to do the same thing now. Parents then were strict about what their children read; there were no wild movies for them to see, and the high school set didnt go to dances. They stayed children until they were 17 or more. Then they married. But the children of today at that age where they ought to be playing innocent games are seeing movies based on sex and reading sensation novels.

"Little girls paint and wear silk stockings and make pert remarks at which their parents laugh. Boys learn wild ways and the taste of bootleg whiskey when they ought to be spinning tops.

Parents to Blame.

"The result of this upon children born with weak nerves is often a mental breakdown. The personal freedom permitted children and the excitements of modern life are largely responsible for the number of patients committed to our asylums suffering from dementia praecox.

"The fault lies largely at the door of the parents—parents who go out to the theatre or a party every night, and leave their children at home in dark houses, parents who are always wrangling, parents, particularly mothers, who are threatening their children with bugabears to make them behave.

"These influences contribute to make children emotionally morbid, the modern life reaches out and grabs them, and the job is finished. The asylum opens its doors.

"Had Dorothy Ellingson's mother paddle her a few times when she began to show signs of willful anger, it is probable that the child would never have reached the state where she slew her mother.

"There are many potential Dorothy Ellingsons and Loebs and Leopolds among us now. What they need is discipline at home."

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 2

Tea Production Today

If the Chinese, who first discovered tea, had realized the possibilities of the trade and had studied the nature and requirements of the plant, China might still be the largest tea producing country. Centuries of neglect, however, stunted the growth and caused the quality to deteriorate. In the mountains of Ceylon and India, tea was found to flourish. Scientific methods of cultivation and manufacture were introduced with remarkable results. Now the finest tea grown in the world and by far the largest quantity comes from these countries. "SALADA" is mainly blended from flavoury India and Ceylon teas.

A MUSICAL PERSON

Anyone Who Knows a Good Tune Can Claim the Title.

Many people say they are not musical, but that they know what they like, or that they know a good tune when they hear it. Well, if the like the music they know, they are quite entitled to regard themselves as musical. And if, in addition to knowing a good tune when they hear one, they also know a bad tune when they hear one, there can be no doubt that they are musical. Anybody who can whistle a tune, or hum a song, join in a hymn, or listen with interest to a musical instrument, is musical, and could develop his or her standard of musical appreciation by singing more and listening more.

A Thousand Dollars a Mile

To prevent the unnecessary destruction of public property, the law provides that during March and April trucks (outside cities and towns) shall not be loaded in excess of one-half of their rated carrying capacity.

When a road is asked to bear a load which is too heavy or driven at too great a speed the surface is broken and the foundation is "churned up". Disintegration follows. Repair costs are often more than $1,000 a mile.

Smaller loads and slower speeds

Water lurks in the foundations of all roads at this season of the year, and the surfaces of all gravel and macadam roads are porous and soft. To prevent the breaking down of road surfaces and the "fracture" of foundations, smaller loads and slower speeds are demanded.

The Department requests the voluntary co-operation of truck owners and drivers, but this does not affect in any way the enforcement of The Ontario Highways Act. Infractions will be penalized even more rigorously than before.

Will lessen repair costs

But the Department believes that a large measure of co-operation will come from those concerned when it is understood that restrictions of the law are entirely in the interest of the public, and particularly in the interest of the truck and automobile owners. This co-operation will result in lower repair costs.

Maintenance and repair of roads fall largely on the users of the roads. In justice they should fall most heavily on the traffic which does most damage to the roads. That damage will be lessened if each individual truck owner and driver will suit his load and his speed to the conditions of the road, and keep well within the limits of the law.

An advertisement issued by the Ontario Department of Highways to secure the co-operation of motorists and truck drivers, Automobile Clubs and all other public spirited bodies, in abating the abuse of the roads of the Province.

ABORIGINAL RIGHT OF THE INDIANS TO HUNT AND TRAP WAIVED FOR LARGE GRANT FROM GOVERNMENT

Stand On All Fours With Whites Under Provincial Game Laws.

LICENSE REQUIRED.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11. — There is no statute or treaty in existence exempting Indians from the payment of the usual license fee for trapping, according to the decision handed down by Maigstrate G. A. Payne, and which was made public on Thursday morning, when the hearing of the case against Tom Foote and Joe Sharow was resumed. These men admitted that they had trapped muskrates in this district, without the payment of a fee, but claimed that as Indians they were exempt from this charge.

Major Ponton, of Belleville, solicitor for the Indians, had claimed exemption under an order-in-council passed in May, 1921, and which provided that all an Indian had to do to establish his right to trap without a license was to secure a certificate from the Department that he was a bona fide Indian.

Magistrate Payne found that the order-in-council referred to had been revoked by another passed in September, 1923. He accordingly had no alternative but to find the defendants guilty and he imposed on each the minimum fine of $5.00, with $7.72 costs in each case, or 15 days in jail in Cobourg if the fine were not paid. The court held $100 of the defendants' money as they had deposited as security for the right to trap pending the hearing of the charge. From this deposit the amount of both fines and costs was collected and the balance was returned to the defendants.

Major Ponton asked that the $5 fee be accepted as payment of the license fee which amounts to that for Indians and white men alike residing in Ontario, but the Magistrate said that he did not care to take this stand even if he had the power but preferred to leave the question of a license to the Department.

Both defendants were in court and were accompanied by three Indians of the Chippewa tribe at Curve Land and this trio protested against the Government's treatment of members of their race. They produced copies of letters from Chiefs and of laws which the magistrate told them were obsolete. One of the three is trapping this season at Hoard's Station and had taken out a license under protest. He showed the Magistrate a letter from the Department, the purport of which he had evidently failed to understand, as it informed that Indians as such had no special rights to hunt, fish or trap. The letter added that the Indians had waived all these rights in consideration of the payment by the government of a large sum of money, but the Indians present declared that they had never received a cent from this fund.

pointed to them and said: "Behold my victims." Blum then embraced M. Herriot, who smilingly said to the Socialist: "My poor friend, I have denied thee, and denied thee today of all days." This allusion on Good Friday to the denial of Peter, coming from the anti-clerical leader in the Chamber, created something of a sensation among the newspapermen crowding the ante-room.

The vote of non-confidence in the Ministry and was announced at 8.45 last evening. M. Herriot and the Ministers were fifteen minutes in making their way from the building, shaking hands with groups of Senators and Deputies. The Ministers left for the Foreign Office at nine o'clock, where the resignation was discussed, decided upon and the letter drafted.

Dramatic End.

The fortune of the battle in the Senate was decided with dramatic suddenness. M. Herriot had held his own in the long debate with M. Francois-Marsal, and M. Poincare's formal address appeared to have left the Senators somewhat cold. Suddenly M. Herriot interrupted M. Poincare, and the latter retorted sharply.

There followed some repartee, in which the sharp staccato sentences of M. Poincare culminated in the exclamation: "You are not the man to come before us and ask for a sacred union." M. Poincare delivered the exclamation in ringing tones, with his index finger extending towards M. Herriot. This brought the Opposition Senators to their feet cheer.

There and then the fate of the Cabinet was sealed.

The entire afternoon had been taken up by speeches of M. Francois-Marsal and Premier Herriot.

Both, using exactly the same set of figures, taken from identical sources, had proved—to their own satisfaction—entirely different viewpoints. In their speeches, rid of long strings of figures and shorn of their diplomatic niceties and language, both M. Herriot and M. Francois-Marsal were somewhat in the position of two small boys before a stern parent confronted with a broken vase, and each accusing the other "You did it!"

Poincare Breaks Silence

Then as the small slender figure of former President Poincare was seen briskly ascending the steps of the speaker's rostrum, tense silence fell upon the assembly, which up to that time had been extremely unruly.

"I have decided to break my long silence since my departure from the direction of French public affairs only because the life of my country is at stake," said M. Poincare. "I have a duty to perform," he added.

It was folly, M. Poincare went on, for Frenchmen to accuse one another of being responsible for the present precarious situation of the French treasury, when the failure of Germany to pay France was at the bottom of the entire trouble. But some Frenchmen were more responsible than others.

The former President blamed international political strife and the polices of the present government on other than economic matters as creating unrest and destroying confidence, and said the improvident speeches by allies of the present government—referring to the Socialists—were causes which had brought the French treasury to its present low ebb.

"If the men now conducting French affairs cannot be depended upon to restore confidence," M. Poincare declared, "let us try with others. I do not speak for myself. Willingly, gladly, I have passed on to younger men the labors and responsibilities of power."

Replying to M. Herriot's statements that the Herriot government was the first one to make the Germans pay, M. Poincare for the first time mentioned the Ruhr.

Revenue from Ruhr.

"We received three billion marks out of the Ruhr, in which our allies were glad to share," M. Poincare declared. He added that the Ruhr was becoming a paying venture and the schedule of payments would be increased as the years went on. "I assume entire responsibility for the acts of my government from 1922 to 1924," said the former President. "Let M. Heriot do the same."

M. Millerand, who had been sitting calm and unmoved in his seat, with a huge portfolio filled with documents lying unopened before him, immediately was surrounded by fellow Senators. But the former President, who was removed from the French White House by the government which now was on the verge of defeat, made a sign to M. De Selves, president of the Senate, that he did not desire to speak. M. De Selves then commenced reading the order of the day.

power of an all-wise and all-loving God still watches. To the man who sees that in the heart of Easter, the return of the day cannot fail to mean the fresh birth of faith and the enthronement of a quiet confidence in the ultimate victory of the higher and finer thing in the life of the world and in his individual soul.

REV. DYSON HAGUE.

THE first word of the Risen Christ was 'Hail' (Chairete, Matt. 28:9), a message of glorious delight. It brought to sad hearts then, and it brings to the world today, the compulsive power of a new exhilaration. Today a million eyes re-sparkle as they see by faith the Risen Lord; and today a million hearts reverberate with its diffusive gladness. The Lord is risen indeed! Now is Christ risen from the dead! Once more to a despondent, doubt-sick world, the great Evangel, as a tidal wave, comes to overflow the walls that divide Protestant and Catholic, submerging the barriers of a hundred sects in a great unity of faith in the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come.

Now is Christ risen from the dead and ended is the dark night of fear. Ended is the sad day of doubt. Ended is the rule of the King of Terrors. Sursum corda! Up with hearts! The rising of the Son of God on Easter Day abolished death and the fear of death passed for Christians. Their tombs were inscribed with symbols of hope and peace. "Alexander is not dead. He lives beyond the stars" was a tombstone inscription that told of the dauntless faith that then and since radiated in the hearts of all real believers in Christ. The flag of victory is now planted on the grave. Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory in this year of grace in the 20th century. For the Resurrection Faith lifts us into the region of rapturous certitudes. And more, its conviction grounded on many infallible proofs gladdens and glorifies life.

"I have never had a single hour of joy in my Christian life," said a lady, as she asked a great Christian leader the secret of his joy. "Tell me how to get some gladness in my life. I have a joyless existence." I do not know of any secret joy like this," was the heartening answer, "I am living in the risen, victorious, indissoluble life of my Risen Lord. The glory of Easter morning is mine. I cannot think of that for five minutes without being glad and without saying 'Goodbye' to sorrow and sighing." Yes. The King of Love on His Resurrection Day opened the Kingdom of Heaven to all believers. The empire of the living Christ is the empire of gladness. The dark days of time are now irradiated with the rays of eternity.

Dry up all tears, ye mourners! Take heart, ye doubters! And you, believers, one and all, rejoice. It's Easter. It's Easter. The sun is robed today in gladder light. The springtime flowers tell of God's new life. All things are new. And we know that our Redeemer liveth, we are the witnesses of His Resurrection to-day, and every Sunday, "till He come."

Break forth into singing then, O ye Christians of Canada. And join with us, ye sons of Abraham and ye aliens from other shores, to keep with us the Feast, and proclaim he victory of victories: that Jesus died, but rose again and ever lives, the Sovereign of the Ages.

REV. J. DOUGLAS PATERSON.

THE dawn of the first Easter brought to a close the suffering of our Lord Jesus Christ, the afterwards was all glory, He had risen triumphant over death, His old life of sorrow and pain was no more and never could return.

Every Easter should be a day of resurrection to every Christian. We are bidden to look into the empty tomb and for many of us this year and every year the mind dwells on the hallowed resting place where a loved one sleeps. The raising of the Lord Jesus from the dead and from the grave is to each mourner both the message of hope and a guarantee of the power of God. Not death but life lies on the other side of the Christian's grave.

Not only death but sin was overcome on that first Easter morning, and by the power of the risen Savious it is divinely possible for us to be "dead unto sin, but alive unto God." Victory over death, sin and self is sure when we earnestly seek it as the free gift of the risen Lord.

REV. J. W. GORDON.

SPRING and summer loveliness give no hint of the tragedy of autumn. So fresh and fragile, so tender and beautiful, so fragrant. But the days pass swiftly into days of sadness and waste; a wind blows and beauty and grace in flower and leaf shiver, and the ground is covered with withered glory.

Why do roses die? Why form them so exquisitely, only to let them die. Like the baby, that is ushered with what solemnity and mystery into our lives, awe is in our hearts at so much wonder and sweet frailty combined. New depths stir within us. When lo! the cruel winds blow and our flower is gone, our little baby flower. Why do roses die? That they may bloom again.

Flowers and beauty and grace and strength of mind and body decay, such transitoriness makes our affections run deep. Shadow is never far away. Gloom may be upon us ere we know it. The awe of possible loss endears all that we love to us. But when love is shattered with grief; and blind and dumb with woe we wonder "why?" comes the word "that they may bloom again." That's why roses die. The death of a flower is not the end of it's life—coming in between two glories. It passes by death from glory to glory.

"In the spring" we say. In the spring these homely brown bulbs will come to flower. Now they look dead enough. An old friend of mine, a gardener showed me his bulbs as he planted them under his window, in the cold autumn. "Now you wouldn't think there was much life in them," he said, as he turned them over in his rough old hands. "But they'll be fine in the spring." One glorious shining day that spring I stood beside his cold worn body as it lay ready for its earthen cell. I talked with his calm, sweet-faced wife of his flowers and how he loved them. "See there," she said, and there under the window of the room in which he lay, was red and green and gold pushing their way up to light. It was just as he said, "They'll be all right in the spring."

Why do roses die? That they may bloom again. And strength and bloom and beauty though they die will come to newness of life and fulness of joy "in the spring."

REV. NORMAN R. McLEOD.

IT is a curious thing that the English word Easter comes from the name of a Saxon goddess, Eostre, and yet stands in the Christian church for the day which is often called "The Queen of the Festivals." The observance of Easter Day by Christians can be traced back at least to the middle of the second century, within about fifty years of the time of the Apostles. It has also been regarded as a very important festival, because the resurrection which it celebrates is vital to Christianiy. On the day of Waterloo, Napoleon recognized the little village of Hougomont as the strategic point of battle. It was captured and recaptured three times during the day, involving fearful slaughter, because both sides knew that it was the key to the position. So in 1915 the Germans attacked Ypres with determination, while Britain defended it with persistency, since behind it lay Calais and the English channel. The same conviction explains Verdun in 1916, for beyond it in the eyes of the Germans were Paris and France.

What then does Easter mean? Easter means the Resurrection and the Resurrection means that Christ is living and directly interested in human affairs. The Resurrection also means that Christ is King, and notwithstanding these days of disorder, it is still possible to believe this in the light of His Resurrection. Easter also means that Christ is coming again. For ages past, as well as in the present, on Easter Day and Easter week the church has confessed this: "From thence he shall come."

But Easter and the Resurrection means victory over sin and death. As the Apostle Paul once said, "If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; you are yet in your sins." There is nothing in life more pressing than the problem of sin, and no fact more real than the consciousness of guilt. And, as a consequence, the deepest longing of the human soul is for the assurance of forgiveness. Intellect, culture, morality are all valuable and essential, but they are powerless to deal with sin. The only adequate force is "the old, old story," which becomes the power of God unto salvation. Forgiveness has been aptly called, "Christ's most striking innovation in morality," and becomes possible only through what happened on Easter Day. Thus Easter brings it's message of joy, it's revival of hope, and it's buoyant renewal of our aspirations for that life which is hid with Christ in God.

R. S. SOUTHWORTH,

Who has sold out the local Creamery and the Branch at Keene, to H. N. Carr, of Hamilton.

TRENT VALLEY CREAMERIES AT CAMPBELLFORD AND KEENE SOLD

R. S. Southworth Disposes of Dairy Plants to H. N. Carr, of Hamilton.

COUNCIL VACANCY.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11. — R. S. Southworth, proprietor of the Trent Valley Creameries, one of the largest and most sucessful industries of the kind in Eastern Ontario, has sold out his business here, together with the branch of Keene to Harold N. Carr of Hamilton who will take possession on Wednesday of the next week Mr. Southworth's sole reason for selling is the condition of his wife's health which makes a change of climate imperative. Mrs. Southworth is now in the West and her husband will join her there about the middle of May when he has wound up his business affairs here.

Twelve Years in Business.

Mr. Southworth has been in the creamery business in Campbellford for the past 12 years, beginning in a building on the West side of the river. He purchased and moved into the large brick building on Rear Street, which he has just sold, three years ago. His factory and the grounds surrounding it have always been held up as an example of taste and neatness and visitors to town never failed to advance it as a model in its way. The bricks were painted in alternate shades and in the summer season the lawn in front of the factory was artistically laid out in flower beds. The Creamery was always busy and the products were sent to all sections of Canada. Last year a quantity of butter was shipped to the markets of Germany.

Branch at Keene.

In 1921, Mr. Southworth found it necessary to expand his business and began the erection of a branch at Keene. The new factory began operation in 1922 and has been conducted ever since, the Keene manager from the beginning being George A. Renwick who will remain in that capacity under the new owner.

A Popular Citizen.

By square dealing Mr. Southworth has made a host of friends among the farmers and all others with whom he has done business. He served the town as councillor in 1921 and 1922 & was selected to that position again the beginning of the present year. His departure from the town will create a vacancy in the council which will require a special election to fill. Mr. Southworth will leave here accompanied by the best wishes of all who know him for his future success.

The New Owner.

Mr. Carr, the new owner of this flourishing business, is married, has two children and will move his house hold here from Hamilton as soon as he can secure suitable residence. He comes to Campbellford after a successful career extending over 20 years in the same line of business. He is vice-president of the Brent Creameries, Limited, with branches in Brantford, Hamilton and Niagara Falls and which is controlled by the Stillman Brothers who were formerly of Campbellford but who left here for Western Ontario many years ago.

Special Election.

R. S. Southworth, who has disposed of his business here preparatory to leaving for the West will resign his seat in the Town Council as a matter of course and a special election will be required to fill the vacancy, this being the course prescribed by statute in case of towns and cites villages. In cities, under Gen.Act, defeated candidate who was the runner up automatically becomes a member of the Council in the event of a vacancy due to any course. Council working uder a Special Act; such as Peterboro, have the right of selecting any eligible citizen for the vacancy and electing him by a majority vote of the Board.

There is already talk of a successor to Councillor Southworth. The ratepayers seem averse to the idea of increasing the expense of a special election. Alex McDonal was a member of the Council last year and at the last election polled the highest vote of any of the six defeated candidates. His friends suggest now that he be given an election by acclamation. Besides having a good record while a member of the Council, Mr. McDonald is a returned man and now that the question of a soldier's memorial is a live issue with the town fathers it is felt that it is only fair that the veterans should be given representation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stewart are in Detroit visiting relatives. In Mr. Stewart's absence A. G. Thompson is acting manager of the Standard Bank, and A. E. Hawk of the branch at Marlbank is helping out the staff.

OBITUARY.

OSCAR COPPERWAITE.

The deceased, who was a former resident of Havelock, was in his 28th year.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his mother, Mrs. S. Wright, Belmont, and two sisters, Mrs. C. Foley, of Toronto, and Mrs. Archie White, of Trenton.

The funeral took place on Thursday under the auspices of the Great War Veterans' Association. Service was held at 2 o'clock in the Methodist Church, and interment in the Maple Grove Cemetery.

JOHN BASKINS.

NORWOOD, April 11. — John Baskins passed away yesterday in his 76th year. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock from his residence on Helen Street. A memorial service will be held in the Anglican Church at 4.30 p.m. under Masonic auspices.

MRS. JAMES LEAHY.

Mrs. James Leahy died on Friday afternoon at her home in Doure, after a long illenss. Mrs. Leahy was one of the oldest residents of the township and was highly respected by all who knew her. Her husband predeceased her several years ago. She is survived by six sons, Patrick Michael and Daniel of Douro, Father Joseph Leahy of Montreal, Edward of Dummer and Br Bartholomew of St. Paul and six daughters, Norah, Catherine and Mrs. Pattick Fitzgerald of Douro, Mrs. Fitzpatrick of Downeyville, Mrs. James Dalton of Peterborough and Sister Viola of St. Paul.

The funeral will take place on Monday morning to St. Joseph's Church and Cemetery, Douro.

GORDON CRAWFORD.

LAKEFIELD, April 11. — The death occurred on Good Friday evening of Gordon Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Crawford, after several weeks' illness. He was born in Lakefield 31 years ago. He enlisted in Lethbridge, Alta., at the outbreak of the war, and went overseas with the first Canadian contingent as a trooper in the Strathcona Horse, with which unit he served till the spring of 1918, when he was severely wounded, losing his right leg and sustaining other serious injuries. He was also very badly gassed, the result of which caused his death. He was well-known in the village, where he spent his boyhood, and where he resided since his return from overseas. In spite of his crippled conditon, he was always bright and cheerful and took a great deal of pleasure in fishing in the river, and for at least two years had the record catch for lunge. He was a member of St. John's Church.

He leaves to mourn his loss his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Crawford; two sisters, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, of St. Catharines, and Miss Ruth, of Lakefield, and seven brothers: Fred. of Lakefield, Roland of Calgary, Charles of Smith, Wellington of Rice Town, Sask., Melville of Nebraska, Ward of Detroit, and Clarence of Niagara Falls. A brother and sister predeceased him.

The funeral will be held Monday.

SMITHY BURNED AT WARKWORTH

Sawmill Also Belonging To Peter Bound a Total Loss.

BRIDGE CLOSED.

WARKWORTH, Ont., April 9.—On Wednesday, April 8th the sawmill and blacksmith shop belonging to Mr. Peter Bound was entirely wiped out by fire. The cause is unknown and no insurance covers the loss.

The pier of the bridge on the outskirts of the village has caved in and fearing heavy traffic would cause the bridge to go down, it has been closed to traffic until inspected by the county superintendent of roads, Geo. Greer, of Cobourg, and also by a bridge inspector.

Mr. J. J. Freure is visiting his parents at Wellandport.

Rev. Wm. Crawe, D.D., of Toronto, preached in St. Andrew's church on Sunday and was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Walker over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Phillips, Mrs. A. M. Smale and Mrs. C. C. Armstrong were in Peterborough on Wednesday.

CAMPBELLRORD COUNCIL

R. H. COLE

Some one has said that political campaigning is an art but with Councillor R. H. Cole it seems to have been brought to the status of a science. He believes in making a personal appeal to the voters before every civic election, is always ready to listen patiently to criticism and to explain and defend his stand on every important public question. He believes in the virtue of advertising and no candidate for the council uses more printers 'ink than he does in getting his case before the people.

Mr. Cole was born in this town, has lived here all his life and like all other patriotic residents who have watched the growth of Campbellford in the past his unswerving faith in its future. He believes, too, as his record as a councillor will show, that all important positions that are filled by appointment should go to local men.

Mr. Cole is serving his fourth term as councillor and has always received a good vote. In 1923, in one of the hardest fought local elections that Campbellford has ever seen, he was returned at the head of the polls. He is at present chairman of the committee on roads and bridges, the most important position in the Council, a position which he also held in 1923 and last year. In Campbellford as in the majority of other municipalities members are placed on committees, not by appointment but by vote of the councillors and as Mr. Cole has faced new associates every year it cannot be said that favoritism has put him at the head of the most important committee on the list.

"Economy without parsimony" is Councillor Cole's slogan, a motto that has carried him back to office on at least two occasions. Few men who spend two or more years in the town council lack ambitin to go still higher in the public service, the Little Parliament at Cobourg being their immediate objective. Mr. Cole may or may not have this ambition but if he has he is content to make haste slowly up the ladder instead of committing he blunder of attempting to reach the top rung over those who have been in the procession before him.

TAFFY PULLED IN SUGAR BUSH

Rare Treat For Brighton People as Sap Season Ends.

COOLED IN SNOW.

BRIGHTON, April 9.— A very delightful sugar-off was held at the sugar bush of Mr. Harry Sauvr's when about fifteen local people engaged in a good old time sugar-off. Real snow was found on which the syrup was cooled and an abundance of taffy and sugar was provided for all. This is becoming an annual event and one which is always looked forward to with anticipation. Mr. Sauvr is to be congratulated on his hospitality.

Repairing Road.

The Presquile Park Commission are having the road dragged from Presquile lighthouse to Brighton, a stretch about seven miles. Dead grass is being burned and trees trimmed along this road, which will enhance the beauties of the drive.

Mr. A. E. H. Jackson, who formerly operated a flour and feed mill here, will work with Mr. A. T. Sirett on his farm during the ensuing season.

The cast of about 35 are busily engaged with the rehearsals of the amateur play, "Miss Cherry Blossom," which will be presented for the third time on Friday evening in Wellington.

Miss Lillian Barrager is visiting in Toronto.

A week of preaching was observed in the Methodist church this week. Rev. F. E. Malett, B.A., D.D., of Belleville, being the speaker Monday night. On Tuesday night Rev. Harry B. Kenny, of Belleville, Wednesday night Rev. W. J. H. Smyth, M.A., B.D., of Wellington, Thursday night Rev. Alfred Brown, D.D., of Belleville, Friday night Rev. E. C. Laker, Ph.D., of Trenton.

DO NOT GIVE UP HOPE OF HEALTH

Often All that is Needed is a Tonic to Build up the Blood The Best of all Tonics is

Dr. William's Pink Pills

They Give New Vitality---and more

There are many women who have been invalids or semi-invalids so long that they accept their conditions as a life burden. They have endured broken sleep, stomach trouble, nervousness, headaches and weakness so long that they have given up hope of enjoying good health. In most of these cases a well chosen diet, fresh air and a tonic to build up the blood would do wonders. To all run-down nervous people the experience of Mrs. H. J. Cameron, Watervale, N.S., will be of deep interest. She says:—"About two years ago I was in miserable run-down condition. I was unable to do my work, my head ached day and night, my nerves were all unstrung, and for three weeks I could not eat or sleep. I then decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and got six boxes. By the time I had used half of them I felt much better, and when I had taken the six boxes I was as well as ever. I could work all day and not feel tired and have been strong and healthy ever since. I have never taken any medicine that did me so much good and will always highly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

DODGE BROTHERS SPECIAL TOURING CAR

They were good and sturdy cars, so good and so sturdy that no radical change in basic design has been found necessary during these ten intervening years.

This fact has had far-reaching results. It has enabled Dodge Brothers to dedicate those ten years to the constant betterment of the original product.

More recently this endless process of improvement has manifested itself in various and impressive ways—in a new degree of riding comfort, a new smoothness of operation, a new and appealing beauty of line, and in those special details of appointment which distinguish the Special Touring Car.

Puss in Boots

Once there was a miller, who, at his death, had nothing to leave to his three sons but his mill, his donkey and his cat. Of course the eldest boy took the mill. The second son took the donkey, leaving nothing but the cat for the youngest son.

You could hardly expect the youngest son to be pleased, and he was not. "My brothers will be able to earn an honest living," he said, "but I can only eat my cat and sell its skin. Then, I suppose, I shall starve to death."

The cat, sitting on the rug near his chair, heard what he said.

"Not so, Master," said the cat, "Things are not so bad as you think. If you will get me a pair of boots so I can walk through the brambles without hurting my feet and give me a hunting bag, you shall soon see what can be done."

The youth was so surprised to hear his cat talking that he at once got him what he had asked for. The cat drew on the boots, threw the bag over his shoulder and set off for a rabbit warren. When he got there he filled the bag with lettuce and carrots, stretched out on the ground and lay very quietly, waiting for some young rabbit to be tempted into the bag. Very soon a fat but very thoughtless rabbit went into the bag. Then the cat jumped up, pulled the string and killed the rabbit.

The cat was very proud of his success. So he went to the palace of the King and asked to speak to His Royal Highness. When shown into the King's presence, he bowed very low, and laying the rabbit down before the throne, he said, "Sire, My Master, the Marquis of Carabas, desires me to present this rabbit to Your Majesty."

A few days later the cat went and hid himself in a cornfield, and laid his bag open as before. This time he caught two partridges, and these also he took to the palace and presented to the King, from the Marquis of Carabas. Again the King was much pleased with the gift.

For several weeks the cat went on in this way, carrying game every day to the palace, saying that it was sent by the Marquis of Carabas.

One day the cat happened to hear that the King meant to take a drive along the banks of the river, with his daughter, the most beautiful Princess in the world. He went at once to his master.

"Master, if you follow my advice, your fortune is made," said he. "Go and bathe in the river at a place I shall show you and I will do the rest."

"Very well," replied his master, and he did as he was told. When he was in the water the cat took his clothes away and hid them. He then ran to the road and in a short time the King's coach went by. The cat called out as loudly as he could, "Help, help, the Marquis of Carabas will be drowned."

When the King looked out of the carriage window and saw the cat who had brought him so many fine rabbits and partridges, he ordered his men to hurry to the rescue of the Marquis of Carabas.

Then the cat came up to the carriage and told the King that while his master was bathing some robbers had stolen all his clothes. So the King at once ordered one of his best suits to be sent to the Marquis. When the miller's son appeared before the King and the Princess he was so handsome and so well dressed that the Princess fell in love with him at once.

The King, too, was so well pleased with the young man's appearance that he insisted upon his getting into the carriage and riding with them.

The cat, delighted with the way his plans were working out, ran on before the carriage. Soon he reached a meadow where some peasants were making hay.

"Good people," said he, "the King is coming this way and if you do not tell him that the meadow you are mowing belongs to the Marquis of Carabas, a most terrible thing will happen to all of you."

When the King came by and asked the peasants who owned the meadow they were mowing, they replied, "Your Majesty, it belongs to the Marquis of Carabas," and they were all a little frightened at what the cat had said.

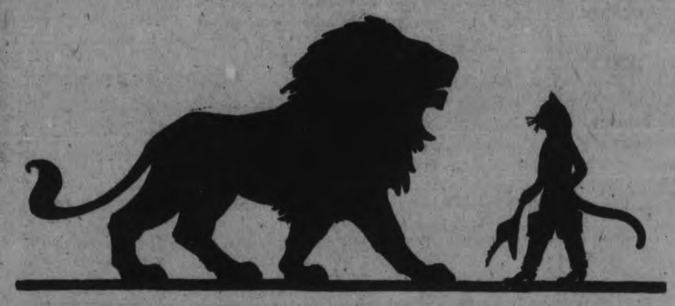
"Good people," said he, "the King is coming this way and you must tell him that all this corn belongs to the Marquis of Carabas, or something very terrible will happen to all of you."

Again the King stopped and asked the reapers who owned the land and the harvest they were reaping, and they answered, "To the Marquis of Carabas, Your Majesty."

All afternoon the cat ran on before the carriage repeating the same instructions to the laborers he met, and by evening the King was greatly astonished at the vast possessions of the Marquis of Carabas.

Finally the cat arrived at a magnificent castle, where lived a great Ogre who was very rich, for he really owned all the lands through which the King had been riding. The cat knocked at the door and asked to see the great Ogre. The Ogre received him and asked rather gruffly what he wanted.



"If you please, sir," said the cat, "I have heard that you have the power to change yourself into any sort of animal you please and I came to see if such a thing can possibly be true."

"Certainly I have that power," replied the Ogre, and at once he turned into a roaring lion. This gave the cat a great fright and he scrambled up the curtains out of reach.

"That is wonderful," said the cat. "Now I am convinced that you have the power to become any large animal you wish; but I don't suppose you could turn into a small animal, such as a mouse, for instance?"

"Of course I can," replied the Ogre, and immediately the lion vanished and a little brown mouse was frisking about the floor.

The cat sprang down from the curtains, and, pouncing upon the mouse, ate him up in a twinkling. That was the last of the Ogre.

The Marquis helped the King and Princess to alight and the cat led them in to the great hall where a feast had been spread for the Ogre.

The King was so delighted with the good looks, charming manners and great wealth of the Marquis of Carabas that he asked the Marquis soon to pay a visit to the royal palace.

Not only did he call once, but many times. So it was no great surprise to the King when the Marquis declared his love for the Princess and asked for her hand in marriage.

To this the King, as well as the Princess, consented and preparations were at once begun for the wedding.

As the King had only the one daughter he wished to make her wedding the greatest occasion of all time. From far and near, guests of wealth and importance were invited. Probably there was never a greater assemblage of notables, and it is certain that such a display of costly and beautiful presents were never before seen.

The feasting and dancing lasted for days. When the guests were finally departing they all agreed that never before had they had such an enjoyable time; and they wished the young couple a long and prosperous life.

The cat was given the title of Puss In Boots and became a very important personage at court.

NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN

FIND OLD TREATISE

NEW YORK, April 11 (Canadian Press).—A chapter on "How to change an old man into a young one of twenty," has been found in the oldest treatise on medical science and surgery in the world—a copy of which was recently discovered by Prof. James Breasted of this city.

Evidence that medical knowledge assumed to belong to the last two generations alone was known to at least one man seventeen centuries before Christ, is also contained in the volume, it is said.

The passage on making old men young was written on the back of the papyrus, Dr. Breasted announced, but, as yet, he had not deciphered its whole contents.

One script in the book reveals that the author, described by the professor as "a truly scientific man, with an amazing knowledge of medicine," knew that paralysis of one side of the body was caused by a brain infection of the other—a fact lost for more than 3,000 years and rediscovered in modern times.

"The observations recorded in the papyrus," Dr. Breasted said, "show that the recognition of localization of functions in the brain mostly the work of modern surgeons and others within the last two generations, had already begun in the seventeenth century B.C., when all Europe still lay in savagery or barbarism."

NO SPEED LAW THERE.

A guest in a small restaurant cried angrily to the only waiter in the place: "Hi, waiter, how much longer must I wait?"

"Pardon me, sir, but I have only been here two days!"

"Oh, indeed, then I must have given my order to your predecessor!"—Fliegende Blaetter, Munich.

ANSWERING QUESTIONS FREE BROUGHT FORTUNE AND FAME

Accident Put Foster in New Business—Has 50 Offices.

2,000,000 ANSWERS

By GEORGE BRITT.

It began in St. Augustine, Fla., 30 years ago. Hotel clerks coined the phrase, "Ask Mr. Foster," because they found they could get rid of troublesome tourists by sending them to the young shopkeeper across the street. And the merchant found he could attract customers by answering their questions.

This business of answering questions for nothing is represented today by 50 homelike offices scattered from Montreal to San Diego and from Miami to Seattle. It is a business, in reality, of "mothering" travellers, because the answerers in each office are women who soothe and direct the bewildered children of the roads.

The profit in such a business is the hardest thing for the "customers" to understand. The question most asked is, "How does Mr. Foster make any money?" In answer they are told that the service is supported by advertising from hotels, railroads and tourist sections.

Any sort of question from any sort of person may be expected at an "Ask Mr. Foster" desk. Hundreds of couples have been directed thence to the marriage license windows at the courthouse. Hotel wants range all the way from the $40-a-day resort suite to the economical boarding house. A South Dakota couple visiting New York asked where they could get a girl baby to adopt. And she was found for them.

One begins to understand the profit in this chargeless erasing of question marks when one sees the size of the big service office atop a New York skyscraper. There the visitor finds Ward G. Foster, director of wanderers, a man who has routed thousands around the world but has never been off the North American Continent except to Cuba and Bermuda.

Women Better.

"Women put themselves in the place of others better than men," says Foster, explaining why only women are employed in his information service.

"Women care more. They are more sympathetic. And so they are more accurate and the public is better served. Furthermore, there is the occasional matter of fresh and silly questions. When a man tries that, a woman can handle him.

"Our women give careful attention to every sincere question, no matter how stupid and tiresome it may be."

The most common need of his questioners, according to Foster, is advice on where to go. It is necessary for the adviser to read the taste and character of the questioner.

"People often will not admit they have a Havana taste or a Lake Chautauqua taste," says Foster. "It is necessary to sense it. Our women must recognize those who want to go where they can show off their money and their clothes, and also those who wish relaxation and renewing of their strength. Often we must find a place which suits both the wife who wants to dress up and play bridge and the husband who wishes golf or fishing. School teachers on the whole may be classified as wanting to travel far and see much."

Last year the public bought $1,500,000 worth of railroad tickets through his agency. The agencies last year answered questions for more than 2,000,000 persons.

"Lots of them—everywhere," answers Foster. "Romance is in your own mind and heart. If you can't see it at home, you will not find it abroad. The world changes, and some picturesque phases have vanished. But life is adventure always. The open spaces never will be filled up."

POLICE ACT IN MYSTERY DEATH

London Stirred By Slaying of Pretty Dancing Teacher Yesterday.

MAN UNNAMED.

LONDON, April 11. —(Canadian Press).— Scotland yard authorities are detaining an unnamed man in connection with the death yesterday of Grace Blagaller, pretty 16 year old dancing teacher who was found with her throat cut on Thursday night huddled on the steps of her mother's home in a fashionable West Kensington district.

The mystery of the case which previously had been set down as one of assault, deepened when the police came into possession of a letter which reached the girl on Thursday morning.

It was learned to-day that the girl for the last five years had not been living with her mother but made her home with Captain Langmaid, a retired regular army officer. She went alone to a moving picture performance on Thursday night and a few hours later her mother heard a cry and found the girl on the door step with wound in her throat. The only words she would say, according to report, were "boy from India." Later she requested that the police should not make an investigation.

The case is further complicated by the fact that the young man who was seen to loiter about the vicinity several days prior to the crime told his accosters that he was a solicitor's clerk watching the house in connection with divorce proceedings.

Latterly, according to the police, she had been seen with a number of Indian students, some of whom, it is supposed, lived in the artists quarter, Chelsea, which is not far from her mother's home.

SENATOR SPEAKS TO WOMEN'S CLUB

Was Member of Imperial Parliamentary Commission to South Africa.

Senator W. B. Willoughby of Winnipeg, was the special speaker who addressed the Woman's Canadian Club in the auditorium of the Public Library on Thursday afternoon. Senator Willoughby, who was a member of the Imperial Parliamentary Commission of 1924, gave an interesting review of his trip to South Africa on this commission. He was introduced to the audience by the president, Mrs. F. D. Kerr, who occupied the chair.

Prefacing his remarks by a reference to a large map of South Africa, and detailing some of the facts regarding populations of the various districts into which the Dark Continent is divided, the Senator went on to describe some of the functions planned for the entertainment of the visiting commission, including a Zulu war dance, with 25,000 Zulus in the two impiis of their military formation wearing head feathers and carrying shields and assegai. their weapons of offence, heavy knobbed sticks. These men are not allowed to carry firearms. Two hundred native women marched in this festival also, "with considerably less than Mother Eve wore."

A visit to Basutoland was made, where the property is owned communally by the natives. No white man owns property there, and no white trader can function without a special license. The college for the natives in Natal was another place visited, where nearly eight hundred native pupils are taught religion and technical subjects.

Reference was made to the life of the native blacks, living a simple pastoral life in their mud kraals, rude habitations with but a single opening. A few cattle and sheep are the stock of most of these families, where polygamy is practised. The woman do not go out to service, but the 'boys,' as they are called, on account of their small stature, do domestic work in the towns, where, however, they do not live,nor do they use the sidewalks with the whites. The natives subsists on the corn and the mealies he grows in his garden plot.

The art galleries of Johannesburg were visited, also the battlefields of the Boer war, Ladysmith and Spion Kop, Mafeking and Magersfontein. At Bloemfontein is the magnificent I.O.D.E. memorial to the men who fell in the Boer war, and near it the memorial to their dead women and children, erected by the Boers themselves, a fact which the Senator regarded as keeping alive the wartime spirit between the two races.

An ostrich farm was described and an idea given of the conditions of life in a country where a sunny, dry atmosphere prevails, where the trees are few, and of a scrubby variety, while the rivers are shallow and many of them unnavigable.

The burial place at Bulwayo of Cecil Rhodes was mentioned, the gold mines of Johanesburg, and the diamond mines of Kimberley,producers of the thousand million dollars' worth of diamonds taken out of South Africa up to the present time, and the great Victoria Falls, superior in height to Niagara, one and a quarter miles wide, with a direct water drop of four hundred feet.

Senator Willoughby alluded to the two languages used in the public life of South Africa, the English and the Dutch, and to the Boer language as a sort of corruption of the old Huguenot tongue, not French, not German, and not High Dutch, but a mixture of all three.

The general life of the country resembles somewhat that of English country life, or more closely, perhaps that of the Old South before the Civil war. The women have more leisure time and the men follow closely the British customs in dress and dialect.

To Inspect Streets

Council entered into general discussion regarding improvements that would have to be made this season in the municipality, and decided to make a tour of inspection of roads, pavement, etc., in the immediate future.

Communication regarding price of oil for street was received and filed, no action to be taken until it is known what amount of gravelling will have to be done to put the roads in proper condition.

Eakins—Stinson: That the committee on repairs to town hall meet committee from Cavan Council and make necessary arrangements as to what shall be done to make good the damage caused by the fire in the basement apartments last winter.

Personal Notes

Mrs. C. C. Garside, and son, Freddie, are visiting friends in Cobourg for two weeks, going from home last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. F. W. Smith, and daughter, Bernice, and Mrs. G. Locke, motored to Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J .A. Vance, and two daughters, Marjorie and Mary, were visitors to Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Howson, and family, have moved into the house recently purchased from Mrs. Fred Wallace by Mr. T. J. Lang.

Mr. Howson will continue to work the land, formerly known as the John Allen farm, which is now the property of the government. The Department of Colonization required the house to locate one of the British families coming to Canada under its auspices. These assisted immigrants are under obligation to spend the summer working for Canadian farmers with the idea of eventually purchasing farms of their own, according to a recent government bulletin, "The British Government advances a stated amount to each family to buy sock, implements, and equipment, and the Dominion authorities assist in securing the land. A cow and some poultry will be placed on each farm of the homesteads, and every earning member of each family is pledged to turn in his earnings to a general fund for repayment of the advances, and the stocking of the farm."

NEW LINER HAS LATEST DEVICES

A cable advice just received by the Robert Reford Company, Ltd., general agents for the Anchor-Donaldson Line, indicates that the new liner "Letitia" concluded successfully her trials on March 31st. The "Letitia" maintained an average speed of 17 knots, measuring up fully to the expectations of her builders and owners. A large and distinguished company were aboard the steamer, including the Lord Provost of Glasgow, Sir Alexander Kennedy, Alderman Douglas Brown-Rigg and other directors of the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company, at whose yards the "Letitia" was built. There were many other notable persons aboard, including the directors of the Anchor-Donaldson and Anchor Lines.

According to the cable advice, everyone was most enthusiastic regarding the layout, accommodation, speed and fitness of the "Letitia" for the Glasgow-Canadian Service, where she will take a prominent place. Like her sister ship the "Athenia," the "Letitia" is 540 feet in length, with 66 feet beam, and has a gross tonnage of 14,000 tons. Her propelling machinery consists of two sets of Brown-Curtis double-reduction geared turbines, combining all the latest developments and improvements in marine propulsion.

All the safety arrangements and equipment are of the highest standard; the vessel has two hospitals, a dispensary and an operating room fitted with the newest appliances; on the bridge is a sperry-gyro compass installation and a long-distance wireless apparatus is at the service of her passengers. Briefly, the "Letitia," as a ship, is decidedly a ship of today.

While comfort during the hours of sleep is as essential, it cannot be said that a ship which completely fulfills this requirement may reasonably lower its standard in other respects. The public rooms are every bit as important, and in this direction the "Letitia" maintains its reputation. The third-class accommodation of this latest Anchor-Donaldson vessel is exceptionally fine, and careful thought has been given to every detail which can in any way contribute to the comfort of the passengers.

Exercise and recreation in the open is necessary to the complete enjoyment of a voyage, and ample deck space for this purpose has been provided in the "Letitia." In addition to the fore deck, which, though a pleasant place in fine weather, may occasionally prove too breezy for some, there is an after promenade deck at the disposal of the third-class passengers. Entirely open at the after end, the forward end of this deck is most comfortably sheltered, being closed at the sides and covered in by the deck above. The fresh air may be enjoyed free from wind or rain.

The "Letitia" was launched from the Fairfield Company's Yards on October 15th, 1924, the christening ceremony being performed by Mrs. Charles Donaldson, wife of the managing director of the company. The "Letitia" will sail on her first regular westbound trip from Glasgow on April 24th, calling at Londonderry, and is due to arrive at Montreal on May 1st. She will sail out from Montreal on May 8th. David Taylor, well-known in the St. Lawrence trade, who was master of the "Athenia" since her launching, will assume command of the "Letitia" and Mr. R. S. Willoughby, who was also on the "Athenia" will take over the purser's duties in the new steamer.

HAVELOCK MAN VICE-PRESIDENT

A. E. Armstrong Elected to Office in Ontario Lacrosse Association.

MANY DELEGATES.

TORONTO, April 11. — Delegates of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association, to the number of 120, met here yesterday in the 11th annual meeting.

Association decided to reaffiliate with the A.A.U. of C., after year's absence from that body. The residence rule will remain the same as before.

Article 1 of the regulations was amended by adding paragraph to be known as Section 1A to read as follows:

No player who has changed his residence or club shall be granted a certificate unless he has satisfied the O.A.L.A. executive of the bonafides of such change.

Before Junior, Juvenile or Midget player can have playing certificate isued to him he must produce birth certificate of proof of age from the department of vital statistics in the counry in which he was born.

The following amendment re defaulted games was passed, by adding it to Article two:

"Otherwise defaulting club and its sureties shall pay to other clubs affected, referee, officials and association, such sums as president of the association shall find to be owing and in default, of such payment; secretary of association may bring action in any court for the recovery of amount."

NOTES ON BOOKS

In a library, books of fiction are taken out whether they are good or not, but it is unfortunately otherwise with books of non-fiction. Very often they are not taken out, whether they are good or not, and it is for the purpose of bringing the good ones of this class to the notice of readers that an effort will be made to give short accounts of two or three every week through the columns and by courtesy of The Examiner.

1. The Waning of the Middle Ages, by Huizinga, is an outstanding book. It is one that appeals not only to the lover of history but to the student. It is a book that defies classification as it delves into the philosophical, as well as the practical everyday life of Europe prior to the Renaissance. It portrays "its splendour and simplicity, courtesy and cruelty, its despaira its profound, mystic peace." The illustrations are most excellent, and, to quote the Times Literary Supplement, "have evidently been selected with great care and judgment."

2. Travels in Arabia Deserts, by Charles Montagu Doughty—The edition that we have of this wonderful book is an abridged one and is entitled Wanderings in Arabia. It is in two volumes. Mr. Doughty, now 83 years of age, is an Englishman, who over half a century ago ventured into Arabia and journeyed with a camel caravan of Moslem pilgrims, bound for Mecca. For two years he studied the country and the people and to-day his work is acclaimed as one of the greatest travel books of all time. For many years it was too costly for the average reader to purchase but through the efforts of Colonel Lawrence, whose work in that country during the Great War is gratefully remembered, the reprint has been placed within the reach of all. Its importance may be judged by the fact that it was taken as the guide book for military men engaged with the establishment of tet kingdom of the Hedjaz.

3. The Mystery of the Hive, by Eugene Evrard—The bee has been written about probably more copiously than has any other insect. The reason for this is of course that in the insect world its intelligence is the most remarkable and its value to man immense. Some people have gone so far as to assert that in point of intelligence it ranks next to man. Ye there are untold thousands who know nothing about the bee and to whom the pages of this delightful book would prove a revelation. It deals with every aspect of the bee's life, from the swarming to the nuptial flight and explains every step in the mystery, scientifically and poetically. Maeterlinck has written on the same subject but more as the philosopher, Evrard, who has been a practical bee-man for twenty years, more as the observer. —F. M. D.

This Lassie Has Her Colds "Rubbed Away"
The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmans, of 215 Seventh Ave., N.E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks Vapo Rub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmans writes: "My little girl had croup at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."
Vicks is just "rubbed in" for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup or deep chest colds. When so applied, Vicks has a double direct action; internally medicated vapors are inhaled while, at the same time, externally, it is absorbed through and stimulates the skin.

"The Flapper Wife"

"Where you ran a carpet sweeper, I am going to run an automobile."

And she meant what she said. The married life of the Gregorys therefore was filled with thrilling situations.

Many of your friends, or you yourself will know Gloria. And you will be interested in learning of the temptations and struggles she experiences as the wife of a struggling young lawyer.

They are all written for you in "The Flapper Wife," a story of love and jealousy, about people you know.

"The Flapper Wife" beins serially in The Examiner next week. Be on the watch for it.

GIFT TO BRIGHTON BOY ON DEPARTURE

School Friends of Edward Butcher Present Him With Gold Cuff Links.

BRIGHTON, April 11.—Master Edward Butcher was very much surprised when about forty of his school friends gathered at his home Tuesday evening to bid him good-bye, as he and his parents are leaving Brighton, the first of May. A pleasant evening followed with games and music but the most pleasant event of all was when Doris Davidson read the following address and Lionel Helpburn presented him with a set of gold cuff links.

Dear Edward—

We, as a very small number of your friends, have met here tonight to give you a little enjoyment before your departure from our midst.

It is with deep regret that we learn that you are leaving us. We all shall surely miss you, but what is our loss is others gain.

We have no doubt but what you will be welcomed at your new home and will have pleasant times with yur new companions as you have had with us.

We ask you to accept this small gifts as a slight token of our great esteem towards you and as you gaze at this we want you to think of those whom you have left.

Doris Davidson, Velma Lafay, Robin Brown, King Arnoldi.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Bradley went to Toronto yesterday to attend the wedding of Mr. Bradley's brother.

M. H. Wade is building a fine new greenhouse on his farm "The Cedars."

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McQuoid of Port Hope are moving to Brighton, where he has accepted a position in the Spring Valley Canning Company.

Obituary.

The funeral took place on Tuesday at 1 p.m. of Franklin Ewing, who passed away on Sunday morning. Mr. Ewing was 84 years of age and one of the oldest men in Brighton. He was formerly of Warkworth but has lived in Brighton far a number of years. After a short service here the remain were taken to Warkworth for burial.

He will be greatly missed in Brighton as he was a well known and higly esteemed old gentlemen.

Wedding Bells.

A quiet wedding was solemnized Wednesday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Pearson, when their only daughter Leah was united in marriage to Mr. Davidson of Detroit, formerly of Madoc. The Rev. J. S. I. Wilson officiating. The happy couple left at noon for Montreal, the bride travelling in a navy suit with a grey squirrel chocker and a small their return they will make their their return they wil make their home in Detroit, Mich.

CANE CHAIR HINT.

Rub soap and hot water on the top and bottom of cane chair seats that have begun to sag. It will shrink them so they will be firm as new.

Anaemic—Nervous

The anaemic child is in no condition to stand the mental and nervous strain of school work and examinations, along with the enormous burden which physiological changes put upon the system at this time of life.

The importance of good, robust health during this critical period cannot be sufficiently emphasized. It may mean the difference between invalidism and health throughout a lifetime.

Fortunately this condition responds promptly to restorative treatment and the results obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food have proven beyond doubt its suitability in such cases.

Mrs. Archie Martelle, Cornwall, Ont., writes:—

"My daughter, while attending school, was sick for two years, and had to be kept home. She had nervous trouble, and was under the doctor's care, but he did not seem to do her much good. She was very thin, restless, and hardly ate anything. Her complexion became sallow. I began giving her Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it did her the world of good. Her improvement was gradual, but it was not very long before she was quite herself again. I cannot recommend this treatment too highly."

GREEN TINGES DOURO FIELDS

FIRST OATS SOWN.

DOURO, April 9. — Winter crops seem to have wintered well. Wheat and rye are beginning to look quite green. As a great deal of wheat was seeded, owing to the splendid crop of last year, it is indeed a fortunate thing that the crop has wintered so well.

Mr. John Smith probably did the first seeding in this locality when he seeded oats and sweet clover last Friday.

Mrs. Mary Cavanagh spent a few days the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Frank McCarthy in Peterborough.

Dr. Bart. Leahy and Sister M. Loyola, of St. Paul, Minn., were home for a few days owing to the serious condition of their mother, Mrs. Margaret Leahy.

Mr. Patrick Heffernan has been ill for the past week but is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. O'Brien and baby son spent the week end with Mrs. O'Brien's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Dwyer, of Hales' Bridge.

Mrs. P. G. Towns arrived home on Saturday after several weeks' sojourn in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

Mrs. Edward Clancy and children, of Hastings, are guests of Mrs. Clancy's mother, Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald.

Mr. Michael Casey has purchased tyenty-five acres of land from Mr. Michael Leahy, the price being a good one.

Mrs. Chas. Perdue, of Ennismore, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Buckley.

MURDERED MAN WAS KNOWN IN MARMORA

John McGie Was Employed by Deloro Smelting and Refining Company.

MARMORA, April 11.—News of the tragic manner in which Jack McGie met his death at Belleville on Monday, produced a great shock upon his numerous friends in Deloro. Jack spent the greater part of last summer in the mining village and was very popular on account of the support which he accorded to all social activities. He was the star rooter for the flourishing ball team which last season produced. At his work with the Chemical Co. and also with the Smelting and Refining Co., he proved a very genial workmate. The deepest sympathy is felt for those who the more acutely will mourn his loss.

Baseball Meeting.

Much interest is being evinced in the annual meeting of the Deloro Amateur Athletic Association convened for Friday evening next. It looks at present as though Deloro will have to enter the Bay of Quinte League since Madoc and Tweed find it hard to raise teams.

EASY WRINGERS.

If the wringer works hard, apply a little kerosene on the cogs and work them for a few seconds, then wipe and put a few drops of sewing machine oil on them. The action will be much easier.

WORK GENERAL ON CAVAN LAND

Some Farmers Report Clay Turning Up Unusually Dry.

CAVAN, April 9. — Farmers have commenced work in the fields. Many are ploughing and report that not for several springs has the clay turned up so dry. Indeed with some it is almost too dry. This is unusual for this season of the year.

Alfalfa seems to be much in demand. There is more being sowed this spring than usual.

Women's Auxiliary Meeting.

The W. A. of St. John's church, Ida, met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Armstrong on Wednesday afternoon. During the afternoon a quilt was quilted.

The Cavan Institute will hold their April meeting at the home of Miss Frances Hunter on Thursday afternoon, April the sixteenth.

Bale For Nova Scotia.

A bale of goods is to be packed to send to the people who are in destitution in Nova Scotia because of the strike. Any person who has any clothing to contribute, is asked to send or bring it to Miss Hunter's on that afternoon.

Mr. Gordon Reynolds, of the Bank of Toronto staff, Millbrook, is having his vacation and is spending it with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Paul.

Miss Billings has returned from Detroit, after spending a month there, on account of the serious illness and death of her father.

Born— To Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Fallis on Sunday, April the fifth, a daughter.

Miss Audrey Winslow of Bishop Strachan's College, Toronto, is home for her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Winslow.

HAVELOCK PERSONALS

HAVELOCK, April 11. — School Inspector R. Lees, of Peterboro, was in town on Tuesday.

Miss Margaret Brennan, Mr. and Mrs. A. Armstrong, Messrs. L. Plunkett, C. Armstrong, J. Hooper and R. Brennan attended the funeral of the late Miss K. Lambert at Hastings on Monday.

Vanalstyne Fennell, of Toronto University, is home for the Easter holidays.

C. H. Brewster was in Centreton last week attending the funeral of his cousin, J. Brewster.

Luke Ellis, of Trent River, is visiting his son, S. Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. P. McCann left for Hamilton on Sunday upon receipt of word that Mr. McCann's brother, who resides in Toronto, had met with a serious accident in Hamilton. No particulars regarding the nature of the accident have been received as yet.

Endured Suffering For Over Twenty Years

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dyspepsia Tablets Came to Her Relief.

Coldwater, Ont., April 10. — (Special.)—Mrs. A. Johnston, an old and respected resident of this place is telling her numerous friends that her recent improvement in health is the result of using Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"My sickness dates back twenty years or more," Mrs. Johnston says. ('My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, my appetite was fitful and I suffered from backache. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals and was depressed and low spirited. Rheumatism, Lumbago and Sciatica were also three of my troubles.

"I have taken your Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dyspepsia Tablets and must say I was greatly benefitted by the treatment. I have recommended them to all my friends and could recommend them to any one else. You may publish my testimonial for the benefit of others."

Dodd's Kidney Pills strengthen and heal sick kidneys, whilst Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets assist digestion of wholesome foods, furnishing the body with the needed nourishment, at the same time resting and toning the stomach.

EASTER DAY.

Yesterday, sorrow and silence and gloom,
Deep mystery, and darkness, encompassed the tomb
Sweet Hope her bright beacon no longer displayed
For Jesus was dead and in cold grave was laid;
But to-day ere night's shadowy veil was withdrawn
Or appeared in the East the first faint flush of dawn,
He, calmly as from soft refreshing repose,
From that sealed, guarded prison, triumphant arose.

Death's powers to detain Him but vainly had tried,
The Lord of Life casts death's frail fetters aside,
And the sepulchre's dim, dreary portal passed o'er,
From Death's dire dominion free for evermore;
He has vanquished Death and Hell's cruel sway,
The blest Sun of Righteousness ne'er to decline,
The Light of the World has arisen to shine.

First was He from icy embrace to awake,
First the boasting grave's bitter barriers to break,
First fruits of that harvest which yet shall abound
From the wide fields of earth when the last trump shall sound.
His rising is pledge that we, too, from the tomb
Shall likewise come forth, in fresh immortal bloom,
And all who in Jesus now slumber in trust,
When He comes in His glory shall rise from the dust.

Revivified earth, with her myriad train,
Bedecks herself, too, in fair verdure again,
While sunshine and flowers, and soft balmy breeze,
The sweet song of birds, in green-foliaged trees,
All unite their glad tribute of praises to bring
With one voice and accord, to the new-risen King;
And we haste to His house, our devotions to pay
To Him who has vanquished Death's terrors to-day.

YEARS OF SUFFERING FROM INDIGESTION

MRS. D. J. CUMMING

"For many years, I was tortured by most Acute Indigestion, Liver Trouble and bad Fainting Spells. I tried all kinds of medicine but none gave me relief.

On the advice of friends in Canada, I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives." Almost from the first dose, I noticed an improvement and I am now practically free from the distressing fainting spells, my complexion, which used to be quite sallow, has cleared, and I am no longer troubled with indigestion."

Mrs. Cumming writes from Booth St., Shortsville, N. Y. Her experience is typical of thousands of others. "Fruit-a-tives" are made from the medicinal principles of fresh oranges, apples, figs and prunes combined with valuable tonics. Try them yourself. 25c and 50c a box at all dealers.

FABLES ON HEALTH.

DEVELOPED INTO FIGHTER.

In Mrs. Mann's town was a man named Algernon.

Mrs. Mann knew him when he was a child. All the boys in school picked on him. He was made the butt of many a prank, all because his mother named him Algernon.

Now Algy was the leading light of the little city. He owned quite a bit of property, and many of the boys who kidded him in school, were working for him.

How did he manage to do it with such a name?

Here's how Mrs. Mann explained it.

Algernon was sensitive about his name. When the boys picked on him, he developed a fighting spirit. He sent many a boy crying home to his mother with a black eye.

When he grew older he still felt that he was handicapped, and it caused him to work that much harder.

He developed into a fighter, a go-getter, and the folks soon learned to call him Algy, and to depend upon him when they were confronted with a real difficulty.

"It is the same principle that causes many physical cripples to make a success in life," Mrs. Mann ventured.

"Maybe so," replied Mr. Mann. "But just the same, I wouldn't want one of my boys named Algernon."

YOUR GARDEN

PRUNING THE ROSE AND HYDRANGEAS.

Shortly after the roses have been uncovered and before the foliage starts appreciably, they should be pruned.

Pruning varies with the kind and even the varieties require slightly different treatment.

Rugosa Roses.—Merely head them back a little if necessary and remove some of the oldest branches each year right at the ground surface. The best flowers are borne on the one and two-year-old wood, and a good supply of these new branches should be encouraged.

Climbing Roses, Hybrid Perpetuals and Hybrid Teas.—In these three types, first remove the dead wood (if it is winter killed, it will show blackish and will not recover), and then thin out any weak wood. With climbing roses, only the oldest wood should be removed and the laterals shortened back to encourage new growth, which will produce the bloom. Where the branches are required to cover a wall, they should be left to a greater age to provide for lateral branches.

Hybrid Perpetuals require a decidedly severe pruning and should be cut back to within six or twelve inches of the ground. If, however, a mass effect is desired they may be pruned taller. Also certain stranger growing varieties will require less pruning. It is best to treat the varieties individually, and experience will suggest the best method.

Hybrid Teas are not pruned so severely, and only about one-third of the wood is removed.

Keep a sharp lookout for suckers and roots springing from the stock on which the roses are budded. These should be completely cut away and the soil removed from about the stock if necessary for close cutting.

THE HYDRANGEAS.

Hardy Hydrangea — (Hydrangea paniculata grandi flora). This shrub should be pruned as early as possible before growth starts. First prune out all weak and crowding shoots completely. Then thin out the stronger growth to leave the shoots well spaced and plenty of room for the bloom. The remaining strongest shoots of last season's growth should be cut back to two or three buds. A heavy pruning will prove much better than a light one. Should the bushes have become leggy (that is, list their lower branches and show too much bare trunk or stem), they should be cut close to the ground and started over again. After this treatment, however, they should be well manured. When manure cannot be procured, use about two ounces of nitrate of soda per bush., depending on its size, when growth is starting.

Hydrangea arborescens. This is a low-growing semi-woody shrub, which requires somewhat different treatment. It will be found to kill back somewhat in northern districts and consequently the dead wood should be pruned out first. Then thin out to all but the strongest canes and shorten these back somewhat. Some gardeners cut the shrub right to the ground and let it make a fresh start every season.

Keep Strong and Healthy.

Sufferers from Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Headache frequently are uncertain as to the remedy they need.

Experience has shown them that harsh purgatives, if not positively harmful, give no permanent help.

In the Spring season it is particularly necessary to cleanse the system with a gentle tonic and laxative, restoring stomach and liver to healthy activity. You then look forward to Summer with new vim and energy.

The ingredients of Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets are printed on the label. Doctors and Druggists will tell you that if you require a tonic and laxative they know of no preparation so effective as Dr. Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Tablets.

The Dr. Norvall Tablets are sold throughout Canada at 25c. a bottle. If your dealer cannot supply you at once we will mail them to any part of the Dominion or Newfoundland at 25c. a bottle.

We refund your money if the tablets do not give you full satisfaction.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO MEYERSBURG MAN

NORHAM, April 11.—What might have been a very serious accident occurred at William Ross', of Meyersburg, on Monday. Mr. Ross and Clarence Ibey were loading logs on a wagon, to which a team of colts were attached. The horses became frightened and suddenly bolted. Mr. Ross managed to get hold of the lines and succeeded in stopping the team, but not before the wagon on which was several good-sized logs had passed over his limbs, injuring him badly. Mr. Ibey received several scratches and bruises.

The assessor, S. A. Wilson, of Warkworth, for a few days past has been renewing his acquaintance with the residents of Norham village.

Robert S. Mitchell disposed of one of his team of horses a few days ago for a fancy price.

The Bethany Ladies' Aid held a very successful sugar social in the Codrington Orange hall on Tuesday evening. A play entitled "Patty Makes Things Hum," given by a number of young people from Orland and Codrington was listened to by a very appreciative audience.

The friends in this community of Peter Bound, of Meyersburg, extend their sympathy in his heavyloss by fire on Wednesday of his sawmill and all the equipment.

The bridge over the creek on the south of Warkworth has caved in so that tourists have to make an unpleasant detour.

Farmers are on the land and the dust is flying. They say the soil is in splendid condition. Some have been able to use the manure spreader. Sap buckets have been lifted.

Harry Montgomery and family, of Mount Olivet, have moved into Codrington.

Harvey Seabrook has engaged with John G. Dusenburg for the summer.

Miss Hazel Everson, of Belleville, is spending the Easter vacation with her parents at the parsonage.

CANTATA SUNG AT ALL SAINTS'

CAPABLE SOLOISTS.

The Crucifixion, a meditation on the sacred passion of the Holy Redeemer, was sung by the choir of All Saints' Church last night for their annual Good Friday choral service. The cantata, which was written by Rev. J. Sparrow-Simpson to music by Sir John Stainer, is for tenor and bass solos and choruses, and was sung by a full choir of forty-four members.

The tenor recitative was taken by George Chandler, the choir leader, and the solo part of the penitent thief by Robert Brawn. The bass solos were sung by T. H. Boddy and George East. All the soloists sang their parts with intense feeling and in good voice.

The chorus was exceptionally well balanced in the two numbers, "Fling Wide the Gates" and "The Appeal of the Crucified."

The choir was assisted by Mrs. Percy Hooper, violiniste, who played the obligato during the singing of the cantata, and MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose," as a solo during the offertory. The accompaniments on the organ by Mrs. W. A. Logan were played with perfect taste and expression.

The singing of soloists and choir reflected great credit on the choir leader, George E. Chandler, and showed careful training, both to words and music.

The six hymns for congregation and choir were heartily sung. The devotions before and after the choral service were conducted by the Rev. J. Douglas Paterson, who read for the lesson the story of the Crucifixion as written in the nineteenth chapter of the Gospel according to St. John.

CALOMEL CLEANS THE LIVER

That heavy tired feeling, no pep, muddy complexion, no appetite, foul breath, biliousness, headaches, constipation and rheumatism, are all sure signs that your liver is clogging your whole system. Calomel is the only drug known that acts upon the liver. Start tonight, take two tablets of tanol calomel and in the morning drink plenty of hot water to wash from the system all the poisons and toxins before more food is taken in. Continue this treatment until the liver is restored to its original health then you do not need any more medicine. These Tanol Calomel Tablets can be procured at F. C. Webber's drug store.

FEED POTATOES

MADONE, N.Y., April 11 (Canadian Press).—Scores of Adirondack and north country farmers are now feeding their stock on potatoes which had been stored for months in the hope of higher prices.

Not in years has the potato market been so hard hit as during the past winter. The tubers form the principal crop at many of the mountain farms, whose owners have lost heavily because of the low price and lack of edmand for stored potatoes.

STRANGE SUIT IN NEW YORK COURT

NEWARK, N.J., April 11 (Canadian Press).—Suit for $50,000 has been filed in court here by Morris Heyman against a local ice cream company which, he declares, forced him, his wife, and his silver anniversary wedding guests to sin inadvertently.

Heyman's suit complains that he ordered twelve bricks of ices from the company to serve his guests, and that, instead, ice cream was sent—a mistake not discovered until all had eaten the dessert. Because they had already eaten meat, this constituted a violation of a canon of Hebrew law, which rules that both meat and milk shall not be eaten at the same table.

Heyman alleges his guests became angered and left in haste; that his reputation has been damaged; that he has lost large sums of money in his business as a result, and is an object of suspicion as to his orthodoxy.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways from Jan. 1 to April 7, 1925, have been $55,505,951.00, being a decrease of $5,620,457 over the corresponding period of 1924.

He Is Not Here, He Is Risen!

1. In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

2. And behold there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

3. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow.

4. And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

5. And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

6. He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

THE ARISTOCRAT OF THE GARDEN

(Written for The Canadian Press by J. B. SPENCER, B.S.A., of the Ontario Horticultural Association.)

Even the smallest garden is incomplete without roses, for if it be a specialist garden where all is occupied with the grower's favorite in some other flower, there is yet room on the fence or a wall for a climbing rose. But if the garden is not a specialist's he is doing his family and friends an injustice if he does not include a few rose bushes in his planting arrangements. There is less reason for leaving out the rose now than before the days of the Hybrid Teas, because a rose out of bloom is not strikingly decorative and one crop of flowers in the summer is not enough to satisfy the discriminating gardener. With the development of the Hybrid Tea rose, with its wide range of wonderful colorings, the lure of the rose has grown and grown until perhaps more than ever it is becoming the one plant common to all well ordered gardens. There are some flowers that one might tire of. Who would want tulips through the whole season? Nor do we miss the iris and peony greatly with the passing of the glorious feast they have provided in their season. But the rose is different, and will continue to justify its designation "The Queen of Flowers."

Great Variety Available.

The subject of varieties in roses interests not only the beginner, but also those who would add to their plantings. Roses differ perhaps even more than many other flowers in the characteristics of varieties. Hardiness is a widely varying factor, to say nothing of the vigour of growth, form, fragrance, color of flower and resistance to disease.

In the Hybrid Perpetuals, which almost anyone can grow, there are about three or four old standbys that might be recommended. Frau Karl Druschki as a white rose has not been surpassed in any class of roses. J. B. Clark, an intense scarlet, is very vigorous and a great bearer. Mrs. John Laing and George Arends are perhaps the two best pinks.

New Climbing Roses.

In climbing roses many new creations have been brought out in recent years and include some of the Hybrid Teas. For the rigorous climate of this country these are of doubtful value. Without these there are many wonderfully beautiful sorts, which include, in pinks, Tausendschoen and Dorothy Perkins; in reds, Paul's Scarlet Climber and Excelsa; in yellow, Goldfinch, and in white, White Dorothy.

For the novice in rose culture there are a number of considerations that should not be overlooked when sitting out a row or bed. Within reasonable limits it is hardly possible to have the soil too rich, provided, of course, that unrotted manure is kept away from the roots. The soil should be deeply prepared and contain, if at all available, a 25 to 50 per cent. proportion of heavy clay, well mixed with lighter soil and fertilizer. When the plants are received from the nursery they will, in all probability, have been kept in cold storage over the winter, and although the roots have been kept moist, the branches will have been shrivelled. A well-worn practice of the experienced gardener is to bury the plants, root and branch, in moist soil for three or four days. This will restore them to a plump and natural condition, ready to carry the sap that the roots will send up with the commencement of growth. They shall be left in this position until the holes in the bed are ready to receive the plants, which should stand 2 1-2 feet apart for Hybrid Teas and 3 feet for Hybrid Perpetuals. The depth of planting is a matter of great importance. The joint where the rose has been grafted on to the briar root should be covered a couple of inches and the holes dug accordingly. It is necessary also to give the hole a good breadth so that the root may be spread out as the fingers of one's hand. Bruised or broken roots are better to be removed with a sharp knife, and during the planting process fine soil should be carefully used and so filled in as to leave the roots and soil in close contact. Tramping is advisable as the hole is being filled.

Prune Ruthlessly.

Pruning is the next operation and must be done almost ruthlessly. The crop of roses that will be cut during the summer must be borne on new wood still invisible except as tiny buds borne along the stems. Weak branches cannot produce good flowers and are better removed at once close to the stem. The largest stems produce the strongest growth from buds near the ground. It is well, therefore, to shorten these to within three to six inches of the ground, according to the size and vigour of the new plant. Having accomplished this bit of surgery, one can trust to Nature, except to give cultivation once a week at least from then on and to protect the plants against insect and disease attack.

Spray for Insects.

The rose, unfortunately, has its enemies and these required to be combatted. Spraying the Bordeaux mixture early in the season and again at intervals, will well repay the labour it involves in protecting the plants from mildew and black spot. Dusting with dry sulphur is also a preventive and to some degree a cure. If mixed with arsenate of lead and tobacco dust in proportion of 6-1-3 parts, the preparation becomes also an enemy of the insects that are ever ready to disfigure and weaken the plants. Some growers that have waterworks attached to their places, depend alone on the hose for driving off insect enemies, including the green aphis. For this tiny creature, which multiplies at a tremendous rate when once established, it is very good treatment to spray with a nicotine preparation known as Black Leaf-40 and a small amount of soap dissolved in the solution. A teaspoonful of the nicotine to a gallon of water is about the strength to use. Applications are needed two or three days in succession so as to clear out the new hatches as they succeed their short-lived parents.

Even as the rose requires more exacting attention than some of the other flowers and has thorns for the careless, no decorative plant is more closely indentified with the progress of civilization. This aristocrat of flowers is the insignia of refinement and its culture is associated with the joys and beauties of life.

Money AT WORK

THESE CAUSE MONEY LOSSES

What are the commonest legal mistakes which cause money losses to the average man?

1 His apparent willingness to accept verbal modifications and assurances contrary to the provisions of the written contract which he has signed, when the rule of evidence is quite universal, that verbal or parole testimony cannot be given or received for the purpose of varying or changing the terms of a written instrument.

2 Failure to have title to property which he is buying, examined by a competent lawyer or a Title Company.

3 To assume that ordinary "puffing" or seller's talk in the sale of personal property are warranties.

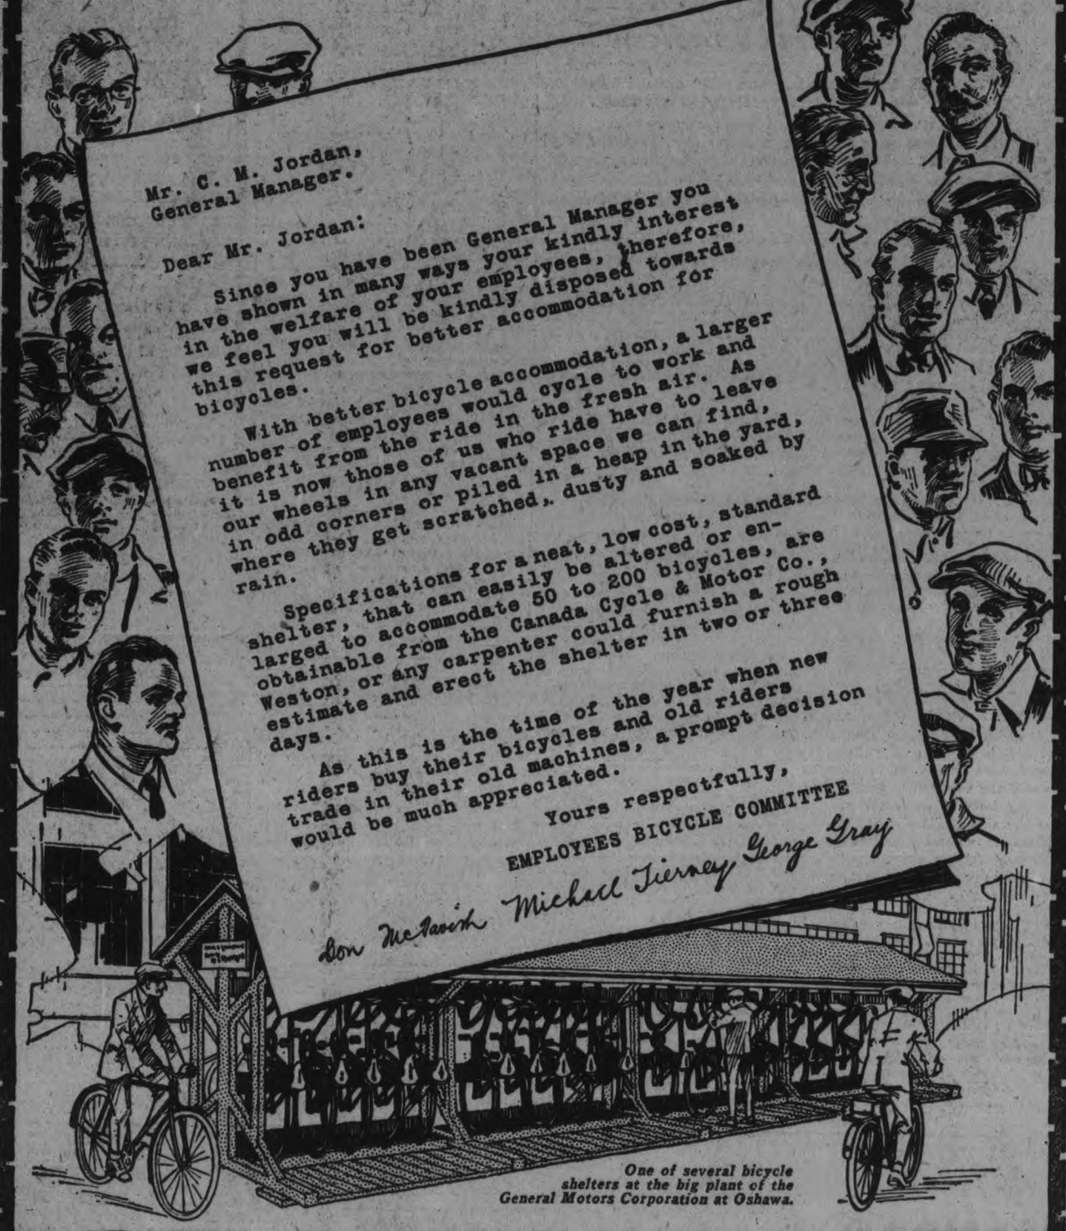
4 Extending the time of payment of a note having indorsers thereon, at the request of the maker, without the knowledge and consent of the indorsers.

5 Assuming that the Statute of Limitations begins to run against a demand note from the day when demand is made rather than from the date which the note bears. The latter rule is the correct one.

COOK FRUITS FIRST

For tarts the fruits should always be cooked first by themselves then put in the crust.

A Letter to the Boss



Mr. C. M. Jordan,
General Manager.

Dear Mr. Jordan:

Since you have been General Manager you have shown in many ways your kindly interest in the welfare of your employees, therefore, we feel you will be kindly disposed towards this request for better accommodation for bicycles.

With better bicycle accommodation, a larger number of employees would cycle to work and benefit from the ride in the fresh air. As it is now those of us who ride have to leave our wheels in any vacant space we can find, in odd corners or piled in a heap in the yard, where they get scratched, dusty and soaked by rain.

Specifications for a neat, low cost, standard shelter, that can easily be altered or enlarged to accommodate 50 to 200 bicycles, are obtainable from the Canada Cycle & Motor Co., Weston, or any carpenter could furnish a rough estimate and erect the shelter in two or three days.

As this is the time of the year when new riders buy their bicycles and old riders trade in their old machines, a prompt decision would be much appreciated.

Yours respectfully,
EMPLOYEES BICYCLE COMMITTEE
Don McTavish Michael Tierney George Gray

One of several bicycle shelters at the big plant of the General Motors Corporation at Oshawa.

If a bicycle shelter is needed where you work, why not appoint a Bicycle Committee, then clip out this advertisement and take it to the Boss.

The bicycle provides the cheapest transportation in creation. A good bicycle lasts for years and saves its owner miles and miles of walking, and uncomfortable rides in jammed street cars. More people today are riding bicycles than for many years. And eight out of every ten cyclists in Canada ride C.C.M. Bicycles. What better proof could you ask of C.C.M. quality and value?

GOOD MANNERS

The house party host always goes to the front hall and shakes hands with eevryone who arrives. He asks the guests if they want to be shown to their rooms and, if not, sees that the gentlemen who come without valets give their keys to the butler or footman, and that the ladies without maids of their own give theirs to the maid on duty.

NUXATED IRON

It is the organic iron in your blood that takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food—as it is absorbed into your blood, like fire unites with coal or wood, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without sufficient organic iron in your blood your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good.

Organic iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, may be had from any druggist under the name of "Nuxated Iron." In tablet form only.

Millions of people are using Nuxated Iron with great benefit, their experience proving that it increases the strength and endurance of weak nervous, run-down people in many cases, in two weeks' time.

If you want that virile force, that stamina and strength so necessary to great success in practically every undertaking in life, you owe it to yourself to commence taking Nuxated Iron today.

CANTATA GIVEN AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

"Penitence, Pardon and Peace" Marked Good Friday Service.

The annual Good Friday night service at St. John's Church has for years past been one of the features of the Lenten season in Peterboro. This year the service was more than ordinarily interesting as the choir, under the able leadership of Mr. F. G. Mann, sang the cantata, entitled "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," by Maunder, as well as the first part of the more difficult oratorio, "The Last Judgment," by Spohr. It must have been exceptionally gratifying to Mr. Mann and to the choir, who so unselfishly gave their services, to find that so large a congregation was present to listen to their efforts. The church was full and it is needless to say that the numbers were listened to with the greatest attention and enjoyment.

The service openedwith the Processional hymn, "O Sacred Heart, Sore Wounded," and this was followed by a few short prayers. The choir then sang the cantata, the solosists being Mrs. A. L. Amys, Miss R. Quartermaine and Mr. D. Melton. Without exception, the principals acquitted themselves most creditably. The chorus also did wonderfully well and showed how much could be accomplished by careful and systematic training.

This was demonstrated to a marked degree in the manner of their attack and the expression of the soft a capella passages.

The vicar, Dr. Blagrave, in announcing the oratorio, stated that it was composed 100 years ago by Spohr, a great violinist and a prolific composer. It was performed first at the Lutheran Church in Cassel, Germany, on Good Friday, 1826, and for the first time in England at Norwich in 1830.

The music of the oratorio was more difficult than in the first piece, but the choir nevertheless rose to the occasion and did excellent work. The solo parts in this piece were taken by Mrs. A. L. Amys, Miss Quartermaine, Mr. H. W. Morphet, Mr. C. Perry and Mr. D. Melton.

Mr. Mann is to be sincerely congratulated on the success of the choir, who not only sang extremely well, but whose devotional spirit was most marked throughout.

GOOD FRIDAY IN CHURCHES

Impressive Services Attended By Large Congregations Marked Observances.

SOLEMN DAY.

Good Friday observances in the various city churches yesterday were marked by large congregations and impressive services. At the Cathedral, as in the other Catholic churches, there were morning, afternoon and evening services appropriate to the solemnity of the day, with three o'clock services commemorative of the death of Christ. A special sermon on the Passion was preached at St. Peter's Cathedral last night by Rev. J. McAuley of Ennismore. The Anglican churches of the city held solemn afternoon services, with the presentation of sacred cantatas in the evening at St. John's and All Saints', a descriptive series of pictures illustrating the Passion at St. George's, and pictures for the children after the afternoon service at St. Luke's.

At St. Andrew's, a morning service was devoted to meditation on the Passion of Christ, Rev. Robert Pogue preached at the morning service in George Street Church, Dr. Salem Bland gave an eloquent Good Friday sermon at Trinity Church last night, and Rev. J. Cuthbertson, Japanese missionary, spoke on "The Gospel in Action" at Park Street Baptist Church last evening.

APRIL MEETING OF MARMORA COUNCIL

Granted the Use of the Town Hall to the G.W.V.A.

MARMORA, April 11. —The regular meeting of the council was held on April 7, 1925.

The following motions were accepted:

1. That the G. W. V. A. be granted the Town Hall for the months of April, May, June, July and September at eight dollars each night.
2. That the time for handing in the collector's roll be extended till the next meeting.
3. That the clerk and president of the Booster Club prepare clean-up cards for years 1925 and 1926.
4. That the clerk prepare a by-law appointing the collector.
5. That the Clerk prepare a by-law licensing scavengers and controlling the dumping ground.
6. That the following accounts be paid.

H. Gilland	$24.70
G. Kerr	$1.00
J. Gardineer	$2.40
G. Lummiss	24.37
C. A. Bleecker	36.00

E. C. Prentice	11.67
The Marmora Herald	19.34

The meeting adjourned until April 21st.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. D. E. Bell on Wednesday evening.

After the business routine, in which the possibility of forming a horticultural society was discussed, the following programme was given:

Reading, "Conscience and Imagination," by Nina Moore Jamieson, was read by Mrs. C. E. Prentice.

Poem, "A Perfect Day"—Mrs. D. R. Clare.

Reading, describing Jack Miner's work with the wild geese and ducks, by Mrs. F. Bowen.

Poem, the Modern Girl—Mrs. C. Bleecker.

A game followed, which was won by Miss Campbell.

Then there was a demonstration of making a 'Judy' form, one of the ladies present acting as a model.

Lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Bell.

Those present were Mrs. F. Bowen, Mrs. R. H. Pearce, Mrs. Bleecker, Mrs. (Dr.) Jones, Mrs. W. Grant, Mrs. Prentice, Miss Campbell, Mrs. C. Gladney, Miss M. Jones, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Pinar, Mrs. F. Marett, Mrs. Clare, Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson, Mrs. F. Wells, Mrs. C. Nickle, Mrs. Bell.

Mission Board Met.

At the weekly meeting of the Mission Band in the Methodist church on Wednesday, an interesting feature this week was the Easter Thank offering, when each member came to the front and told how the money had been earned for the special offering.

Wednesday night was missionary night with the Young People's League. There was a fair attendance present to listen to a reading by Miss Bessie Sweet on "The Unconquerable Christ" and to another reading by Miss Florence Clare, which dealt with incidents in the life work of Robert Morrison, the pioneer missionary to China.

Whilst an unknown car was turning round in Front street on Wednesday, its brakes refused to work, with the result that it collided with an empty wagon owned by Mr. George Wellman, which had been drawn in close to the side of the road. The tongue of the wagon was taken off clean through the impact.

Owing to the forwardness of the season, the Deloro tennis courts, which are in excellent condition, were patronized all last week by some eight or nine enthusiasts. This is the earliest that tennis was ever played in this locality.

Personals.

Mrs. Cousins is at Cloyne attending the funeral of her father.

Mrs. Reynolds, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Wells, returned to her home in Stirling on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and family, of Dodd's Land, Sask., have returned to Ontario to live and are at present visiting at her mother's, Mrs. Wesley Grant.

Miss Meta Clare of the Norwood High school staff, spent Sunday with her uncle, Rev. D. R. Clare.

Miss Florence Sopha, who has been attending the Business College in Belleville, has returned home.

Mrs. Myrtle Loveless and Misses Violet Deacon; Bessie Sweet and Myrtle Nayler, motored to Belleville on Tuesday.

Rev. P. C. Watson is in Belleville this week.

Mrs. Howes, who has been visiting in Tamworth, is home again.

There was no Lenten service at St. Paul's on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Hector Boureau returned on Tuesday after a pleasant trip to Toronto over the week end.

Mrs. Sallery of Madison, Wisconsin is on a visit to her brother F. A. Bapty.

GERMANS MAKING SYNTHETIC ALCOHOL

Chemists Fear That American Hard Wood Production Will Be Wiped Out.

BALTIMORE, April 11.—(Canadian Press). — The most largely attended convention that the American Chemical Society ever held, closed here yesterday afternoon, and more than 1,600 chemical experts who attended departed for their homes. Probably the most important development of the last day's session was the disclosure that the $100,000,000 wood alcohol industry in the United States and Canada is gravely threatened by the forward German chemist.

The Germans are making synthetic methanol, formerly known as wood alcohol, from water gas and are shipping it into these countries in such quantities, it was said, as to arouse fear that the production in North America of methanol from hard wood will be wiped out.

Another step forward of German science was described by Dr. Franz Fischer, director of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute at Mulheim, Ruhr, who said that a process closely related to that by which synthetic methanol is produced is being employed to manufacture liquid motor fuels from water gas.

HURLED TO DEATH.

Maidstone Farmer Killed When Team Ran Before Freight Train.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 11.—(Canadian Press).—Joseph McCarthy, 55 years old, a well-known Maidstone farmer, was hurled to instant death late yesterday afternoon when his team of horses took fright and plunged into the path of an approaching Michigan Central Railway freight train at Maidstone crossing.

FINE WEATHER FOR GARDENERS

EARLIER THIS YEAR.

The fine weather over the holiday provided many people with an opportunity to work in their gardens. All over the city the smoke of many bonfires could be seen and the residents were busy with spade, hoe and rake, preparing for the bountiful harvest they expect to reap in days to come.

One man on Brock Street stepped on the prongs of a carelessly placed rake and was to-day nursing a black eye, while a Sherbrooke Street gardener gashed his ankle with a fork. To-day every office had its member who reeked of smoke.

After the first thrill wears off it is not expected the casualty list will prove appalling.

Early at Work.

The weather this year has permitted work on the land about three or four weeks ahead of the usual time, and already a large amount of seed has been sown. The seed dealers and the hardware men report that the sale of seeds and implements started earlier than usual.

Many people believe that sweet peas must be planted on Good Friday, no matter what the weather conditions are, if they are to grow properly. Many times they have looked dubiously at their gardens on cold Good Fridays and considered that they were wasting their seed, but yesterday brought joy to their hearts when they felt the balmy breeze and the warm sun made them take off their coats as they toiled with rake and hoe.

Mrs. Gordon Wright Makes Eloquent Speech Condemning New Beer.

SHOULD NOT VOTE.

PEMBROKE, April 11 (Canadian Press)—Our land is in jeopardy, and there is a grave need of us to answer the clarion call and fight the greatest enemy which is within our walls," stated Mrs. Gordon Wright, of London, Ont., Dominion President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in a strong and eloquent address to members of the local branch of W.C.T.U. here last night.

"The heart of the O. T. A. has been torn out by the introduction of 4.4 beer," she said.

The speaker denounced the recent action of the Premier of Ontario, stating that in the future the women of Ontario should not vote unless their ballot would assist in sending to parliament a man of high principles and one worthy to represent them.

UNITE ITALIAN FORCES.

Mussolini May Be Minister in Charge of All War Resources.

ROME, April 11. — (Canadian Press).—Proposals to unite the army, naval and air divisions of Italy's military forces into one group under a single defence ministry is deeply interesting to public officials here. While the Fascisti foresee only one possible Minister in charge of the entire military forces, and that man is Mussolini. They are remaining silent on the question, since such an important issue cannot be settled without first consulting the King, whose views are as yet unknown.

DAYLIGHT SAVING RESURRECTED; EXAMINER TO TAKE STRAW VOTE

Citizens Asked to Co-operate in This Vitally Important Matter.

SIMPLE BALLOT

Every Man and Woman Affected—All asked to Express Opinion.

The question whether Peterborough shall work under the daylight saving plan this summer is of vital interest to every man, woman and child in the city. The purchase of a new road roller or the building of a new bridge affect some directly, and all indirectly, but daylight saving comes right into every man's home and touches every hour of his everyday life.

It is, therefore, supremely important to know how every man and woman views it, and The Examiner, acting impartially, will endeavour to ascertain public opinion on the question. Letters on the subject will be published, if brief. Long letters, and letters not bearing a signature (not necessarily for publication) cannot be published.

Beginning this evening, and ending next Saturday at 10 o'clock, a box will be placed just inside the doorway of The Examiner office to receive the ballots that will appear every evening. Citizens are asked to mark these, filling in their names and addresses as evidence of good faith, and to prevent duplication, and deposit them in the ballot-box. The results will be tabulated and announced as soon as possible after Saturday, April 18th. The ballots will be counted by an equal number of those favoring daylight saving and those opposed, assisted by neutral members of The Examiner staff.

This vote has no legal significance—it will not bring daylight saving or prevent it. But its result will show the Aldermen of the city where the great body of citizens stand on the question, and a mandate either way can scarcely be ignored by them.

In this vote, The Examiner is altogether neutral, representing both sides impartially, and taking no part in the campaign either for or against. The ascertainment of the public mind is a public service that The Examiner is glad to perform in so important a matter.

Every vote deposited in the ballot-box will count in the balance to indicate the trend of citizens' desires, and will be as effective as all the petitions, for and against, that can be circulated.

Names and addresses written on the ballots will not be made public. There will be seven ballots printed—one each day, sufficient to allow every adult member of every house to vote on the question. As it is especially desired to obtain the women's viewpoint, the ladies are requested to prefix their names with Mrs. or Miss, so that they may be recognized.

Here is the ballot. Mark an X opposite your decision. Even if you vote against daylight saving, you may still indicate the months you prefer if the majority decides in favor.

EASTER MENU SUGGESTIONS

Hot-Cross Buns a Staple — Easter Salad and Pudding.

SERVING HINTS

By SISTER MARY.

What would an Easter breakfast be without its hot cross buns? No matter how many eggs might be in evidence, Easter wouldn't be Easter without the traditional "bun."

While hot cross buns were originally used on Good Friday, the custom of serving them on Easter morning as well has become prevalent.

Hot Cross Buns.

One and one-half cups scalded milk, ½ cup sugar, 5 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ yeast cake dissolved in 4 tablespoons warm water, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 egg, ½ cup currants or seedless raisins, flour to knead.

Add sugar, butter and salt to hot milk and when lukewarm add dissolved yeast cake and 2½ cups flour. Beat well. Cover and let rise two hours. Add egg well beaten, cinnamon, currants and flour to knead. Knead until elastic and put in a large mixing bowl. Cover with a cloth and let rise overnight. In the morning shape in small balls and cut a deep cross with a sharp knife on the top of each ball. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven. When nearly baked brush over with a syrup made of 2 tablespoons milk and 4 tablespoons sugar boiled for 1 minute. Dredge the cross with granulated sugar and finish baking.

A salad that is as tempting to look at as eat in its delicate colors uses fresh pineapple for its foundation. This salad is suitable for dinner or luncheon.

Easter Salad.

Two cups shredded pineapple, 1 cup diced cucumber, 1 cup diced celery hearts, 2 cream cheeses, 2 tablespoons, granulated gelatin, 1 lemon, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons vinegar, 2 cups boiling water, ½ cup cold water, 4 tablespoons whipping cream.

Let gelatin stand in cold water for 10 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add juice of lemon, salt, sugar and vinegar and let stand until cool. Mash cheeses and fold into cream whipped until stiff. Fold into gelatin when mixture begins to jelly. Add pineapple, cucumber and celery and turn into individual molds first dipped in cold water. Let stand until firm, three or four hours, and serve on a bed of well bleached leaves of head lettuce. Fill one cup-shaped leaf on each salad plate with salad dressing and serve. This recipe is sufficient for eight.

Acrown of lamb with mint ice is delightfully "springy" and in accord with the fruit salad.

A roast chicken is also apropos to Easter as the "piece de resistance."

Mashed Potato Nests.

Three cups potatoes put through a ricer, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons cream, whites 2 eggs.

Add butter, salt, pepper and cream to potatoes and beat well. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry and fold in beaten potato. Drop by spoonfuls onto a well buttered baking sheet and make a depression in the centre of each. Fill each depression with cooked peas. Season peas with salt and pepper and butter and put into a hot oven for eight minutes.

Rice Molds.

Line buttered timbales with hot boiled rice and brush over with melted butter. Put in a hot oven for 10 minutes. Remove from molds and fill with creamed spinach. Garnish with slices of hard-cooked eggs.

After the rice is removed from the oven some of the centre may need scooping out to make the cases.

The following dessert is suggested because it can be prepared the day before. This is well worth considering. Everybody wants to go to church on Easter Sunday and everybody wants a particularly "dressy" dessert and these desserts take time. So if the dessert is calmly reposing in the ice box, the cook's Easter bonnet can repose over a calm mind.

Easter Pudding.

Thirty lady fingers, ½ cup fresh butter, 1 cup confectioner's sugar, 4 tablespoons cream 4 tablespoons gianu lated sugar, 1 tablespoon corn starch, 3 eggs, 1 orange, ½ lemon, 1 cup crushed macaroons, 1 cup whipping cream.

Split lady fingers and line the bottom and sides of a mold with halves of the lady fingers, placing the rounded side against the mold. Add a layer of filling and cover with a layer of lady fingers. Continue layer for layer until all is used. The last layer should be of lady fingers. Place in the refrigerator and let stand from 12 to 24 hours. When ready to serve remove rim of mold and place on the bottom of the mold on a cold platter. Lift off mold and garnish with whipped cream, sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

To make filling—Mix cornstarch and granulated sugar. Beat yolks of eggs well and beat in first mixture. Add cream slowly, beating well. Cook over hot water until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire and add the grated rind and juice of the orange and the grated rind of lemon. Let cool. Cream butter and beat in the confectioner's sugar. Roll macaroons until reduced to very fine particles. Add with creamed butter and sugar to cooked mixture. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry and fold into mixture.

EASTER MARKET JUST ORDINARY

Chickens 28 and 30 Cents—Butter 37 and 38—Eggs 26 and 28.

PLANTS APPEAR.

Fowl for the Easter market was not exceptionally plentiful. Chicken were selling at 28 and 30 cents a pound, turkeys were priced at one stand at 25 cents a pound and at another at 35 cents, while geese showed the same odd range, one selling at 20 cents, a neighboring bird at nearly 30 cents a pound. Butter was 37 and 38 cents a pound, and eggs from 26 to 28 cents a dozen. Cream was 30 cents a pint.

Big duck eggs were 75 cents a dozen, while the same price would buy four goose eggs. Devonshire cream in little bowls was 50 cents.

On the open market, three fish dealers were having a friendly vocal combat, advertising their finny wares. "No bones in these to hurt your teeth," was the cry of one, exclaiming over his pinkish mudcat.

Red onions were 40 cents a peck, or $1.75 a bag; and potatoes, I rish Cobblers for seed, were $1.00 and $1.50 a bag. One man had good looking Spy apples at $1 a peck, another sold his product for 75 cents, with Ben Davis at 4 0 cents, Peewaukees at 50c, and Baxters at 60 cents a peck.

Raspberry canes were two cents apiece, with the Columbian variety at a nickel each. Irish bulbs were 15 cents a box and rhubarb plants 20 cents a bunch.

Syrup dealers numbered only about six this morning, selling their supply anywhere from 60 to 70 cents a quart. Little Yorkshire pigs were $12.50 a pair, with older brethren in neighboring crate at $8.50 apiece. A load of hay was selling at $17.

A pile of books, companioned by a wooden wash tub and rolls of bright linoleum, engaged the attention of various market habituees. Remnants of some old libarary, they included in their numbers a little French volume; "Un Philosophe Sous les Toits," with marginal pencil translations, a report of the Methodist missions for the year 1908, a "Memory" book, and Wainwright's "Scientific Sophisms."

PAINLEVE MAY FORM CABINET

SENATE ACTED.

PARIS, April 11. — (Canadian Press).—The Herriot Cabinet is out of power, overthrown by the Senate because of charges that under M. Herriot's rule, the legal limit of bank note circulation had been secretly exceeded, but M. Herriot's majority in the Chamber of Deputies remains virtually intact.

At a general meeting this morning of the four groups of Left parties forming the Governmental majority since last May, a resolution was adapted "to continue with unshakeable determination the policies for which the country voted at the last election." The meeting represented about 340 deputies, constituting a good working majority of the Chamber. The Socialists, 104 strong, went even one better when they decided they would support no other than M. Herriot.

M. Painleve, President of the Chamber, who announced that he would not accept the task of forming a Cabinet when it was first mentioned, but "would sacrifice himself to the cause of the Lefts," should no other politician be found able to reconcile the widely divergent viewpoints of the Senate and Chamber, appears to be the man most likely to succeed in forming a Ministry.

The Chamber met this morning and adjourned immediately until Wednesday. The Senate last night did not fix the date of its next session, leaving it to M. De Selves to call the body together when that Government is formed. M. Herriot did not appear at the brief session of the Chamber.

Painleve's Plans.

M. Painleve, who is in consultation with leaders of the Chamber, if he accepts, would be Premier without portfolio, and his adherents assert that he would request former Premier Briand, Former Minister of Finance Loucheur, and three members of the Herriot Cabinet, General Nollet and M. Chautemps, and De Monzie to assume the most important Ministries.

President Doumergue began the customary consultations with political personages regarding the new Cabinet early to-day. He was closeted for half an hour with M. De Selves, President of the Senate.

A strong suggestion that M. Painleve, President of the Chamber, might be the man chosen to form the new Ministry was made by Paul Morel, President of the Left Radical group, of which Louis Loucheur is the leading light. President Doumergue continue his conferences with political leaders this afternoon, and indication of his ultimate selection of a man to succeed Herriot as Premier is expected before night.

RUTH RELEASED WITHIN A WEEK FROM HOSPITAL

FEVER DECLINES.

Doctors Report Him Out of Danger—No Injury To Head.

NEW YORK, April 11—(Canadian Press).—Babe Ruth, pronounced out of danger by the physicians who are trying to rid him of the influenza that caused his collapse Thursday, was so far improved last night that he was beginning to worry as to whether he would be able to play with the Yankees when they open the 1925 baseball campaign against Washington here next Tuesday.

The Babe's doctors were of the opinion that he would not be in condition to play, and one of them said he'd be lucky if he was out of the hospital in a week. However, officials of the Yankees were hopeful that Ruth, having passed the most critical stages of the disease, would be in the lineup when the umpire calls "play ball."

Ruth's temperature was 100 yesterday, one degree less than Thursday. He spent the day quietly in St. Vincent's Hospital, seeing no one except his wife and small daughter, Dorothy, with whom he joked about his condition.

A further examination of the home run star's head assured the doctors that he had neither received a slight concussion of the brain nor a fractured skull when he fell in his Pullman washroom while entering New York Thursday.

Ignores Diet.

Although the official diagnosis of Ruth's condition was a slight attack of influenza it also was said that his training diet had much to do with his collapse. Ruth's appetite has long been a subject of discussion and on several occasions, especially recently, it has been said that the great batsman was "eating himself out of baseball." Physicians familiar with Ruth's habits and diet said that his condition probably was due as much to overeating as to anything else. Fried potatoes for breakfast Thursday morning are said to have contributed to his sudden relapse.

Goes Into Convulsions.

There was grave concern over Ruth's condition when he was carried from the train, but the anxiety reached its height when he went into convulsions while waiting for the ambulance to arrive. Mrs. Ruth stood at his head, with tear-dimmed eyes, bravely struggling to keep her composure. Barrow, Kritchell, Dr. Murphy and attendants were lined along the side of the stretcher, when suddenly the Babe lashed out right and left with arms and legs. Immediately those within distance jumped to the side of the stretcher and held the big man down. Barrow, a sad and serious expression on his face, stroked the Babe's cheek as if he were a child, but soon after the Babe lashed out again.

The crowd which had gathered plainly showed its concern, and when the hypodermic injections failed to quiet the Babe it appeared serious. Dr. Murphy flashed an electric torch in Ruth's unseeing eyes, not more than three inches away, but the Babe never blinked. Only once, when he spoke to his wife, did he appear at all conscious.

This break in Ruth's health is not the first that has occurred since he became a nationally famous figure because of his sensational home-run hitting. The husky looking star is in reality one of the most brittle and susceptible characters in baseball. Last spring he collapsed at Hot Springs from influenza, and on several other occasions he has been out of the game from one injury or another. His ankles, which are extremely small for the great size of his body, together with his wrists, have been constant sources of worry to the slugger. Several times he has fallen unconscious on the field after coming into collision with the wall or a teammate in racing after a fly ball. However, despite these many ailments and illnesses, Ruth's physical strength always has pulled him through with exceptional rapidity. He suffers injuries as easily if not more so than most athletes, but at the same time he recovers from them quickly.

Says Ruth Is "Very Careless."

The reason for Ruth's many attacks of illness was disclosed by a physician who has attended him for several years.

"The big fellow doesn't take care of himself," the physician said. "He leads an active life and he eats heartily. He becomes overheated while playing, then he jumps into an automobile and drives rapidly. He's subject to colds and when he gets one he pays no attention to it. The result is that it settles and then he's really sick."

Questions as to whether the Babe kept late hours or dissipated in the winter brought a laugh.

"He's very careless," the physician added.

LONDON INTERESTED.

LONDON, April 11.—The London press, which serves a public knowing nothing about baseball except that it is some sort of a game like "rounders," gave the report of Babe Ruth's death Thursday a prominence which the passing of a mere financier or politician would not have achieved.

The first evening paper on the streets with the story gave it a top head on the front page, alongside the despatch telling of the stoning of the hotel in Damascus, Syria, where Lord Balfour was stopping. Other papers followed with pictures and stories from one to two columns in length, dealing with the 'Babe's' fame as "King of Baseball," and his great salary—a sum which has always caused amazement in conservative England.

So great was the interest that the papers immediately began calling on the American correspondents in London for special articles.

In England baseball itself means nothing, but there was none who could not get a thrill from the human interest aspects of this baseball prodigy's career.

CURVE LAKE TEAM.

Mississaugas Will Take the Field After Trapping Season.

The Curve Lake Indians are thinking about the baseball season, too, although most of their stars of the diamond are still out trapping muskrat. They have made known their intention of going right out after the championship of the East Peterborough League this year and in order to realize this ambition they plan to secure a real coach.

Dave Copperway's braves were always strong on the batting end of the game and this year they may brighten up in their fielding.

FOUR TEAMS IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

Encouraging Prospects as the City Baseball Teams Begin to Take Shape.

CHAMPIONS READY.

All indications point to a good Junior City League this year. There are four teams in view. They are: Lou LeBarr's Lakeviews, Alex Kay's Curlers, a team from the C. G. E. composed mostly of last year's Sacred Heart team, and a team from East City.

Lou LeBarr has the foundation of a good team left from last year's Ontario champions and he has been busy securing the service of other promising young ball players in the city. He reports that the following players have signified their intention of stepping out with him—"Jeff" Hardill and Donolly, pitchers; "Ab" Delchaye, Lambert Collins and Harry Halliday, catchers; Jack Lebarr taking brother Lou's place at the initial sack; Jack Marchant at second, Bill Colins, short stop, "Jimmie" Johnston at third.

In an interview with the Examiner this morning, Rueben Brady, the well known Ashburnham baseball magnate said that he would be back on the job this year with a stronger team than ever for the bantam series. Mr. Brady said that he had one good player lined up for his team and expected to have no difficulty in signing up a full team. The team will operate under the name "Beavers" as usual.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Since the golf swing never changes in its mechanical principle, the "pull down" operates with iron clubs exactly as it does with the woods. I even use a tiny "pull down" in putting.

The finger hold of the shaft tightens up a trifle for iron shots—in the wood club swing the grip with the fingers should be as loose as you can possibly make it and still maintain a command over the club. The iron requires more of a hit, however, so the hold must be somewhat tighter. The iron does not go back quite so far either, but from the top start down with the left-arm pull, and pull all the way down. At the ball, shoot the left hip right in and keep the right shoulder up. You figuratively "sling" the clubhead right through the ball. Keep the hands on a straight line through the ball—every tendency should be toward a "straight line" through the ball—hands, hips, shouders, clubhead.

JUNIORS WHACK SENIOR SOCCER PLAYERS 5 TO 1

HALF BACKS GOOD.

Lack of Training Was Evident as Play Fell Away Near End.

The formal opening of the soccer season took place yesterday afternoon when the juniors defeated the seniors to the tally of 5 goals to 1, on King Edward Park before a very large attendance of spectators. The seniors had only ten men for the first 15 minutes, until T. Williams, Quakers, filled the position allotted to George Logan. Dummer and Warsaw were not represented in the junior selecton owing to the players being engaged in agricultural pursuits. Throughout the whole ninety minutes, the Juniors were far superior to the seniors who never showed any vitality and lack of training.

Two Goals in Three Minutes.

There was no choice in winning the toss. Wade set the ball arolling to his left wing that was held in check by Halliday at the critical moment. He transfgerred the play to the other end where Warde sent in a rocket shot that was diverted past Curtis when Ernie Abramson headed through. No sooner had this been accomplished by the Juniors, then Mitchell beat Blowers on a tackle and without hesitation ran ahead to drive a fast one through the goal for two goal lead within three minutes. It was very evident from the start that the Junior boys would overwhelm their opponents because they settled down to the game right away and met everything at first time. As time rolled on, the older boys made tracks on the Juniors' goal but Edgar was safe between the sticks while he had no difiiulty in stopping the erratic shots that came his way.

Burgess Injured.

In a scrimmage on the line, Burgess was injured and had to receive trainers's attention but the game progressed. Very keen exchanges were the order, each side striving to get within shooting range until James at centre, accepting a cross from Foster, made no mistake with his parting shot that Curtis failed to stop as he rolled on the ground. Thereafter, play was of a lackadaisical order that showed the junior half backs as the prominent factor of the game. The left half—Nicholls—gaining a great amount of praise for his clever play and sportsmanship which was backed up by Halliday and Warde in a solid defence that held the seniors scoreless in the first period, that ended in favour of the juniors by three goals to nothing.

HALF TIME.

On resuming, it was noticed that the senior team had been transformed on exchange of places— Scott going to left full back where he was of no assistance to his partner and weakened terrible thereby leaving the opponents right wing free scope to lead the defense a merry dance. This was fully demonstrated as Mitchell travelled along the wing, cut around the defence to shoot a low shot across to Foster who had simply to tap it through for the fourth goal. Richmond now playing at centre, enlivened the senior attack a little but the defense of juniors came right back at them with clean punting and snappy placing to their forwards. From a free kick on the left wing Nicholls parting shot made Curtis jump up in the air to prevent a score that eventually came as James headed the poor clearance in below the bar for the fifth goal. Thereafter play deteriorated on both sides showing the lack of the necessary training to stand the pace. At last, success did come to the seniors when Burgess gained the only counter from an attack that was fully his own work. A few minutes later, James received a nasty smash, with the ball, on the face but resumed after being attended to by the trainer. The juniors were worthy winners and the score indicates the run of the play which ended five goals to one in favour of them.

Teams.

Born—Washington, D.C., March 5, 1897.

Major League Career—Purchased by Detroit at end of 1920 season from Portland club, Pacific Coast League.

Outstanding Feat—In game played Sept. 8, 1922, made two double plays unassisted, equaling major league record for first baseman. Batted .311 in 1924. Scored 131 runs in 1922.

HUDDERSFIELD TAKE THE LEAD FROM BROMWICH

HOLIDAY GAMES.

LONDON, April 11. —(Canadian Press Cable).— Good Friday football in the Old Country brought out its customary crop of surprises while at the same time serving to render still more uncertain the prospects for league honors. Huddersfield Town leap-frogged West Brom wich in the First Division and assumed command by virtue of a close victory over Bury.

In the Second Division, the defeat of Derby County at the hands of South Shields, coupled with the win of Manchester United over Stockport County, gave the latter a good fighting chance in the junior string running. The Southern section of the Third Division saw Plymouth Argyle avalanche Bristol City and also Swansea Town who have commanded the league for so long, succumb to Newport County. This combinations of wins and losses was responsible for dethroning Swansea and bringing Plymouth up into the first place. The Northern section saw Darlington maintain its lead and as a matter of fact, open out still further the gap between them and their nearest rivals, Nelson. The latter dropped their game to Crewe Alexandra while Darlington acquired a couple of points at the expense of Accington.

Huddersfield Town in the First Division were slightly too good for Bury and notwithstanding the advantage of Terrain, the Lancastrians were compelled to bite the dust. The game had the effect of banishing Bury's hope of the title for they have only five mere games to play and are now running five points behind Huddersfield who, by virtue of yesterday's win and the fact that West Bromwich Albion were not engaged, obtain the leadership at the moment.

Bolton Wanderers advanced to an excellent position by defeating Leeds United. They rose from fifth place to third and can be considered to have a fair chance for the "blue ribband."

Scoring continues to be kept down it being evident that lowly placed teams are strenuously fighting to keep out of the danger zone of relegation with the result that, as usual, the closing games of the season witnesses more hotly contested matches than earlier. The great exception to-day was the tilt between Plymouth Argyle and Bristol City.

DRAKE RELAY GAMES ONE OF BIG EVENTS

One of the biggest events of the early outdoor track and field season will be the Drake relay games to be staged at Des Moines, Ia., on April 24-25. This carnival annually brings together the cream of college athletes. And the affair this year promises to be bigger and better than ever.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Do good ball players make the same kind of managers?

In the American League, Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb, George Sisler and Stanley Harris, four of the game's greatest stars, have been just as successful in the managerial role.

Stanley Harris won a pennant and a world series in his first year. What is more his play seemed to improve with the increased responsibilities that fall to a manager.

Now we have Eddie Collins, famed second sacker of the Chicago White Sox, joining the manager stars.

Of course, there is not room in the majors for all the present or passing stars, so a majority of them must cast their fortunes with the minors.

Donnie Bush, one of the greatest shortstops the game has ever produced, is one of them. Bush managed the Indianapolis club of the American Association last year with great success.

For the last two springs Bush and his Indianapolis club have been a thorn in the side of a majority of the major league ball clubs training in Florida.

One year ago Indianapolis beat every major league club it played, one or more times, winning 11 out of 13 games. This year it has done better than break even.

As I watched Bush's team take the famous New York Giants into camp one afternoon, I commented on the great work the Indianapolis club had been doing against the majors.

"I want to win every game I can from the major league teams," said Bush. "I have impressed that fact on my players."

"While the big league teams may treat the games lightly, my club doesn't. What is more it is too strong for any major league team to believe it can beat it by using substitutes. The regular lineup is necessary if it is to have a chance to trim us.

"My main reason for wanting to make a good showing in the spring against the big leaguers is for the psychological effect it has on my players.

"Trimming the majors gives them plenty of confidence. When they start the season in their own company they feel the going should be that much easier. I am sure it helped us to get away to a flying start last season. I am keen for beating the big leaguers in the spring."

There is plenty of logic behind Bush's argument. The ability to consistently defeat the cream of the majors naturally imbues his team with a confidence that must be reflected in their season's play.

One of the best assets of Bush's ball club is his infield. It is made up of Hodapp, Schreiber, Sicking and Schmandt. Bush calls them the "Flying Dutchmen."

Few major league combinations work better around second base than Sicking and Schreiber. This fellow Sicking at second could be used to advantage by a number of big league teams.

If there is one thing Bush's infield lacks it is aggressiveness, "pepper." Joe Cantillon, famed as manager and umpire, sat next to Bush as we discussed his team.

Bush and Cantillon are Irish and proud of it.

"If they only were Irish," said Bush.

"If they were they would keep you sitting up all night wondering if they would be able to play the next day," remarked Cantillon. Bush agreed.

The NUT CRACKER
BY JOE WILLIAMS

To be distinguished in an uncommon sort of way is to never have shot a hole in one.

Business note: Mr. John X. Goof, whose home runs were the sensation of the Giants' spring trip, has returned to his old job in the saw mill at Bear Creek, Miss., where he expects to spend a profitable summer.

It seems to us the newspapers are piling it on a bit thick when they try to make Chapman, the safe cracker, a member of the "intelligentsia" besides.

The Oxford boat went down in the annual rowing contest with Cambridge. . . . Leading one to suppose the crew must have been coached by Joe Beckett.

A card holder in the Sob Sisterhood writes a human interest story on Rogers Hornsby in which it is revealed that the ball player sends a letter to his mother after each game. . . . Such is the growing effect of Penny Leonard's beautiful (and widely advertised) motherly devotion!

The sport pages show pictures of Dempsey cleaning the dishes, when the time is more suitable to pictures of Ruth, cleaning the bases.

Social note: Senor Firpo, who has been rubbing elbows with the boulevardiers of Paris, is soon to return to this country to rub shoulder blades with various prize ring floors.

With Maranville cratking an ankle and Grigsby a collarbone, the Cubs seem all they were cracked up to be. . . . Or don't they?

To one uninformed in the technical phrases of the sport the statement that Young Jake Schaefer is weak at nursing may be a trifle bewildering at least.

Still the Chicago shimmy dancer, wanted in a $25,000 gem theft, ought not to have much trouble shaking the pursuers off.

TROUBLE LOOMS

Hanover a nice embroidered pillow, nice embroidered slippers, but let us vote of our own future and the future of our children, which is the republic," it adds.

The Zeitung am Mittag says: "Even in German national circles prominent men in business and industry are horrified over the decision," and says it is believed there will be difficulty in raising campaign funds from these quarters. The paper also claims that the People's Party, which opposed Dr. Gessler, will not be able to mobolize its membership for Von Hindenburg. Women will support Dr. Marx, as they abhor war, declares the paper.

Die Post, Nationalist, says: "When the Reichstag bloc parties decided to place Field Marshall Von Hindenburg in the forefront of the political struggle in Germany, they expressed the unanimous opinion that this time it is better to fight to a bitter finish. The policical future of Germany largely depends on the outcome of this struggle. At last courage has been found to express the will to turn about and put a stop to the crime of November, 1918.

The Kreuz-Zeitung says the Presidential election assumes an epochal meaning by the selection of Von Hindenburg.

The Lokal-Anzeiger says: "After years of erring and confusion of spirits God gives us the names of Hindenburg as a touchstone with which to scratch our hearts."

Specialization For Broadcasters

It's the idea of specialization by broadcasters. He suggests that each station dwell on a particular kind of program, although it need not discard other forms of entertainment.

By this system of specialization he believes, a fan could tune in at a particular station for whatever kind of music of talk he cares to listen to.

WASHINGTON BETTER THAN 1924 SAYS HOPEFUL STANLEY HARRIS

WASHINGTON BETTER ....

TANLEY HARRIS WASHINGTON—I am perfectly satisfied with the outlook. My club is stronger than it was last season when we won the pennant. Of course we may not be able to repeat, but rest assured the Washington club will be in there fighting to the very finish.

MILLER HUGGINS, NEW YORK—Regardless of the playing material, the spirit of my ball club this year makes it about 20 per cent. more efficient. Failure to win last season has caused a number of my players to take the game more seriously. I feel we can win.

TY. COBB, DETROIT—I fear only the New York Yankess. It is still a great club. If we can ward off that team the Tygers have a great chance ot win. I have a much improved ball club, particularly as to reserve strength, which is most important.

CONNIE MACK, PHILADELPHIA—The Athletics are going to be a contender all the way. We are certain to finish in the first division, which means we have a chance to win the pennant. My club has just had about the proper experience to come through. Southpaw Groves will be a big help.

GEORGE SISLER, ST. LOUIS—The Browns will be a more efficient ball club than last season. Certain influences on the team that did not make for discipline or harmony have been removed. I am sure that the New York deal will prove helpful to the Browns.

TRIS. SPEAKER, CLEVELAND—I am shooting at the first division. My club disappointed last season due to various causes, injuries playing havoc with the team's chances. I look for the players who failed me last year to come through this season.

LEE FOHL, BOSTON—Anything better than seventh place will be regarded by me as a progressive step. The even balance of the American League clubs makes it possible for anything to happen. I am hoping for the best.

EDDIE COLLINS, CHICAGO—I merely want to emphasize the fact that the White Sox are not an eighth place club and we intend to demonstrate that fact this summer. Pennant thoughts are fare removed at present, my chief thought is to get the best possible results out of the material at hand.

HOCKEY BANQUET FOR CHAMPIONS

Queen Mary Home and School Association Entertains School Boys.

In place of their regular April meeting the Home and School Association of Queen Mary School gave a banquet to the boys' hockey team this week. The Queen Mary boys were champions for the public schools of the city this year, making their fourth consecutive year as head of the list.

The guests included the fathers of the boys, Mr. A. Mowat and Mr. Alex. K[illegible]. Mr. Alex. Dick was the efficient chairman and song leader.

After enjoyment of a splendid supper provided by the ladies, Mr. Dick proposed the toast to "The King," which was responded to by the singing of the National Anthem. Mr. Dick then called on the fathers, who, in a few minutes' talk, seconded by speeches by Messrs. Mowat, Kay, Clark and Wagar, voiced their approval of good, clean sport in the schools.

Charles Sowden, captain of the team, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies of the Home and School association, for their kindness in providing the banquet. Mr. Sedgewick played the accompaniments for the singing. By request Mrs. H. E. Connolly gave a fine reading. The programme ended with the singing of "For they are Jolly Good Fellows."

LEWIS ARRIVES IN CAPE BRETON

EXPECT RESULTS.

SYDNEY, N. S., April 11.—(Canadian Press).—The arrival here this morning of John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, proved the most sensational development of the coal mine labor tie-up that has held the industry at a standstill since March 6, and resulted in the idleness of some twelve thousand miners. Coming direct from a conference with Premier Armstrong in Halifax yesterday, it is anticipated that developments in the coal mine strike will follow quickly.

CENTRAL LEAGUE TEAM WORKS OUT

First Practice of Season at Riverside Yesterday.

Manager 'Shiner' Johnston trotted his Central Ontario Leaguers out at Riverside Park yesterday morning for the first work-out of the season, one of the earliest starts on record. A big squad put in a useful two hours, getting the kinks out after the winter's lay-off, and felt so peppery that an infield practice was staged for a few minutes, although no one took any chances. Among those out were 'Shiner' Johnston, Max Swanston, Jiddy Helson, Jimmy Hall and Tommy Holyman of last year's Central League team; Ray Rose, Bob Ross and Herb. Wolfe, of last year's C.G.E. crew; Fred. Ash and Johnny Marchen, of the 1924 Lakeviews, and a number of others, including Gardner, a new catcher and outfielder. Irvin Bailey, of hockey fame, will be out with the squad next week, as will Heckman, Harrison, Whitehouse and other players.

PEACE DESIRED BY HINDENBURG

German World War General Opposes War in General —A Manifesto.

DID HIS DUTY.

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, April 11.— Adherence to the Monarchistic creed was promised to-day by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg in an Easter message.

"Just as Ebert at no time denied his Socialistic organ," the Empire bloc's presidential candidate said, "nobody can demand that I surrender by political convictions."

Later in his address, however, Hindenburg agreed to stand on the present constitution with the following aphorism:

"It is not the state's form, but the spirit which inspires the state's form that is decisive."

The Field Marshal declared he was opposed to any war or uprising within his country, adding that only long, peaceful work could restore Germany.

Hindenburg then spoke of the appeal which prompted him to accept the candidacy.

"Fatherlandish Germans from all German regions and of all German races offered me the Reich's highest office," he said.. "I accepted the call after a serious examination of what was involved."

"My life lies clear before the whole world. I believe that I have always done by duty even in difficult times. When duty demands that on the basis of the constitution I work as president, regardless of party, class or person, than I shall not be found lacking."

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

STEPPING OUT.

Headed by Gene Pearson, Bob Anderson and Leonard Young, the Originals, with a number of other favourites of the old Dumbells, and augmented by new members, who are distinct acquisitions to the cast, are paying Peterborough a visit and delighted the audiences which saw them at the Grand yesterday afternoon and evening. "Stepping Out" is the title of the Originals' new revue and it is crammed full of good things from the opening chorus to the closing burlesque on grand opera, in which the cast shows excellent reason for its claim to be the best singing company on the road. The Originals made good that boast at every point in the programme, for the company contains a half dozen soloists of great ability, while the quartette and ensemble singing is decidedly above the average.

The leading comedian is the popular Bob Anderson well remembered for his good work in earlier productions, and in "Stepping Out" given a real chance to demonstrate his ability as a fun maker. Yesterday's audiences know how he has made good, for the gathered a rich harvest of laughs throughout the performance from his first appearance as John Willie Shufflebottom in the opening musical comedy to his whimsical portrayal of the role of Plantagenet in the final skit, "The Duchess Performs." His songs, "Turned Up," "I'm Glad I'm Single" and "More Like a Friend Than a Husband" are among the big hits of the revue.

Gene Pearson, undoubtedly the best male soprano that Peterborough has heard, scores a triumph. His singing is better than ever, and his songs "Love Will Come Back," "The Dancing Lesson" and "Mighty Like a Rose," were received with a storm of applause.

Thomas Dunn, a newcomer to the company, sings the prologue to "Pagliacci" in magnificent voice and with a proper appreciation of the tragedy of the number, his offering being one of the high lights of the performance.

Norman A. Blume is most successful in his portrayal of the part of "Col. Soake," and also as the "Rev. Mr. Philpotts," while Alan Murray, as a dancer and vocalist, Lionel Broadway, a new juvenile, Bertram Langley and other members of the cast, are excellent.

"Stepping Out" is a snappy, bright, tuneful production, and the Originals will undoubtedly be greeted by a capacity audience in their final performance at the Grand to-night.

Julia Arthur, who is coming to the Grand Opera House for one night only, Monday, April 20th and who will deight theatre patrons and her many friends in her characterization of Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan", is delightfully frank with regard to her own temerity in assuming so youthful a role as that of Joan of Arc. But all her life, she affirms, she has been breaking stage traditions and will probably keep right on doing so.

Still slight and in the best of physical trim, Julia Arthur is in spite of the dates which, as she laughingly says chroniclers of theatrical events seem possessed to dig up against her, an amazingly young looking woman when see in private life without any of the artifices of the stage to assist her. She has a very strong personality and everything which she says is tinged with an air of sincere conviction. Interest in her work and devotion to it at the expense of any amount of personal inconvenience, appear to be her watchwords, and she has no patience with those who slight their work in the theatre.

"I broke traditions of the stage when I returned to the footlights after a few years' retirement" she said, "and I proved that I could pick up the threads again, right where I left them. In my younger days I had a very hard time to live down the reputation of being a stage beauty because there is a firmly grounded tradition that beauties cannot act. Now as a matter of fact, I never laid the slightest claim to personal beauty, of the stage, I have always made the most of the art of make-up, and I have always tried to prove that, despite my reputation for being a beauty I could and would act.

"Joan is a very exacting role, and, in my opinion, one which demands a certain experience, both in life and in acting, which every young woman cannot bring to it. Our performance has been enthusiastically received everywhere."

AT THE CAPITOL

"A Kiss in the Dark," is the week-end feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre. It is a rather exotic story of modern life, with a flapper wife, who mixes things up considerably for herself and her husband in her desire for excitement and novelty. However, the affair culminates quite satisfactorily, with the lady turning to more sensible ways and everything smoothing itself out to the satisfaction of all concerned, in the happy manner of the celluloid films.

Adolphe Menjou, the engaging gentleman who makes a perfectly satisfactory society villain at all times, never too intense and yet quite skilfully guiding himself through any type of situation, is the hero of "A Kiss in the Dark." Aileen Pringle and Lillian Rich have the lading feminine roles.

AUTHOR SEES HIS STORY SCREENED.

Jack Bethea Helps Meighan Make "Coming Through."

Jack Bethea, author of "Bed Rock," the picturesque novel of the Alabama coal mines which Thomas Meighan has made into motion pictures under the title "Coming Through," was one of the most interested spectators of the thousands who watched the Meighan company at work on location at Birmingham, Ala., Bethea's home town.

The scenes were filmed at the same group of mines that inspired Mr. Bethea's story and the background, therefore, is as accurate as it is possible to conceive.

One several occasions Edward Sutherland, the director, called Mr. Bethea into consultation about details of the action, and once suggested to the author that he take the megaphone and direct a scene. Mr. Bethea was so surprised by the suggestion, having heard that authors had long been considered excess baggage around a motion picture production that he nearly fainted. Cold water was produced from a nearby stream, however, and he was quickly revived.

"Coming Through," adapted to the screen by Paul Schofield, features Lila Lee in the leading woman's role opposite the star. Wallace Beery is the villain. Others are Laurance Wheat, John Miltern, Frank Campeau, Gus Weinburg and Alice Knowland.

KATHLEEN NORRIS' NOVEL SCREENED WITH NOTED CAST.

Famous Author has Millions of Readers Everywhere.

There is one writer to-day in America who is said, according to some sociologist, to have done more to analyse and clearly present the problems of women — sisters and mothers — than any other writer. That is Kathleen Norris, favorite of a steady fan class of millions of readers everywhere in the English speaking world, and on the continent where her works are widely traveled

Her latest novel to be filmed "Butterfly," has been filmed as a Universal-Jewel all star production directed for the screen by Clarence Brown, and comes to the Royal theatre on Monday. Although it is a story of two sisters with a searching study of their souls, it has all the drama and 'punch' necessary to be attractive to men.

There are four leading characters, two sisters, a wealthy manufacturer, and a famous violinist. These roles are played by Ruth Clifford, of "The Dramatic Life of Abraham Lincoln," Laura La Plante, Universal's newest luminary, Kenneth Harlan and Norman Kerry.

Other players in important roles are Freeman Wood, Margaret Livingston, Cesare Gravina and T. Roy Barnes. The scenario from the book was prepared by Olga Printzlau, who for years was associated with William De Mille.

Author Knows Women's Souls.

Miss Noris in her stories presents the woman's thoughts and emotions with startling clarity. In "Butterfly" which has been a "best seller" in the book stores, she presents a picture of a girl named "Butterfly" and her older sister, the latter sacrificing every personal desire that the younger may be happy and achieve the success as a violinist which their mother on her deathbed had prophecied.

The younger sister forgets that her sister has a heart, and cuts her out of the man she loves. Then when she married the millionaire, the youngster forgets her brilliant career, and loses herself in the useless butterfly life of society.

Repeatedly she hangs on the brink of tragedy, but on several occasions she is saved by her husband's indulgence, and the untiring efforts of her forgiving sister, until one day she attempts to capture the man her elder sister loves.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

Those who live in the centre of God's will have a knowledge concerning spiritual things, a knowledge that is theirs by experience. It is easy for those who have spiritual discernment to discern the difference between the preaching of Jesus and the evangelist of to-day. Those who preach as Jesus preached do so with power, for it is not them that speak, but the Holy Spirit that is in them. Some recognize the futility of man-made efforts to force men to become religious, but for fear of those in power, are not true to their convictions. Jesus said: "My sheep know my voice, and they follow me." Those who will not take the way of the Spirit but substitute strenuous efforts, by preaching Satan's lie and devilish doctrines, cannot speak so as to inspire confidence in the hearts of their hearers.—M. T. Butcher.

PAYNE.—In loving memory of our darling Helen, who departed this life April 12th, 1924, age 6 years and 10 months:
There came to gladden our hearts one day
A little child so bright and gay,
With a smile so merry and full of fun
That she won the love of every one.

How we miss her no words can tell,
But we know Christ doeth all things well,
And that he has taken our Helen away
To be a bud in His great bouquet.

Bandit Broke Into Bedroom To Study How Women Would Re-act To Trussing So He Could Write Book

BOSTON, Mass., April 11. — (United Press.)—James E. Walters, the talkative boudoir bandit, whose bedroom breaks terorrized women in the back bay section of the city, has climbed into the "intellectual" class of criminals.

In a statement to alienists appointed to examine him, Walter asserted he was "an investigator of the emotional reactions of women," and that he trussed up his victims in order to find out how they would act. This information, he said, he intended to incorporate in the pages of a book.

The report of the alienists was read in Suffolk's Supreme court, where Walters is standing trial on charges of robbery and carrying a revolver.

"I had to know how women acted to write my book," the boudoir bandit told some of the mental experts.

BRIAND, SEVEN TIMES PREMIER OF FRANCE, IS AGAIN CALLED UPON BY PRESIDENT TO FORM CABINET

DECISION TODAY

Financial Situation Unrelieved—Briand Stipulates Inclusion of Socialists in Ministry.

PARIS, April 13. — (Canadian Press). — Aristide Briand, seven times Premier of France, has again been called upon by the President of the Republic to extricate Parliament from the tangle in which it has been thrown by the collapse of the Herriot Government, and take charge of French affairs once more. M. Briand, after consulting with the leaders of the various political groups of the Senate and Chamber throughout the day, informed President Doumergue last night that he would give him a definite reply at noon to-day.

Previously M. Doumergue had offered the Premiership to M. Painleve, President of the Chamber, but the latter begged to be excused.

M. Briand makes the participation of the Socialist party in the Government an essential condition of his acceptance of the task of forming a Cabinet. Socialist leaders consulted by him Sunday replied that they first must obtain authority from the National Council of their party, which has been convened in extraordinary session for one o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

During M. Herriot's ten months' tenure of office the Socialists, numbering 104, although not represented in the Government, and not assuming any responsibilities for the measures passed, held the balance of power in the Chamber, governed, in fact.

Upon leaving Elysee Palace last night, Mr. Briand said:

"In the present grave situation I must seek the co-operation of all parties, which is indispensable to the solution of the crisis. I want to select a Cabinet from the majority elected last May, each element of this majority being obliged to assume its share of responsibility of power.

"I must examine the financial and economic situation. About noon I shall return to the President of the Republic with the hope of bringing back my selections."

Anxious For Finances.

The financial situation, to which M. Briand referred, is causing much anxiety in Parliamentary circles. They are disturbed because the agreement with the Bank of France, appearing in the Official Journal on April 8 and authorizing the bank to raise the limit of circulation to 45,000,000,000 francs, cannot possibly be ratified before the weekly statement of the Bank of France is issued on Thursday. This obliges the bank again to show as last week, over 43,000,000,000 francs actual paper money out, when legally the authorized limit is 41,000,000,000.

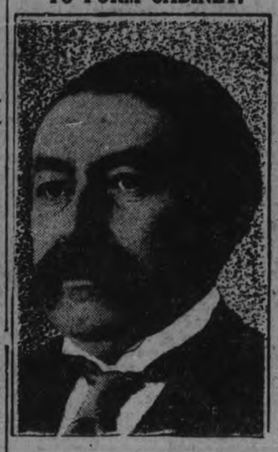
M. Briand did not confer with any members of the Right parties of either the Senate or Chamber, but informed the Radical group in the Senate that he intended to pursue a policy neither Radical nor Socialist, but would enforce a Democratic programme, which was the real platform upon which the Left groups were elected.

Has Socialist Support.

The task confronting Briand is to form a Cabinet which would have the backing of the Left groups in the Chamber, and at the same time be assured of a majority in the Senate. The first person M. Briand saw yesterday after receiving M. Doumergue's request to form a Cabinet was M. Herriot. The latter, who remains leader of the Radical group of 104 strong, the largest in the Chamber, assured M. Briand of his party support.

M. Briand's insistence that the Socialists assume the responsibilities of power and enter the Cabinet may mean splitting the party in the event that the National Council refuses to co-operate with him. At the time the Herriot Ministry was formed thirty Socialists out of 104 voted in favor of entering the Government. Their number has been increased, and the party would be placed in a difficult position if it refused co-operation.

TO FORM CABINET.



ARISTIDE BRIAND,
Summoned Yesterday By President Doumergue, of France, to Form New Ministry.

WALES NOT SHIRKING PROGRAM DETAILS IN TROPIC HEAT OF AFRICAN GOLD COAST

Avoids Plague Outbreak at Lagos, But Will Visit Nigerians at Harcourt—Through Jungle by Rail Saturday.

ACCRA, Gold Coast, West Africa April 13. — In view of the disappointment in Nigeria over the change in the plans of the Prince of Wales to visit Lagos on account of an outbreak of plague, a conference was held on Sunday at which it was decided to carry out, virtually in full, the fixed program, although the Prince probably will land at the port of Harcourt, instead of Lagos. The cruiser Repulse, which is being used by the Prince for his trip to Africa will sail from here Tuesday morning.

Notwithstanding the great heat, the Prince again Sunday put in a full day. He attended divine services in the morning, reviewed ex-service men and spent an hour in the Gold Coast hospital. In the afternoon he motored eight miles to Achimote College.

Through Jungle.

Saturday he enjoyed a 70 mile motor ride from Bosusa, on the railway in the interior, to Acera. Fifty miles of the road is cut through a luxurious jungle, the rest being open grass lands. At one village he was greeted by the local chief, who is the millionaire owner of Cocoa lands The native chief wore a golden crown and escorted the Prince back to his car under a massive multicolored umbrella.

The Prince also alighted at Nsawan, where another gorgeously arrayed chief presented him with a gold inkstand and pen. The Prince immediately wrote his signature, as a sort of test of its serviceability. The chief also gave him an antelope, which afterwards was slaughtered and eaten.

The natives gathered at various points along the route, and whenever the Prince and his attendants appeared cheered them heartily.

POISON FOUND IN OLSON BODY

NEW WITNESS.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Arsenic in quantities sufficient to cause his death was found by the Coroner's chemists making a post-mortem examination of the body of Dr. Oscar Olson, brother of Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal Court, who has been pushing the investigation into the deaths of William N. McClintock, his mother, Mrs. Emma McClintock, and his brother.

Mercury enough to kill two persons was found in the body of Mrs. McClintock, who died sixteen years ago.

William D. Shepherd, under indictment on the charge of killing William N. McClintock with typhoid germs, who was the last person to visit Dr. Olson before he died, took the sick man some fruit.

The case against Shepherd Saturday acquired new significance in the appearance of another witness, who had talked with him of germs and poisons and sudden deaths. This led to forecasts of a sensational turn in the report of the Coroner's chemist on what killed Dr. Oscar Olson.

The new witness is William Jones, an architect, who has known the Shepherds for a long time. He was brought to the office of Chief Justice Olson by Detective Sergeant Harry Donnelly, to whom he had talked of the case.

"I am willing to tell what I know of it," he told Judge Olson. "When Sergeant Donnelly suggested that I come over here I jumped at the chance to get it off my chest. I knew Shepherd was interested in poisons before the death of William McClintock. We talked of such matters and of germ diseases and their effect and detection."

He went into conference with Judge Olson to tell his whole story. Until his appearance the investigators had been concerned principally with the report that another poison had been discovered in the viscera of Dr. Oscar Olson and that the chemists's report would have a vital bearing on the fate of Shepherd in his trial.

To Question Mrs. Shepherd Again.

With both State and defence rushing preparations for an immediate trial of Shepherd for the murder of his millionaire ward, William Nelson McClintock, Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Savage announced that Mrs. Shepherd was to be questioned again.

The former Julia Graf, who married Shepherd while he was a clerk in a wholesale grocery store, has been perhaps the most mysterious of the characters in the McClintock drama.

She was questioned once before, briefly, by the State's Attorney. She appeared at the Coroner's inquest and declined to testify. Then she went into retirement in the home in Kenilworth that belonged to McClintock and was left to Shepherd under the will.

Interviewers are not allowed to see her. In the earlier stages of the investigation she expressed a calm faith in her husband's innocence and confidence that "the Lord will protect him." Callers at her home now are informed that she has been ordered by attorneys not to talk.

Since Shepherd was seized following the confession of Dr. C. C. Faiman, the pseudo-scientist, who asserts that he gave Shepherd the germs which caused McClintock to die she has not visited him in the county jail.

The explanation given by Mrs. Davidson, a close friend of the Shepherds, is that Shepherd himself has requested her not to go to his cell, that he wishes to spare her the ordeal of seeing him in durance.

Never Visited Husband in Jail.

There has been no attempt to link Mrs. Shepherd in the conspiracy which Judge Harry Olson says has been in existence for more than sixteen years. Although her husband met Mrs. Emma McClintock,

PILGRIMS FILL THE HOLY CITY

Easter Services in Jerusalem Were Thronged by Host of Visitors.

AT CHRIST'S TOMB

JERUSALEM, April 13. — Several Canadian and American clergymen, and Jewish Rabbis figured prominently in Sunday's Easter services in Jerusalem. The city was crowded with more pilgrims than at any time since pre-war days.

Under a hot sun throngs poured all day past the Jaffa gate through the narrow streets to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, where people of all religions and sects fought for standing room around the tomb of Christ.

The Right Rev. John J. Cantwell, Bishop of Los Angeles and San Diego, Calif., who with Monsignor John Nash of Buffalo and Father James Coffey of St. Louis, Mo., were the first Americans to celebrate mass on Saturday in the Sepulchre, headed a group of French-Canadians.

FIRST VESSEL IN LOCKS AT SAULT

Ready to Attempt Passage Through Lake Superior.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., April 13.—The steamer Harvester pulled into the Sabin lock at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, the first boat to lock up the American locks for this season. She proceeded to the head of the canal and tied up for daylight to-day before attempting the ice fields in Whitefish Bay.

A stiff north-western blowing Sunday piled a great deal of ice back again, filling up the open water spaces which showed up the past few days. This is loosened up, however, so that while passage may be retarded somewhat it will not hold up the boats once the main ice field is broken through. This extends from Parisian Island to the Point.

The steamer Drummond was also expected to be ready to leave the Canadian Soo to-day with her cargo of rail and the two boats will attempt the trip to Lake Superior together.

Premier of Nova Scotia Seeks Strike Solution

HALIFAX, N. S., April 13.—Premier E. H. Armstrong has invited International President John L. Lewis, district president J. W. McLeod, of the United Mine Workers of America and Vice President J. E. McLurg of the British Empire Steel Corporation, to attend a conference here on Tuesday next, at which it is hoped arrangements will be made for the re-opening of the Nova Scotia coal mines which have been idle for the past five weeks as a result of differneces between the operators and the men over the 1925 wage scale.

PRISONERS HAD MONTH'S LIQUOR IN SARNIA JAIL

THEFT PLAN TOLD

Inventor of Successful Scheme Accused by Men Who Shared Hospitality.

SARNIA, Ont., April 13.—Nine prisoners in the county jail had a further grilling in the jail kitchen Saturday relative to the theft of forty-two bottles of gin, two of whiskey and considerable beer from a room adjoining the cells where they were locked up. Harry R. Finan and Sam McDougall pleaded guilty and six others were given an additional seven days in jail.

William Johnston, an Indian, is the man credited with the ingenious theft which kept the gloomy prison looking so chereful for more than a month as the bottles of gin were passed around in the evening hours. Johnston will be charged on Tuesday with breaking prison with intent to free himself and other prisoners.

Johnston proved himself a real genius, making a saw from a piece of tin found while he was raking the jail yards, by which he cut through the ceiling to the store room below. After lowering themselves through the hole the prisoners descending would have to fish the bottles up through the mesh of a cell block. The hole through the floor was about 10 inches by 14 inches, just large enough for a small man to get down. The total value of the missing liquor was estimated at $120 and it was part of a stock owned by Edward Kellner which had been seized. Stephen Kigoch and Richard Blackbird, Indians, both swore that Johnston had cut the hole through the floor. He had worked at it for a couple of weeks, using a piece of tin with a nicked edge as a saw.

Johnston was also the bartender. When the liquor was brought up Johnston opened the bottles and using a cup called the other prisoners into the wash room one by one to get a drink. The last quaffs were taken on March 22.

KILLED ON WAY TO SAVE SISTER

BABY DIED TOO.

TORONTO, April 13. — (Canadian Press. — Two lives were lost when Sidney Wilson, 18 years old telegraph messenger, was struck from his bicycle by a motor car here last night and fatally injured, dying an hour later. Wilson was on his way to give a blood transfusion to his eight months old sister Mary, who had been lying ill for some time with erysipelas. The baby sister died very shortly after her brother succumbed to a fractured skull. Owing to lack of identification paper's the boy's fimily did not learn of his death until this morning. The boy and his father gave blood transfusions to baby girl two weeks ago.

RUSSIAN PRELATE BURIED IN POMP

Two Hundred Clergy Participate in Funeral of Dr. Tikhon.

MOSCOW, April 13 (Canadian Press) — The funeral of Most Rev. Dr. Tikhon, first patriarch of the Russian Orthodox church since Peter the great, and the last great figure of Imperial Russia took place yesterday.

With imposing ceremony the casket containing the body of the dead prelate was placed under the concrete floor of Donskey monastery to which he was banished in 1922 by the civil authorities after eighteen months imprisonment.

Almost the entire higher clergy of Moscow and neighboring cities including five metropolitans, 200 archbishops and bishops and priests participated in the majestic slavonic litury which accompanied the burial.

FALL FATAL TO LOCAL LINEMAN

DIED IN HOSPITAL

John Crompton, a lineman for the Peterborough Utilities Commission, was fatally injured on Saturday afternoon at 3.45, when he fell from a pole on Robinson street. Crompton was climbing to attach a house service to a 110 volt line when his spur slipped and he fell head foremost to the sidewalk, fracturing the base of his skull. Dr. McCullough was summoned and the injured man was taken in Comstock's ambulance to Nicholls Hospital, where he died at 8.10 Saturday night.

H. O. Fisk, manager of the Utilities Commission, said that the spur marks on the pole showed that Crompton had slipped a little on the fourth step and the fatal slip was on the seventh step. The mark where the spur had gouged out was about eleven and a half feet from the ground. He said that Crompton was known as a good workman and had climbed hundreds of poles. He had never shown any signs of fear and would climb to any height. Mr. Fisk was at a loss to explain what caused the spur to slip from the pole, but was inclined to think there was a fault in the grain of the wood. He said that Crompton had been with the commission since last fall and he had worked for them before going overseas.

Harry Beatty, line foreman for the Commission, was working with Crompton at the time. He said they were working on Robinson street, opposite number 52, connecting a domestic service and Crompton was going up the pole to make the connection. Crompton's spur slipped and he lit on his head on the sidewalk. He was carried into 62 Robinson street and the clinic was called for a doctor. Dr. McCullough responded and Crompton was taken to Nicholls Hospital. He considered him a good man and had never known him to have an accident.

No Inquest.

Dr. T. W. H. Young, coroner, viewed the body on Sunday morning. After questioning the witnesses he decided that the happening was purely accidental and that an inquest was not necessary. The skin on the back of Crompton's head was broken and the base of the skull was fractured. He said that there would be bleeding inside the skull and the pressure on the brain would increase as there was no escape for the blood and life would be crushed out of the brain. He had been told by Doctor McCullough that it had seemed that Crompton was recovering consciousness and he had responded when asked to put out his tongue, but he had then rapidly sunk till he died.

Crompton was about 40 years old. He was married and had one daughter, about four years old. He was a war veteran, having served overseas with the 33rd Battery from 1915 to 1919, serving in France and Belgium. The funeral will be held on Tuesday aftrenoon at three o'clock from the family residence, 576 Murray street, to All Saints' church. The members of the G. W. V. A. will attend and conduct the military service.

THREE INJURED IN DERAILMENT

Two Hundred Feet of Railway Washed Out Near Syracuse, N. Y.

MONTREAL EXPRESS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 13. — Three men were injured, two seriously, when the Montreal express of the Adirondack division of the New York Central was derailed by a washout a mile north of the Beaver River station and the engines and two cars went into the Beaver river Sunday morning.

The injured are: William Roe, mail clerk; fireman Armstrong and engineer Kane, all of Utica. The injuries of the first two men were said to be serious.

Two hundred feet of track was washed out by high water. The engineer, seeing the condition of the roadbed before reaching the point where the rails were under wtaer, was able to slow up so that the passengers escaped with only a shaking up. Telegraph lines were carried away as the train left the rails, causing delay in sending out word of the accident.

CHICAGO'S NEW DEATH MYSTERY

Six in Family Die Under Peculiar Circumstances—Mother Held.

HAD INSURANCE.

CHICAGO, April 13 (Canadian Press)—A new multiple death mystery came to light on Saturday in the case of the Cunningham family of Gary, Indiana. The father, three sons and a daughter have died suddenly since 1918.

Another son, David Cunningham, 24, a machinist, was brought here on Friday night from Gary and placed in Columbus Memorial Hospital suffering from arsenic poisoning.

All the dead Cunninghams carried insurance ranging from $2000 to $3000. Mrs. Anne Cunningham, mother of the dead children, was brought here for questioning and is held in custody. An unsuccessful attempt at suicide was made yesterday by Mrs. Cunningham, according to police officials who are holding her.

POLICE KILLED ONE-TIME HERO

Joseph Burns, Escaped Jail Prisoner, Was Rescuer of Child.

FATALLY SHOT.

DETROIT, April 13. — Joseph Burns identified by the Canadian police officials as the man who escaped in January last from the prison farm at Guelph, died in the hospital last night of bullet wounds received when he was shot by a patman, William E. Streich, last Wednesday, as he was prowling around a house.

Two years ago the officers said Burns rescued a five year old child from drowning in the Detroit River.

DINGHY SWAMPS; SAILORS DROWN; TWO MAKE LAND

BODIES RECOVERED

Two Numbed by Icy Water Released Hold—Rescue Effort Failed.

MONTREAL, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Lee Lambert, aged 21, and Raymond Boisvert, aged 36, both residents of St. Anselme de Lotbiniere, and sailors aboard the oil ship Colin W., were drowned in the harbor on Saturday evening when their dinghy was swamped. The bodies were recovered Sunday afternoon. Two other sailors of the same ship, Horeo Bergeron and Emile Delisle, were rescued from the fate of their companions by the quick work of a watchman and a Canadian National Railway constable.

The Colin W. has been in port all winter, and was anchored about fifty yards from shore, and on Saturday evening the four men embarked in the dinghy and started rowing to the wharf. There was a considerable swell, one of the rescued later stated, and the weight of the four men in the small craft brought the water almost to the gunwale. About half way to shore the dinghy shipped a wave, and settling down slowly, sank beneath the feet of the quartette.

Chilled By Water.

The four men made an attempt to seize the boat, but chilled by the icy water they were hampered in their movements. Lambert was the first to go down, and a few seconds later Bosivert sank. Bergeron and Delisle making an effort to save Boisvert, dived after him and catching hold of his clothing, dragged him to the surface. Then they pulled him to the dinghy.

Shouting for help, the three men clung to the sunken boat, and kicking out with their feet, started paddling their way to shore. Before they had gone very far, Boisvert's numbed fingers lost their hold on the dinghy and he sank. Owing to their own exhausted condition, the remaining survivors were unable to rescue him a second time.

Meanwhile the victims' shouts were heard by George Richard, a harbor night watchman, and Constable Charles Bernard, of the C.N.R. police. In the gathering darkness they could not determine whence the cries came, and discovered Bergeron and Delisle only after the latter had succeeded in paddling to within a foot of the shore. After attending to the two men, the constable had them removed to an hospital, but they were allowed to leave yesterday.

WEATHER

"Variety is the spice of life." Thus says an old proverb, and, in illustration, we had last night, after some pleasant days, a return of winter conditions, with heavy snow. While the snow was falling heavily, some vivid flashes of lightning were seen, and thunder rolled at the same time. This is a rare occurrence and I can only recall one or two other similar occasions. Some say it means one thing, some another. I don't know. The snow was not particularly late. It frequently comes about this date, and sometimes much later. On May 9, 1923, three inches fell, while on May 4, 1907, we had six inches, necessitating the bringing out of the snow ploughs. The scene early this morning was like fairy-land. Every twig, branch, wire, etc., was thickly encrusted with a covering of white, and presented a beautiful scene until the rays of the sun melted the festoons of snow. Lowest temperature last night 15 degrees.—W.P.

FIRST DAY'S VOTE SHOWED DAYLIGHT SAVING OPPOSED

CLOSES SATURDAY.

Daylight Saving, apparently irrevocably dispensed with at last Monday's council meeting, is still a live issue and is to be broached at the May meeting, according to reports. Petitions are being circulated for both sides.

To ascertain public opinion in an impartial way The Examiner is taking a ballot this week, inviting citizens to express their desires in the matter. This opened on Saturday last and will close at 10 o'clock next Saturday. The result will be made known as soon after that day as possible.

Up until Saturday night the voting was about three to one against daylight saving, coming very near the forecast of the East City man who told the council a popular vote would swamp the proposition by five to one.

In this vote The Examiner believes it is doing a community service. It is not often that anything so personal to every man, woman and child is brought up for consideration. There is no one in the city unaffected by a change of time. It is to the best interests of all, therefore, that the mass of public opinion should be known.

How to Vote

This vote has no legal significance. It will not bring into force, nor will it avoid, daylight saving. But it will provide a guide for the city legislators when confronted with the necessity of making a final decision—and it will definitely show those on both sides where public opinion lies.

This is the second ballot printed. Others will appear every day this week so that every adult may have an opportunity to vote. Ballots will be carefully checked and must be signed with an authentic name and address, not for publication, but as evidence of good faith. Unsigned ballots or improperly signed ballots will be discarded in the count, which will be made by a committee composed of two opponents and two proponents of daylight saving, assisted by neutral members of The Examiner staff. Letters for or against daylight saving will be published if brief. Lengthy or unsigned letters cannot be used.

CITY MANAGER PLAN SUBJECT OF FINE DEBATE

Rotarians Hear Advantages and Disadvantages Ably Discussed.

AFFIRMATIVE WINS.

Both Debaters Show Keen Grasp of the Subject Under Review.

The City Manager plan of civic government, was discussed in a most interesting manner at to-day's luncheon of the Peterboro Rotary Club, by Rotarian James Hamilton, and Fred L. Roy, the former arguing the advantages of the city manager system and the latter criticizing the plan. Rotarian S. R. Armstrong who was the referee, gave the verdict to the affirmative, and Rotarian Hamilton was then made the recipient of the handsome Rotary pin donated by Rotarian Gerald McClelland, the presentation being made after a witty speech by Rotarian C. G. Graham.

To-day's luncheon was one of the most enjoyable for some time. Both the debaters had evidently spent much time and study in the preparation of their papers and the result was a wealth of information pro and con on the subject of city management, that was greatly appreciated by the members.

Rotarian Hamilton, arguing in favour of the City Manager plan, drew a picture of conditions under the present method of government with aldermen from many walks of life and many without business experience, who often left the council just when they had begun to have a grasp of municipal affairs, and claimed that under such conditions it was impossible to have any continuity of policy, or to plan for the future development of the city. He contended that a capable city manager, always on the job, would keep in close touch with all departments, and keep them efficient; would be able to settle problems at once, without the long controversies that councils often have, and in addition would be able to keep in mind plans for the growth of the city under his charge.

In presenting the negative Rotarian Roy argued that the city manager plan was not democratic, and doubted whether the people would be willing to hand over so much power to an official who was not elected. He stressed, too, the fact, that the success of the plan depended altogether upon the personality of the manager, and declared that to make a success of his position the city manager must have the accuracy of an accountant, the analysis of an engineer, the logic of a lawyer, and the diplomacy of a Lloyd George. Where could such a man be obtained.

The conditions in Canadian cities, he pointed out, were altogether different than in the cities south of the border where city governments were elected simply on political lines.

Rotarian Hamilton then closed the debate and Referee Armstrong after complimenting both speakers upon their splendid efforts gave his decision to the affirmative.

PRINCE OF WALES RECEIVES CHIEFS

ACCRA, Gold Coast, West Africa, April 13.—(Canadian Press.)—After a busy Sunday, the Prince of Wales started another day of ceremonies by receiving an address from the Legislative Council which was read by the senior African member of the body.

Having received the Gold Coast legislators, the Prince went to the polo grounds, where crowds had gathered since dawn for the Royal reception of the native chiefs from the central province of the colony. The road was packed with masses of natives yelling a welcome to the Royal visitor, while the polo ground itself presented a rare picture of tropical color with forty chiefs and their retinues grouped in a great semi-circle under gorgeous canopies with a background of trees and the sea.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK $325.00.

A 21-Day Tour, Including All Expenses.

Under the personal supervision of Professor Sinclair Laird, Dean of the School for Teachers, MacDonald College, P.O., Quebec, a special train will leave Toronto Union Station at 2.15 p.m., Monday, July 20th, 1925, en route to Victoria, via Canadian Pacific, through Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise and Vancouver, and thence by steamer across Puget Sound to Victoria, the famous Canadian resort.

The return trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, Kootenay Lake, Windermere Bungalow Camp, by motor from Windermere to Banff over the 104-mile newly completed Banff - Windermere Highway with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps, with a full day at Banff, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, Kenora. From Fort William to Port McNicoll by the C.P.R. Great Lakes steamers and by rail to Toronto will complete this interesting and varied trip.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to anyone desiring to go. The train will consist of the most modern equipment. The cost is for one person only occupying a lower berth. Proportionate fares from all points in Eastern Canada. The charge includes rail, steamer and sleeping car fares, hotel and bungalow camp accommodation, meals, sight-seeing tours and all gratuities.

A descriptive booklet giving details of the trip will be gladly mailed upon request to Dean Laird or any Canadian Pacific Agent. As the party is limited to 150 it is advisable to make reservations early.

BRIAND NEEDS MORE TIME TO FORM CABINET

Asks President Doumergue For Longer Time to Select Ministers.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE.

PARIS, April 13.— (Canadain Press.)—M. Briand, who yesterday was intrusted with the task of organizing a new cabinet, called on President Doumergue this morning and asked for more time in which to select his ministers.

M. Briand went to the Elysee Palace to give an account of the results of his efforts to form his eighth cabinet. He made an appointment to meet the President again at six o'clock to-night.

The Socialists are opposing former Premier Briand's efforts to form a new ministry and are using passive resistance, which is showing its effectiveness in the request of M. Briand for more time.

Their leading organ declares flatly this morning that the new ministry must be organized either by Premier Herriot or by the opposition, and that if the left bloc remains in power M. Herriot is their logical and only possible leader.

BUFFALO GARAGE MAN CHASES HIS WIFE TO CAMPBELLFORD AND CARRIES HER OFF HOME

GOT $7,000, TOO.

Local Man Was Innocent Victim of Family Quarrel—Car Smashed.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 13—H. Patterson, a wealthy garage man in Buffalo, captured his runaway wife in Campbellford Saturday afternoon and after somewhat forcible persuasion, prevailed upon her to return to her home across the line. Incidentally he recovered $7,000 which his provident spouse had taken with her to sustain her on her travels. The two left by auto for Buffalo and this town has probably seen the last of them. Mrs. Patterson was found in company with some local people and for a time it looked as if a number of arrests would be made but the matter was finally settled without an appeal to the authorities.

First Chapter of Romance

Ward Hubble, whose parents live on the farm of Robert Bertrand in Seymour West, resides in Buffalo and works in the Patterson garage where, it seems, he has had opportunities to meet the wife of his employer. Ward wrote last week to his parents informing them that he intended to auto from Buffalo for the purpose of spending the Easter holidays with his relatives here. He also sent word to a married sister in Warkworth asking her and her husband to join a family reunion at the homestead on Easter Sunday. Ward arrived at the home of his parents Friday afternoon accompanied by a brother whom he had pick? ed up as he passed through Norwood.

Mrs. Patterson Appears

Early Friday afternoon Mrs. Patterson, who had crossed on the boat from Rochester to Cobourg, telephoned from the latter place to the Hubble home ,asking if Ward was there. She was informed that he had not yet arrived but that he was expected later in the day. Mrs. Patterson then asked that be be told of her arrival in Cobourg and desired that he call at that town to bring her to his home.

A Family Party

As soon as Ward arrived he was given Mrs. Patterson's message and that same evening, accompanied by several members of his family, autoed to Cobourg and returned with her, Mrs. Patterson being received and welcomed as a guest in the Hubble home.

A Trip to Campbellford

On Saturday afternoon another family party was made up for an auto trip to Campbellford, this party including Ward Hubble and Mrs. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Hubble, Ward's parents, and R. Bertrand, who lives in one of the two houses on the farm which he owns and leases to the Hubbles. Mr. Bertrand had intended driving to town on business in his own rig but had been offered and accepted a ride with the Hubbles.

So far everything was orthodox and the holiday spirit prevailed in they party but little they dreamed they crossed the bridge from the west side that trouble was waiting for them just around the corner.

The Husband Appeared.

Two strangers in a high power American car arrived in Campbellford about noon Saturday and drove up and down the streets, apparently more interested in the occupants of autos and the pedestrians on the sidewalks than in the various points of interest in town. It transpired later that the driver of the car was the husband of Mrs. Patterson and that his companion was a detective.

The Cars Clash.

Patterson sighted the Hubble car as it crossed Front street going east on Bridge street and at once gave chase, overhauling it before it had proceeded a block. He drove past it and wheleed his own auto across the road directly in front of Hubble who was obliged to come to a stop. Another auto, belonging to William Hay, which was parked on Bridge street, was run into by one of the other cars in the mix-up and the fender was broken. Later the man from Buffalo, without a sign of portest, paid $5, the local garage man's bill for fixing Hay's car.

Patterson was belligerent when he got out of his car and one of his first utterances was an opprobrious epithet, which he applied to Hubble.

"You have my wife with you in that car," he continued, "and I want her."

Mrs. Patterson refused at first to leave the Hubble car, and her husband was obliged to use considerable force in removing her. Mrs. Hubble demanded the arrest of Patterson on account of the term which he applied to her son and which would be held as actionable in any court in America. As the chief of police is on duty all night he was not on hand at the time. The only representative of the law in sight was Andrew Haig, bailiff in the Division Court. He conducted the parties to the office of Magistrate Payne, but that official had left on Thursday on a trip to the United States.

Lawyer Takes a Hand.

The parties next went to the office of a local lawyer who, after listening to both sides of the story, advised Patterson that as his wife had apparently come to the country of her own will and by herself, the case could not be regarded as either abduction or elopment, so that no charge could be made against Hubble. That ended the impending legal proceedings and Mrs. Patterson finally consented to return home with her husband and the Hubbles, too, left town soon afterwards.

Let your little boy play in the dirt and he may be a divorce case lawyer when he grows up.

DAYLIGHT SAVING IS LIVE ISSUE TO FARM AS WELL AS IN THE CITY

Lots of city folk asked on Saturday night, "What have the outsiders got to say about daylight saving for Peterborough?"

The answer—and the reason for The Examiner's ballot in the country—is found in Alderman Denne's remarks at last Monday's meeting of the City Council. He told his colleagues of the interdependence of city and country; of the awkward situation the potential country trader is in when he wishes to trade in a city under the daylight saving plan, and of the need city merchants have for country business.

What have the farmers to say about it?

The people of Peterborough want to know whether Alderman Denne was right and whether daylight saving would actually mean a loss in dollars and cents.

The Aldermen want to know.

It will be better all around if everybody knows.

The Examiner is endeavouring to ascertain the facts.

All the ballots will be carefully considered and counted by an independent committee. The results will be made known as soon after next Saturday as the task of counting is completed.

There is no legal power in this vote — it will not bring or prevent daylight saving in Peterborough. But it will show how farmers view the question.

The ballot box is just inside the Examiner office. Ballots sent by mail should be marked "daylight saving." Voting closes on Saturday at 10 o'clock.

Here is today's ballot:

For Daylight Saving.....

Against Daylight Saving.....

If the council decides in favor, I would prefer daylight saving in the months I have marked..	May	June	July
	August	Sept.	2

Will you stop trading in Peterborough if daylight saving is adopted? (Yes or no)

Will you work on daylight saving if the city adopts it? (Yes or no)

Name .....

Address ..... (Not for publication)

Letters from farmers on the subject will be published by the Examiner if short. A pen name may be used, but the letter must also bear a signature. Long letters cannot be used.

STORM DIMMED HOUSE LIGHTS

Campbellford Left Without Illumination Last Night—Heavy Snow Blamed.

EASTER SERVICES.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 13. — The electric lights failed here about 9.30 last night, and at an early hour this morning the town lay in complete darkness. A heavy fall of wet snow that clung to everything it touched, began early in the evening, and when the churches were dismissed the congregations found snow nearly four inches deep on the sidewalks. The storm ceased just as the lights went off as if it had accomplished its purpose.

A broken line caused the trouble. The weight of snow on the wires was more than they could stand, but a gang of men was soon at work repairing the damages. Such accidents are rare in Campbellford, and a number of residents who did not consider it worth while to prepare for such a contingency, found themselves without lights of any kind. About midnight it was announced that there was little chance of the service being restored before morning.

Special Easter services were held in all the churches yesterday, the choirs rendering suitable musical programmes, and all of the edifices being beautifully decorated with flowers.

There was a handsome floral display in the Methodist Church, the gift of Miss Dorothy Heath, now of Windsor, who donated the flowers as a memorial to her brother David, who made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War.

In the afternoon the Sunday School session was adjourned to the church, where an Easter programme of special interest to the young people was rendered.

Rev. W. G. Richardson, of Deseronto, was the preacher at St. Andrew's, morning and evening. The table in front of the choir gallery was beautifully banked with flowers, appropriate to the season, and the choir rendered a number of Easter anthems at both services. In the morning a special feature of the musical programme was a selection by the younger girls in the choir, assisted by twelve members of the Sunday School.

The meeting of the Young People's Society for to-night has been postponed on account of the holiday.

A special children's service was held in Christ Church at 3 p.m., when the Sacrament of Baptism was administered.

"Three Glad Surprises" was the theme of the Easter sermon preached in the Baptist Church by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Ford.

LINDSAY MACHINE TELEPHONE CLOSES

LINDSAY, April 13.— The Canadian Machine Telephone Company, which has been in the hands of the assignee for some time, is about to dismantle its plant in Lindsay and close the local office. The company has been in operation in Lindsay for about two years, and its plant was a modern one in every respect, its wiring service in the business section being in conduits. The trouble with the company appears to have been due to the fact that it was unable to secure a front line service. Peterborough happened to be one of the first places in which the company opened up an agency. Mr. F. D. Mackay, formerly of Peterborough, is general manager of the company, while Mr. D. E. H. Lee, formerly of Peterborough, is manager of the Lindsay branch.

HEAVY SNOWFALL MARKED EASTER

Hastings Had Several Kinds of Weather—Special Church Services.

HASTINGS, April 13. — Many different kinds of weather prevailed on Easter Sunday. In the morning the sun shone beautifully and in the afternoon a cold drizzly rain came down together with a little snow. In the evening a heavy snow storm came down. Here in Hastings about 7 inches of snow fell. It was a very heavy snow and stuck to everything, bearing down the telephone wires, and making motoring almost impossible. Later on it changed again, and became colder and calm and clear. A few flashes of lightning were seen, and rumblings of thunder were also heard.

Easter Services.

Special Good Friday service was held in St. George's Anglican Church in the morning, and in the evening Passion pictures were shown in the Parish hall.

On Sunday the usual Easter services were held and a beautiful Easter anthem, was rendered by the choir, "Christ our Passover," by Vandyke. The altar was prettily decorated with spring and Easter flowers.

In St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, on Sunday special music was given; a duet, "Alone," was rendered by Misses Helen and Jean Dodd. The text was taken from John 20:13: "They have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid Him." In the evening "The Empty Tomb" was rendered by the choir and the text was from John 16: 20, 22. "Ye shal be sorrowful, but your sorrow shall be turned into joy. "And you now therefore have sorrow but I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoice and your joy no man taketh from you."

HUSBAND AND WIFE FOUND SHOT DEAD

Believed Mrs. Wrenn Shot Her Husband as He Sat at Breakfast.

CLEVELAND, Ohio., April 13. — (Canadian Press). — The bodies of H. B. P. Wrenn, assistant electrical engineer for the Cleveland Union Terminal Company and his wife, Isabella, 51 years of age, were found yesterday morning in their apartment. Both had died from bullet wounds.

It is the theory of the police that Mrs. Wrenn shot her husband on Friday morning and then committed suicide. Wrenn's body was found at the breakfast table in the sun room, a half grape fruit before him and the morning paper propped up by the coffee cup.

YOUTH CHARGED.

Eighteen Year Old Ernest Rhodes Held For Girl's Death.

LONDON, April 13. — (Canadian Press). — Scotland Yard authorities have announced that Ernest Rhodes, an 18 year old youth, is being held charged with the murder of Grace Blakaller, pretty 16 year old dancing teacher, who was found with her throat cut on Thursday night in the West Kensington district and who died yesterday.

Jealousy is given as the supposed motive of the crime.

PRESENTATION AT GORE'S LANDING

Miss Maud Neill is Leaving Village Following Death of Her Mother.

COBOURG, April 13.—On Tuesday evening about forty citizens of Gore's Landing assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fowlie to present Miss Maud Neill with gifts before she left the village, and to convey to her their good wishes. Miss Neill was bereaved recently by the death of her aged mother, the late Mrs. Charles Neill, and is breaking up the home and leaving the village for the present. At an opportune moment S. Pomeroy read an address, and Mrs. Jos. Harris presented Miss Neill with a beautiful club bag, silk umbrella and $10 in gold. Miss Neill was much surprised, but made an appropriate reply, thanking all for their kindness and evidences of regard. The address was as follows:

"Dear Miss Neill.—Our meeting at this home to-night is occasioned by our learning of your removal from our midst in the near future, and our thoughts are mingled with joy and sorrow. Your recent bereavement has been felt by us all, and we shall never forget the influence of your home. We have come to express our deep appreciation of all your efforts in church and community life.

"You have been unstinting in your endeavor to do what you could to help the work of the Master, and we believe that the faithful will receive their reward. You have also been a friend and neighbor to us all and words fail us to adequately express the sentiments within us. We pray that the blessing of God may be with you on your achievement elsewhere, and we can assure you that you will not be forgotten but that you will find a welcome in our hearts and to our homes in Gore's Landing.

As a token of the esteem in which we regard you, we ask you to accept these little gifts, and though they do not represent a fortune in currency, yet we hope you will regard the kindness of your friends as going with them, and that you will remember in your life in other places, that you will be greatly missed in our community.

"Signed on behalf of your many friends."

CANNING FACTORY EXPECTED IN TWEED

Farmers Plant Bushels of Seed Peas in Anticipation of Cannery.

TWEED, April 13.— About a week ago a representative of Hogg and Lytle, Picton, was through the country taking orders for peas, and on Wednesday a shipment of 420 bushels came to Tweed. A canning factory is starting here, it is said, and the farmers are becoming interested.

The Tweed band journeyed to Sulphide one night last week and held a splendid practice. A number of the Sulphide men are in the band.

The Catholic Women's League of Stoco, has put on a guessing contest as to the cost of the new presbytery of Stoco, recently finished. The presbytery is a fine stone building. A good number of tickets have been sold.

A number of citizens around town have been fined this week owing to neglect of putting on 1925 markers on their cars.

The Women's Missionary Society held a special service in the church Good Friday afternoon.

The front street has been cleaned during the week and a great improvement has been made.

A number from here attended the Dumbells at the Griffin Theatre, Belleville, Thursday.

All the farmers are welcoming the lovely weather and are taking advantage of it by ploughing and cultivating.

School closed Thursday for the Easer holidays. Miss Henry of the High school staff, went to her home in Toronto and Miss J. Harris to Queensboro.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. McGie and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Garrett attended the funeral of the late John McGee in Belleville on Thursda.

Miss Wickes, field secretary of the Upper Canada Tract Society, canvassed the town last week in the interest of that work.

Dr. J. J. Robertson and son Jack of Belleville, spent Wednesday in town.

Ed. Lawrence of Alden, N.Y., is visiting his sisters and brother here.

Mrs. Will McCallum of Kingston, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Micks.

Rev. James Rattray, of Perth, a former pastor of St. Andrew's church, will take charge of the services on Easter Sunday.

HAPPY PARTY'S GRUESOME FIND

Body of Suicide Lay by the Roadside Near Cobourg.

NO INQUEST.

COBOURG, April 13. — A party of young people on their way home from attending a shower for a bride on Friday night, made a gruesome discovery near Honeywell's Hill, in the finding of the dead body of John Cochrane, his throat having been cut.

Cochrane, who was about 70 years of age, had been in poor health for a considerable length of time.

Cochrane had been an inmate of the County House of Refuge for some months this winter, which institution he left about a week ago.

Coroner Dr. G. M. Ferris, of Cobourg, deemed an inquest unnecessary.

TORONTO, Ont.—According to the publishers of the Toronto Directory, the city's population is 641,780.

Get the Most from Life—Have the Vigor and Strength to Do

"Since it is necessary for normal metabolism that the greater number of calories of body heat be produced by carbohydrate foods, it is essential that some kind of cereal food form a part of the daily food allowance."

—Food and Its Preparation.

Grape-Nuts gives you the carbohydrates in the most easily digested and most nourishing form. Three-fourths of the content of Grape-Nuts are the precious carbohydrates.

"Mastication is an important part of digestion, and when foods are not thoroughly masticated, additional work is required of the stomach, which is usually an over-worked organ because of doing the work of the mouth as well."

—Human Foods.

Grape-Nuts is in a form that makes you chew. This makes your mouth do its work which, if it doesn't do, your stomach must do in addition to its own.

Post Health Products

MOST of the present-day ills are traceable to faulty diet—to the failure of the body to receive proper nourishment from its food. Too much is eaten today of foods which are difficult for the body to handle: foods which are never properly digested and absorbed, and consequently remain in the body to produce harmful acids and poisons.

If you would get the most from life, if you would keep yourself strong and vigorous, be careful that you give your body sufficient nourishment in a form it can easily digest. A plentiful supply of easily assimilated carbohydrates is most essential.

Grape-Nuts is made from whole wheat and malted barley. Three-fourths of Grape-Nuts is these precious carbohydrates. Long, slow baking has turned them into dextrins—a form that yields every ounce of their nourishment to your body quickly and easily!

Serve Grape-Nuts often with milk or cream. You're sure to like its novel, nut-like flavor and its crisp "crunchiness". Grape-Nuts is ready to eat right from the wax-wrapped package. Costs very little, too—four teaspoonfuls, sufficient for each serving, costs less than one cent. Ask your grocer for it.

IMMIGRATION.

The Independent Labour Party of Ontario at its annual meeting in Hamilton on Friday took a very strong stand on the question of immigration, unanimously passing a resolution that immigration should not be encouraged while there is a shortage of work for those already in Canada.

With the logic of that view it is difficult to quarrel.

In the last three years the Federal Government has spent $11,000,000 in bringing 350,000 immigrants into Canada, while it is said that in the same period 450,000 Canadian artizans left for the United States.

To keep on bringing factory workers and mechanics here under present conditions would be folly, and the Labour party's idea of a quota system based on the man-power needs of the industrial and agricultural interests of the country is well worth attention.

So, too, is their suggestion that the Federal Cabinet should contain a minister of immigration.

There is need of a minister who would be in a position to devote his whole time to the duties of the office.

REGISTERING DRIVERS.

Although the amendment making it necessary for all drivers of motor cars to be registered was passed by the Legislature, the change will not come into effect this year, the Government having accepted the suggestion from W. E. Sinclair, the Liberal leader, that the enactment of this measure to commence on July 1st, as was first proposed, would cause much trouble in the farming districts.

The registration of drivers will therefore not be obligatory until January 1st—which means that motorists will be registered and licensed at the same time that the markers are issued.

The delay will be appreciated.

As Mr. Sinclair pointed out, the bringing of the Act into force without much warning would have led to difficulties.

In a sudden emergency the hired man would not be able to drive into town in his employer's car because he had failed to register, or some officious constable would take into tow some well-meaning driver who had been too busy to file his name with the department.

By postponing the registration until the beginning of next year ample notice will be given to drivers generally throughout the Province of what the new regulation is, and there will be much less confusion than had the amendment been brought into force this year.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Recognizing that daylight saving, in spite of the action of the Council in turning down the plan last week, is still a live topic of discussion among the citizens generally, the Examiner is giving its readers a chance to express their views on the question.

Every night this week a ballot will be printed in the Examiner by which the citizens are asked to vote for or against the measure, in order that a fair test may be made of public opinion on this controversial matter.

It will be noticed that there is not only a ballot for urban residents, but also for those living in the rural districts, the idea being to obtain, if possible, an accurate survey of the sentiment of both city and country.

This straw vote means nothing to the Examiner; it is being taken merely as a service to the people of the city and district, and if they do not care to take advantage of the opportunity provided by this means we will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that we offered an equitable way of showing the general view of this question.

A large vote would afford a very valuable test, and if the citizens generally are as much interested either one way or the other in daylight saving as they appeared to be before the matter was taken up in Council, they will avail themselves of the simple machinery provided by the Examiner.

HOW TO MURDER WITH IMPUNITY.

A notorious bandit and gunman has been condemned to death in the State of Connecticut for the cold-blooded murder of a policeman, says the Montreal Star. Before his trial for murder, he had already been sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment in the Federal Prison at Atlanta for a mail robbery. Now efforts are being made to discover if the law requires him to serve the balance of his former sentence before paying the penalty for the murder he committed.

It is one of those amazing opera bouffe developments that cause strangers to wonder what principles lie behind the administration of law in the United States. Of course, the law has really nothing to do with it. The law has said its say, and leaves the execution of its mandate to the responsible officials. But the American passion for precedents prompts this investigation—by the authorities of the Federal Department of Justice, be it noted—to discover if any warrant exists for delaying the execution of the condemned man for a mere twenty odd years.

Should such a precedent finally be unearthed—and anything is possible in such a case—then a very great step will have been taken to facilitate a campaign of murder throughout the United States. All a murderously inclined bandit will require to do is to get himself sentenced to a life term in some State, get out on bail pending an appeal, go ahead merrily with his murder, and then return for the hearing of the appeal; confident that his neck is safe. It is a prospect that would have attracted the close attention of the late W. S. Gilbert, and the late Sir Arthur Sullivan would undoubtedly have discovered some illustrative lilting melody that would set off so essentially bizarre and diverting a theme.

But there will be a tremendous increase in the sale of revolvers to 100 per cent. Americans if the condemned bandit continues to live at Atlanta at the public expense.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

While there is general approval of the idea that the Legislature should not waste time in useless debates and the discussion of academic matters, it is doubtful whether that approval will be extended to the feat of the Queen's Park legislators in galloping through 75 bills, many of them of great importance, on the last day of the session, in order to get through before Easter.

The redistribution bill was one of the measures that was hurried through in the expiring hours of the session.

It is difficult to justify the haste with which this most vital legislation was passed.

It could quite easily have been held over until next session to allow its provisions to be digested, in view of the fact that no election is in sight.

Yet the bill which wipes out East Middlesex, Centre Grey, West Bruce, one of the Norfolks, Centre Huron, one of the Wellingtons, merges the Northumberlands, makes one seat of the two Durhams, gives Frontenac, Lennox and Addington two seats instead of three, readjusts ridings in Lambton, Simcoe and the Wentworths, and gives additional seats to Windsor, Ottawa, Hamilton and Toronto, the latter now having fifteen representatives, was hustled by with only a few hours for consideration, as if it were an emergency measure that could not be delayed.

The Opposition members were loud in their protests against the bill itself and the haste with which it was passed, M. Lang, Liberal, describing the measure as the worst gerrymander in the history of the Province, while Hon. W. E. Raney characterized it as a wet redistribution that dovetailed with the passing of the 4.4 beer amendment.

That the increase in urban population would necessitate the granting of more representation to the larger centres and thus necessitate the cutting off of a number of the smaller rural ridings—unless the number of seats in the Legislature were increased, which nobody wanted—was recognized on all sides, but the extent to which the principle was followed leaves the Government open to attack, and the more so because little time was given the House and no time to the electors to consider the proposed changes.

THEY ARE NOT TO BLAME.

The blame for unemployment has been made the subject of controversy between the Calgary Herald and a minister of that city. From his pulpit the minister declared that it was a disgrace for a country with all the resources possessed by Canada to have within its borders an unemployed, indigent class.

The reply of the Calgary Herald was that such a condition was not a disgrace on the country, but that the blame for unemployment and its accompanying hardship is mainly the fault of the unemployed. The Herald said in part:

"A survey of the indigent situation in Alberta or any other part of Canada today would most certainly disclose the fact that by far the greater number of the out-of-work, indigent company throughout the Dominion are where and as they are because they failed while in employment to consider and make at least partial provision for a possible out-of-work period. So long as individuals are careless as to their own futures it is useless to hope for any great betterment in this respect."

The Toronto Star takes up the discussion and claims that there must be something about the condition of the unemployed with which the Calgary Herald is not familiar, because "while it may be admitted that some workers are shiftless and thriftless, yet unemployment reaches out and pulls down large numbers of workers who are as industrious and capable as men could be."

It is easy to say, adds the Star, that a workman's family, when he is in work, should save money to tide the family over periods of unemployment. It is easy to say this, and many say it. But there is such a close relation, at any period, between current wages and the current cost of living that it is extremely difficult for a workman's family to effect a saving. It can be done only when a period of employment is for a long time uninterrupted, and when by good fortune the whole family escapes illness. Then only can a man get ahead.

In this same connection there is a tendency to overwork the claim that many are unemployed because they don't want to work. There are, of course, chronic loafers, but they are a very small minority when compared with the large number of men who ask nothing more than an opportunity to go to work and work steadily at a living wage. If a doubter wanted any proof on this point he could secure it from observation of the men engaged on sewer work in London that was carried on during the winter to provide employment. Many of the men were not accustomed to such hard labor, yet there they were, on hand early in the morning, no matter how cold or drizzly the day, anxious to get a chance at three days a week, and nothing would have pleased them more than the opportunity to get a full week at a time.

It is hard enough for men of this type to be out of work without adding to their trouble the indignity contained in the charge that their condition is a result of their own lack of thrift.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Easter toggery and a combination of a blizzard and a thunderstorm made Easter Sunday of 1925 a memorable occasion.

According to Mr. Raney, redistribution simply means that nine dry seats have been butchered to make a "wet" holiday.

Trying to show how hard they had to work for that extra $600, the members of the Ontario Legislature passed 75 bills on the last day of the session.

The Toronto Telegram suggests that the Highways Department in Mr. Bigga' day did not use the loose leaf system of bookkeeping, the method then employed being loose but without any system.

In the old days the skirts were so long that nobody knew whether the women wore stockings or not. And now they offer the same puzzle, in spite of the short skirts, by reason of the colour of the hosiery.

Mr. Raney will divide the House on the indemnity question. But will he refuse to accept the extra $600 when it is passed?

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 11. — Excited buying in the wheat market to-day sent prices soaring ten cents bushel an amount rarely surpassed in a single day, even in the times of the world war. Official announcement of a probable shortage of 115,000,000 bushels in the United States production of winter wheat this season as compared with 1924 was almost entirely responsible. The wheat market closed buoyant, within quarter cent of the day's top figures at net gains of 5 3-4 to 9 3-4 cents, May 1.62 to 1.62 1-4 and July 1.46 1-4 to 1.46 1-2. Corn finished at a rise varying from 4 to 5 1-4 cent oats 1 to 1 3-8c up and provisions ranging from five cents decline to an equal advance.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, April 12 — The export business in Canadian grain here over the holiday was very quiet owing to the fact that most of the foreign markets were closed and in consequence few if any firm bids were received. The trade in cash grain on spot was also slow, but the tone of the market for oats closed much stronger in sympathy with Winnipeg and prices advanced 1 cent per bushel.

Owing to the excited condition of the Winnipeg wheat market on Saturday and the advance of 10 7-8 cents per bushel for all contract grades of cash wheat which was brought about by the very bullish crop report issued late Thursday by the United States Government on the condition of winter wheat and the esimated yield for the year 1925. A stronger feeling developed in the local flour market for Spring wheat grades and prices were advanced 20 cents per barrel which makes a net rise of 50 cents per barrel since the fifth of the month. There was no change in winter wheat flour prices announced, but the undertone to the market was stronger in sympathy with general conditions prevailing and the prospects were that they would be marked up in the near future.

EGG RECEIPTS.

The receipts of eggs in Montreal on Saturday were 3,627 cases, as against 3,415 cases for the same day last, and 3,133 cases for the corresponding day a year ago, while the arrivals for the week ending April 11, 1925, were 16,080 cases, as compared with 16,284 cases for the previous week, and 8,830 cases for the same week last year. The total receipts from May first to date were 505,794 cases, as against 645,587 cases for the same period a year ago. The receipts last week showed a decrease of 204 cases, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 7,209 cases with the same week last year, but the total from May 1, 1924, to April 11, 1925, have been 139,753 cases below the same period of 1923-24. The total stocks of eggs in cold storage in the Province of Quebec on April 1st, 1925, were 69,990 dozen, as against 44,496 dozen for the same date a year ago, and the total stocks of other grades were 227,923 dozen, as compared with 196,836 dozen last year.

The marked increase in the receipts of eggs throughout the country noted a week ago was well maintained during the past one and in

A THOUGHT.

"YE WHO FEAR DEATH, REMEMBER APRIL—"

Ye who fear death remember April
With its swords of jade on a thousand hills,
And the warm south wind that whispers
Of cornel and of purple squills.

Ye who fear death, remember April,
With its moon-white trees and the new turned sod,
And the bare brown branch that quickens
Like the soul of a saint of God.

Ye who fear death remember April!—
Earth holds the seed 'ere it comes to pass
That a white bud yields to the wind its perfumed breath,
Or stars burn gold in the tender grass.

Medical Papyrus of 1600 B.C. Tells How to Change An Old Man Into a Young Man of Twenty

Alexander J. Wall, Librarian of the New York Historical Society, said that Professor James H. Breasted had found in the Edwin Smith Medical Papyrus of 1600 B.C., which is the oldest treatise on medicine and surgery in the world, a chapter entitled, "How to Change an Old Man into a Young Man of Twenty."

The papyrus is fifteen feet long, and Professor Breasted is working from photostat copies of it. He has had difficulties in translating the technical terms used 3,500 years ago, and has not yet been able to decipher the details of this early rejuvenation process.

The papyrus is described by Dr. Breasted as being "incomparably the most important body of medical knowledge which has survived to us from ancient Egypt, or for that matter, from the Orient anywhere." The document has been for a long time in the possession of the Historical Society, but its great historic importance has only recently been appreciated, as Professor Breasted has proceeded laboriously with the translation of the text in which scientific phraseology is as profuse as in any modern medical treatise.

The passage on making old men young is not a part of the genuine scientific treatise, but was written on the back of the papyrus by one of the quacks who apparently infested the ancient medical profession.

The main text is free from mention of magic and charlatanry and, according to authorities, apparently is the work of a truly scientific man who had an amazing knowledge of real medicine. One passage which Dr. Breasted has recently translated shows that the author knew that paralysis of one side of the body was caused by a brain affection on the other side—a fact lost for more than 3,000 years and rediscovered in modern times.

"The observations recorded in the Edwin Smith medical papyrus," said Dr. Breasted in reporting to the National Academy of Science, "show that its author had already observed that control of the members and limbs of the body was localized in different sides of the brain; and the recognition of localization of functions in the brain, mostly the work of modern surgeons and others within the past generation or two, had already begun in the seventeenth century B.C., at a time when all Europe still lay in savagery or barbarism."

"Now, Herodotus reports attradition current in his day (fifth century B.C.) that the Greeks were greatly indebted to Egyptian knowledge. This tradition has, in recent times, been universally rejected; but it would seem that there was much truth in the tradition transmitted to us by Herodotus and that its complete rejection by classical prejudice is unjustifiable."

The great archæological expeditions and the reading of ancient tablets and papyrus are not only turning legends into reality and gods into men, but are slowly unfolding the whole movement or civilization from the first days to the time of written history, according to Dr. Breasted, who says:

"It has long been recognized that in the early development of Greek civilization the cities of Asia Minor took the lead. Thales, who lived in one of these cities, was an example of this early stage of Greek culture in Asia Minor. It is also evident that the inland background or Oriental culture contributed much to this early development of Greek civilization on the western fringes of Asia. It is out of this newly recovered oriental background that we are slowly regaining the earlier forerunners of Greek civilization.

"The recently discovered contemporary reference to the Trojan War is an epoch-making revelation which must react powerfully upon our treatment of ancient traditions. It at once demonstrates that such traditions must not be thrown upon the scrap heap, but rather carefully divested of gods and goddesses, prodigies and wonders, and then examined for the nucleus of sober fact upon which the legendary tale has been built up. Not credulity alone, but also historical method demands that we recognize these traditions, or the nucleus of fact to be drawn from them, as a body of sources to be restored to their proper chronological position in the succession of surviving evidences which reveal to us the past career of man on earth.

"We are the first generation of men able to survey that career without a serious break. As we marshall the evidence for its successive stages the humanists stand shoulder to shoulder with the workers in natural science, for as we look backward it is the materials and the methods of the geologists which confront us first. The geologist is succeeded by the paleontologist, the anthropologist, the anthropogeographer and the archæologist.

"It is at this point, on the borderland between the investigations of the worker in natural science and those of the humanist, that we must insert these long-discarded echoes from an age able to transmit only oral tradition, the true value of which oriental research has now interpreted to us. The Homeric songs of the Trojan War can no longer be regarded as exclusively noble literature of purely legendary content; and, in the presence of these easliest surviving monuments of science, the Greek tradition of substantial Egyptian contributions to knowledge must not be rejected as baseless. There is every possibility that the tombs of Egypt may yield us further scientific treatises like this great Edwin Smith papyrus, and we cherish the hope that the thirty-five or forty chests, boxes and caskets still lying in the innermost chamber of the tomb of Tut-ankh-Ame., with their seals unbroken, may contain written documents."

Kingston Boy Was Nearly Drowned When He Fell Off Wharf.

KINGSTON, April 13.— Harry Doyle, aged 12 years, had a very close call from being drowned when he fell off the wharf at the foot of Brock street. He was playing on the wharf with other lads. The lad's father was working on the wharf and when the alarm was raised was just in time to grab his son as he came to the surface and in this way saved his life.

CONFERENCE URGED OF ALL INDUSTRIES

TRURO, England, April 13. — J. H. Thomas, who was Secretary for the Colonies in the Labor Government, in a speech here on Sunday advocated a round table conference of the leaders in all industries, the largest employers and representatives of the trades unions in an effort to solve the unemployment problem. He was convinced that failure to find a solution meant national disaster.

The economic fact, was he said, that in ship-building the British were unable to compete with the foreigner although wages were admittedly scandalously low, and many firms were working on overhead charges alone, without any profits. Strikes were not the solution for such a situation.

He believed the greatest conception of a remedy for existing conditions was socialism, but if he had power to put socialism into operation by his vote, he declared he would refuse to do it, because the majority of people did not believe in it.

MANUFACTURED ILLNESS

Children Sidestep School When They Get Away With It.

In addition to the "chronically ill" class of people, another group, commonly known as "procrastinators" have their place in society.

Mrs. Mann learned something about these, and then she read a story which enlightened her very much.

A little girl, 8 years old, on her way to school, was taken ill. It so happened that that morning she was to take an arithmetic examination. But she was really ill and had to return home.

Several months later, while on her way to school, she again was seized with the dread of an arithmetic exam.

There was but one way out, go home and complain sick like she did the first time.

The plan worked, and all during her school days she side-stepped difficult propositions, until she actually came to the point where she believed she was ill.

After she was grown she called herself a nervous invalid. Her friends called her a procrastinator, and her doctor, who never could find any physical basis for her complaints, called her a neurasthenic.

The ability, or willingness, to face reality squarely without compromise is of supreme importance in maintaining mental health.

FIRE WAS SNUFFED

Lakefield Brigade Save Barn By Quick Response.

LAKEFIELD, April 13.— What might have been a very serious fire was averted by the prompt action in reporting it and a quick response from the Lakefield Fire Brigade on Saturday morning, when about 10:30 Mr. W. J. Little discovered that the J. C. Strickland barn on Prospect street, was on fire. He sent in the alarm and then held the blaze in check with buckets of water till the brigade appeared a few minutes later. The fire was soon over, being "nipped in the bud" by prompt measures and the damage was small.

CHANNEL COLLISION

LONDON, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—The sudden hot weather this Eastertide has caused unusually dense fogs in the English Channel and all navigation is being carried on with the greatest difficulty. Several minor accidents are reported, as well as serious delay in the liner services.

A Dover despatch reports the arrival there of the Danish steamer Martin Carl badly damaged. She was in collision with the steamer Deutschland bound for Hamburg. It is not known if the Deutschland was damaged.

CHINESE LAUNDRIES RIGHT OUT OF LUCK

Kingston Bylaw Will Stop Establishment in Residential Districts.

KINGSTON, April 13.—It now looks as if Kingston will be minus of Chinese laundries as a result of the by-law approved of by the city council. No license will be given to a Chinaman to establish a laundry in the residential district where a sufficient number of ratepayers make a protest against the establishment of such a laundry, and this will give the people of Kingston, who are opposed to the laundries, an opportunity of opposing the granting of a license and this means that quite a number of the laundries are liable to be cut off, as there is a very strong opposition on the part of citizens to have these laundries located in the residential sections.

mother of William, through her and although the deaths of the youth and Mrs. McClintock occurred in her home, there has been no charge or insinuation that she was connected with the alleged crimes.

In the earlier stages of the investigation Shepherd returned from New Mexico to face the insinuations that his ward was murdered. Mrs. Shepherd, who was reported to be ill in Albuquerque, remained there. Shepherd declared she was grief-stricken at the loss of her foster-son.

Then, with the discovery of Faiman and other witnesses, came the indictment. There had been disclosures of letters tending to show that Shepherd was not too faithful a husband.

Several letters written by him to a Miss Estelle Gehling, a nurse, were phrased in affectionate style. When they were published Mrs. Shepherd went to his defence, asserting that she knew the nurse had cared for him during his illness and he naturally would have a high regard for her. But the fact remains that she has never visted her husband in jail and there is much speculation concerning that.

THE MARKETS

consequence supplies here have been in excess of the daily requirements of the trade with the result that a weaker feeling prevailed in the market and prices scored declines amounting to 3c per dozen. The trade in a wholesale jobbing way was active owing to the fact that the consumption at this period of the year is probably larger than at any other previous one and a large volume of business was done. There has been some storing of extras, but the general demand for this purpose was for first. The feeling in trade circles on the whole is that present prices are too high for storing and an effort will be made to get prices down to a lower level in the country in the near future. A car of mixed eggs was received here this week from Winnipeg of which extras cost 29 1-2c, first 27 1-2c, and seconds 25c per dozen, F. O. B. Winnipeg.

BUTTER SHIPMENT.

The receipts of butter in Montreal for the week ending April 11, 1925, were 5,612 packages which show an in crease of 3,919 packages, as compared with the previous week, and a decrease of 654 packages with the same week last year but the total arrivals from May first to date have been 149,261 packages in excess of the corresponding period of 1923-24.

A fair amount of business was done in held creamery butter the past week there being a steady demand for supplies from both local and outside buyers and in consequence stocks on spot have been reduced some, in fact, it was stated that undergrades were now in small compass, but notwithstanding these factors an easier feeling has prevailed in the market and prices closed 1-2c per lb. lower than a week ago.

The make of fodder creamery butter up to the precent has been smaller than usual at this period owing to the large exports of cream to the United States therefore the receipts here have been small and the quality not altogether satisfactory which in some cases were sold at 32 1-2c per lb.

CHEESE RECEIPTS.

The receipts of cheese in Montreal for the week ending April 11, 1925, were 30,506 boxes which showed an in crease of 13,458 boxes, as compared with the previous week, and an increase of 27,414 boxes with the same week last year, while the total receipts from May 1, 1924, to date have been 217,711 boxes larger than a year ago.

The feature of the trade for the past week was the weaker feeling that developed in the market and prices closed 1c per lb. lower which was due to the increase in the fodder make and the fact that values here were away above export basis and the general impression in the trade is that they will have to come to still lower level in order to compete with other exporting countries. At Brockville on Thursday all the offerings were sold at 20 1-2c per lb. F. O. B. and on spot sales of odd small lots of western No 1 white and colored were made at 21c to 21 1-2c per lb, but as it is reported that the principal buyer has withdrawn from the market for the time being lower values will be the order of the day.

Beans were steady at $2.70 per bushel.

GOVERNOR'S SON IN COURT'S CARE

Fined $100 For Contributing To Delinquency of Ohio Girl.

ON JOY RIDE.

ZANESVILLE, OHIO, April — Hal Donahey, son of Governor Donahy, of Ohio, was placed in custody of the Muskingan County Probate Court on Thursday until he reaches his twenty-first birthday, as a result of his flight to Columbus, Sunday night, on a joy ride with Lillian Vogel, fifteen- year old Zanesville girl.

In addition Judge Graham imposed a fine of $100 on Hal, after he had been charged with contributing to the delinquency of the girl in inducing her to go with him to Columbus and deserting her in a rooming house there. The fine was promptly paid by James W. Huffman, executive clerk to the governor.

Judge Graham told Hal he made the fine a severe one because he did not "come clean" when first questioned as to the whereabouts of the Vogel girl, when she had been reported missing and search for her was in progress.

Girl on Probation.

The Vogel girl was charged with incorribility and truancy from school. She is a ward of the juvenile court. She was ordered to get back to her books this afternoon and was placed on strict probation.

If Hall becomes the central figure in any more escapes like the one just closed, or his conviction four weeks ago for violation of a traffic ordinance in Columbus and his stay of three days in the Columbus City Prison, he will be promptly haled back into the local juvenile court and dealt with, Judge Graham told the International News Service after he had passed sentence on the youth.

The central figure in the court was neither Hal nor Lillian, but Mrs. A. V. Donahey, wife of the Governor, who had brought her son and the girl to Zanesville to face the music.

Mother Looked Tired.

The first lady of the State looked wan and tired after the ordeal. She left for Columbus in company with Hal and Huffman soon after the fine was paid.

"I am confident there have been no immoral relations between the girl and Hal and that the automobile trip to Columbus was more the outcome of a boyish prank and taken with no reflection as to the consequeneces to either.

So Judge Graham said in passing sentence. He said he based his judgment on a study of all circumstances connected with the case and statements by Mrs. Donahey. He added:

"If I were not certain of this fact, I certainly would step on the young man before me.

"It is too bad that your father ever purchased you a machine. According to your own admissions you have too much sporting blood in you to have an automobile."

Hal began driving the car around Columbus Streets very soon after he was released from city prison, after serving his sentence for the local traffic law violation.

Patted The Girl.

Mrs. Donahey patted the little Vogel girl kindly on the arm as she bade her good-bye. She said:

"Good bye, you are a dear little girl and I hope you don't get into any further trouble."

The girl beamed her thanks.

COLUMBUS, O., April 11. — "I am grieved over the episode and hope the public will be fair in its judgment."

This was the terse comment voiced here by Governor Donahey when informed of the action taken by the Probate Court at Zanesville concerning his son, Hal.

Blankets will not shrink if washed this way—

To keep your blankets soft, fluffy and unshrunken—wash them in Lux. Blankets of fine wool, wool nap, wool and cotton—you can trust them all to the gentle Lux suds.

Wash blankets this way:

A rich live suds is essential throughout the washing of blankets. To obtain this, use two tablespoonfuls of Lux to every gallon of water in the washing.

Dissolve the Lux thoroughly in very hot water, whisking it into a thick suds. Add cold water until lukewarm. Put the blanket into the rich suds, souse it up and down, and squeeze the suds through the entire blanket. If suds die down, add more Lux, taking care that it dissolves before you put the blanket in again. Press the suds through the soiled spots if any, but never rub the blanket.

Rinse in three or more lukewarm waters, of the same temperature as the suds. Fold evenly, run through a loose wringer and hang dripping. Never wring tightly. Pull gently into shape at intervals when drying. Do not expose wet blankets to extremes of heat or cold.

Ordinary common bar soap or chips shrink wool, and coarsen and yellow it. Lux is mild and pure, and entirely free from any ingredients that could harm or shrink wool fibres. Lux keeps your blankets like new.

UNITY IS MESSAGE FROM VIMY RIDGE

Last Canadian Divisional Commander in Uniform Preaches Unity.

KINGSTON, April 13.— "The message Vimy Ridge conveys to all Canadians, particularly to us soldiers is unity. If we stand united we can accomplish great things."

General Macdonell was at the head of the glorious first division and he is now the last Canadian divisional commander still in uniform.

Perhaps you don't want your husband to insure his life. The possibility of his dying suddenly seems too awful to think about. And getting money as a result of such a tragedy offends your conscience.

Well now, do you know two widows, one left comfortably provided for by life insurance money and another left destitute? If so, ask them what they think of life insurance?

If what they say leads you to believe in life insurance—as we know it will—ask for our free booklet "Her Way Out." It will tell you about an Imperial Life Policy in which your husband can invest a few dollars each year. Then if he should die we will pay to you as long as you live—regularly—each month—a certain amount of money to keep you and the little ones from want.

As life assurance can only be obtained while one is in good health, you should write for the booklet to-day. There is no obligation involved.

EXPECT STATES TO JOIN COURT

STILL OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, April 13 (Canadian Press).—Although advocates of the adherence of the United States to the World Court express great confidence that the World Court resolution will be adopted by the Senate in the next session, there are obstacles in the way which may prevent such action. President Coolidge is expected to urge the passage of such a resolution when Congress meets again, and this fact, and the fact that the democrats in the Senate for the most part favor the World Court, have led many to conclude the United States was sure to join the tribunal inside the next year.

On the surface, chances favor the adoption of a World Court resolution, but this cannot be accomplished without difficulty. In the first place, some of the republican leaders are counselling the executive to go slow on the World Court. They are pointing out that conditions in Europe are much unsettled, and that unless there are more signs of a political adjustment in Europe next fall than there are now, it may be unwise on the part of the administration to make joining of the court a serious feature of its programme at the next session.

While the advocates of the Court, many of whom are also advocates of the League of Nations, are trying to stir up sentiment in accordance with their views, the opponents of the Court—or rather opponents of the League of Nations, who look on the Court as a sort of appendage to the League—are not entirely inactive.

Senator Borah, for instance, who did much to block entrance of the United States into the League of Nations, has already begun making speeches in which he is advising his fellowcitizens to steer clear of all entanglements with Europe. He is opposing the Geneva protocol, and opposing the World Court unless radically revised. He will make a series of speeches, in which he will present his views and these may have an important effect on public sentiment. Moreover, Senator Borah, as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, will be in a position to influence, in large measure, action in the Senate next session, and will, unquestionably, have powerful backing.

In the time of Queen Elizabeth a law was passed that no new building could be erected within three miles of London.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. 40c and 75c, at all druggists.

LADIES' AID HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

MILLBROOK, April 13. — The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church held its annual meeting last week, with about twenty five members in attendance. As this was the final meeting of this character before United Church becomes an established fact, after June 10th, special significance was attached to the occasion.

Miss M. Needham, who has been the efficient president for a number of years past, occupied the chair while the year's business was wound up.

The secretary, Mrs. Ross Edmunds reported nine regular meetings held during the year with a total attendance of 248, an average of about 28. There are sixtey seven names enrolled at present, a number somewhat smaller than in previous years, removals and deaths being responsible for the lessened membership. One death, and one removal were reported for the year just closed.

The Aid aimed at raising $600.00 during the past year, and the treasurer's report, presented by Miss May Duncan, showed that nearly $750.00 was the amount raised. Not in many years has the Society been successful in having as large a sum to its credit. The fowl, dinner, and two day's bazaar, last fall, the recent Men's banquet and the distribution of "Silver Trees," which bore as fruit ten dimes, were among the means employed to reach the objective aimed at. Twenty eight dollars have so far come in from the 'Trees' and some of these have yet to be accounted for.

In taking charge for the election of officers, the pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, expressed his warm, personal appreciation of the excellent work which the Ladies' Aid is accomplishing and also explained some changes likely to be made when the Methodish Church in Canada ceases to exist in June of this year.

The officers for the ensuing year are:

President, Miss May Needham.

1st Vice President, Mrs. A. J. Brown.

2nd Vice President, Mrs. J. McKnight.

Secretary, Mrs. Ross Edmunds.

Treasurer, Miss May Duncan.

Pianist, Miss Duncan.

Parsonage Committee: Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. G. Locke, Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. J. L. Byam, Mrs. R. H. Edmunds.

Last year, the Aid had the exterior of the parsonage painted, and also gave some financial assistance for necessary changes within doors. One hundred dollars was contributed to the annual church thank offering, and in February two hundred dollars was presented to the trustee booard to enable them to pay off a note. As soon as weather permits, the church outside doors will be freshly grained, the circular steps painted, and a railing support necessary. The matter was left in the hands of the parsonage committee.

Afternoon tea was served at the close, the tables being appropriately centered with Easter lillies, and a most enjoyable social hour was spent before the gathering was finally dismissed.

Concert was Enjoyed.

The concert given by the Peterborough Sympony Orchestra, in the Armouries on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Cosmos Club, proved a most enjoyable event.

The attendance was smaller than it should have been considering the quality of the entertainment provided, but other local events intervening probably accounted for the fact that only about thre-quarters of the seating accomodation was occupied.

Dr. C. Alvin Richards, President of the Cosmos Club, made a brief opening address, giving some account of the honors which have come to Professor Gliddon, and the members of the orchestra, during the past two years, and leaving the remainder of the evening entirely in their hands.

Twice during the programme Miss Mathilde Masson delighted the audience with her vocal selections which included, "The Dream," and "There are Fairest the Bottom of the Garden," in the first half, and "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," and "Philosophy, in the concluding section of the entertainment.

Violin solos by Miss Winnie Evans were warmly encored, as was also the somewhat unusual number, a bassoon solo, an interpretation of and Old English song, "Lucy Long," by Mr. Hully, with orchestral accompaniment. Prolonged applause greeted the cornet solo, "A Dream of Paradise," by Mr. Minicolo, which also was accompanied by the orchestra.

Besides the opening selection by the entire orchestra, the numbers which won most favor from the audience were: "Nazareth," an Easter overture, and "In a Monastery Garden," though the enjoyment of the listeners was manifest every time Professor Gliddon announced that the orchestra would play.

This was the second occasion that the Symphony Orchestra has been heard in Millbrook, and no doubt exists as to the popularity of the organization in the community.

Wont Entertain Proposition.

The council, at its last regular meeting, decided not to entertain the proposition to have the Rotary Oil Burner Company locate in Millbrook Due consideration was given the various phases of the project, which is, however, not feasible at the present time.

A. Payne, of Toronto, is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Payne, for Easter holiday.

ARMAMENT MEET MUCH DISCUSSED

Feeling in Washington That It Will Not Be Held.

SENATE WILL BALK

WASHINGTON, April 13 (Canadian Press).—The proposed international conference for the reduction of armament is discussed with much frankness in Senate circles, and there is much outspoken comment to the effect the conference will either not be held or will fail. Among some of the members of the Foreign Relations Committee, there is pronounced scepticism over the proposed conference.

This view is held partly because of the feeling that unless land armament is included in the conference, it will not succeed—and there is no present sign that it will be included. And there is also another reason. It is felt in many quarters here that if there is a conference, France will endeavor to promote the idea of guarantees of her security and also cancellation of her debt to the United States. The United States will not go into any agreement to guarantee the security of any European power, and as for the cancellation of the debt, whatever this government may do eventually, it will not now consent to cancellation or partial cancellation. Nor is there any sign that sentiment is growing in this country for cancellation. On the other hand, some authorities hold the trend is in the opposite direction.

Another element in the situation is the feeling of antagonism to the conference among a number of the leading advocates of a big navy in Congress. They do not view with complacence the further reduction of the U.S. navy. They charge the United States got the worst end of the transaction in the Harding administration conference.

They will look askance on any further reductions, and it is not unconceivable that even if the executive gets an agreement for naval reductions, the Senate will balk and refuse to confirm it.

HERE'S THE LATEST—COD LIVER OIL IN TASTELESS TABLETS

Greatest Flesh Builder For Skinny, Weak, Run-Down People—Full of Vitamines

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamine food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of cough syrup.

Thin, run-down, anaemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor; another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. Warne Drug Co., McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch, or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets—and don't forget that they are wonder workers for feeble old folks.

"Only One Romance in My Life,

Ernst Vajda and his wife.

By MILTON BRONNER.

LONDON, April 13.—"There is only one romance in my life and I have never written a play about it. I have lived it, am living it. The heroine is my wife, who is my sweetheart, my manager, my pal, and the mother of our young son. It's the kind of thing you don't write plays about, because it is too intimate, too personal, and also because merely happy people, living an ordinary life, don't make the material for plays."

It was Ernst Vajda talking—Vajda, the young Hungarian playwright whose "Fata Morgana," "Grounds for Divorce," "The Harem" and other plays have made him the most acted and the best remnuerated author of theatrical pieces today.

At present his plays are being shown in New York and all over America, in London, Berlin, Budapest, Madrid, Vienna, Moscow and in the big Scandinavian cities.

Vajda, who is good looking and dark, was accompanied by his wife who is young, beautiful and blonde. Ours was a double-barreled interview, for Vajda would start to talk and then Friend Wife would cut in with something interesting. Hubby talked in German, wifey in English.

Erno, as his wife calls him, was considerably perturbed by the report that has become widespread in New York that "Fata Morgana" was really the story of his own early youth.

"I have denied that story until I am tired of it," he said earnestly. "But they will keep on printing it. The play was born of pure fantasy. For as long as I can remember I have been in love with the lady who did me the honor to become my wife. I was a university lad when she was a school girl."

"I taught him to read English and German," said his wife.

"And I promptly proposed to my teacher," said her husband. "She knew a lot of languages and she undertook to give me the key to the great books of America, England and Germany. My wife takes the same intimate part in my present-day work. When I write she is always in the room.

"And as a piece is written I read to her the lines to see what she thinks of them."

Friend Wife: "And I am a very severe critic I may tell you."

"If a thing goes over with her," said Vajda (pronounced Voyda), "I have hopes of it striking the public the same way.

"My present success seems like a dream. For years I was a working newspaper man in Budapest. And nothing seemed to prosper. Then suddenly everything turned to gold and play after play was presented and succeeded.

"My wife is responsible for the title of my play 'Grounds for Divorce.' She was only 17 when I married her. She hadn't stopped growing. A year or so later when we measured I found that she had actually grown taller than I. She exclaimed teasingly that this was 'Grounds for Divorce.' And out of that intriguing title grew the play.

"I have read so much about America and the American critics have been so generous to me and Americans I have met in Europe—especially Grace George, Avery Hopwood and Morris Gest—have been so kind that I hope to go to America some day.

"I have a very definite image of what America is like because I have read so much about your country and have so many pictures of your big cities. When am I going—?"

Friend Wife: "Erno never goes any place unless I drag him there. He is perfectly content to sit in his library, read books, write a little, or look out at the Danube and dream.

"Some fine day, maybe next October, I will not consult him. I will get American visas on our passports, buy railway tickets to the nearest sea port and berth on some vessel going to New York."

"That's how she manages me," said Vajda with boyish pride.

"You are almost like an American husband," I remarked.

"That is a compliment!" exclaimed Vajda and his Missus in chorus.

BEN TURPIN TO QUIT THE SCREEN

LOS ANGELES, April 13—Ben Turpin, motion picture comedian, Thursday announced that he has decided to quit the screen. His retirement was made imperative, he explained, by the serious illness of his wife, who recently suffered two strokes of apopiexy.

According to his friends, Turpin is doing his own housework to be near his sick wife, who cannot stand his absence and becomes irritated at the servants.

Her Wonderful Teeth

Remove the dingy film that's clouding yours and you'll be surprised that your teeth are just as white and charming as any one's—make this unique test.

Here is a simple test that proves the truth that most of us have pretty teeth without ever knowing we have, or ever revealing it.

This is the reason:

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and constantly combat it. It is ever present, ever forming.

Old-time dentifrices were unable to combat it successfully And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

Mail the coupon for a 10-day tube free. Or, buy a full size tube at any druggist's today. See what beauty lies beneath the film on your teeth.

MOTHER GOOSE FINDS DEFENDERS READY TO FIGHT FOR OLD RHYMES

DON'T SEE PLOT.

Mother Goose today appears to be fighting with her back to the wall for the preservation of an erstwhile impeccable reputation. She is accused of fostering laziness and disrespect in the young, of resorting to the rod instead of to reason, and is accused by Mother Stoner on some sixty other counts. But, despite the contention of a few writers that Mother Goose is not all that she should be, the fact remains that in public school readers used throughout the country there are to be found all the well-known Mother Goose tales. Upward of 9,176,552 children are today reading these stories, or rewritten versions of them, in regular public school curriculum.

In the private schools of New York City the Mother Goose reader is generally used also, only two or three schools admitting they have discarded it.

The recent onslaught against old Mother Goose seems to have brought out more testimony of all kinds in favor of than against this greatly beloved story-teller. Most educators are of the opinion, even admitting some of the charges made by the enemies of Mother Goose, that the stories cannot possibly harm young children. For, they say, a child does not respond to the power of suggestion in the printed word, not at least until he has outgrown his Mother Goose reader. Children learn by sound and rhythm. They do not bother about the meaning of the words in a jingle. What attracts them, according to mothers and teachers, is the emphasis—the accent or beat of the word combination they say over and over again to themselves.

One of the best arguments for Mother Goose, say some, is that she has survived so long, with an equal popularity with each succeeding generation. And Mother Goose is still a best seller.

Not the Text That Attracts.

The position she holds in the various experimental schools in the city depends somewhat upon the system of teaching in these schools. In the Lincoln School of Teachers College, at 425 West 123d Street, the experimental work of which has attracted educators from all parts of the country, the Mother Goose book is used along with a dozen other readers. According to Dr. Otis W. Caldwell, director of the school, Mother Goose is not used as a basic reader so much as for its imagery and literary value.

"It is impossible to analyze the Mother Goose stories on the basis of scientific fact," said Dr. Caldwell. "They are valuable for other qualities. They stimulate the imagination and are used with other jingle books in all elementary schools. Mother Goose may perhaps be called a supplementary reader. The child is attracted by the rhythm of it, not by the literal text. This does not mean that a child with an interest in facts does not like Mother Goose stories."

One of Dr. Caldwell's assistants told the story of Jules. Jules was a little Russian boy with a factual mind. When he first came to school he had never heard of Mother Goose. One day his teacher told him one of the stories. Then he began to read them himself. He read all of them, and reread them, and finally could hardly be torn from the entrancing pages long enough for other work. According to Jules there were no such fine stories in Russia.

At the Lincoln School children do not enter until they are 6, after most of them have been introduced to Mother Goose. By this time they are more interested in what they themselves are doing than in anything else, and these experiences are put into story form.

"We encourage them to tell and to write about what they do," said a first-grade teacher. "These stories are used not to the exclusion of Mother Goose and other readers, but along with them."

According to Miss Annie Moore, instructor at Teachers College in the course of literature for children, there is no substitute for Mother Goose.

"In Mother Goose the child gets his first sociology," said Miss Moore. "It gives him a picture of old English society. He is introduced to kings and queens, to squires, cooks and farmers. This is his first acquaintance with social life, to him especially a new social life. He finds himself in the environment of palaces, dairies, lanes and cottages. Here are his first animal stories. Most of them are about domestic animals, animals he knows—the cow, the dog and the cat. There is only one fabricated animal in Mother Goose and that is the unicorn. There are very few wild animals mentioned.

"There are as lovely lyrics in Mother Goose, as you will find," continued Miss Moore, "the narrative, lyric, pastoral and the dramatic. The A B C verses and the riddle verses are good. Although the modern mother may not believe in teaching her child the alphabet as did mothers in the past there is something to be said for the Mother Goose A B C.

"Then if Mother Goose is to be attacked on her grammar, there are children's poems by other writers that can be similarly attacked—Stevenson, Walter de la Mare and A. A. Milne would have to answer to some of the same charges. All the best editions of Mother Goose readers are used in the kindergarten at Teachers College. The only other book that I think approximates Mother Goose is the Peter Patter book by Leroy Jackson."

Letting the Child Express Himself.

At the City and Country School on West Twelfth Street, which was one of the first among educational pioneers frankly to avow itself experimental, the Mother Goose reader takes no more prominent place than a half dozen other readers. Here the children are intent on "doing" rather than "reading" and are encouraged in it.

"Our plan here is not to pour in, but to bring something out," said Miss Caroline Pratt, director of the school, when asked about the place of these rhymes in modern child education. "We let the child express what he thinks and feels, then we add to that whatever may help his original idea. But we let him originate always. Children naturally pick out fundamentals and relate th m up. Like the little boy who took a piece of wood—just a plain piece of wood—up to his teacher's desk and said it was a boat and that he could hear the waves against its sides. That child had seized upon the fundamental idea of a boat. The stories we use here are written around the children's experiences in the school and on their trips to docks, ferries and public bidings. The children write many of them themselves. We use some of the Mother Goose stories along with other readers."

At the American Book Company, which supplies a large part of the country's public school books, there did not appear to be any concern over the recent Mother Goose agitation. One of the officials of the company said that the rewritten Mother Goose story was used in all the first, second and third grade readers they got out. This is also true of other companies supplying textbooks to schools.

"We try to have the content in our stories present an idea," said this man. "The Mother Goose tales are practically the same as they were in our grandmothers' time. They have been elaborated in places to give them clearness and there may have been a few el minations.

"One of our main concerns is good type and satisfactory illustrations. These matters are scientifically determinde Type that is easy to read and pictures in neutral tones are selected. For it has been found that highly colored pictures are bad for children's eyes. There is, too, the matter of unpleasant pictures—the cat that looks more like a snarling tiger than a cat, for instance, or an unnecessarily ugly looking giant. These are things we have to consider. There has been nothing said that I know of about changing any of the Mother Goose stories or dropping any of them from the school readers.'

Another advocate of Mother Goose is Lucy Sprague Mitchell, whose "Here ann Now Primer" is used in many of the city's private schools. "There is nothing that makes so great an appeal to the child's sense of rhythm, and all children have a natural sense of rhythm," she said. "The two-year-old will croon a sequence of words over and over again. He apparently enjoys the sound though he may not understand the meaning of all the words. That is one reason Mother Goose stories will do no harm to young children.

Children Sense Sound, Not Sense.

"Children do not say them over and over again for the content. They do not sense it. They like the sound.

Ding Dong Bell, Pussy in the well,

may not be a nice thought, but children love ding dong bell. They are interested pure in the jingle, not in the thought of a cat in the well."

Mrs. Mitchell, who is a teacher as well as a writer of children's books, says it has been her experience that children are more interested in the pattern of a story than they are in the plot. Just as they work out patterns in their first building blocks, so they work out patterns in their first words—a pattern of sound and rhythm. Miss Mitchell is also one of the educators who has found through experience that children are most interested in what they themselves initiate, and that, contrary to general opinion, they do not usually initiate what is bad for them.

In the past it was the custom for grown-ups to give children what they (the grown-ups) thought children ought to like, either through books or by talking to them. But today, according to one of the large children's bookshops, all parents are spending a great deal of time in trying to find out what the child really likes in the way of books. The literal-minded parent, it is said, is apt to try to make her child literal-minded, and will ask for books other than Mother Goose. In some cases, where a two-and-a-half-year-old is particularly inquisitive, there may be other books he likes better. But as a rule it's the Mother Goose that is finally chosen. At the bookshop in question her stories, along with the Anderson and Grimm fairy tales, are still the best sellers

Dr. Fell Unpopular.

A teacher in the Horace Mann School, which like the Lincoln is affiliated with Teachers College, said that Mother Goose, she felt, should be looked on as a vast storehouse in which there were many beautiful and desirable things. There were some things in the storehouse for which children did not care: The rhyme about Dr. Fell, for instance.

I do not like you, Dr. Fell,
The reason why I cannot tell.
But this I do know very well,
I do not like you, Dr. Fell.

She said she had not found through her many years of teaching that it had ever been popular with very young children. On the other hand there was the one starting,

Bobby Shaftoe's gone to sea,
Silver buckles on his knee
He'll come back and marry me,
Pretty Bobby Shaftoe,

which appeared to have a very grown-up sentiment, but children adored it.

Even Mrs. Stoner, who asserts she has sixty counts more or less against poor old Mother Goose, admits there are a few good things to be said for this famous teller of stories.

"My chief grievance against Mother Goose," said the author of Mother Goose substitutes, "is that she never mentions fairies, and children love fairy tales. But we must give her credit for some good stories. There is that very useful one beginning 'Thirty days hath September, April, June and November.' Every child should learn that one. Then there are others, 'Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star,' Billy Boy, Billy Boy' and 'Once I Saw a Little Bird'—all very good. Also some of the puzzlers are all right.

Bad Grammar and Bigamy.

"But Mother Goose has much that is not so good to answer for," and Mother Stoner pulled out a large black book in which she had written down her many counts against the beloved idol of childhood. "She teaches bad grammar with her

Tom, Tom, the piper's son,
Stole a pig and away he run.

"She is grotesque and rude. She scoffs at the law. She suggests fear with her Little Muffett and the spider. She is cruel with her

Here comes a candle to light you to bed,

"And it looks as if she were tolerant of bigamy when she tells about going to St. Ives and meeting a man with seven wives."

While it is not the child mind that is changing, say teachers, but the adult mind, the child is having a few thoughts of his own. "Bluebeard" and "Babes in the Wood" have come in for their share of criticism as horror stories which should be barred at all costs from the young, but the young do not seem to be entirely in accord with this ultimatum. The young now seem to be protecting the old.

The story is told of a youthful grandmother who one day saw her 4-year-old granddaughter sliding quietly out of the room with a book tucked under her arm. On being asked where she was going, the child replied that she was going to read. Further inquiry as to the name of the story she was going to read elicited the reply that it was a story she liked very, very much. Whereupon grandmother suggested that granddaughter read her the story, so that she too, could enjoy it.

"I'm afraid to, grandmama," replied the 4-year-old, "for it is a story that would bring tears to your eyes. But I just love it where the robins cover them all over with leaves."—The New York Times.

HAYDN'S "OX" MINUET

History of the Peculiar Name Given to Pretty Air.

A peculiar title for a musical composition! Yes, it is peculiar; at least, peculiar on the surface. But, hold on! There is a story attached to it!

This composition, the "Ox" Minuet, wasn't given a title like that merely to create a public sensation. It came by the title honestly, as the following incident will testify: Haydn one day received a visit from a butcher, who stated that he and his daughter were admirers of Haydn's music; and, as the young lady was soon to be married, he made bold to ask that the composer write a minuet for her wedding. Kind "Papa Haydn" consented, and in a few days the man of meat secured his music. Not long afterwards, Haydn was surprised to hear this same minuet played under his window. On looking out he saw a band of musicians forming a ring around a large ox, tastefully decorated with flowers. Soon the butcher came and presented the ox to Hadyn, saying that for such excellent music he thought he ought to make the composer a present of the best ox in his possession. Ever after, this little composition, it is said, was called the "Ox" Minuet.

AUTHOR LAUDED MUSIC MEDICINE

Effect of Music as a Stimulus or Sedative is Being Recognized.

RELIEVES PAIN.

By ARTHUR MASON.

The value of music to persons suffering physical or mental illness is being discussed in many places, and medical scientists are recording more and more frequently the result of investigations they have made in respect of music as medicine for body and mind.

In hospital wards, in asylums, in convalescent homes, where the effect of music as stimulus, or as sedative, is being tested many times and in many ways, the general result is to prove that, although music cannot cure illness, at least it can alleviate suffering, can produce, not in all minds, it is true, but in minds that are susceptible to music's appeal, a condition that in more or less degree is of benefit to the sufferer.

Soothing or Stimulating Influence.

It would be strange if this were not so. The soothing or the stimulating influence of music is well known to hosts of persons in good health who have experienced this power of it to lay a restful touch upon the heart, and to energise the flagging spirit. Music has its universal appeal not only because it is pleasant to listen to, but also because its way of quieting the mind and of stirring the emotions is of direct value in hours when worry presses or when the emotions are jaded. That is one of the medicinal benefits of music—for an influence that calms the excited nerves, or impels the tired heart to new activity, is undoubtedly a healing influence.

In the case of listeners who are definitely ill, this medicinal effect of music is less certain. The condition set up by illness varies both with the individual and with the particular form or degree of illness he suffers. Some persons and some stages of sickness are, of course, more responsive than others to the appeal of music, and it is for this reason that we have on the one hand well-proved cases of the value of music in sickness, and on the other hand equally well-proved cases of its failure to do very much. There can be little doubt, however, that in the majority of cases where the condition of the patient allows a chance to music, its influence upon his mind is a healing, softening, soothing, or invigorating influence likely to be of no small benefit to him.

Music as Consolation and Relief.

Medical testimony, it may fairly be said, definitely supports those who claim for music that it is medicine for the mind. The convalescent, cheered by the enlivening strain of it, is helped towards recovery. The anxious or the pain-stricken patient is the better able to bear his suffering in so far as the interest or the charm of music can make him forget it. Even the mentally afflicted, in certain types of brain disease seem to find in music at least a pleasure if it cannot be a remedy. And any of us, though his only ailment be that of "the weary weight of all this unintelligible world," has in music a consolation that will lighten the burden of it, and a relief that will ease its strain upon heart and mind.

BETHANY PERSONALS

BETHANY, April 13.—Clarence Rowan has accepted a position in Beaverton and left for that place last week.

Miss Kathleen McCartney returned home Wednesday after spending a few days with friends in Peterborough.

The school closed on Thursday for Easter vacation.

Mrs. I. Carcadden underwent a minor operation in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rowan were visitors in Peterborough on Wednesday.

Miss O. Wilson, junior teacher, left for her home at Mono Road where she will spend the Easter holidays.

FAKE SUICIDE?

Roxine Serpa was mourned as dead when it was reported she had jumped to death on San Francisco Bay. Now it is learned that Roxine is alive in Canada and that her "death" was faked by Joseph Webber, who is Roxine's second husband The fake suicide was tried to cover up the fact that Roxine had married Joseph without divorcing Serpa. Claims for insurance made by Serpa led to an expose of the fake suicide.

THEFT IN MARMORA.

Meraw's Store Robbed of $15 Wednesday Night.

MARMORA, April 13. — It is pleasing to note how assiduously the townsfolk are applying themselves to cleaning up their lawns and gardens. Grass is already beginning to look green.

A thief visited the till at Meraw's store on Wednesday evening, relieving it of fifteen dollars. No arrest has yet been made.

Good Friday was observed at St. Paul's with a plain celebration of Holy Communion at 10 a.m. At 7.30 p.m. the service of self-examination as approved by the Bishop of the Diocese was used, followed by an address from the Rector. The collection was devoted to Anglican missions among the Jews in Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cross, of Deloro, left for Niagara Falls, Ont., on Friday morning to spend a week at their son's home.

A Presentation

A large number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morrow recently to express regret of their departure and to wish them every success in their new home.

No address was written but Mr. Chris Laplain spoke in a very appropriate manner of how they had always been so willing to help in any way possible and how they will be missed by all the community, while Mr. Boyd Johnston presented trem with a purse of money.

It was a total surprise to both Mr. and Mrs. Morrow. However, Mr. Morrow made a very striking little speech which seemed quite to the point, after which they all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

The evening was spent in dancing and games. The ladies brought some tasty refreshments and a dainty lunch was served about midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow left on Tuesday for their new home in Lindsay where Mr. Morrow will take over the blacksmith shop of the late D. Sinclair.

HYMNS WRITTEN ON APOSTLES' CREED

Cecil Frances Alexander Used It as Background for Many Hymns.

How many lovers of music know that the "Apostle's Creed," with which so many churchgoers are familiar, forms the background for three, at least, of the world's most famous hymns?

If readers answer this question in the negative, then the following information will be not only interesting, but instructive as well:

There lived in Ireland, some 30 years ago, a very celebrated woman, Mrs. Cecil Frances Alexander, wife of the Primate of the Church of England.

This Mrs. Alexander, although long since gone to her reward, was deeply interested in the Sunday School of their church, and wished to teach girls and boys the great truths of the Bible. She thought that one of the best ways in which this might be done was through song; for, if the girls and boys learned hymns which contained these truths, and sang them afterwards, they would never forget. At one time she took one clause and another of the "Apostle's Creed," and wrote one hymn and another, that, through these, the young might learn the Faith of the Church. She began with the clause, "I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth," and wrote the beautiful nature song—

"All things bright and beautiful,
All creatures great and small,
All things wise and wonderful,
The Lord God made them all."

Then she passed the words . . . "And in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord . . . born of the Virgin Mary. For this she wrote—

"Once in Royal David City,
Stood a lowly cattle shed,
Where a Mother laid her baby
In a manger for His bed:
Mary was that Mother mild,
Jesus Christ her little Child."

This is not only a Christmas hymn, but even more—a song which tells of the childhood and youth of Jesus as the ideal of all young people.

Then when she came to the great clause, "Suffered under Pontius Pilate," she found it very difficult to put the mystery of the Cross into simple words. At last her difficulty disappeared and she taught of Jesus, Who died for us, in the hymn—

"There is a green hill far away,
Without a city wall;
Where the dear Lord was crucified,
Who died to save us all."

Thus we have these three world-famous hymns written with the "Apostle's Creed" as the background.

EASTER SERVICES.

The churches of the city celebrated the Resurrection of Christ in fitting manner yesterday, with special Easter sermons and musical services. Every church in the city had a special programme for the occasion. The addresses were marked by the Easter message, centering about the close of the Lenten season and the re-birth of the soul, as exemplified in the risen Saviour.

The Easter services at Knox Church were marked by the presence of Rev. R. Pogue as the evening speaker, giving his farewell message to Peterboro after seventeen years' ministry. At St. Paul's, Rev. W. F. McConnell, of Toronto, was the preacher of the day. Rev. A. E. Thornley, of Port Perry, preached at both services in Mark Street Methodist Church. At St. James' Church, the sacred cantata, "From Olivet to Calvary" was presented.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

The choir of St Peter's Cathedral rendered some very special Easter music at the Pontifical High Mass celebrated yesterday morning by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, assisted by Rev. P. Butler as deacon, Rev. J. McGuire as sub-deacon, and Rev. P. Costello. St. Cecilia's Mass, composed by Rev. Father Turner, was sung, with solos taken by Mrs. J. Dwyer, the Misses Annie Simons, Geraldine Collins, Messrs. J. Fitzpatrick, Leonard and A. Reynolds. The Mass was presented under the leadership of Mr. Joseph Minicole, with Miss L. Hurley at the organ. At the offertory, the Easter anthem, "Regina Coeli," was given.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

The addition of the new boys' choir in cassock and surplice added greatly to the effectiveness and brightness of the music at St. Luke's. There were thirty-two members of the choir present yesterday, and the special music, in addition to the appropriate hymns and chants, was well prepared and sung under the direction of the choirmaster and organist, Mr. Wm. C. Thomson. The anthems sung were "Ye Choirs of New Jerusalem," by Roland Smart, and "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead?" by S. C. Cooke.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

Beautiful decorations, inspiring music and great congregations featured the Easter services in George Street Church yesterday. The day began with a sunrise service at 7.30 and a fellowship service at 10.00, both of which were well attended. At 11 o'clock the Easter Communion was held, and it proved to be the most largely attended Communion in the history of the church. The Sacrament was dispensed to about seven hundred people, and fifty-five new members were received into the church. Of these twenty-three were young people from the Sunday School. Mr. Young's brief Communion address emphasized the Easter Communion as the commemoration of the Master, the pledge of loyalty to Him, and the prophecy of the restored fellowships in the Eternal world.

The Sunday Schools both had special features in keeping with the day and in the evening, despite the inclement weather, the church was comfortably filled for the Easter praise service. The choir were at their best and sang a most excellent programme of Easter music. Anthems sung: Turner's "Ye Choirs of New Jerusalem" and Lindsay's "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" A ladies' chorus sang Gaul's "List the Cherubic Host," C. A. Thorpe giving the baritone obligato, and the male quartette sang for the first time an arrangement by Mr. Renwick of "The Strife is O'er." Arnold Spencer was heard to advantage in a violin setting of "The Palms," and Miss Daisy Murray sang in splendid voice the well-known "Open the Gates of the Temple." Mr. Young spoke briefly of "The Easter Victory," dwelling especially on its prophecy of the conquest of despair, ignorance and death.

The floral decorations were arranged by the Ladies' Aid, and were carried out in Easter lilies, spirea, palms and ferns.

KNOX PRESBYTERIAN.

In the morning the minister, assisted by Rev. Robert Pogue, conducted an Easter service, preaching on the significance of the Resurrection. "Jesus stood in the midst of them." They thought Him dead, but behold He stood, living, before them. Following Him in life and death, the dead continue to live. They thought He was but a ghost "Behold my hands and feet," He said, "it is I myself." The dead continue themselves. There is no loss of identity in death. Our friends continue their very selves in the other life. And Thomas said unto Him: "My Lord and my God." He was still theirs. Our dead continue ours. The old fellowships remain, the same care, affection and love. "And on this wise shewed He, Himself." "Children, have ye any meat." 'Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me' "Feed my lambs." Still interested in their welfare, still yearning for their love, and still desiring that they carry on in His service. St. Paul tells us that " we shall be also in the likeness of His resurrection." So for our Lord, our friends and ourselves, we have a lively hope. Before the Dawn of Easter these friends were troubled and sad and weeping. But when they saw the Risen Lord they were glad, they returned to Jesusalem with great joy. Our troubled lives are likewise transformed by Easter, and into our hearts come the glory, hope and power of the Resurrection.

At both services, Mr. Peaker, organist, and his choir rendered fine service. Mrs. Ross Williamson, soloist, sang most acceptably with fine voice and chaste expression.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

In keeping with the Easter season, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church services yesterday were attended by very large congregations.

The special preacher for the day was Rev. W. F. McConnell, Dominion organizer of the Presbyterian Church Association, who gave two able and inspiring messages, filled with the true spirit of Easter.

The morning text was from the words found in St. Matthew's Gospel, 28th chapter, "He is not here; for He is risen."

Rev. Mr. McConnell dwelt on the resurrection of Christ as necessary for the sins of the world, how it had the effect on the different races of the world, to cause a looking upward to a higher standard of life here in preparation for the great hereafter. The simple doctrines and religion of the disciples and the prophets of that day were good enough for the present generation. The speaker summed up his remarks in conclusion with the word of exhortation to stand true to faith in God for the future; and live as Christ died and rose again, for the uplift of humanity and service to the community in which we live.

The evening service was of special interest to Presbyterians, owing to the after-meeting of the congregation, and his references during his sermon to the anxious period in the Church's history.

As his text he took the words of the 34th verse of the 6th chapter of St. Mark: "And Jesus, when he came out, saw much people, and was moved with compassion toward them, because they were as sheep not having a shepherd."

Christ was the only person Who ever saw a multitude of people, and appreciated the human side, and was the One to help in time of need, to act as the shepherd of the sheep. The need of the present age for the Good Shepherd was made the principal theme by the preacher in his discourse. The Christ Who had hung upon the Cross for the sins of the world, is to-day alive, and willing and pleading to be our burden-bearer as of old. He it is Who will cause our beloved Church to come through the fires of tribulation, purified and stronger than ever, and with our faith in Him, he will not fail those who believe.

Church Union Legislation.

The meeting called for the close of the service in the evening was attended by practically all of the large congregation, and Mr. McConnell dealt with various points of the legislation enacted last week, which gave Knox College, Toronto, to the Continuing Presbyterian Church, "which went against the grain of the Unionists," he said.

The matter of the division of property to minorities in districts was touched upon by the speaker, who said a commission would function for nine months after 10th June, on this point, although where there was already a Methodist church, the Union Presbyterians did not want to join that body; rather would they build a new "Presbyterian" church!

Mr. McConnell dealt in general with the legislation, referring also to the lifting of certificates from churches, which, he said, would be covered by the new bill, and people could govern themselves accordingly. It might be, he said, the Continuing Church would be allocated another church building in Peterboro.

A question was asked by Mr. Dutton as to whether missionaries were being discriminated against.

The reply was that they had not been, originally, though they were requested to declare themselves on Union. Many did so, and, latterly, those who decided to remain as Presbyterians had been treated discourteously. But these servants of our Church were being looked after. The home mission fields were also being manned and supported, Mr. McConnell telling of a waiting list of students and missionaries at headquarters.

Regarding the declaration of ministers, this need not have been carried out until 16th June; but 'orders' had been sent from the Vatican, in Confederation Life Buildings, Toronto, to do so immediately, and, like obedient children, the Union pastors had complied, and this was used as propaganda to further the cause.

During his 40,000-mile tour of the provinces, from coast to coast, Mr. McConnell had found nothing but optimism for the Continuing Church. We had a majority of 5,000 in the Dominion and 14,000 in Ontario to date; and he expected the number of Presbyterians to be about 250,000; and this had been only of those who voted by ballot. A truly wonderful answer to the Unionist friends, said the speaker.

A question was mooted as to the standing of retired ministers whose votes were for the Continuing Church, to which Mr. McConnell replied that they were being looked after.

The budget was also being taken care of, several business men having agreed to stand sponsors for the sum of $36,000 when the need arises. The congregation was told by the speaker to hold their moneys in the meantime, which would mean that the Commission would not have to give back so much on that account.

As a closing word, he told of greater sacrifice than ever to carry on the work in the future. But he had implicit faith, from present indications, that the people to a man would be on the job when called upon.

The benediction was pronounced.

The Music.

The choir, under Mr. M. B. Chenhall, organist and choirmaster, rendered Easter music at both services of a very high order, as follows:

Morning.

Quartet—"Our Cry to Jesus" (Rehead), Messrs. Snelgrove, Sedgwick, Donnelly and Chenhall.

Anthem — "This is the Day" (Cooke).

Solo—"Hosanna" (Granier), Miss Greta LeBarr.

Evening.

Quartette and chorus — "At the Sepulchre" (Nevin), Messrs. C. Clark, J. Anderson, H. Snelgrove and J. Emmett.

Anthem—"They have taken away my Lord" (Stainer).

Duet—"Love Divine" (Stainer), Miss Greta LeBarr and Mr. H. McKeown.

Anthem—"Victory" (Shelley).

Anthem — "Awake, Thou That Sleepest" (Stainer).

"Hallelujah Chorus" (Handel).

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN.

No doubt, like many other places of worship in this city, the attendance, at St. John's on Easter Sunday practically created a record, especially at the eleven o'clock morning service when the church was filled to capacity.

The spirit of Easter was very marked, having been encouraged, very largely, no doubt, by the beautiful sunshine of the forenoon, particularly the early morning.

The awakening of Easter could never been ushered in under more ideal weather conditions than yesterday morning but the afternoon brought with it an abrupt "change of front" which developed later in the day into a snow storm to the very evident disgust of the evening worshippers who had neglected to equip themselves with the paraphernalia so closely associated with winter.

The early morning communion services were very well attended as is the custom at St. John's.

Particular mention should be made of the music and choral work at both Matins and Evensong.

The choir entered the church from the front entrance singing that glorious Eastertide Hymn "Jesus Christ is Risen To-day" in which the congregation joined most heartily. This was followed in proper order with the singing of the regular Easter Anthem—"Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us." The Office of Holy Communion was impressively sung to the setting by Adlam in "F."

A special Easter message was preached by the Vicar, the Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D. D., on The Cross and the Risen Christ, ably explaining the symbolic beauty of this part of the divine plan and the part it should play in our daily lives.

During the offertory, the choir fittingly rendered Smart's Easter Anthem—"Ye Choirs of New Jerusalem"—the soprano solos of which were sung respectively by Miss R. Quartermaine and Mrs. A. L. Amys.

After the usual offertory sentences a few of the congregation adjourned during the singing of an Easter Communion Hymn which was then followed with marked devotional spirit the Office of Holy Communion, the assistant priest to the Vicar being the Rev. Mr. Childs, of Trinity College, Toronto.

The evening service was very well attended in spite of the inclemency of the weather and the choir entered the church singing "Christ, the Lord, is risen to-day." The special Psalms for the evening Nos. 113 and 114 were sung as set, and it was noted that the pointing was very carefully observed.

In proper order the Magnificat and Nunc Dimitti's as set by Smart in "D" were rendered followed by other special Easter Hymns. The Rev. Mr. Childs preached at this service on the Resurrection of Christ and the Immortality ofGoodness.His message aroused keen interest and was of a well thought out and convincing character. During the Offertory, the choir rendered Stainer's most delightful anthem—"They have taken away my Lord and I know not where they have laid Him." Concluding Evensong the choir sang as a vesper a Sevenfold Amen as set by Mr. Mann, the present organist of the church.

Altogether Easter Sunday at St. John's was as beautiful as ever and makes one ever mindful of the splendid, almost heroic work of the early pioneers of this district in setting up to the Glory of God and as a monument of thankfulness and praise such a beautiful old structure wherein we may commune with the departed.

It was indeed fitting that the beautiful floral tributes so bountifully displayed should be in loving memory of these loved ones who have gained their reward.

ST. JAMES' METHODIST.

Text: 1 Cor. 15:35—"But some man will say, How are the dead raised up? and with with what body do they come?"

The Christian's doctrine of immortality goes beyond any conclusions that men have reached outside of the Christian revelation, Rev. J. D. Richardson said at the morning service yesterday. It goes beyond anything ever taught by sages and philosophers of antiquity. They taught in a sort of fashion a mystic shadowy existence of the soul, but not a personal conscious life.

But the Christian revelation teaches the immortality of the whole personality. The existence of the soul as a separate entity is not taught in the Scriptures of the New Testament. They know nothing of a mere immortality of the soul, a persistence of the disembodied spirit. It is the immortality of the whole personality that is there taught, a personal, conscious life, personality in the fullness of being.

Many pagan religions and philosophies have taught that man's spirit survives the dissolution of the physical. But only the Christian revelation assures us of the immortality of man's complete personality. And the Christian doctrine of the resurrection implies more than a belief in the immortality of the soul; it implies also the principle of embodiment; and of a future embodiment some how related to the present one. Resurrection in the Christian use of that term stands for this principle of embodiment. And the consummation of man's redemption, according to the New Testament, means the revivifying of the whole personality into fullness of life.

This does not mean that the resurrected body is merely the present body reanimated and composed of the same material particles. It does not mean the reanimation and resuscitation of the physical corpse. That was a doctrine taught by the ancient Egyptians. They sought by scientific methods to preserve the body. They discovered some process which is the wonder of science to-day. And when the tomb of a Pharaoh-Tut-ankh-amen is opened it is found that, after the passage of nearly four thousand years, the body is wonderfully preserved. Their belief was that the body would be reanimated, galvanized into life and being again; so they went at great pains to preserve it.

This was also the Jewish view, expressed in different ways by different teachers. It was also the view, apparently, of some in the early church, and has been held by many up to our own day.

But this is not the Christian doctrine of the resurrection. By the resurrection of the body we do not mean the reanimation or resuscitation of the physical corpse. We do not believe that the physical constituents which make up our earthly bodies will be recollected and refashioned into the same body. We do not mumify our dead. We commit the body to the ground—"Earth to earth, dust to dust,' and the physical constituents enter into other forms of physical life.

"To mingle with the dust and become part of the insensible clod which the rude swain turns with his share and treads upon."

The Christian revelation of the future is not the Egyptian doctrine of a revivified and reanimated body, galvanized into life and being again. Neither is it, as taught by the ancient Greeks and Romans, a sort of mystic, spookey, shadowy existence of a disembodied spirit.

The question which puzzled the early Christians and for which they sought an answer was—"How are the dead raised up and with what body do they come?" And that question may be one still full of interest, and full of mystery. It borders on the secrets of God's creative power. But we know that "the corruptible body of those who sleep in Him shall be changed, and made like unto His own glorious body; according to the mighty working whereby He is able to subdue all things unto Himself."

The body that is to be will have a vital connection with the body that is, just as there is a vital connection between the grain of wheat placed in the ground, and the issue as seen in blade, stock and ear. Our spiritual body will be free from the limitations to which our earthly bodies are subject, but there will be a real identity, a vital connection. It will be responsive to the freer life the spirit of man there enjoys. It will, indeed, be a perfect organ of self-manifestation and self-communication. "There is a natural body and there is a spiritual body." Now we use a body fitted for the expression of personality in the realm of the material; but in the future God giveth us a body that will be fitted for intercourse in that higher existence we call spiritual. There the body will be the spirit's perfect instrument.

Our earthly body is a very imperfect instrument of the spirit. Moreover, it is weakened by disease, enfeebled by sin, becomes decrepit from age.

But in the redeemed body there will dwell no uncleanness of heart, no moral paralysis, no fever of passion, no canker of evil. It will not be enfeebled by sin, weakened by disease, or made decrepit by the passing years. "It is sown in corruption, it is raised in incorruption; it is sown in dishonor, it is raised in glory; it is sown in weakness, it is raised in power; it is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body."

The choir sang Stainer's "They have taken away my Lord."

Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer" was sung as a duet by Mr. Edwin Rowe and Miss Mary Wood.

At the evening service the choir gave a fine rendition of Maunder's "Olivet to Calvary."

Good congregations were present morning and evening.

FAREWELL SERMON.

REV. ROBT. POGUE, who last night preached his farewell sermon to Peterborough.

REV. MR. POGUE SAYS FAREWELL

Preaches Stirring Sermon in Knox Church at Close of Ministry.

HERE 17 YEARS.

Last night in Knox Church, the Rev Robert Pogue, preached the last sermon of his ministry in Peterboro. Mr. Pogue was pastor of St. Paul's Church for seventeen years. Before the sermon, the Rev. Mr. McConnachie of Centreville and the Rev. M. C. Mackinnon of Knox Church expressed their regret in the departure of Mr. Pogue whom they had always found a faithful friend and pastor.

Mr. Pogue chose as his text. We came to Kadesh-Barnea; and used the example set by the Israelites who refused to advance against the cities of Palestine and turned and wandered in the wilderness for forty years. They doubtless, said Mr. Pogue, regarded it as just a halting place on their journeyings but would look back to it later as a crucial point in their lives. He recounted the history of their choice. The twelve spies had come back from exploring the land and although they all agreed that it was a land flowing with milk and honey, ten of them stressed the point that there were mighty cities and giants in the land They accepted the evil report and wpent back to the wilderness and never had another opportunity.

go to the promised land. So it is in the lives of most people, said the speaker. Everyone can look back to a Kadesh-Barnea in his life. Some made the decision to live a Christian life and some didn't.

There were three things that kept the Israelites back from the promised land. They were murmerers. From the moment they left Egypt they found something to complain about. There was no food, the water was bitter, Moses took too much on himself. Their greatest cry was "The Lord hath hated us."

The second thing was fearfulness. They were afraid of the Canaanites and thought of their mighty armies and strong cities instead of the Allpowerful God who was their protection. Their greatest sin was unbelief. Their murmering and fearfulness was really due to their lack belief in God. They didn't believe that He was looking after them.

Mr. Pogue held up the murmering, fearfulness and unbelief of the Israelites as being typical of the people of to-day who hesitate to make a decision for the Christian life. They murmer against the way God treats them, they fear their relatives and compainons will ridicule them and they do not believe that God will help them to withstand temptation.

PERSONALITIES IN CAMPAIGN

Socialists Bring Up Hindenburg's War Record and Question Ability.

TOOL OF OTHERS.

By Carl D. Groat
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

BERLIN, April 13.—The "mailed fist" which he advocated along with other German leaders in war-time is being used against former Field Marshal Hindenburg in the political volley for the Presidency of the Republic.

Republicans have begun to abandon their hitherto "kid glove" treatment of the General. The tendency had been to rail gently at the war hero and his political aspirants. Now Hindenburg's personality and his war record as far as his actual ability is concerned are under fire, principally from the Socialists. They are seeking to show that Hindenburg was not the real hero of Cannenburg and that it was really Ludendorff or Hoffmann who saved the nation from the Russian "steam roller."

Military opinions of the "Marshal's" colleagues have been unearthed and are being quoted against him. Some of these declare that Hindenburg knew the mechanics of warfare and how to stage a parade, but lacked daring, and that Ludendorff was the real brains behind the successes attributed to the Field Marshal.

The Socialists' fire declares Hindenburg is a man of simple personality, the tool of others in war time," even as he is to-day."

HAMILTON, April 13—(Canadian Press).—A highwayman attempted to rob A. Flowers, a taxi driver, on the Niagara highway, near Winona, Saturday night.

The car was hired at 8.20 o'clock, and when near Winona the driver was asked to turn north on a side road. He did so, and when the passenger got out he asked Flowers if he had any change, and at the same time pointed a revolver at him. Flowers kicked the man in the stomach, after pushing him off the car, and jumped in the machine and drove to the city, where he reported the matter.

FARMERS ARE NOT DECADENT IN THE BURNBRAE DISTRICT

One of Fourth Generation Farmers Defends Modern Tillers of Soil.

CONDITIONS CHANGE

By E. L. ANDERSON.

BURNBRAE, April 13.—An article in Thursday's Examiner, by Mr. Alex. McGregor of Campbellford, issues a challenge to the young farmers of Seymour to rise in defence of their laurels. As a representative of the fourth generation in this district, I would like to write a few words to uphold the honour of that third generation of which Mr. McGregor writes—the present owners of the farms of Seymour.

To the casual observer, the situation perhaps appears as the article states. Mr. McGregor is, no doubt, sincere in his belief that the pioneer farmers of the first, and more particularly the second generations, were stronger financially than are the farmers of to-day, and I heartily agree with him that, as far as ready cash goes, they were. But, to my mind, there are some features of the cases that Mr. McGregor has overlooked.

Let us first make a comparison between farm conditions in the early 80's and in the present decade. Our "Grandfather farmer" was not compelled to carry so large an overhead as in the present day. His seeding equipment was simple plow and harrow; haying, the good old scythe; harvesting, the faithful cradle. This equipment was low in first cost and upkeep, and with, perhaps, two additional scythes and cradles for his two hired men, who worked for a monthly wage of $15 to $20, his machinery for immediate farm work was complete. Against this, to-day, we have placed the long list of modern implements the up-to-date farmer must have to carry on the work alone on the farm which formerly employed two or three extra men. A conservative estimate on comparative machinery costs would be at least 10 to 1. The question is often asked, "Why do the farmers not hire men?" The answer is simple—they can't get them. The high wages in the city has lured away that most useful of human beings, the skilled farm labourer. When one can sometimes be obtained, the wages are usually $40 to $50 per month, and often more for short-term hire.

This necessity of the modern farmer doing the work of three men, with the additional worry of the increased cost of equipment, taxes and mounting national debt, may have something to do with the higher death rate among present-day farmers.

Regarding the absence of any new building operations, mentioned in Mr. McGregor's article, I think this is the place that shows up the true ratio between prices of the past century and these after-the-war years. The farmer of forty years ago could have a barn, 50 ft. x 30 ft., the usual size in those days, framed and all carpenter work performed for a good deal less than $500. Yes lumber was cheap, 7 and 8 dollars per thousand for first-class hemlock, and roofing shingles in proportion. To-day to build a modern dairy barn, about 40 x 100, that is required on the average farm, is a man-sized job. A firm of chartered accountants would be needed to figure the cost of all material, but a safe estimate would be not less than $4,000, with lumber at $40 per thousand, steel at $7.00 per hundred feet, and modern stable equipment costing as much as a complete barn in the 80's. In spite of this, on one concession in the Burnbrae district, practically half of the barns have been built new or almost completely remodelled in the last two decades by these third generation farmers, and most of them still have their heads above water. The financial standing of a farmer should not be figured on the loose cash or stocks and bonds he holds, but on the cash value of the equipment and improvements on his farm in addition to the actual value of the land.

There is much more that could be said in support of both sides—a worthy subject for debate. Although a supporter of the modern farmer, I would say "All honour to the pioneers, not only the men but the noble women, who, I think, were about seventy-five per cent. of the company in gathering together that strong financial backing that so delights Mr. McGregor.

Editor of the Farm Page:

Dear Sir,—There has been a good deal said for and against daylight saving, but, so far, I haven't seen anything written on the farmer's position. As we get up at daylight anyway it would be absurd to rise an hou earlier. We can't work in the dark. Anyone who manages to induce a man to work on the farm for the summer finds he wants to quit work the same time as the city workmen, which, with daylight saving, would be five o'clock. That leaves about three hours when the farmer has to go it alone.

Saturday is usually the day for going to town, and we find it hard enough now to get business done when the banks close at twelve. It will be a decided inconvenience when they close at eleven and the stores all close at four by real sun time. If we wish to attend any little entertainment in the evening, we find we are ready to leave home about the time the programme starts.

Now, if these men who want an extra evening hour to spend for their own pleasure, would just go to work a little earlier, and leave their clocks alone, would it not do as well? They have a certain amount of work to do, and can do it as well from nine till three as from ten till four, and there's the extra hour for golf. The world and our city got along splendidly with sun time for centuries—can't they be satisfied?

FARMER'S GIRL.

USE A LITTLE TACT.

People do not like to be told disagreeable facts. As the saying goes, "Truth sometimes is brutal"; but when an unpleasant truth must be told, to use a little tact in telling of it will make the hurt less keen. Say and do pleasant things in this world whenever it is possible, but if disagreeable ones come to the surface, handle them as gently as possible to spare the feelings of others.

FARMERS URGED TO SAVE HORSES.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—No state has a surplus of horses, and to-day a crisis in the supply appears to have been reached.

1910 to 1920 (10 years)—decrease, 1,543,130 head.

1920 to 1925 (5 years)—decrease 2,000,000 head.

In 1910, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, there were 23,015,902 horses in the country. In 1920 there was a total of 21,472,772.

Horses on farms in 1920 aggregated 19,766,000. This year they totalled only 17,589,000.

The department advises farmers to breed more mares this year than in the past in an endeavour to avert a still greater decline in the animals.

A decided falling-off in colt breeding in recent years is noted, and officials of the department say as the present supply of "work stock" is depleted through age and death, the shortage of young stock will become apparent.

HIS ANNUAL SLICKING-UP

HATCHING CHICKS BY INCUBATION

A MODERN, WELL-CONSTRUCTED INCUBATOR.

MANHATTAN, Kas., April 13. — The incubator method of hatching eggs has become so prevalent that a special article on incubators is important in this series on the care and development of poultry.

Prof. Loyal F. Payne, head of the poultry department of the Kansas State Agricultural College, gives the following information on what kind of incubator to buy and how to operate it successfully:

Which is the best incubator a question probably asked more often than any other with the possible exception of that other unanswerable question—which is the best breed of chickens? Incubators vary greatly in quality and cost of contsruction.

The body of the machine may be made of beaver board, galvanized iron, wood or pressed corn. When of wood construction the walls of the egg chamber are sometimes boxed in with boards one inch thick and covered with metal, or in the better made machines one box made of kiln dried matched lumber is placed inside of a larger box of the same construction. The two or three inch space between these boxes is filled with some good insulation material.

Incubators made in this manner can be depended upon to hold a uniform temperature with a minimum of care and they are not seriously affected by sudden changes in temperature.

Workmanship Counts.

It is my opinion that all the different makes of incubators, which have been on the market for any length of time, will give satisfactory hatches if they are filled with good hatchable eggs and operated according to instructions.

One will usually find that the better the material and workmanship, the more expensive the incubator. The cheap incubator requires a good location, where the room temperature fluctuates very little. It must be looked at often and handled carefully.

A medium to high priced incubator will cost 18 to 25 cents per egg capacity but it will last thirty to forty years if properly cared for. It is not seriously affected by sudden atmospheric changes in temperature or humidity.

As the engine is the valuable part of an automobile, so the heating system is the vital part of the incubator. The heat must flow evenly, constantly and not vary in any part of the egg chamber.

Three heating systems are in general use, hot air, hot water, and electric coils or bulbs. The big advantage of hot air incubators is the constant flow of fresh heated air over the eggs.

The hot water heated incubator consists of hollow metal pipes or drums arranged in the top of the incubator. This volume of a gallon or two of warm water does not permit the temperature to fall rapidly in case the lamp goes out.

Other Parts.

The system has the disadvantage, however, in not providing forced ventilation.

Kerosene lamps are used in most small incubators. The bowl should have a capacity exceeding the twenty-four hours' requirements of the machine. A hole the size of a shingle nail is necessary in the cap to allow fumes and gases from the hot kerosene to escape.

The thermostat is an instrument used to control the temperature inside the incubator. Two types are in common use. Both work on the principle of quickly contracting or expanding when subjected to different degrees of heat.

An accurate mercury thermometer distinctly marked so it can be plainly read is essential.

Watch Temperature.

There is a temptation on the part of operators to give too much attention to the incubator at hatching time. It is important that the temperature, humidity and ventilation in the room be as near perfect as possible, but these can be attended to without frequently opening or disturbing the machine.

There will be a tendency for the temperature to run high, from 104 to 106 degrees, during the last days especially if the hatch is to be a good one. This rise in temperature is caused from heat given off by the chicks in the shells. The temperature should be kept below 105 degrees by lowering the flame.

During the nineteenth day of incubation about 20 per cent of the total mortality die in shell. The principal reason for this is the passing of the large volume of unabsorbed yolk into the body. It is a severe ordeal and a critical stage to pass through.

It is important then, that we help the chicks as much as possible by having conditions as near right as possible, that is, the proper temperature, humidity and ventilation with minimum disturbance.

Moisture Essential.

If things have progressed normally, a large percentage of the eggs should be pipped on the evening of the twentieth day. It is then that an abundance of moisture is essential in the egg chamber to prevent the shell membrane from drying to the chick and thus hindering its exit.

One of the best signs of ample humidity is to see drops of water collect on the inside of the glass door. The humidity in an incubator can be increased by flooding the floor of the room with water two or three times a day by placing a bucket of water under the lamp.

Most of the chicks should be out of the shell on the morning of the twenty-first day. A dark cloth placed over the glass door will keep the chicks from crowding to the front, and prevent picking at the droppings. When the hatch appears to be one-half to two-thirds finished the chicks are let down into the nursery, if nurseries are provided.

This is done by opening the door of the incubator, removing the sand tray quickly and spreading sand, bran or a burlap frame over the floor of the nursery or compartment below the hatching tray.

Never use paper, as it will cause many of the chicks to develop spraddle legs. The trap door in the hatching tray is removed and the door is closed.

This entire operation should be performed speedily to avoid chilling and the escape of moisture. The dark cloth is removed for a few minutes until the majority of the chicks which have dried come forward and drop through to the apartment below.

It is unwise to leave the trap door open before the chicks begin to hatch as many of them will fall through before thoroughly dried and thus become chilled, as the temperature in the nursery of most machines is several degrees cooler than on the hatching tray.

The hatching tray and the unhatched eggs are usually removed on the twenty-second day.

For every 100 eggs set you can count on losing ten infertiles, and ten dead germs the first two weeks of incubation. On the twenty-second day you will find on the average twenty more eggs per 100 set which have not hatched. This will leave sixty chicks from the original 100 eggs, which is considered normal.

It is necessary to "harden" the chicks before transferring them to the brooder. This is done by opening the door of the incubator slightly. The chicks may be left in the machine twenty-four hours after removing the egg tray, or they can be transferred to baby chick boxes, twenty-five in each compartment, and kept in a room at 60 to 70 degrees temperature until they are placed under the brooder.

If they are put in the brooder too long before they receive the first feed, they are apt to fill up on sand, litter, dropping or other objectionable foreign matter.

Chicks should not receive solid feed, as grain, bread crumbs or mash, until 48 hours old. The reason for this delay is to give the chick time to absorb the large mass of egg yolk present in the abdomen. There is no objection to giving the chicks grit and milk previous to the time for feeding grain, especially when they are put in the brooder the day after they hatch.

Essentials to Hatch Good Chicks

THIS LITTLE GIRL HAS PREPARED A COMFORTABLE ROW OF NESTS FOR HER PET HENS. HER DAD HAS BUILT IT OUT OF WOOD THAT HE FOUND AROUND THE FARM. ANYONE ELSE CAN BUILD A SIMPLE NEST RACK LIKE THIS.

MANHATTAN, Kas., March 13. — Kansas prides itself in being one of the best states for raising chicks because of the high proportion of sunshine there is during the spring months.

This, points out Prof. Loyal F. Payne, head of the poultry department College, is one of the two essentials for raising chicks. The other is free range.

For the poultry man who desires to raise the best kind of chicks, Prof. Payne gves the followng advice:

The farm flock on which the majority of hatching eggs are produced have free range and produce very few eggs during winter. A rest or recuperation period following a season of high production is essential for good vigor and hatchability of eggs for following spring.

This condition applies particularly to the hens that have finished one or more laying years. As a rule such hens produce larger, stronger baby chicks and in greated numbers than do the pullets that start laying during the winter.

The high percentage of sunshine in Kansas is an asset that poultry producers have not fully realized. It is probably responsible to some extent for the good hatching results obtaned in this section. The lack of sufficinet sunshine, as for example, during periods of continued cloudly weather may be responsible for the poor results that sometimes occur.

Selecting Breeders.

Care should be used in selecting the males as they wil ltransmit one-half of all the characters represented in their progeny. It is not necessary to introduce new blood every year but is important that you use only the well developed, active, vigorous and sexually strong males that possess type and colour which you wish to have transmitted to your young stocks.

In addition, to the above characters it is quite desirable to use sons from hens with good egg production Those who cannot afford to introduce a sufficient number of these birds for the entire flock, can make progress by purchasing one good individual and mating with 12 to 15 of the choicest females. In this way an edequate number of cockerels can be reared for the entire flock the following year.

The ratio of males to females is 1 to 12-15 for Reds, Rocks, Wyandottes and other general purpose breeds, and 1 to 15-20 for Leghorns and other small breeds. While fertile eggs may be produced two or three days after mating, it is better to wait four to six days before saving hatching eggs to insure maximum fertility. The fertility of eggs after the removal of the male decreases rapidly after the tenth day, but occasionally one may find a fertile egg three weeks after separating the birds.

Egg Make-Up.

The hen lays eggs not for the purpose of supplying us with a wholesome nutritious food, but to reproduce her kind. Every part of the egg is dedicated to the intricate task of making some specific contribution to the bringing forth of a new life in the form of a fluffy little baby chick.

In order to better understand how to properly care for hatching eggs it is necessary to know something of the purpose each part of the egg serves in developing the chick.

The shell of the egg is composed largely of calcium or lime, the material which during incubation is used to give strength to the bone of the developing chick. This shell is full of minute pores through which an exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide is constantly taking place during incubation.

Water composes about 75 per cent. of the egg contents and in order to prevent this water from escaping too rapidly through the small holes in the shell, a gelatin-like substance is added to the outer surface. This transparent filament serves the purpose of sealing the pores to check the evaporation of moisture and to prevent decaying organisms from entering the egg.

This bloom, as it is called, is easily removed by washing and, when it is destroyed, both the keeping quality and the hatchability of the egg is greatly reduced. A crack of any kind in the shell permits of such a rapid loss of moisture and exchange of gases that chicks seldom hatch from such eggs.

Air and Food.

The two membranes that line the inside of the shell separate usually at the large end after the egg is laid, forming an air cell. The air that collects in this cell is put there for the chick to breathe just before it breaks the shell to make its exit.

When the egg is severely shaken, the inner shell membrane frequently breaks. This allows the air cell to move about in the egg, making it practically impossible for the chick to hatch.

Another common error that injures the air cell is to pack eggs for hatching with the large end down.

The white of the egg supplies food for the developing chick the first 16 days of incubation. After the white is absorbed the chick begins to assimilate the yolk.

Eggs to be used for setting should be gathered twice daily when the outside temperature is above 40 deg. F.; but if the weather approaches freezing, gather the eggs four times daily. Eggs that have been severely chilled will not hatch well.

Have Definite Plan.

The hatching power of eggs deteriorates rather rapidly after the fifth day. It is not advisable to keep them longer than seven days before setting.

In this connection may I add that nothing will give more satisfaction in your poultry operations than to have a programme of the season's work. Decide now just how many chicks you expect to hatch, whether you will use hens or incubators, which member of the family will be responsible for the incubation work, whether or not you will make any changes in the location of the hens or incubators, and a hundred other minor questions that might be answered now when you have plenty of time for deliberation.

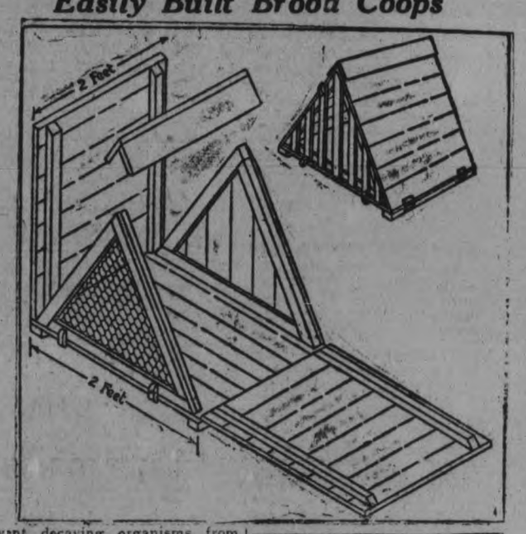
Farmers are advised when gathering corn to throw the best ears in a box on the side of the wagon for seed. In like manner some system of sorting eggs when selecting for hatching purposes is advisable.

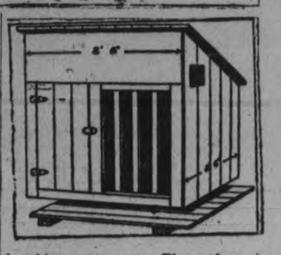
The culls, which include the small or extra large eggs, the thin-shelled or poorly shaped eggs, cracks, dirties, long and pointed or round eggs, should be put in a box in the pantry, for table use or in the market basket when the eggs are brought in from the poultry house.

The old notion about round eggs hatching into pullets and the long, pointed ones into cockerels has long since been exploded.

The medium-sized, clean, smooth-shelled eggs weighing 22 to 28 oz. per dozen should be placed in a clean basket or egg case, and saved for hatching purposes. Place them in the basement, cave or a room that is well ventilated and not heated. The room temperature can range from 45 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit without injuring the hatching qualities.

Easily Built Brood Coops





Summary.

In conclusion the importance of free range for the breeding flock during the hatching season should be stressed. If it is necessary to confine the birds provide direct sunlight in the house by removing the glass windows in front.

Use the same care in selecting your breeding stock that you use in choosing your seed corn or wheat. You don't plant corn from nubbins or sow wheat screenings, therefore it is not advisable to raise chickens from culls or scrubs.

Provide a special breeding pen, if possible, using a pedigreed male from a high-producing mother for the purpose of supplying next year's breeding males for the entire flock.

The egg is a delicate fragile organism designed exclusively for the purpose of reproducing a baby chick. This intent is often destroyed by abusing the egg in various ways, as for example, allowing the shell to become cracked, dirty or smeared with the contents of other eggs, rough handling, keeping too long before setting, subjecting to high and low temperature, and in many other ways.

Smooth, clean, sound-shelled eggs of medium size from vigorous stock and not more than one week old when set will give the best results.

These two types of brood coops for hen and chicks can be made easily from spare strips of wood on the farm. These are good places for hatching chickens as well as brooding them. When this is done, however, the nest should be taken out, and the coop thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. The A-shaped coop, above is collapsible so that it can be easily cleaned and stored away. A wire screen door is provided for the opening at night to keep rats and other enemies from entering and killing the chicks.

Wall paper which has been on the walls of a British house for 200 years is being carefully removed and will be used to paper a Queene Anne room in a museum.

C.G.E. DEFEATED BY DAVENPORT

HIGH SCORE 640

A 5 pin match of unusual interest took place Saturday evening at the Water St. Alleys. Two teams from the Davenport Works of the Canadian General Electric Co. journeyed up from Toronto and succeeded in winning the 4-4 championship cup from the Peterboro factory teams by the score of 4 games to 2. The Davenport A team is rated one of the best in the province—being the Toronto city champions—and having also recently cleaned up against Hamilton's best. They were unable to strike their usual stride at Peterboro but Foster's fine game of 306 decided the final game in their favor. The B teams both outdid their respective A teams and it is expected that both A teams will be challenged to demonstrate their qualifications for the A rating in the near future. Foster was high man o'r the evening with 640, while Burgess was a close second with 599. After the match the visiting teams were entertained at Hooper's.

The scores were as follows:

RUTH SITTING UP

Yankees' Star Reconciled to Missing Opener.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Feeling much better and on the road to recovery from his complication of acute indigestion and influenza, Babe Ruth sat up in bed at St. Vincent's Hospital Sunday afternoon and smiled in a real cheerful manner. Personally, Babe thinks he will be able to play Tuesday, but he is the only one immediately concerned in what the famous slugger does or does not do who is so optimistic. Dr. Edward King, the New York American League club's doctor who is attending Babe, says the big fellow will have to stay in bed for a week. Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, and Edward Barrow, secretary of the club, feel that Babe should stay in the hospital and keep to his bed for a week and are planning to open the season against the Senators at the Stadium without their famous home run king. The only one who might overrule these plans is Ruth himself.

Yesterday, however, Babe had become reconciled to missing the opening game. He has come to realize that he has been very sick and that his usual ability to throw off colds and other ailments that persist in following him, was taxed to the limit on this occasion and that rest and lots of it is about all that will mend his wracked system.

"I guess I will have to take Dr. King's advice," said Babe yesterday as he partook of his egg and milk luncheon. "And he says I can't play in the opening game. But I won't miss many games, you can bet on that."

PERU RELAY TEAM BEATEN BY BRITONS

Cambridge Leads Americans by Five Yards—Oxford Third.

LONDON, April 13.— An all-British quartet of Cambridge University runners won the triangular mile relay race at the Queen's Club Saturday from the University of Pennsylvania team by five yards. The Oxford University team, composed of one Canadian and one Englishman and two Americans finished last, one yard behind Pennsylvania. The winning time was three minutes 22 3-5 seconds.

The third lap decided the race. With a gallant sprint down the stretch, Lord Burghley, who two week ago won both high and low hurdles for Cambridge in the interversity sports competition, captured the lead. Waiting for Burghley's baton, was the olympic champion, D. G. A. Lowe, and, with a five yard lead to start with, Lowe raced around the track with everyone confident that he would win.

Running against him in the final quarter was W. E. Stevenson, for Oxford, and F. O. MacDonald, of Pennsylvania, another Olympic star. There was little hope for either of them catching the fast-footing Lowe, but they made a beautitful battle for second place, MacDonald winning.

The victory of Cambridge greatly pleased the crowd at Queen's Club for it was strictly British.

"We did our best, and if we could have had a better team we would have won, but we hadn't. Although we have only been here since Monday we found the weather and track satisfactory. Cambridge has a team of fast runners and fine fellows, and that is all there is to it."

The race was run under ideal weather conditions. The Penn team will sail for home next Wednesday.

TWO PENALTIES DEFEAT DUNDEE IN FINAL GAME

SCORE WAS 2-1

Champions Played Brilliantly With Gallagher the Best Man on Field.

GLASGOW, April 13. — Two goals to one represented the score which the Glasgow Celtic stacked up against Dundee in Saturday's final game for the "blue riband" of Scottish "Soccer" football, and in winning the Association cup for the eleventh time the Celtic set up a record. Seventy-five thousand fans crowded Hanfpden Park for the annual classic and scenes of unrestrained enthusiasm greeted the local "Irishmen's" well-merited victory.

Dundee were perhaps unlucky, particularly in the first half, notwithstanding that the turn of the game found the Dundonians leading by one goal; and the fact that both of Celtic's counters were obtained by penalties, would indicate that the breaks went distinctly against Dundee. On the general run of the game, howeve:, Celtic were the superior team. Their right wind developed a tremendous attack, and time and again, Connelly, Gallagher and McCrory swept up the field in brilliant demonstrations of the very highest class of play.

In a large measure it was due to the magnificent work of Britton in Dundee's goal that the score was not more. Gallagher packed all his old time tricks but even at that he did not get everything his own way for both Brown and Thompson threw out a stronger screen in front of Britton. Nevertheless, Gallagher was certainly the best player on the field and stood head and shoulders above all others.

Stonewall Defence.

Unfortunately for Dundee's forwards they were up against McStay, Celtic's international back, when he was running at the top of his form, which meant that the defence he put up was impregnable.

Halliday worked his way down into the Celtic's territory on many occasions, but all his efforts were brought to nothing when he found himself confronted with the sturdy internationalist.

The game on the whole was a fine display of excellent soccer. Both teams were all out for the cup, and both realized that the best chance of winning it lay in playing real, scientific football, as apart from the kick and the rush. The result was as beautiful a game as ever was played on Hampden Park.

The forward lines in each team combined well, and they had splendid oportunities opened up for them by their half-backs, all of which were developed to good advantage. The first score came to Dundee when the when the visiting forwards were swarming around Shevlin, and giving him a hard time. McLean secured possession from a rebound and booted in a stinger that Shevlin was unable to save.

Exciting Finish.

With this margin against them the Celtic entered the second half full of resolution. But throughout the exciting minutes that ensued they were unable to do much, notwithstanding that they invaded the Dundee terrain time and again. It was not until about fifteen minutes from the end of the game that Gallagher got a free kick, which he slammed into the net, Britton having no chance at all.

The closing minutes were intense, full of thrills, and brought the 75,000 cheering fans to their feet. The play swung up and down field with each side looking like a score at any time. Nothing came, however, until Celtic were again awarded another free kick, about four minutes from the final whistle. McCrory took it, and once again Britton was defeated. Thereafter Dundee, despite manful efforts, were unable to equalize, and had to accept their defeat, after one of the most gallant losing fights they had ever put up.

LEAGUE DISBANDS

MONTREAL, April 13. — Following a meeting of the Quebec-Ontario Baseball League here on Saturday, it was decided to disband the league.

Quebec were anxious to carry on, as were the Montreal Royals, but Ottawa failed to send a representative to the meeting, and the Canadian management was disinclined to operate under the conditions in existence last season.

The Referee

What pitchers in the American League won 20 games or more during the 1924 season?—S. E. A.

Walter Johnson, Pennock, Shaute and Thurston.

Michigan finished third with 31½ points.

What was the outcome of the bout between Dave Rosenburg and Larry Estridge last November?—R. T. R.

Estridge was given the decision on points in 12 rounds.

ONE OF BEST IN DOUBLE A

JOHNNY HODAPP

PLANT CITY, Fla., April 13.—Every major league manager that has brought his club to this city to play the Indianapolis club of the American Association has shown a keen interest in Johnny Hodapp, crack third baseman of the Indians.

"He's the best infield prospect in the American Association, as far as making good in the big show," says Donie Bush, his manager. Bush one of the greatest shortstops the American League ever turned out, should know an infielder.

The rise of Hodapp has been meteoric. In fact he was a Cincinnati sandlotter. He came direct to Indianapolis from the connecting league, was ever in the bushes, and made good from the start.

Throughout last season he was always among the first five hitters of the American Association, finishing with an average of .343.

Hodapp is almost certian to go the majors at the close of 1925. He is only 19 years old and seems to improve with every game.

HORNSBY'S BATTING LOGIC

ROGERS HORNSBY, CLOSE UP, AND SWINGING AT ONE.

STOCKTON, Calif., April 9—Hitting the ball is the only thing that batting averages can thrive on.

Rogers Hornsby, five years the leading batsman of the National League, stands as far away from the plate as possible. His record bears out his reason.

"From this position, I can judge whether it is going inside or outside of the plate," he explains. "There is no ducking if it is inside, as I'm not hugging the plate.

"I use a long bat, and when one comes over any part of the plate, I can get to it. If it's on the far side, I step in and reach it.

"If it cuts the inside, I can stand still, and still swing fully, to hit it with the big end of the bat.

"From my position in the box, a low curve loses its baffling ability, and all pitching looks the same. If they get over the plate between knee and shoulder that's a strike—and I hit them when they're over."

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

The punch is put into the clubhead, with the "pull down" mostly by the twist of the shoulders and partly by the shooting-forward action of the left hip at the instant the clubhead meets the ball. That is what fools the average golfer—he thinks it is body force that hits the ball. The correctly hit ball leaves you with the feeling that your body has had practically nothing to do with it.

At the top of the back swing the player adopting the "pull down" must understand that there is a momentary pause of the clubhead, to give it time to reverse its direction. From this pause, pull the club down and directly toward the ball. The grip of the shaft must at all times be so light that you feel the pull of the clubhead in the sensitive finger muscles. The instant the clubhead "gets away from you" you will miss this feel. You lose the clubhead in the back swing, usually, by breaking back the left wrist, which lets the clubhead get out of the fingers, and the arm and shoulder muscles are not sensitive enough to feel it. Balance it on your finger muscles and keep it there. Relaxation of the wrists at the start will keep you free from tightening, as a usual thing. By poising the club at the top you get the "pull down" started without a jerk. You will readily learn how hard you can pull without pressing, since the "pull down" usually works out that way. It makes a wonderful gauge with which to mark the line ebtween swinging and pressing — something golfers have neevr been able realy to get hold of.

GLENNA COLLETT SAILS.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R.I., sailed for England yesterday to take a shot at the British women's golf title, now held by Miss Joyce Wethered and never won by a foreigner.

FIRST DIVISION LEADERSHIP IS STILL IN DOUBT

Huddersfield, West Bromton and Bolton Running in That Order.

AT "FIERCE" STAGE

Saturday Results Had No Material Effect on Clubs' Standing.

LONDON, April 13. — (Canadian Press).—The struggle for leadership of the various Leagues, for promotion into senior company in the case of the Second and Third Divisions and against relegation from the higher to the lower sections, has now reached the "fierce" stage, and all games played in the scheduled encounters of the English Football Association now belong to the type where "friendship has long ceased." Except in the case of Darlington in the Northern Section of the Third Division, who are certain to win this title, the honors are surrounded by a big interrogation, for in the First, the Second and the Southern Section of the Third Divisions, there is a tremendous doubt. And Saturday's games did not in any way contribute towards dispelling it.

Huddersfield Town, West Bromwich Albion and Bolton Wanderers are the three clubs that must fight out the rest of the season for leadership in the First Division. At the moment they are running in the order named, for West Bromwich failed to acquire their two points against Liverpool, which would have brought them into "Even Steven" with the town. At the same time a handy win by Bolton Wanderers over Sheffield United enabled them to haul in a little closer to the title.

Stubborn Contest.

The match between Sunderland and Huddersfield Town, which ended in a draw of one goal each, was witnessed by the record crowd of 40,000, and was the best game seen on the Wear-side this season. The "gate" was the largest of the day. It was a hard-fought game, with Sunderland playing stubbornly against the leaders, and the Town putting everything into it in an effort to get their points. At the heel of the hunt, they had to accept a division.

It was fortunate for Huddersfield that West Bromwich Albion met equally as stern a combination when they entertained Liverpool, and the failure of the Albion to bring out a victory on their own ground came as a distinctly bitter draught to their supporters. The Liverpool defence was too good, and their stonewall opposition was disconcerting to the West Bromwich forwards, who were unable to penetrate.

One of the surprises of the day was the defeat of Arsenal by Preston North-End. The latter's win, however, came too late to save them from relegation, and they will have to go down to the Second Division, accompanied by Notts Forest. Preston showed wonderful form, and they opened the scoring with a penalty. It was only the capable defence of Robson, Baker and Kennedy that saved the Highbury Club from being defeated by a greater margin.

Notts Forest put up a good fight against Birmingham and split the points, but as in the case of Preston, any rally that they could possibly stage from now until the season's end is several weeks belated.

Sheffield United Defeated.

To followers of English Cup form, the games of the two finalists, Cardiff City and Sheffield United, were interesting and these two teams are being carefully watched. Cardiff won at home, defeating Aston Villa by two to one, while Sheffield United dropped their game to Bolton Wanderers on the latter's ground.

Cardiff were unfortunate in having Beadleu, their inside left, and Nicholson, injured, the former having to get stitches put in his head. These two players were off the field at the same time, and it was in their absence, while Cardiff were playing nine men against eleven, that Villa were able to score their solitary counter. The Welshmen, however, secured the lead in the second half, and won a very creditable game. They displayed much better form than Sheffield, and as a consequence their stock was highly boosted on Saturday.

Newcastle United were disastrously defeated and put out of the League running when Tottenham Hotspurs ran up three goals against them. The 'Spurs' forwards were in excellent shape, and had the United running round in circles. Dimmock was a bright feature in Tottenham's team, and was responsible for two of the counters.

Second Division.

In the Second Division neither Leicester City nor Derby County were able to break in deadlock, and the game they staged at Leicester before a tremendous crowd, which constituted a record for the local ground, was one of the most magnificent battles of the whole League. Leicester put a great defence. Also, Derby County were just a bit unlucky when Fairclough failed to convert a penalty kick. It was while the two leaders were battling it out to a draw that Manchester United again improved their position and lessened the gap between them and the "top-notchers" by trimming South Shields, just as South Shields had taken Derby County into camp on Friday. This win placed the United in a good position for the title, running as they are a couple of points in the aggregate behind both the County and the City.

The Second Division battle is even more interesting than the First, inasmuch as the first two in the division are automatically promoted to senior company. The struggle lies between Leicester, Derby and the United in the order named.

In the other Second Division games, Chelsea defeated Port Vale by a single goal, but it was only poor shooting on the part of the Pensioners that prevented the score from being greater. They had many chances which they failed to take.

LAKEFIELD SOFTBALL

Five Teams Start in the Town's Softball League.

LAKEFIELD, April 13. — A meeting was held in the Veterans' rooms on Friday night to make the final arrangements for the season's games. Up to date five teams have signified their intention of entering, viz., Veterans, Firemen, Eversharps, Kennedy's Colts and Business Men. It is possible that the High school will play on the Town Hall grounds. Dr. S. J. Gibson was appointed official umpire. In the absence of the president, Mr. G. G. Connell, and the secretary, Mr. R. Everett, the schedule was arranged for only two nights, Monday and Tuesday:

Monday — Firemen vs. Eversharps.
Tuesday—G.W.V.A. vs. Colts.

FISH AND GAME

SPECKLED TROUT SEASON OPENS

From now until September the fly rod angler and his favorite "book of fiction"—the fly book, again become boon compaions.

Speckled trout may be legally caught in Maine "from the time the ice goes out"; in New York "the first Saturday in April; "while the Canadian provinces and from New England to California the season "breaks" from the first of April to the first of May.

Trout fishing calls for a long-tapered split bamboo rod. It is the most beautiful and graceful in the angler's art—for the most beautiful fish in inland waters. With this virtue of beauty and color and form there is the added joy of gameness personified. No sweeter morsel ever pleased the palate of man than the pink flesh of this courageous battler of clean and cold waters.

It is no wonder then that those responsible for the culture and distribution of fish stocked both lake and stream, throughout the land, with this spotted warrior.

Mountain streams from Washington to lower California hold him; from Maine to the hills of north Georgia; the Ozarks of Missouri and Arkansas; Yellowstone and most of our national parks; New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Colorado, the Dakotas, Montana and in mountain streams of the southwest the speckled beauty is angled for and prized, above all other fish.

The speckled trout, unlike the bass and other game fish, spawns in the fall. From that time until spring the fish eats little, if at all. During the winter food is naturally scarce.

When the ice goes out in the spring, and the insect life again comes into being, and the rains once more wash down food to stream and lake—well, that time is now and the trout are waiting. It is the "sorting time" in the ripples, at the head of the pools, where the stream enters the lake and when the fish are not so particular whether the lowly angleworm is festooned with a hook.

U.S. HOCKEY

PITTSBURGH, April 13. —The Yellow Jackets, by their defeat here Saturday night of the Fort Pitt Hornets, 2 to 1, won for the second consecutive season the Unitde States' Amateur Hockey League title. Both teams represent Pittsburgh, the Yellow Jackets being the western division representatives in the league and the Hornets the eastern.

BERLENBACH BOUT

Signs to Meet Mike McTigue on May 29th.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Paul Berlenbach, New York light heavyweight, has signed a contract with Tex Rickard to meet Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight champion, in a 15-round title match at the Yankee stadium May 29, as the main attraction at the annual Milk Fund show. McTigue will arrive here Monday to discuss terms with Rickard.

DARTMOUTH DOES WELL ON JAUNT.

Dartmouth enjoyed a most successful trip during its baseball invasion of the south, playing superb ball most of the time. The pitching of "Ace" Edwards stood out prominently. Judging from the brand of stuff the Green displayed, the team is expected to cut quite a swath in eastern diamond circles this season.

MAJOR LEAGUES OPEN TOMORROW

CLUBS ARE READY

NEW YORK, April 13.—The day that the baseball fan has been awaiting for several months is now practically at hand. With the six weeks of spring training now completed, the sixteen major league clubs are ready to begin their races for the pennants and the right to take part in the world's series almost six months hence. Unless unfavorable weather conditions interfere with the present plans, the championship races in both leagues will get under way on Tuesday.

Inasmuch as the Giants opened the season on their home grounds last year, the Yankees will have the honor of starting the local season this year. Before a crowd that is expected to tax the canacity of the gigantic Yankee Stadium, the local American League club will start its campaign with the Washington Senators, now champions of the world, as its opponent. This game will mark the beginning of the Yankees' efforts to regain the league championship, which they held for three successive years before it was won last season by the Washington club.

Despite the fact that it is now practically certain that Babe Ruth, who was forced to leave the team and return home because of illness last week, will not be able to take part in the opening game, one of the largest crowds that ever jammed its way into the big enclosure is expected to be on hand to watch the Yankees and their chief American League rivals. The advance sale of tickets for the opening game has now been going on for the past several days, and officials of the club report that it has been unusually heavy.

McCOY ENTERS PRISON.

Hopes to Develop Convict Boxing Champion.

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., April 13.—Norman Selby, "Kid McCoy," arrived at the State Prison here Saturday from Los Angeles to begin serving an indeterminate sentence for manslaughter in the slaying of Mrs. Theresa Mors.

The former dapper idol of the prize fight ring was dressed in a bulging blue serge coat and county jail overalls. A faded rose was in his buttonhole.

On the ferry, before reaching the prison McCoy, who had been quiet on the trip, threw a salt shaker and broke the lens of a camera of a news paper photographer.

Sighting the prison, McCoy remarked to his interviewers:

"Don't make me sad or gloomy as I enter the 'big rock.' I want to do everything that they tell me to do. I want to work hard and be a model prisoner. The prison will give me an education that I never had a chance to get before.

"I want to go in for boxing and other athletics. Maybe I can develop a prison boxing champion."

"This is a fine place to spend Easter," was his last remark as the big outer gate clanged shut on him.

ENGLAND WINS RUGBY.

Defeats France 13 to 11, Finishing Third in International Standing.

COLUMBOS STADIUM, Paris, April 13.—England defeated France 13 points to 11, in to-day's final international Rugby fixture of the season. England thus finishes third in International standing to Scotland and Ireland, and France last. At half time, the score was 13 to 5, but in the second period France held the Englishmen scoreless and piled up six points on their own.

YOUNG PEOPLE MET.

Epworth League of Bridgenorth Entertained at Gilmour Memorial Church.

A very pleasant evening was spent recently at Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, Bridgenorth, when the Epworth League of the Bridgenorth Methodist church was entertained. A splendid address on Temperance was given by Miss Pauline Udy, and Mr. Garbutt Mann read the Scripture lesson, after which an enjoyable programme was rendered. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and amusements, with refreshments served by the young people of Gilmold B.Y.P.U.

DASH TO THE POLE.

Explorer Starts in a Small Steamer—Will Proceed By Airship.

FALMOUTH, England, April 13.—Grettir Algareson and the men who will accompany him on his exploration trip to the North Pole next month, saled yesterday aboard the little steamer Iceland for Liverpool, from which port a start is to be made. The final dash to the pole is to be made in a small airship of the blimp type, and Aalgareson is taking with him 30 tons of cylinders containing 50,000 cubic feet of gas for inflating the craft.

MINSTREL MIMICS MAKING PROGRESS

Kiwanis Annual Revue is Being Welded Into Shape Rapidly.

It is with much interest that all those who are taking part in the annual Kiwanis revue "Minstrel Mimics" to be given at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday nights April 24 and 25, are watching the linking of the various highly entertaining skits and acts. "Minstel Mimics" to to be a show of real merit, and much real hard work is being put forth by those who are to appear behind the footlights on the above named nights.

Just to mention one of the acts which follow the minstrel first part, let it be said that the skit known as the "Isle of Never Known" is to be most refreshing with its laugh provoking, side splitting comedy. The scene for this act is laid on an uncharted island of the China Sea; let us say at most any time and the plot "thickens." In other words don't fail to see what Alec Dick as "Queen Olives" does with the royal subjects of the island, and how Jasper and Ephraim, two stranded sailors, save their hides from a South Sea isle "stew," "roast" or "fry."

Let it again be emphasized that the Kiwanis Club has left nothing undone as regards plans to make this undertaking the biggest yet attempted by local people, although the revue is to be amateur in name only.

Be one of the wise throng and plan on seeing the annual Kiwanis Club show which is being given for the benefit of the underprivileged children of Peterborough.

McGEE CENTENARY.

OTTAWA, April 13.— (Canadian Press.)— Canada will to-day celebrate the century of the birth of Thomas D'Arcy McGee, statesman and patriot, and one of the fathers of Canadian Confederation. The committee in charge of arrangements had a wreath placed on his monument at the rear of the Parliament Buildings this morning.

Many out-of-town guests have arrived for the centennial dinner at the Chateau Laurier to-night.

NOT THE VOICE OF CANADIAN WORKERS

President Tom Moore Says Organized Workers Don't Want Separation.

OTTAWA, April 13. — (Canadian Press.)— President Tom Moore, of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, stated in an interview this morning that the resolution demanding complete independence from Great Britain, which was passed by the convention of the Ontario section of the Canada Labor Party does not voice the sentiments of organized workers in Canada.

One of the basic ecomonic laws is the law of diminishing utility which states that the intensity of our desire for additional units of a commodity decreases as we acquire successive units.

To illustrate this point let us take suits of clothes. It is imperative to have a suit of clothes in this country. Most of us feel it is also better to have two suits of clothes than it is to have but one. However, few will contentd that to have two suits of clothes is twice as valuable as the possession of one. And as we go on, each successive suit becomes of less actual value. If we had nineteen suits of clothes the acquisition of a twentieth would probably be of little importance so far as our personal satisfaction and need was concerned.

The whole law resolves itself into the phrase, it is better to have some than it is to have more. Of course, a number of various loopholes can be found in this law but they are not, strictly speaking, matters of ecomonics. For instance—the acquisition of several good pictures or books is likely to stimulate the desire to posessess more.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

Theatre-goers are to have the privilege of seeing Bernard Shaw's latest and greatest play, "Saint Joan" at the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, Ont., Monday evening, April 20th.

The city should feel a certain pride in having the Shaw play here so early in its American tour, as outside of its one year's engagement at the Empire and Garrick Theatres, New York, and subsequent brief engagements in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and a few of the more important mid-western cities, it will be the twentieth city to receive a visit from what is claimed Shaw's latest and greatest play. Within the limits of four acts and an epilogue, Shaw epitomized the outstanding events of "Saint Joan's" life, together with their far reaching significance. The basic inspiration of the French girl's career was that she came from the common people at a time when feudalism held them in serfdom; that through her vision and courage, she rose to the pinnacle of power, dragging her contemporaries with her by the sheer force and enthusiasm, and that when her work was done being deserted by her friends, she submitted to the stake, rather than renounce those ideas which she held to be the truth, or give up her liberty.

In the epilogue, Joan and those who were he rpersecutors in the flesh, appear in a dream to the King of France. All—English and French alike—pay homage on their knees to the spirit of Saint Joan. We did not understand, they tell her. We lacked the imaginatino to see what you did.

The company for this production includes Miss Julia Arthur, Edwin Mordant, Henry Buckler, Lynn Pratt, W. J. Maloney, George Fitzgerald, Lowden Adams, Erskine Sanford, Albert Barrett, Stanley Wood, Edward Skinner, House Baker Jameson, George Kendall and a score of others.

AT THE CAPITOL

PUNCH SCENES IN "COMING THROUGH"

Meighan Picture a Genuine Screen Thriller.

Where you find Meighan you generally find action.

"Coming Through" is a story of coal mining and coal miners, adapted to the screen by Paul Schofield from Jack Bethea's popular novel, "Bed Rock." Lila Lee is featured in the leading woman's role. Wallace Beery heads the supporting cast which also includes such prominent stage and screen players as John Miltern, Frank Campeau and Laurance Wheat.

Tom's role is that of Tom Blackford employed with a big steel corporation. He is shipped off to the company's mines at Colton, just outside of Birmingham, as superintendent. Here the real action starts.

The big punch scenes in the picture include a hand-to-hand fight between Meighan and Beery on a skeleton frame-work about sixty feet above ground. Beery is bested and takes a "header" to a rock below. You've seen screen fights before, to be sure, but never anything that quite comes up to this.

Another breath-taker is the scene where one of the "trips," a coal car, breaks away and goes hurtling down through the mine at terrifying speed. Tom turns a switch in the nick of time, sending the car crashing into the framework of the mine and bringing down a shower of dirt and rocks from overhead, but saving the lives of many of the miners. Here's the big kick in the picture.

If you're a true Meighan fan you'll be on hand early for "Coming Through."

AT THE ROYAL

COUNTRY STORE NITE TO-NIGHT

To-Night, as an added novelty, will be "Country Store Nite." Over fifty patrons will receive prizes. This is the first of a series of novelty nights at the Royal.

"Butterfly" by Kathleen Norris story of youth that is different at Royal to-night.

"JAZZ SATURATION" NEW PHRASE COINED BY NOTED DIRECTOR.

Jazz saturation is the latest scientific term-

It was invented by Clarence Brown now a picture director, formerly an electrical engineer—and this same "Jazz Saturation' is one of the principal attributes of "Butterfly," the spectacular filmization of Kathleen Norris' novel, coming to the Royal Theatre, commencing to-day.

The new universal production deals with classic music versus jazz—and real love versus flirtation, as parallells in an asounding story of two sisters, their love affairs,and the complications thereof. Eight famous players appear in the leading roles; Lauro La Plante, Norman Kerry Ruth Clifford and Kenneth Harlan as the four principal figures; Freeman Wood, Cesare Gravina, T.Roy Barnes and Margaret Livingston as the "counterplot' characters. The production was made by Clarence Brown, of "The Signal Tower" and "The Acquittal" fame.

Brown, delving into the Kathleen Norris classic, read by over 6,000,000 people, and conceived the idea of parallel between jazz and real music and flirtation and real love— hence the daring scene in which Laura La Plante, the flirt of the story, and generally temperamental selfish younger sister, is contrasted with every piece of a jazz orchestra in a wild saturnalia of jazz strains. All for the sake of a strong phychological effect.

"We used the saxaphone, heartcry of the moron, the sourest notes of a trick trombone, and all the musical vagaries that a trap drummer can invent," says Brown, "and let Laura, who is a clever violinist, play with this combination until she was fairly saturated wth jazz—then, at the point of jazz saturation, we turned the cameras loose!" Which explains the daring scene.

AIR HAWK TO-NIGHT.

Fighting tooth and nail in gruelling hand to hand conflict on the wings of an airplane hundreds of feet in the air, missing his step, and almost plunging to a ghastly death on the rocks below, is but one of the thrills developed with amazing skill in "The Air Hawk," the first of the entertaining Al Wilson aviation stunt melodramas which comes to the Regent Theatre to-night.

Wilson, called by critics, the Horseman of the Heavens," has established himself as one of the most popular of the cinema stars by his daring exploits in the clouds. He first won honors as an Ace in the French Flying Corps during the World War and later in the ranks of the Yankee airmen. Then came his jump to the movies where he intends to remain for some time to come. In addition to being the best stunt man in pictures Wilson is also a fine actor. His leading woman in "The Air Hawk" is beautiful Virginia Brown Faire.

Life is strenuous these days for Virginia Brown Faire, the movie actress. Recently she agreed to play the leading role opposite Al. Wilson, the daredevil of the skies, noted stunt aviator, now starring in a series of motion pictures.

The first production, "The Air Hawk," in which Miss Faire will appear comes to the Regent Theatre to-night.

No less than seven times was the young actress called upon to risk her life while filming "The Air Hawk." She rode high in the skies, leaped from wing to wing; was whirled into nose dives and falling leaves and took part in a thrilling airplane race in which one of the big ships was crashed into fragments.

When the production was completed Little Miss Faire gave a sigh of relief but there was some recompense in the thought that she had overcome her fear of aviation, and that now she regards herself as a full fledged flier.

Striking a new note in ..rilling action pictures, "The Air Hawk," first of the Van Pelt productions starring Al. Wilson, comes to the Regent Theatre to-night. Wilson, long known throughout the nation as a stunt aviator, whose intrepid exploits in the clouds have thrilled thousands, appears for the first time in a dramatic picture, and he proves a revelation in acting ability. Nothing more sensational has ever been screened than his fight on the wing of an airplane circling thousands of feet above the earth. Changing planes in midair is child's play for Mr. Wilson, and the story gives him a score of difficult feats to perform. Virginia Brown Faire is cast in the role of the leading woman, and Bruce Mitchell has given the picture astute direction.

Today we wish to stress some of the many very attractive things to be found on our third floor devoted mainly to house furnishings of the better class — Curtains, Curtain Materials and Draperies of all kinds are here on display. The elevator takes you up in comfort.

Sherwood Silk Draperies

These are the finest materials for draping windows in dining room or living room. Our new arrivals are exceedingly rich in coloring and design. Brilliant shades of blue, bronze, strawberry, with gold predominating in many of these over draperies, reflect the light and enhance the brightness of the room—the plain or figured silk gauze for the curtains are also new and comprise a splendid choice.

The prevailing shade is ecru, which goes well with any over drapery.

See these on our third floor, by our special invitation.

HOME NURSING CLOSING.

The closing exercises of the combined Home Nursing Classes, which have been held in the city this season under the auspices of the Red Cross Society, and direction of Miss M. McNaughton, of Toronto, who conducted the classes at the Library, and Mrs. E. H. Wood, who had charge of the classes at the Y.W.C.A., will take place on Thursday next, April 16th, at eight p.m., in the auditorium of the Public Library. A practical demonstration by members will be given. Dr. Routley, secretary of the Canadian Red Cross Society, will speak. Members and their friends are cordially invited to be present. 1d-87-182

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.
Convince a man against his will, and he will hold the same opinion still. The one who wilfully refuses to accept the truth may eventually believe a lie. It is not strange for those who will not walk in the light to become fanatics, preaching absurd and false doctrines. I had the experience very lately of listening to a harangue composed of a regular tissue of falsehood. It aroused pity for the speaker and his hearers. Methinks if he defamed his fellow-man, through the press, as he defamed the character and holy name of God, there might be sufficient cause for entering an action against him for libel. However, the pulpit seems to be a sheltering place for certain ones to say what they please, in regard to God and man, none daring to gainsay it.—M. T. Butcher. 1d87 10269

JEALOUSY MADE YOUTH SLAYER

Ernest Rhodes Was Chaffed By Girl—Police Say He Confesses.

GAVE HIMSELF UP. . .

LONDON, April 13.—(Canadian Press). — A sorry story of fatal jealousy was told in Police court today when Ernest Rhodes, eighteen year old valet, appeared to answer the charge of murdering Grace Blakaller, pretty 16 year old actress and dancing instructress who died on Friday from effects of a slash in the throat the night previous in West Kensington district.

A statement was read in the records, alleged to have been made by Rhodes to the police, admitting he had cut the girl's throat wtih a razor.

The fatal act as recorded in the statement was committed impulsively in a fit of jealousy as he was bidding the young dancer good night outside her home on their return from a moving picture theatre and she chaffed him about other boys she might see during the Easter holidays. Rhodes said he was not aware he had slashed the girl fatally, as she ran to her mother's home nearby after the cutting and he did not know she was dead until two days later when he read the news in the papers. He then surrendered to the police. Rhodes was remanded for a week.

YOUTHFUL SUICIDE HAS QUEER DIARY

Tells of Struggle Against Incurable Disease—Amazing Revelations.

CHICAGO, April 13. —(Canadian Press). — Robert Preston, 21 years old north-western university student, and son of a wealthy Oak Park family ended what he considered a "Life of Failure" with a strange death in Lake Michigan yesterday. A bullet wound in his head and a brief case of diaries strapped to him and weighed down with three heavy pieces of iron were conclusions which apparently explained the youths self confessed philosophy — "When you get to end of your rope tie a knot and hang yourself." The coroner's physicians described the diaries as amazingly frank revelations of the phantasies of modern youth. The doctors found a tragic story in the lad's confessions of his struggle against an incurable diabetic condition brought on by over indulgence.

WEDDING BELLS.

BURKHOLDER—JONES.
At high noon on Saturday, a pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Killingbeck, Bethune Street, when the latter's sister, Roberta Winifred, youngest daughter of Mr. R. W. Jones and the late Mrs. Jones, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Rellen Frank Burkholder, only son of Mrs. S. Burkholder, of Toronto, and the late S. Burkholder. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Pogue.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, lookely lovely in a gown of mauve georgette, trimmed with silver, with silver bandeau and shoes. She carried a shower bouquet of sunburst roses and mauve sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Miss K. Beswetherick, of Toronto, wore peach georgette and carried a bouquet of columbia roses and sweet peas. The bride's brother-in-law, Mr. N. Killingbeck, acted as best man.

A luncheon to about twenty-five guests followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Burkholder left on the 3.25 train, the bride travelling in a suit of cinnamon brown, with hat and shoes to match.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a gold mesh bag, to the bridesmaid a silver bag, and to the best man gold cuff links. Many beautiful and useful presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Burkholder, who will reside in Toronto.

WOUNDED MEN GO ON STRIKE

Hospital Regulations Prevented Holiday—Soldiers May Be Fined.

AT ROEHAMPTON.

LONDON, April 13. — (United Press). — The strangest strike on record has began at Queen Mary's Hospital, Roehampton where crippled and mutilated war veterans are being cared for or nursed back to health.

Several patients recently were transformed from Sheppard's Bush Hospital to Roehampton. They applied for passes to spend Easter at home. A ministry of pension ruling requires that patients must have been in a hospital three months before they attain the privileges of passes.

When the maimed veterans learned that their transfer would compel them to spend Easter at Roehampton, they decided to strike until Tuesday when they would return. The only punishment the government can impose is a fine of two day's pension money.

CRIES OF TORTURED MAN BRING POLICE

Robbers' Method of Quieting Victim Had the Wrong Result.

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 13. — (United Press.) — Cecil Mayers yelled when robbers entered his garage. To quiet him the yeggmen tortured Mayers by holding lighted matches to his finger tpis and battered him over the head with a pistol butt. This only caused Mayers to yell all the louder, however, attracting the attention of the police, who captured one of the men after a chase.

BOY WAS KILLED.

SEAFORTH, Ont., April 13. — (Canadian Press).—Claver, aged 17, youngest son of Con. Eckert, a resident of this town, lost his life yesterday afternoon. The boy was playing with a .22 calibre rifle in a barn on the farm of John McMann, adjoining town, when in some manner it burst and part of the lock was driven into his brain.

OBITUARY.

W. E DEGAN.
William Elwood Degan, second youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Degan, passed away at Nicholls Hospital at 1.10 a.m. on Sunday. He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his parents, four brothers: George, Nelson and Clifford, all of Peterboro, and Stanley, of Kitchener, and one sister, Mrs. Schriber, of Buffalo, N.Y.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 from the family residence, 90 Gladstone Avenue. He will be buried under the auspices of the Orange Young Britons, with Staff Captain McElhiney officiating.

WILLIAM W. HENRY
The death occurred yesterday in Toronto of William W. Henry, in his sixty-ninth year. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife ,two sons, Clarence of Sudbury and W. George of Peterborough, two daughters, Mrs. Milton Lake, Kingston and Mrs. Edward Rich, Peterborough. The funeral will take place on Wednesday at 3.00 from the family residence, 187 Bethune street to Little Lake Cemetery. The Rev. M. C. Mackinnon will officiate.

JOHN ALLAN.
The St. Catharines Standard carries the following announcement of the death of Mr. John Allan, formerly of Peterborough:

"This city was greatly shocked on Thursday evening last by the announcement of the death of John Forbes Allan, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul street Methodist church, after only a few days' illness of pneumonia. On Sunday last, owing to what was believed to have been but a slight cold, he was unable to attend his church duties. Pneumonia developed rapidly, however, and he passed away at the family residence, 4 Church street.

"The late Mr. Allan was a musician and organist of outstanding ability. Born in Aberdeen, Scotland, fifty-six years ago, he early in life achieved a high place in musical circles, playing the organ in some of the leading churches in Scotland and England. In 1910 he came to Canada as organist of Knox Presbyterian church of St. Thomas, brought there by the recommendation of Dr. J. A. Macdonald, late editor of The Globe, to his old church. Since that time he has been organist of Crescent Presbyterian Church of Montreal; St. Paul's Church of Peterboro, and Chatham Presbyterian Church. He came to this city about one and a half years ago after conducting the summer recitals at Orillia and since then has been very prominently connected with most of the larger musical movements, and won a high place in the esteem of the citizens. He was secretary of the newly-organized branch of the International Organists' Association of this city.

"He was a member of St. George's Lodge, A.F. and A.M., under whose auspices the funeral will be held.

"To mourn his demise he leaves his sorrowing wife and one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, of Peterboro, the well known soprano singer. One sister, Miss Helen Allan, of Aberdeen, Scotland, also survives.

"The funeral will take place this (Saturday) afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, 4 Church street, where short services will be held, following which a public service will be held in St. Paul street Church, interment taking place in Victoria Lawn Cemetery. Fellow organists of the city will bear his casket to the grave."

EDUCATIONALISTS MEET.

Toronto is Mecca of Ontario Associations This This Week.

TORONTO, April 13.—(Canadian Press).—Toronto this week is the mecca of educationists from all parts of Ontario. To-morrow the Ontario Educational Association opens a branch of this organization. The Ontario Home and School Council commenced its sessions this afternoon.

SNOW AT EASTER WAS NOT WELCOMED

New Bonnets Were Kept Hidden and Much Small Damage Done.

The Easter snowstorm was an unwelcome visitor yesterday. The soft flakes floating down through the air massed on the Easter bonnets that were unlucky enough to be caught out without the protection of an umbrella.

Wires were weighted down in all parts of the city, and the linemen had a busy time for several hours. No serious damage was done, according to H. O. Fisk, manager of the Utilities Commission.

The firemen also put in a busy evening. Within one hour they had eight calls, caused by swinging wires rubbing against trees or posts and alarming people with the sparks. The fire alarm wires were broken down, and three circuits were broken at once. The Fire Chief reports that all the damage has been squared away.

In several places branches were broken off trees, some of them of considerable size.

A number of awnings in front of business places in the city were damaged by the storm. Among them were those of the Cressman Company, R. Denne, J. Primeau and several others, which boasted large slits in the canvas.

BRIAND MANOEUVRES SOCIALISTS INTO POSITION, FORCING AN EARLY DECISION TO ENTER THE CABINET

CRISIS CONTINUES

Idea of 48-Hour Ministry to Authorize Currency Issue is Abandoned.

PARIS, April 14.—(Canadian Press).—The Ministerial crisis is entering upon the fourth day, and the only net result of three days' consultations between President Doumergue and the most prominent politicians of the Left parties has been to put it squarely up to the Socialists whether, with 104 deputies in the Chamber holding the balance of power, they intend to enter a Cabinet led by Aristide Briand and assume some of the responsibilities of government.

M. Briand's manoeuvring has left the Socialists no way out; they must decide to-day and announce exactly where they stand. M. Briand has already fastened upon them the responsibility of upholding the formation of a Cabinet in time of stress with momentous problems confronting Parliament.

Waits For Decision.

It was expected that M. Briand, who had been asked by the President of the Republic to form a Cabinet, would give his answer Monday to M. Doumergue, but he encountered such difficulties that he was impelled to ask for more time. He informed the President that he could not give a definite answer until this afternoon at the earliest, as he is awaiting the decision of the National Council of the Socialist party regarding their willingness to participate in the new Government.

The idea of forming a 'forty-eight hour' Ministry for the purpose of presenting before Parliament for its ratification a bill authorizing the Bank of France to raise the legal limit of circulation from 41 billion to 43 billion francs, which was earnestly discussed throughout the day, has been abandoned. The Bank of France's weekly statement on Thursday next again must show more than 43 billion paper money out.

The idea of a forty - eight hour Cabinet came from M. Robineau, Governor of the Bank of France, and M. De Monzie, Finance Minister, and they both called upon M. Briand yesterday with the object of winning him over to their viewpoint, which was the necessity of regularizing the currency issue. M. Briand convinced them that it was an inopportune move, contending that the country, officialy informed by last week's statement that the Bank had exceeded the legal limit of circulation, had not become panicky, and could face the situation for another week.

Socialists Weakened.

Close friends of Briand say that the negotiations conducted by the seven-time Premier were aimed perhaps more for the purpose of weakening the Socialists and wresting from them the great power which they exercised during M. Herriot's tenure of office than actually forming a Cabinet, which he knew would be doomed within a short time. They declare that he has manoeuvred the Socialists up against the wall, no matter whether he forms a Cabinet with or without them, and

Mexican Bullfighter At 38 Retires With Million

MEXICO CITY, April 14. — Rodolfo Gaona, Mexico's premier toreador, made his farewell appearance Sunday afternoon in the arena here before the biggest crowd that ever attended a bullfight during the 100 years of the Spanish national sport in the Western Hemisphere.

The throng overflowed the seating capacity of the world's largest bull-ring, which had been increased from 20,000 to 22,000, and saw the youthful son of Rodolfo cut off his father's "coleta" or queue. Delegations from all parts of the republic came into the city to witness the event and seats brought as high as 1,000 per cent. premium.

Including the three bulls which fell under his sword Sunday, Gaona, during the 18 years of his career as a bull fighter, has killed 1,807 animals. Deserting the shoemaker's bench for the bullring when he was 19 years old, the Mexican star retires at the age of 38 with a fortune estimated at more than $1,000,000. Most of the money was earned during the last five years, after he had spent 13 years winning a reputation in Mexican and Spanish and other foreign arenas.

H. O. FISK GIVES IN RESIGNATION

Manager of Utilities Commission Retires From Local Service Immediately.

CONDOLE WITH WIDOW

At the regular meeting of the Utilities Commission yesterday evening the resignation of the manager, H. O. Fisk, was accepted, to take effect at once.

A request from Thomas Brown for the use of the land at the filtration plant for pasture, offering to fix the fences for the rent, was laid over.

Three requests for water service were received. One for 59 Hilliard street was not granted, one on Euclid avenue was laid over, and one for 61 Smith street was granted.

A letter from the City Council asking for lights was received.

No Judgment.

Christopher Robinson, K.C., who handled the appeal in the Campbell Mills case wrote to say that judgement had not been delivered. He will be asked to come to Peterborough next week to interview the Commission.

The chairman and Mr. Mason were authorized to buy a motor truck for the Electric Department.

Message of Condolence.

A resolution of condolence will be sent to Mrs. J. Crompton on the death of her husband, and his time will be made up to June 15, and paid to her.

OTHERS ARE DECIDING QUESTION OF DAYLIGHT SAVING—ARE YOU?

Votes Already in Indicate Wide Interest in Straw Vote.

THIRD DAY

Representatives of Opposition Asked to Volunteer as Scrutineers.

Hundreds of votes have already been received on the daylight saving issue, re-opened after being apparently buried fathoms deep a week ago. There is even more interest apparent now than before the City Council discussed the measure at a midnight session and decided against it by a vote of six to three.

As previously announced, The Examiner is taking no part in the campaign either for or against, but is acting impartially in sounding public opinion for the guidance of the city officials. An independent committee will be asked to consider the ballots collected by The Examiner, pass upon their eligibility, and count the vote. R. E. Layfield and Paul Manning, both prominent proponents of the plan, have been asked to serve as representatives of the daylight saving section of the community, and the opponents are asked to appoint two from their number, or volunteers are asked to get into touch with The Examiner without delay.

Arrangements have been made to centralize the votes in different factories, and those voting in this manner are requested not to vote again, since their ballots in such an event must be thrown out.

Community Issue.

The third ballot is printed with this article. Others will appear every day this week so that every adult citizen may have an opportunity to vote. Ballots will be carefully checked and must bear an authentic name and address, not for publication. Letters for or against daylight saving will be published in brief. Lengthy or unsigned letters cannot be considered.

Killed Almost At Door On Return To Visit The Home Of His Childhood

LONDON, April 14.—(Canadian Press).—Joseph Peacock, of Edmonton, Alberta, 56 years of age, who emigrated from Blackburn, Lancashire, to Canada 22 years ago, met a tragic death while revisiting the scenes of his early years. He was being driven to a friend's residence in Blackburn when he stepped into the roadway to see if his old home was in sight. Just at that moment a man on a motor cycle was passing the car, and Mr. Peacock was knocked down and killed.

FINED $1,000 AND GIVEN JAIL TERM

Lindsay Man Had Five Bottles of Liquor When Arrested.

LINDSAY, April 14.—(Special.)—At a session of the police court Monday Harry (Trooper) Thompson, who was arrested on Kent street Saturday night with five bottles of liquor in his possession, pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Bradford, of having liquor in his possession. He was sentenced to four months' imprisonment and was fined $1,000 and costs, with an additional six months imposed if the fine is not paid. This is the maximum penalty provided by the statutes.

Magistrate Bradford, in sentencing Thompson, stated that he had been a parasite all his days—that he had tried to fleece the public by gambling and later tried the fleecing game with liquor. Thompson went to jail. The penalties imposed in this case run concurrently with the penalties imposed on Thompson in February for a similar offence—one month in jail and a fine of $650.00, with an additional four months if fine was not paid.

SCORES DRIVEN OUT BY FLOOD

Dam of Ford Motor Co., on Huron River, Burst, and Flooded Country.

DETROIT, April 14. — (Canadian Press).—Scores of families in the valley of the Huron River between Flat Rock and Lake Erie were driven from their homes early to-day when the dam of the power plant of the Ford Motor Co. at Flat Rock burst and released millions of gallons of water into the valley.

More than five thousand acres is reported under water, which is 12 feet deep in places.

The inhabitants of the valley were warned of the flood by troopers of the Michigan State Police, who started along the river to arouse persons living nearby as soon as the guards at the dam had telephoned the troop station of the disaster. So rapidly did the water rise that the officers were soon compelled to take to boats, going thus from house to house with their warning. No lives have been lost so far. Many houses, however, are under water.

Tow Ship 13,000 Miles Australia To Rotterdam

ADELAIDE, Australia, April 14.—The steamer City of Singapore, which had been badly damaged by fire and an explosion of a year ago, left on Saturday, in tow of two powerful tugs, for Rotterdam, a distance of 13,000 miles.

The tow, if successful, will, it is understood, be the longest yet achieved.

Captain Russell, the European wreck salvager, who bought the steamer, believes that the vessel, though still a shapeless mass in splints, will be able to make the hazardous journey, which will occupy four months. Only five men are on the City of Singapore.

OPPONENTS IN SCOTIA STRIKE MEETING TODAY

Besco and Miners' Officers Respond to Premier's Call for Conference.

MAY BE SOLUTION

Glace Bay Breadline Not Decreasing and More Money is Needed.

SYDNEY, N. S., April 14—John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers of America, accompanied by J. W. McLeod and A. A. McKay, President and Secretary respectively of District 26, left last night for Halifax to attend the conference on the wage difficulty between the miners and the British Empire Steel Corporation called by Premier Armstrong for today. J. E. McLurg, Vice-president of British Empire Steel Corporation, also left for the capital last night and will represent the Corporation at the conference table. Neither the representatives of the men nor Mr. McLurg would give out any statement as to the attitude they would adopt at the conference.

Confident of Meeting

HALIFAX, N.S., April 14 (Canadian Press)—While he had received no word from Vice President J. E. McLurg of the British Empire Steel Corporation, in response to the invitation extended him to attend a conference here today at which International President John L. Lewis and District President J. W. McLeod, of the United Mine Workers of America, would also be present, Premier E. H. Armstrong, of Nova Scotia, last night expressed his confidence that the meeting would be held as arranged. Both Lewis and McLeod have accepted and the latter has intimated that International Board member William Hayes of Springhill, will also be present. The premier expressed his regret that T. J. Brown, Deputy Minister of Mines, would be unavoidably absent but the Minister of Mines, Hon. William Chisholm, will attend the conference.

Spent $4000 Monday

GLACE BAY, N. S., April 14—The following official statement was issued last night by the publicity committee of the Glace Bay Central Relief Committee, covering the day's operations of the workers and signed by Rev. M. A. MacAdam, parish priest, and Rev. A. N. MacLeod, chairman and secretary respectively:

"The sixth week of the industrial war has begun and the number of people standing in the bread line today was not growing less. It was estimated that 1,944 families were today in need of rations. This has not been a pleasant task for any person engaged in it. Sheer want prompts the efforts being put forth by the volunteer workers here and the many friends in Canada, Newfoundland and the United States who are rendering aid by their splendid contributions, which with the co-operation and assistance of the daily press, are hereby thankfully acknowledged.

Even if work were resumed at an early date the sag in the conditions of many of our people would take months to remove. Our people are forfeiting their self-esteem and our young men are leaving Cape Breton by the hundreds for the United States. This cannot mitigate our plan to care for the needy while hunger threatens our folk we cannot waver in our work of assisting them. In Glace Bay alone $4,000 was used in today's distribution of foodstuffs."

Progress Made.

HALIFAX, April 14 (Canadian Press).—Progress towards a settlement of the wage dispute between the British Empire Steel Corporation and its 12,000 miners was made this morning it is believed, at the conference held in the Province Building here, attended by Vice-President J. E. McLurg, of the Corporation, and represenatives of the United Mine Workers of America, headed by International President John L. Lewis, at the call of Premier E. H. Armstrong. The conference goes on this afternoon.

It is believed that the conference is proceeding on the basis of a memorandum addressed to the parties to the dispute early in the struggle by Premier Armstrong, providing for a resumption of work at the 1924 scale and an investigation into the mining industry by a Royal Commission, whose findings would be binding on both parties.

DUKE IS BETTER.

Duke of Devonshire Shows Slight Improvement, Although Condition is Serious.

WATERFORD, Ireland, April 14.—The condition of the Duke of Devonshire, the former governor-genaral of Canada, who suffered a slight stroke of paralysis at his Irish estate near here on Sunday, continues to cause anxiety, although he is better than he was immediately after he became ill.

Find Human Skulls Under Old Building On Charlotte Street

Were Cracked Before Being Pushed Under Boards, Coroner Declares—One Struck Behind Ear, Other in Front—Most of Skeletons Missing.

DISCOVERIES INDICATE VICTIMS WERE ADULTS, EXPERT SAYS

Gruesome Find Made By Wreckers To-day — Elbow Bone and Two Sealed Jars of Beans Among Other Finds—Wrapped in Mystery.

Two human skulls, cracked in such a way that it was evident to Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young that they had been fractured before being placed under the boards, were found by workmen tearing down the old building at the north west corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets today. One of the bones was taken to the police station by William Lytle, and Inspector James Reid, accompanied by an Examiner reporter, immediately investigated, finding another similar fragment of skull and an elbow bone. One of the workmen reported having found two sealed jars of beans near the place where the skulls lay. No date has yet been set on the depositing of the remains in the place where they were found, nor could any definite indication of the sex or race of the victims be given from the fragments so far recovered. Close watch is being kept for further remnants, and the portions of skull found so far are in custody of the police.

Both Fractured.

Both pieces of skull are from the cranial portion on top of the head, and both are fractured. Coroner Dr. Young declared that these fractures could not have been caused after the skull had been disposed off under the floor, but must have been made before. On one the break appears to be in front of the ear, and on the other behind the ear. Asked whether the breaks might have been caused by the freezing of water inside the skulls, Dr. Young said he considers it impossible. The skulls are those of adults, he said.

An Old Story.

That the mystery may extend back fifty years is indicated by the age of the building. It has been occupied for more than a decade by Chinese laundrymen, and before that was a grocery store. The first floor had decayed and fallen, and instead of lifting it to build a new floor it was simply built over. This probably accounts for the fact that the remains were not found long ago.

The remains were not buried in the ground, or the mystery might have been exploded by saying they were the remnants of an Indian battle, but were lying on top of the ground between joists.

No One Missing.

Chief Constable Samuel Newball did not know of anyone reported missing from the locality during the thirty years he has been in Peterboro, but suggested that there may have been reports before his time.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton has no notice of a disappearance that would coincide with the hiding of the bones.

S. Wing, who has occupied the building for two years and has now established his laundry on the south side of Charlotte street, had never seen the floor raised, and was unaware of the find until approached by Inspector Reid. He new nothing of the building, not even the name of his late landlord.

Sam Hum, the debonair restaurant proprietor of George street, assured the Examiner that there has never been a mysterious disappearance listed among the Chinese residents of Peterboro.

Still a Mystery.

While there is no doubt as to the fact that the skulls are of humans it is not certain that the other bones are, since they are much more deteriorated. Dr. A. W. McPherson, however, so far corroborates the suspicion as to say that one of the bones may be a fragment of the ulna, an arm bone.

No suggestion as to the identity of the victims of what appears to be a tragedy has been forthcoming. Investigations are being pushed in several directions, however, and a solution of the mystery may be arrived at within a few days.

MOTHER ATTEMPTS TO TAKE OWN LIFE WHILE DOCTORS PROBE FIVE MYSTERIOUS DEATHS IN FAMILY

IN INDIANA JAIL

Policewoman Found Her With Bed Sheet Knotted About Her Neck.

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 14.—(Canadian Press).—Mrs. Anna Cunningham, of Gary, Ind., whose husband and four of her six children died under mysterious circumstances within six years, was brought here Monday and lodged in a hospital ward at the county jail. She was placed under guard to prevent a second attempt at suicide. Sunday she tried to strangle herself to death in a Chicago hospital. A son, David, is in a critical condition in a Chicago hospital, due to arsenic poison.

Lake County authorities announced that Mrs. Cunningham will face a sanity hearing this afternoon at Gary before a Justice of the Peace and two physicians. It also was announced that the case will probably be placed before the Lake County grand jury when it convenes here April 27.

Meanwhile the bodies of two of Mrs. Cunningham's sons who were buried near Valparaiso, Ind., with the father, another son and a daughter, were exhumed and part of the vital organs were taken to Chicago for chemical analysis.

Mrs. Cunningham was seized by Policewoman Agnes Whalen Sunday just as she was throwing a knotted length of bed clothes over the head of the bed. A noose of the same material encircled the woman's throat and had been pulled tight enough to cut off her breathing. Policewoman Whalen tore the noose aside with considerable difficulty and pushed the prisoner down into bed again.

"Why won't you let me kill myself" demanded the enraged woman. "I will do it again sometime."

It was a woman alienist on the staff of the Psychopatic Hospital who, during the day, developed the fact that Mrs. Cunningham has an epileptic history dating back to a time about three months prior to the first death among the children—that of a grown daughter.

This girl died some time after the death of her father, David Cunningham, and the other three children followed her at regular intervals to the little country graveyard at Blachly Corners, near Valparaiso, Ind., where the family formerly lived.

At times during her questioning Mrs. Cunnningham bore up well, appeared rational even, joking with the doctors. But there came interludes when she told of buying quantities of arsenic twice, and times, she explained, when she had seen "God and the angels," adding that she could often hear voices.

"I heard the voices last December," she said once rather vaguely.

Then a physician asked in a kindly tone:

"Have you felt differently lately?"

She looked intently at him for a moment before she replied:

"Yes, yes, I have: for I have seen God and the angels."

The physicians took turns at talking with her, observing and examining her. She told one of them that she had bought the arsenic as "rat poison." When she talked of it with another, she spoke of it as precisely "arsenic."

LONGEST TUNNEL

LONDON, April 14—Britain will possess the longest tunnel in Europe when the scheme for carrying the waters of Loch Trief and Loch Laggan to a hydro-electric station at Fort William is completed. The tunnel will be 15 miles in length, two and a half miles longer than the Simplon tunnel, and in some places will be 2,000 feet under the mountain.

A total of 107 vessels were broken up or dismantled in the shipyards of the world during the last three months of last year.

D'ARCY M'GEE WAS PROPHET OF CONFEDERATION, TRIBUTE OF HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN TO HIS MEMORY

Centenary of Birth of Irish-Canadian Patriot Celebrated at Ottawa Banquet—Leaders of Canadian Affairs Pay Honor to "Missionary of Union."

SECURE PLACE IN CANADIAN ANNALS

Trials of the Fathers of Confederation Should Be Lesson to Present-Day Pessimists, Declared Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux.

OTTAWA, April 14. — (Canadian Press).—The centenary of the birth of Thomas D'Arcy McGee, Canadian patriot, was observed here last night at a great banquet, attended by more than 450 guests, including some of the most prominent men of the Dominion in political, financial and business circles. The principal speakers all lauded the efforts of the early Canadian statesman, Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative party, proclaimed D'Arcy McGee as the prophet of Confederation. "It was D'Arcy McGee who was the triumphant missionary of Union," Mr. Meighen declared. Other speakers included Baron Byng, the Governor-General, Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux, Speaker of the House of Commons, Premier W. L. MacKenzie King, Hon. Chas. Murphy, Judge F. Latchford, President E. W. Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Martin Conboy of New York, and others.

During the morning the McGee monument on Parliament Hill was decorated by T. D'Arcy McGee, a nephew of the dead statesman.

Place in History.

"The story of a nation's heroes is the fountain source from which it draws the wine of its later life," said Right Hon. Arthur Meighen. The lives of Canada's founders had receded out of politics into history. McGee was one of the giants of Confederation, "who have grown in stature through half a century of criticism and whose place in our annals is now forever secure." Congratulating the authors of last night's event, especially Hon. Chas. Murphy, Mr. Meighen said it would be a good thing for the national spirit of Canada and would help marvellously the cause of unity in the Dominion.

Tracing McGee's beginnings in an Ireland swept by revolutionary politics, Mr. Meighen found him migrating to the United States in early manhood, "determined to establish himself in the new world as the special guardian and tribune of his race." His experiences in America had taught him that constitutional reform was better than revolt, and when he came to Canada "and gave to this country the last and best decade of his life," the fiery insurrectionist had become the evangelist of empire, "the relentless militant in other lands became the tireless peacemaker in ours."

"If MacDonald and Cartier were the architects of Confederation, D'Arcy was its prophet," said Mr. Meighen. "He it was who in its grandest form caught the vision splendid, he it was who spread every where the fervor with which he was himself consumed; he it was whose restless pen and matchless platform power carried right into the hearts of the masses his message of tolerance and goodwill. It was D'Arcy McGee who was the triumphant missionary of Union."

Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux.

"I say to the pessimists: Remember the trials of the Fathers of Confederation; harken to the memory of D'Arcy McGee who never faltered in the advocacy of Canadian unity and who never doubted of this country's destiny. If the voice of McGee could still be heard, there would come from his lips a call to the faint-hearted; stand four-square for Canada, have faith in its institutions and a future of immeasurable possibilities."

Thus Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux, Speaker of the House of Commons, in proposing the toast of the evening, "The Memory of Thomas D'Arcy McGee." Mr. Speaker traced the history of Canada from earliest times. In the delicate weaving of racial elements merged into Canada's national fabric he found four main shades, the French, the English, the Scotch and the Irish. Their great longing for responsible government had resulted, after many stormy years of separatism, in confederation, and "foremost among the great leaders whose consummate skill brought about the union of the then isolated provinces were MacDonald, Cartier, Brown and D'Arcy McGee, all of them of Celtic blood, yet all of them admirers of the English unwritten constitution." To the men who discarded the garb of Colonials, Canadians owed the duty of becoming full-fledged Canadians, to have complete faith in spite of those pessimists who had said of late that Confederation might not outlive the trials which the aftermath of the Great War had brought upon Canada.

ERIE NAVIGATION

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 14.—The William P. Snyder, Jr., the first lake freighter to attempt to leave the port of Buffalo this Spring, was warped from ther moorings Monday. Ice still is thick on eastern Lake Erie, and the boat was to fight its way through a narrow lane, with Ashtabula, Ohio, the first port of call.

WEATHER

The warm gentle rain of last night together with the heavy snow fall of Sunday night, should give the ground the moisture which it needed. The land this spring was said to be unusually dry for so early in the season. Meeting Dan Whetung of the Chemong Indian Reserve yesterday, I asked him what he thought of the outlook for the coming summer. While he lacked the self-confidence and assurance of former days as regards his ability as a weather prophet, by exercising a little diplomacy I obtained the information that he believed the coming summer would be much hotter and drier than the average. If he hits it correctly, we will all give him credit; if he misses it—we wil say nothing.—W. P.

WILHELM WON'T BACK MARSHAL

Announces That He Has Not Released Hindenburg From Allegiance to Throne.

CLINGS TO TITLE.

LONDON, April 14. — In one of the direct communications to the outside world authorized by the former German Kaiser since his exile in Doorn, Wilhelm Hohenzollern today informed the United Press that he was not supporting the Presidential aspirations of General Hindenburg and intimated that he had not released the former Field Marshal from his oath of allegiance to the throne.

This information came at first hand from Colonel Kleist, acting-chief of the ex-kaiser's household and it was noticeable that Wilhelm clung to the Imperial title, referring to himself as "His Imperial Majesty."

Hindenburg, the ex-kaiser said, had not received counsel or communication from Wilhelm concerning the presidency.

"The German press has published this as final, so no further communication will be forthcoming," the communication concluded.

FARMER SAYS HE WILL TAKE TRADE AWAY IF DAYLIGHT SAVING PASSES

But Second Writes to Say It Makes No Difference To Him.

YOU ARE NEXT

Let the City Know How the Farm Buyers Consider Measure.

Farmers are responding well to The Examiner's invitation to express their opinions on the question of daylight saving. One man writes to say he will trade elsewhere if the measure comes into force here, because he cannot overcome the inconvenience of changed hours. Another says it does not affect him in the least, since he works from dawn to dusk and it does not matter what time he stops to take an hour to visit the city.

That is just the expression of opinion that is desired. Believing that a clearing of the air will be best for everyone, The Examiner is throwing its columns open to these letters, so long as they are brief. A vote is being taken which will indicate the opinion of the mass of the people on a matter that vitally interests everyone.

Here is today's ballot. Mark an X opposite your choice, for or against daylight saving, and opposite the months during which you prefer that it should operate. This will not bring or avoid daylight saving in the city, but it will show the citizens and the council the temper of the farm community toward the measure.

For Daylight Saving.....

Against Daylight Saving.....

If the council decides in favor, I would prefer daylight saving in the months I have marked..	May	June	July
	August	Sept.	3

Will you stop trading in Peterborough if daylight saving is adopted? (Yes or no)

Will you work on daylight saving if the city adopts it? (Yes or no)

Name .....

Address ..... (Not for publication)

Letters from farmers on the subject will be published by the Examiner if short. A pen name may be used, but the letter must also bear a signature. Long letters cannot be used.

KILLED IN BED; BROTHER SLEPT

THROUGH CEILING.

COBALT, April 14. — (Canadian Press).—Wm. Smith, eight years old, living in Dack Township, was killed while sleeping at his home on Saturday, a bullet discharged accidentally from a gun in the hands of his brother James in the kitchen below the bedroom causing the boy's death.

The brother was unloading the rifle, and inadvertently pulled the trigger. The bullet sped through the ceiling of the apartment and penetrated the mattress on the bed on which William and Fred, his brothers, were sleeping.

William received the shot in the shoulder, and the bullet passed through his neck into his head, lodging behind one eye. He died within a few minutes. Fred was not disturbed by the tragedy, and did not awaken until roused by members of the family. No inquest

All Fat People Should Know This

JURY SAYS MOON CAUSED DEATHS

Preliminary Hearing of Belleville Slayer Opens To-day—Inquest Brief.

BELLEVILLE, April 14. — (Canadian Press.)—David Arthur Moon, who to-day faces a preliminary hearing on the charge of murdering Clayton McWilliams and John McGie in Lattimer's drug store, on the evening on April 6th, was named last night by Coroner Dr. W. W. Boye's jury as the person responsible for the deaths. The verdict stated that McWilliams and McGie died as the result of bullets penetrating their hearts. The inquest was brief, lasting but one hour.

YOUNG LADY LOSES LIFE THROUGH ICE

Brother and Guide Make Way to Safety—Dogs Lost.

NORTH BAY, April 1 Canadian Press).—Word reached here yesterday of the drowning in Lake Temagami on Friday last of Miss Mary Turner, member of a well-known family in that region.

With her brother George and an Indian guide, she was crossing the lake on the ice from Bear Island to Temagami. A dog team was carrying the mail and the girl is believed to have been riding on the sleigh. The team crashed through the ice, the girl being carried down with the outfit. The brother and the guide managed to get to firm ice and save themselves. The body was recovered a few hours later.

Born— In Dr. Turner's private hospital, Millbrook, on Saturday, April 11th, to Mr. and Mrs. J. McKnight, Cavan, a son.

OBITUARY.

JOHN THIRD

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14— John Third, who died recently on his ranch at Grand Prairie, Alberta, was born in Seymour Township 70 years ago. He has been West for the past eight or nine years and owned 1,900 acres of land in one block. His death was sudden some of his relatives here receiving letters from him stating that he was in excellent health, only to be informed a few days later of his death. The deceased was buried at Grand Prairie with Masonic honors.

The late Mr. Third is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Fitzgerald and who came from the vicinity of Bancroft, and by three sons, all in Alberta, where one of them is a teacher. The surviving brothers are George of Seymour, Dr. James Third of Kingston and Tom of Edmonton. Mrs. Matthe. Eagleson of the Meinie district, Mrs. W. Ketcheson, and Mrs. Thomas Hooper, the latter of Campbellford, are sisters.

NATHAN BELL.

NORWOOD, April 14. — The death occurred on Monday afternoon at his residence on Spring street, Norwood, of Mr. Nathan Bell, formerly of Warsaw.

The deceased had been ill ever since moving to Norwood last summer. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and two daughters, Mrs. W. Darling, of Dummer, and Mrs. F. Patterson, of Asphodel.

DRUNKEN BRAWL ENDS IN DEATH

Polish Woman Found Dead —Countryman Is Held By Police.

AT MINES.

COBALT, April 14 (Canadian Press).—Annie Sunuck, about 32 years of age, a married woman of Polish nationality is dead, and Pete Stephnchuk, also a Pole, is held by the police pending an investigation into the finding of the woman's body near the Hollinger mine at Timmins early yesterday morning.

The tragedy is the result of a drunken row at Schumacher, according to the police report.

It is reported that some of the participants were returning by auto to Timmins, when a disagreement arose with the driver. The woman and Stepanchuk are said to have left the car, but their later movements are shrouded in mystery.

ENTERTAINMENTS MARK THE CLOSE OF THE LENTEN SEASON

Two at Campbellford Attracted Many Residents Last Night.

AN AT HOME.

Regent Theatre Was Scene of Brilliant Gathering at Dance.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14— Entertainments in nearly every town and village in this district last night marked the close of the Lenten season, two successful affairs being held in Campbellford. The members of St. Mary's Church held a progressive euchre party, followed by a dance, in the Assembly room of the new High School. Over 30 guests were present, the capacity of the large room being taxed to the utmost so that it was necessary to utilize the space on the stage by setting several tables there for the player. The play was spirited and it was near midnight before the prize winners were decided. The small tables at which the players sat were provided by the committee on arrangements as no such fixtures are kept on hand by the Board of Education. After the euchre games the tables and chairs were removed from the room and dancing was indulged in until an early hour in the morning. The older members of the audience found on the programme square dances that carried them back in memory of former days and many of them indulged in this pastime with all the zest of youth.

Refreshments were served in the domestic science room about midnight and the ladies of the parish who had charge of this department of the entertainment left nothing undone. All the provisions were donated but tea and coffee were prepared in the building and tables, tastefully decorated, were arranged around three sides of the room, 95 guests being served at a time.

The committee that decided the prize winners in the progressive euchre contests were Mayor Meyers, D. J. Lynch and Ed. O'Connor, the Mayor presenting the prizes The winners were as follows:

Ladies—1st, Mrs. Mary McFarlane, sugar and cream set; 2nd, Miss A. Brunelle, fancy dish; 3rd, Mrs. Runions, lady's fountain pen.

Mrs. W. H. Grills won the ladies' prize, a marmalade jar, for lone hands; and H. Gilbride, the gentlemen's prize, a tobacco pouch.

Mrs. F. J. Daley furnished the music for the round dances and Mr. H. Cassidy, piano, and David Johnston, violin, for the square dances.

At the Regent.

Capt. Hyland gave another of his popular at homes in the Regent Theatre last night, and had a fair sized crowd in spite of the many counter attractions. Usually these entertainments draw guests from the district for miles around, but last night dancing and other smart pastimes were so general that outsiders were not under the necessity of leaving home to find amusement.

As always on the occasion of such functions the theatre was tastefully decorated and the floor was in perfect condition for dancing. All the electric lights that hung from the ceiling were shaded and balloons of different shades were suspended from the roof and across the front of the stage with pleasing effect. Leonard's seven piece orchestra furnished the music and the audience was select, including as it did some of the best known among the younger social set.

The Regent theatre is not only the largest dancing hall in the town when the seats are removed, but the arrangement complies in every respect with the law as set forth in the Public Buildings Act.

Charles Duncalfe is no longer chief of police but when he saw a horse running away yesterday as he stood at the corner of Front and Bridge Streets, his official instincts were roused again and he rushed to the rescue. Just as the horse turned off Bridge up Front street where the traffic was heavy the ex-chief ran out into the middle of the street and catching the bridle stopped the horse after a brief struggle in which Mr. Duncalfe was dragged a considerable distance.

The horse was attached to the delivery wagon of Gordon Barrie and ha dstarted home on his own account while the driver was leaving groceries at a Bridge street residence.

OMEMEE LADIES REMEMBER VIMY

Veterans and Parents of Fallen Guests of Methodist Ladies' Aid.

SMART CONCERT.

OMEMEE, April 14—The glorious victory of Vimy Ridge was commemorated by the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church last Wednesday evening, when the local war veterans and their wives, as well as the parents of our fallen heroes, were the guests of that society. A nominal fee of twenty-five and fifteen cents was charged for any others who might care to join in the festivities and the result was most gratifying to the Ladies' Aid.

The Sunday School-room of the church was in gala attire for the event with its decorative scheme carried out in flags and bunting.

The guests were received at the door by Mrs. T. A. MacPherson and Mrs. T. J. Parsons. Slips of paper bearing the name of a country were given out to all by Mrs. Bradburn. The programme opened with a stirring address of welcome by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Rowland, followed by a rousing military chorus by a number of young boys.

An address giving a graphic description of the battle of the Somme was given by one of the war veterans, Mr. Harold Cunningham. Reference was made to the local men, who paid the supreme sacrifice, namely, Lieut. W. Gallagher, Fred. Mills, Walter Scott and Roy Poast, and a silent tribute was paid to their memory by all standing while Trumpeter J. L. Brooks sounded the last post. Following this impressive number, the pastor, assisted by Mrs. Rowland at the piano, gave a musical monologue, entitled "The Sea is His." A wand drill was given by ten young girls, wearing bright hued dresses of crene paper. The drill was exceptionally pretty and added much to the pleasure of the evening. A male quartete, "The Old Wayside Cross," was well rendered by Messrs. Brooks, Rowland, Marshall and Cunningham. Mr. Thomas Rice, another war veteran, entertained his hearers by telling a number of laughable incidents which happened to him and his comrades during the days of active service. Another rousing chorus by the boys concluded the first part of the evening's entertainment.

Refreshments Served.

The chairman at this juncture announced that all those holding slips for England should now come forward and be served with refreshments. The groups, numbering twelve to each group, were asked to spend the social half-hour together, at the end of which each country would be called on to provide an impromptu number on a second programme. The scheme worked well, and the following was the result:

France—The introduction to the audience of Baby "Mons" Brooks, son of Vet. J. L. and Mrs. Brooks.

India—12 representations on platform addressed in pantomime by their leader, who, although never a word was spoken, gesticulated so fiercely as to enthrall his onlookers.

Belgium—Mrs. F. G. Sandy and Mr. H. Cunningham.

England—A story by Herbert Morton.

Scotland—"How I came to enlist," Fred. Brockley.

Africa—Negro story by T. Rice.

Ireland—Address by Rev. Francis Johnson.

Canada—Three cheers and a tiger. God Save the King.

Presbyterian W. M. S.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. Lewis Windrim on Wednesday afternoon. A fair attendance of members was present, also two visitors, both of whom became members.

In the absence of Mrs. Lamb, through sickness, the devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. O. G. Williamson: short prayers being offered by Mrs. Black and the acting president.

The study book was in charge of Mrs. (Dr.) Carmichael, who read a very interesting chapter, dealing with "How the new doctrine entered Kinpori." Other members also contributed short missionary readings.

The word for consideration and study was "Joy." Each member answered the roll call with a passage of Scripture, containing this word, and the hymns and Scripture lesson were in keeping with the subject.

A lengthy discussion followed as to ways and means of raising money for a supply fund for the society, and it was finally decided to hold a hot supper in the Sunday School room on Thursday evening, April 23 at 6 o'clock, for the admission of 25 cents, all the ladies of the congregation to be invited to assist.

It was decided to hold a quilting at the May meeting in the basement of the church.

Mrs. Black expressed her heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the many kindnesses shown to her and other members of the family during their recent illness by the members of the Society.

The word chosen for study at the next meeting was "Love," and will be in charge of Mrs. H. Lamb.

CATCH TWO MEN WITH ALCOHOL

One Had Five Bottles When Caught—Was Out on Bail.

FOR EASTER TRADE

LINDSAY, April 4. (Special).—What promised to be a brisk Saturday night trade in wet goods for Eastertide was nipped in the bud that evening when Provincial Officer Storey and License Inspector Porter gathered in two local men who were about to supply the wants of thirsty ones on Kent Street. One of them, Trooper Thompson, had five bottles in his possession and the other man, Bruce Robson, had a liberal supply of alcohol. Thompson is out on bail of $2000 on a previous conviction, which has been appealed. On that occasion he was fined $650 and one month in jail, and in default of payment, four months in jail. The appeal, it is understood, is being considered this week.

EASTER AT HASTINGS

Missionary Societies Had Charge of Services in the Methodist Church.

HASTINGS, April 14. — The Methodist church was beautifully decorated on Sunday with flowers of all colors and kinds for the Easter services. The morning service was in charge of the Mission Band. The pastor opened the service with singing and prayer. The Band sang in unison, "Jesus Loves the Little Children," and Goldworth Hinton read the Scripture lesson from Acts 16. A chorus was sung by several little girls, "Swing Little Blossoms." A poem, Easter Bells, was given by six little girls.

An Easter pageant was given by members of the band, "Jesus Loves Me." India was represented by Martin Rusau, China by Helen Smith, Latin America by Mildred Wellman, Africa by Marguerite Schmidt, Islands of the South Sea, Marvin Preston, Red Indian, Cleveland Smith, New Canadian, Dorothy Johnson.

A reception service was held and six young people were received as members of the church.

Mrs. I. C. Wickmore, a returned missionary, spoke to the children on her work in Africa.

In the evening the service was in charge of the Circle Girls and the Woman's Missionary Society. A chorus, "Listen Easter Bells," was rendered by the Circle Girls. Misses Joyce Richardson and Ona Doxsee sang "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord," and the choir sang an Easter carol.

Mrs. B. F. Doxsee and Miss Ona Doxsee were made life members of the Woman's Missionary Society, and a generous Easter offering was given.

Mrs. Wickmore spoke again in the evening and told many interesting facts about the missionary work in Africa, where she and Mr. Wickmore were stationed for a number of years.

Perhaps you are using good tea. We think "Red Rose" extra good. Won't you try it?

WEDDING BELLS

BRADLEY—ATKINSON.

OMEMEE, April 13. — Knox College Chapel was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday afternoon, April 7th, when Jean, daughter of Rev. W. L. and Mrs. Atkinson, was married to Dr. Harry Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bradley, of Omemee.

Rev. W. L. Atkinson, father of the bride, conducted the ceremony. Mr. Tremeer, presided at the organ, and Mrs. Fred Bradley, of Brighton, sang during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was unattended, looked charming in her wedding dress of white crepe satin and lace, with long filmy tulle veil caught in a wreath of orange blossoms; she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and white sweet peas, and wore the gift of the groom, a large fan comb, set with diamonds.

The ushers were Dr. W. G. Montgomery and Mr. John C. Darroch.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Bathurst street when Mrs. Atkinson wore a black crepe dress enriched with Irish lace, black mohair hat trimmed with grey flowers, and corsage bouquet of mauve and white sweet peas.

After a short honeymoon, Dr. and Mrs. Bradley will live in Wheatley.

MANITOBA FARMERS ARE ON THE LAND

Department of Agriculture Records Show Increased Acreage Under Crop.

WINNIPEG, April 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Practically every farmer in Manitoba is now on the land according to reports from the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

George Bath of the department, said yestreday that in a trip westward through the province, he noted that nearly every farmer between Treherne and Souris, was seeding.

Records of the department indicate that the present spring is a repetition of 1906. Conditions so far are highly favorable.

THE MONEY SIDE OF IT.

That the present activity in the Ku Klux movement reported from various parts of Canada may be accredited to a keen sense of business is indicated by advices from Winnipeg, reporting the presence of high-pressure "salesmen" who are signing new members at $10 per member.

The agents of the movement seem to be more interested in Canadian currency than in anything else, and an appreciation of that fact should make Canadians more than ever dubious about associating themselves with the night shirt brigade.

There may be many things that we can profitably copy from our neighbors south of the international line, but the Ku Klux Klan is not one of them.

It is to be hoped that the smooth salesmen who are endeavouring to obtain Canadian money by an appeal to Canadian patriotism will find the picking decidedly meagre in Winnipeg, or any other city on this side of the line they may happen to choose as a hunting ground.

The Ku Klux Klan, viewed with the most charitable interpretation of its aims and objects possible to any one with intelligence, presented a proposition that was impossible to accept.

When the commercial side of the movement is accentuated, as it has developed in Winnipeg, any faint hope of it gaining a foothold here should be completely extinguished.

THE PARK QUESTION.

The Parks Committee of the City Council will tonight wrestle with the problem of the disposition of the James Stevenson Park for the summer months.

It is not the easiest question in the world to settle, inasmuch as the park is the property of the citizens generally, and the policy to be decided upon must be planned with an eye to the general good.

There are several factors that naturally suggest themselves.

If Peterboro is to be represented in senior baseball—and the majority of citizens who take any interest in the game at all naturally want the city to have a team in the major series—it is necessary that suitable enclosed grounds should be available.

The former Riverside Park has always been utilized for this purpose, for which it is, of course, admirably adapted, and while other interests should be remembered, senior baseball has a peculiar claim for consideration.

That claim is recognized in other cities where the conditions are much the same, and it may be pointed out, too, that the terms on which grounds are available for the use of teams in competition with outside senior clubs have been more generous than those in force here, it being recognized that a senior baseball team is a good advertising medium as well as a source of entertainment to a large number of citizens.

These are points that should be remembered when the question is before the committee.

OUTLOOK IS GOOD.

The farmers of the Peterboro district will be interested in knowing that the Canadian Bank of Commerce in its monthly commercial letter declares that farmers generally, in the hope of being able to sell at reasonably profitable prices, are actively preparing to seed to grains a larger acreage than usual.

There appears to be good ground for this hopefulness in the agricultural outlook.

In spite of the large crop of wheat produced in the United States last year, the carry-over at the end of June this year is likely to be small.

On March 1st Canada had 82,000,000 bushels in store, and in addition, 20,000,000 bushels still in the hands of the farmers over what may be required for seed and farm use.

In Argentina and Australia, at the beginning of the present year, stocks were less by 13,000,000 bushels than a year ago.

Higher prices have caused freer deliveries and marketing, and during the first two months of 1925 exports from Argentina and Australia totalled 75,924,000 bushels, as compared with 50,013,000 bushels in the same period last year.

While the total amount of the present crop exported from these countries may prove to be smaller than last year, it is probable that the volume of their exports will be materially heavier until such times as new wheat is available in Canada and the United States.

Sufficient wheat appears to be available for the world's requirements until the crops of the Northern Hemisphere are harvested, but it is also clear that by July 1st the commercial stocks will not be large.

PROVINCIAL EXPENDITURES.

Figures quoted by the Citizens' Research Institute in connection with the cost of Provincial government throughout Canada are of interest, although it should be remembered that there are several reasons why absolute comparisons between Provinces cannot be made.

British Columbia presents the highest gross per capita Provincial expenditure, with $36.30, while Quebec is the lowest, with $8.20. Our figure in Ontario is $13.91.

The Pacific Coast Province is the highest, too, in the majority of departments, spending $6.17 per capita on education, $8.10 on legislation and general government, $2.04 on the administration of justice and $1.09 on agriculture.

Quebec has the least per capita expenditure on education, $1.07, as compared with Ontario's $3.77, while in the matter of the per capita cost of public welfare institutions and charitable grants the comparison is also strongly marked, Quebec spending but 82 cents per head, as compared with Ontario's $2.75.

On the other hand, Quebec spent more per head of population in 1923 on highways and bridges, $1.83, as against $1.45 in Ontario, and also more on the administration of justice, 87 cents, as against 72 cents in this Province.

A study of the figures shows that the per capita revenue from local sources increased in 1923 over the preceeding year in all the Provinces, except Ontario and Prince Edward Island, which showed considerable decreases, and in Quebec, where they remained the same, while Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba were the only Provinces to show decreases in the per capita expenditures from local revenue.

RAILWAYS IN NORTHERN QUEBEC.

The Quebec Legislature, at its session which closed last Friday, passed two bills for new railway enterprises in the north, says the Monetary Times. A glance at a map of Quebec Province shows that while the region along the St. Lawrence and south of it, contains, like Southern Ontario, a network of railways, there are few lines in the vast area to the north. The National Transcontinental cuts across from Quebec City to Lake Abitibi into Northern Ontario and a Canadian National line runs up from Quebec to Lake St. John, but in the vast region, about one hundred and fifty miles wide, between the St. Lawrence and the Ottawa Rivers on the south, and the National Transcontinental Railway on the north, there are only a few lines running short distances north.

Besides good farm lands and forest areas in this region there are also valuable minerals, and the gold developments just north of the Des Quinze River and Des Quinze Lake, near Lake Temiskaming on the Ontario boundary, have made clear the necessity for more railway lines. One line, to be constructed by the Canadian National, is proposed from O'Brien on the National Transcontinental south into the gold district. The other line, the Abitibi Southern, is proposed to tap the area north of Montreal and Ottawa, by connecting lines already running north of Mont Laurier and Maniwaki, respectively, with the Transcontinental.

The development of close-in areas, which may be tapped by short railway lines, would seem to be a wise policy for Canada's immediate future. Such lines will facilitate farm settlement, lumbering and mining, and at the same time develop traffic for the main lines of the railways.

The fact that the gold area, being near the Ontario boundary, is more accessible to the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, which is owned and operated by the Ontario Government, has led the latter to formulate a plan for providing a railway service. In Quebec it is feared that this would divert the traffic to Toronto instead of to Montreal and Quebec. This situation seems to be similar to that of the Peace River district, Alberta, where one railway project leads to Edmonton and the other into British Columbia.

Disputes between Province and Province regarding railway enterprises, in a country where railways are generally looked upon as national enterprises, do not help growth. Provincial boundaries do not follow strict economic lines, and if Provincially owned lines are to be restricted to the Province concerned, the best results will not be achieved.

CANADA AND CALIFORNIA.

"At the close of the long journey I remain thoroughly satisfied that Canada remains the great land of opportunity," says W. D. Robb, Vice-President of the Canadian National Railways, upon his return from a sojourn in California. And Mr. Robb proceeds to give the reasons which have prompted him to reach this conclusion:

"I have been told that there are 200,000 Canadians in California, and I believe that the figure is a fair one, because wherever you go in that State you will meet a Canadian. The majority of them have learned that the place is not entirely an earthly paradise. They have discovered that taxes are heavy. They have also discovered that aside from the irrigated land the farmer in California is as much subject to drought as in other parts of the country.

"In comparing the countries, I would state emphatically that a man will do far better by remaining in Canada. In the Dominion there is yet plenty of good virgin soil which may be obtained around $20 an acre, but in California the minimum is $200 and from that it ascends to as much as $6,000 an acre. Where a Canadian will have a lien of, perhaps, $4,000, the purchaser in California will have a lien of $10,000 or even $25,000.

"The overhead is so great in California that farming on a small scale cannot be made to pay. The small chicken farmer or the man with a small orchard cannot make it go, the only successful men being those who can handle chickens by the thousands and big orchards.

"The assisted settlement scheme has not proven a success. This project, fathered by Dr. Beade, was expected to work wonders, but the inability of individuals to practice thrift led to failure. In California, as elsewhere, there is no royal road to success and it is necessary to work hard and to work continuously."

The subject upon which Mr. Robb elaborates is one which may be considered time-worn from the frequency of its discussion, but his findings, agreed upon by many others, are worthy of repetition and again more repetition in order that they may be driven home to those people who regard California as a land flowing with milk and honey and Canada as an unpromising country to be left as soon as may be practicable. There are many Canadians now domiciled in California and in other parts of the United States who have arrived at the same conclusion as has Mr. Robb and who, had they the resources, would gladly pack their trunks for a return to this country. Skillful advertising has resulted in an altogether untrue picture being painted of conditions in the State which is famous for its oranges and its moving picture studios and countless Canadians, without taking the trouble to investigate for themselves, have disposed of their holdings in this country upon which they were assured of at least a competence to dash off to the uncertainties of a California existence.

Mr. Robb's message should be proclaimed from the house tops. "There are many disillusioned Canadians in California," he says, "who would gladly return to the Dominion, but there is a great deal of unemployment in that State and many lack the means to make the move back to their native country." As a playground for those possessing the necessary funds, California may be all that can be desired, but as a place of permanent settlement California at the present time appears to be barren of opportunities and not to be compared with our own Canada.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

HEART TROUBLE SHORTNESS OF BREATH

Mrs. Geo. E. Bowman, Morrisburg, Ont., writes:—"I am writing you a few lines to let you know of my experience with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Two years ago I became very poorly with my heart and nerves and whenever I took the least little bit of exercise my heart would start to jump and flutter. I could not walk up-stairs without having to sit down and rest before I was half-way up, on account of my breath becoming so short.

I commenced taking

and in no time I felt a great improvement, and can now heartily recommend them to all those who are troubled with any affection of the heart."

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 13.—The first bunch of export steers of ten averaging 1,300 lbs. each were taken today at $8.50, but another load of 20 of less weight and poorer quality were bought at $8.15 a cwt. For the choicest full load on the market $8.75 a cwt. was asked. The quality of the export cattle was better than last week and this considered it is is doubtful whether prices were any higher. The market on butchers' steers and heifers was quite steady and the trading active. Choice mixed steers and heifers around 1,000 lbs. each brought $7.60 a cwt., and a good load, 925 lbs., sold at $7.25 a cwt.

A string of export bulls was taken from $4.60 to $5.15 a cwt. and 42 of these leave for Liverpool tomorrow. p till noon less than 300 cattle had been taken for export, but another 300 will be bought later. Overseas heifers were steady from $7.30 to $7.50 a cwt. Fewer butchers' cows were dealt in today, but there were no changes in the prices. Baby beeves were taken at from $8.50 to $10 a cwt. Two hundred short-keep steers will be wanted for a Glasfow shipment on Wednesday. Todays' run of cattle is not too heavy for the demand.

Calves were only steady for the good to choice kind. Very choice calves sold at 13 cents and good calves were 11 to 12 cents and medigms 9 to 10 cents. Dairy calves were lower by 50 cents a cwt. and not badly needed. These sold from 5 to 7 cents a pound.

Yearling lambs were easier today, with the quotation 14 to 15 cents. Sheep sold streng from 9 to 10 cents. The supply of spring lambs was light and three not too good lambs sold at $13 each.

Packers are bidding $12.50 a cwt. f.o.b., on hogs and sellers are asking $13. A few road hogs sold on Saturday at $12.50 a swt. Buffalo and Chicago are quoting lower on hogs and packers are hopeful of getting their bids accepted.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 13.—Assertions that likelihood of a general strike of English mill hands would have a depressing effect on the Liverpool wheat market tomorrow did a good deal to make price downturns in Chicago today severe, nearly six cents a bushel in some cases. The Chicago wheat market closed weak, May $1.56 1-2 to $1.56 3-4, and July $1.41 3-4 to $1.42 1-4, the day's bottom figures, 2 1-4 to 5 3-4 cents under Saturday's finish, with corn 2 1-4 to 3 3-4 cents off; oats 5-8 to 7-8 cents down, and provisions varying from 20 to 22 cents decline to 7 cents advance.

MONTREAL GRAIN

MONTREAL, April 13.—The foreign demand for Canadian grain here today was practically nil on account of the continued holidays in England, and business in consequence was unusually dull.

The trade in butter was quiet owing to it being practically a holiday and the fact that local and outside buyers had sufficient stock on hand for immediate requirements and therefore the demand was limited and the volume of business was small but the tone of the market was fairly steady and prices were unchanged. The wholesale jobbing business was also reported slow, but prices were maintained at 35 cents per lb. for solid packages, and at 36 cents per lb. in one-pound blocks.

The market for cheese was dull there being no demand from local or outside buyers for supplies and the feeling in consequence was easy with prices tending towards a lower level with Western fodder No. 1 white and colored quoted at 21 to 21 1-2 cents per lb. and No. 2 grades at 20 to 20 1-2 cents per lb.

Beans were steady at $2.70 per bushel.

COLLISION WAS NEARLY FATAL

DRIVER BADLY CUT

LINDSAY, April 14. (Special).—A rather serious automobile accident took place in Ops township Saturday night about dusk, when a man named Willis, a resident of Queensville, Ont. crashed into the swing bridge and completely wrecked his Grey Dort car, Willis was proceeding south on his way to Peterboro, and in endeavoring to turn a little to the right to pass a buggy containing Mr. and Mrs. Best, and which was being driven in the same direction, crashed into the abutment of the bridge. The driver of the car claims he did not know a bridge was ahead of him until he was upon it, and in swerving a little to the left in order to escape going over the high embankment into the river he struck the buggy, completely wrecking it. The occupants escaped unhurt. Mr. Willis' nose was completly laid open by broken glass. His escape from fatal injuries was miraculous.

furthermore, that if M. Painleve or some other man from the Left groups heads the Ministry with their co-operation the Socialists will be greatly weakened by the events of the last three days. This party held a conference Monday, and its members are about evenly divided as to participation of Socialists' representatives in the Government.

The situation was stationary last night, and probably will be for another 24 hours, as M. Briand is resolved to give his final answer to President Doumergue only after the Socialists have declared themselves. In the meantime the President can call upon no one else.

Many Candidates.

The probabilities are that in the event of Briand's refusal a Cabinet will be formed by M. Painleve, or some other of the Left groups, M. Briand not being averse to accepting the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in such a Cabinet. The crisis bids fair to last well into the week before any Cabinet can come before the Chamber with a Ministerial declaration and asking for a vote of confidence. In the interim the unusual fantastic slates and combinations are being put forward. More than ten parliamentarians are mentioned for the post of Premier, while there are hardly fifty deputies from the Left who have not heard the Ministerial bee buzzing for some portfolio or other.

Paul Painleve, President of the Chamber, who is prominently mentioned for the Premiership, is one of the most renowned scientists in France. He was a mathematician and botanist from childhood, and entered politics only after his fame as a scientist became world-wide. Numerous Parliamentarians yesterday called at the Chamber to make a decisive attempt to convince M. Painleve that he must accept the task of forming a Cabinet and save the Left groups from disintegration.

The President of the Chamber, however, had gone an hour before; he was heard telling his chauffeur to proceed to the Bois de Boulogne. Search parties located the automobile parked in a wooded lane behind the Longchamps race course, and came upon Painleve in the thicket holding a magnifying glass in one hand and a little puny plant in the other.

"I think I have found a real specimen this time," said the President of the Chamber. The long Latin word with which the scientist described the plant was all "Greek" to the deputies, they said, in relating the incident.

MURDER REPORT FOUND UNTRUE

Woman in Cemetery Was Found Alive Though Unconscious From Poisoning.

IS RECOVERING.

LONDON, Ont., April 14. Canadian Press)—"A report that a woman had been murdered in Pond Mills Cemetery in Westminster Township gave Constable Wharton a high speed run yesterday, but the supposed victim, Mrs. Emily Smith, aged 50, formerly of Petrolia and Oil Springs was found alive, though unconscious. She was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital apparently suffering from self-administered poison, but she is now believed to be out of danger. Mrs. Smith had recently been greatly affected by attendance at pentecostal mission services.

CHILDREN INVADE WHITE HOUSE LAWN

WASHINGTON, April 14 — Washington children romped and frolicked to their hearts' content over the spacious White House grounds Monday, rolling their Easter eggs and generally enjoying themselves under the smiling watch of Mrs. Coolidge.

The warm sunshine of a perfect spring day helped to make the annual Easter Monday egg rolling festival the success which soiled small faces. Happy weariness disclosed at the end of the day the papers and broken eggs that littered the broad lawn, with the grass worn off in spots, provided still further, and slightly more enduring, evidence of this success.

The President appeared on the south portico for a few minutes after luncheon to greet his thousands of youthful guests, and was able to take an occasional glimpse of the scene from his office window. Mrs. Coolidge went out early, but an attempt to mingle with the children was frustrated when her two pet dogs became so excessively boisterous that she had to retire with them. Then, and again in the afternoon, she received several intimate friends and their families, including some children of Cabinet members, on the portico overlooking the grounds.

Those in charge at the gates counted 38,377 entering the grounds. This is 2,000 more than last year. More than forty parents became lost, but girl scouts established headquarters and quickly rounded them up for their distressed children. Two women were overcome, but quickly revived.

KLAN APPEARS IN MANITOBA

High - Pressure Membership Campaign in Winnipeg at $10 Admission Fee.

REFUTED BY WIZARD

WINNIPEG, Man., April 14. (Canadian Press). — The Ku Klux Klan has made its appearance in Winnipeg. While the organization of the hood and fiery cross has not taken definite shape here, petitions for membership have been circulated.

High speed salesmen are in the city putting across a brand of "pure patriotism" to which they alone claim to have the key, at $10 per put. They also take. No address except "the authorities" is given on the petition.

Included among the questions, which must be truthfully answered is one "Does your father speak the English language fluently? Your telephone number and wife's religion also important. Whether you have been divorced and why, the color of your eyes, your present church affiliation, your weight and height, and others.

NO COMPLAINTS IN BRITAIN OF CANADA CATTLE

Canadian Steers Dominate Market of United Kingdom, Report of Shipper.

COL. MULLINS HOME

Believes St. John, N. B., Best Port for Shipments During Winter.

ST. JOHN, N. B., April 14 — "St John is Canada's most feasible port for cattle shipping," said Col. H. H. Mullins, of Winnipeg when he landed here on Sunday from the Liner Montrose on his return after a tour of England, Scotland and Ireland, investigating cattle conditions there. Col. Mullins is one of the Dominion biggest shippers of cattle.

He found the Canadian steers doing very well in the United Kingdom and the market practically to themselves. They had gone well in the British market, he declared, and he had found not one complaint.

The Canadian shippers must be educated, he said, to ship their cattle during the six months from December to May, inclusive, when they would not be in competition with the Irish cattle, which were ready for the market then.

He believed that St. John was the logical and best port for shipments during these months. It was about the shortest rail haul from the West of Canada and it had first class facilities for handling the business. Colonel Mullins spent part of his time in England in working for the admission of Canadian cows for dairy purposes. He had conferences with Lord Bledisloe, Agricultural leader in the House of Lords, and with Sir Auckland Geddes and the Ministry of Agriculture officials, impressing on them the fact that the admission of Canadian cows would augment the milk supply of Great Britain. He argued that Canada should be put on the same footing in this matter and that the Canadian cows should receive the same treatment as was accorded the Irish.

Col. Mullens had an unusual experience crossing on the Montrose, in mid-ocen they passed within hailing distance of the Manchester Corporation on which a shipment of the Colonel's cattle was being taken to England. They were so close that Col. Mullins was able to enquire as to the condition of the steers from the foreman in charge and to receive the re-assuring message that they were all standing the voyage well.

HOPE TO FIND OIL THIS YEAR

Imperial Oil Company Expects to Make Definite Decision in Arctic.

DOWN 800 FEET

EDMONTON, Alta., April 14 (Canadian Press). — The Imperial Oil company, will seek a definite decision on the oil prospects in the Canadian Artic, this summer. The company which has been drilling at Fort Norman since 1921, hopes this year to establish the true worth of the field.

A party under the command of Angus Sutherland, who superintended the operations last summer, will avoid Great Slave lake and will be able to reach their destination quicker than if they waited for the ice to clear from this body of water. With the best of luck, however, it is not likely that the party will reach Fort Norman before July 1.

When the prospectors reach the fort, they will continue drilling No. 1 well.

Great care has been exercised in drilling this hole in order not to freeze in the casing, as happened in the case of the first well. The company's plans for the future will depend largely on the result of this summer's drilling.

CARNARVON MONEY FOR FILM STAR.

Compromising Letters Written by Colonel Dennistoun to Lois Meredith to be Returned in Cash Settlement.

Lois Meredith, American Film Star.

NEW YORK, April 14.—A large money settlement has healed the broken heart and injured feelings of Lois Meredith, the film star, and she has withdrawn her breach of promise suit against Lieut. Col. Dennistoun, her attorney, Dudley Field Malone, announced in Paris Monday. And, to spare storm-driven English society from shocks similar to those it suffered during the trial to the first Mrs. Dennistoun's suit in which Dennistoun's present wife, the Dowager Countess Carnarvon figured prominently, all negotiations in Miss Meredith's action are being conducted in Paris.

Then, with the papers lacking only her signature, Malone will leave for New York next Wednesday to submit the documents for the movie actress' approval.

Letters To Be Returned.

One of the conditions of the pact it was stated, was that the original letters written by Dennistoun, about a hundred, are to be returned by Miss Meredith, and all copies in Malone's possession are to be consigned to the flames in the presence of the writer's lawyers.

Thus, very appropriately, the evidence of Dennistoun's affection for the American actress, kindled between the time of his divorce from Mrs. Dorothy Dennistoun and his subsequent marriage to the widow of the famous Egyptologist, will be destroyed by fire.

How much money will be paid Miss Meredith as balm is not known. Neither has the identity of the person who so generously came to the assistance of British nobility in general and Dennistoun in particular been divulged.

That, together with the contents of the love letters will in all probability remain a secret, at which the principals will never cease to shudder.

Agreement Satisfies All.

Acting under instructiotns from her legal advisers, Miss Meredith ever since she was revealed as the woman whose identity was shielded by Mrs. Dennistoun, has maintained a sphinxlike silence. For many days she remained incommunicado at her apartment at 326 West 55th street, and did not venture from the house.

Then last Monday she packed her effects and moved secretly away. She left no forwarding address, and the attendants at her old home were instructed to accept no letters or messages.

The agreement out of court is said to be highly satisfactory to all parties.

McClintock Inquest To Be Continued This Week

CHICAGO, April 14—A coroner's jury this week will resume its inquest in the death of William N. McClintock, young millionaire, as the start of final steps preceding the arraignment of William D. Shepherd, McClintock's foster father, on a charge of causing his death by administration of typhoid germs.

The jury, which was summoned Monday by Coroner Oscar Wolff, had little left to consider prior to rendition of its verdict.

When the first inquest is completed, another will be held on findings in the death of Mrs. Anna Nelson McClintock, "Billy's" mother, whose exhumed body was found to contain a large quantity of mercury poison, Cornoner Wolff said.

DOG WELCOMED ARMED BANDITS

Two Men Were Driven Off By Watchman and Retriever.

WINNIPEG ,April 14. (Canadian Press)—Two armed bandits, who broke into the office of a local transfer company early on Sunday morning, left the building shortly after, a wiser but surprised and badly maltreated pair. They did not bargain for an agressive night watchman, nor an attack from a retriever which greeted them as they settled to their task of rifling the strong box. A short but sanguine struggle ensued in which the combined strength and cunning of man and beast triumphed over two desperadoes. The thugs were disarmed by the night watchman and beaten, while the retriever used his teeth to good advantage. The defenders, however, were badly bruised by the butt end of the robbers' revolvers.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

STOP TRADING HERE.

Lakefield, Ont.

To the Editor,
Peterborough Examiner:
Dear Sir,—

I appreciate very much the opportunity given to those living outside of Peterborough to express themselves on the Daylight Saving question.

Personally, I consider it the height of folly to thing of changing the time. I would advise those who want the change so badly, to advance their own clocks but leave the other fellows alone. I have been greatly inconvenienced in the past when daylight saving was in operation in Peterborough, and I feel sure ninety-five percent of the people outside of town are opposed, and their rights and wishes should be considered. I know this, that if Peterborough endorses this change, I will divert all the business possible to other places, for at present Peterborough is my main place of business. But having been annoyed and confused in the past while doing business in Peterborough. I made up my mind that if the town people wanted this change, they could have it at their own expense and not mine.

I trust all who are interested and think as I do, will express themselves, and not keep quiet until after the change is made, then make a great holler.

Yours truly,
A. C. CARVETH (Subscriber)

HIKE TO LAKEFIELD.

The Second Milers Hold a Successful Hiking Party.

The second milers class of the Park street Baptist church, held a hiking party on Friday. They left the church at 9 a.m., a halt being made at Nassau for lunch.

After lunch the boys assisted a farmer to extinguish a grass fire, and after much exertion were successful.

A pleasant time was spent playing soft ball, until one of the boys met with a slight accident, first aid being necessary, which was rendered by a trainman of the C. N. R..

The tired but contented party returned home on the 4.40 train, well satisfield that they had hiked far enough.

TOWNSHIP SCHOOL BOARDS APPROVED

North Oxford Inspector Emphasizes Advantages of Proposal.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., April 14—Complete approval of the proposal to organize township school boards to take the place of the present system of school zones in the rural districts was given Monday by Inspector Cole of North Oxford in an interview. He said there were many advantages in the new plan, particularly in that it would make simple the organization of consolidated schools, and would in many cases, eliminate walks of four or five miles for children who, because they lived in a certain school section, had to attend school in that section although the school in the next section might be closer to their home. He also thought it would help to eliminate the congestion in the lower forms of the collegiates, as it would enable more high and continuation schools to be established in the rural sections.

I. O. O. F. HELD BIG FIELD DAY

Degree Teams Put on Work in Splendid Manner On Friday.

MANY VISITORS.

The annual field day of the two Encapments, Mount Hebron, No. 56, and Hiawatha No. 66, I.O.O.F., held on Good Friday, was as usual a splendid success, both as to attendance and the manner in which the work was put on by the several degree teams participating

The members of Victoria Encampment, No. 25, Port Hope, were the first to arrive, coming by cars in the morning, and making the I.O.O.F Temple their headquarters for the day.

Stirling Encampment, No. 80, Stirling, arrived via C.P. . at 3.35 p.m., and were met at the station by the local and visiting Patriarchs, and all marched in procession to their rooms at corner of George and Hunter streets, where they proceeded to meet in session.

A class of candidates were in waiting to receive the second degree, the conferring of which was carried out as follows:

The Patriarchal Degree by Hiawatha, No. 66, the 'Golden Rule,' by Stirling, No. 80, and the 'Royal Purple,' by Victoria, No. 25.

The generous applause that was accorded each team on the completion of their work, was a hearty bers and also Past Grand Master J. present and witness it.

Patriarchs from the surrounding district were present in good numbers, and laso Past Grand Master J. A. Tully, Calgary, who was received with the honors of the Order.

At the finish of the degree work, an adjournment was made to the dining hall where the members of Golden Link Lodge, No. 81, D. of R., were in waiting to confer the 4th degree, and that they are experts in charge of candidates—of which there were a full complement—all present who participated will be glad to testify.

Then with District Deputy Grand Patriarch Fred Read as chairman, the following toast list was presented:

Toast—"The King."
Chairman's address—Fred. Read, D.D.G.P.
Song—Mr. H. Snelgrove.
Song—"The Hebrew Senator," Mr. Jack Harris.
Toast—"The Grand Encampment," by F. Merrett, P.C.P., response by F. Read.

Ten Million Bottles—

EVERY year ten million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin are bought by people who recognize the value of this great laxative as a builder of healthy bodies through the relief of constipation.

This tremendous popularity has been built on confidence. The formula originated and used so successfully by Dr. Caldwell in his own practice has never been changed.

Unlike so many laxatives it has no bitter or nauseous taste. It is a compound of plant drugs proven to be beneficial to the human system without creating habits or injuring the system with mercurials or narcotics.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is particularly recommended to mothers as a pleasant-tasting and effective laxative for children. You can safeguard their health by checking colds and fevers through the use of this great family medicine.

Half the world is half asleep

It is terrible to feel all dragged out—to live from one day to the next in a constant state of weariness. Yet thousands do, because constipation is destroying their energy—even their interest in life. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Nothing seemed to interest her"

BY THE end of the second act she wished she were home in bed. She was tired—always tired. That fact showed in her face. And "she" may be multiplied by tens of thousands of women in America. For it was the world's most universal disease that was sapping her strength and killing her interest. . . . It is good to know that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has brought permanent relief to thousands of sufferers from constipation.

When ALL-BRAN travels through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it can sweep the intestine clean. It can absorb and carry moisture through the intestinal tract and stimulate it to natural, healthy action. ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delightful with milk or cream, sprinkled over other cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on every package. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. You can see that a part-bran product can, at best, be but partially effective.

Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN. It is the bran which doctors recommend. Accept no other if you would be sure. All grocers sell it. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it. Buy a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN today.

WOUNDS CAUSED BY QUARREL IN THE U. S. SENATE

President Coolidge Prevented by Senate From Making Appointment.

DEFEAT FOR WARREN

Opponents of Proposed Attorney-General Were Victorious in Fight.

WASHINGTON, April 14 (Canadian Press).—The fight between the President and the Senate over the confirmation of Charles Beecher Warren, of Michigan, which ended in a victory for the Senate, has left scars which will not soon be healed. The effects of the fight will be felt in the coming controversy over the revision over tariff legislation, and over a number of other matters.

It will be said in some quarters that the controversy between the President and the Senate was not decided and was left a draw, but the fact remains that the Senate twice rejected the nomination of the President of Mr. Warren for attorney-general, and while the President was willing to give Mr. Warren a recess appointment, Mr. Warren was forced into a position where he felt impelled to refuse to accept such an appointment. Unquestionably he foresaw the likelihood of a third rejection by the Senate.

President Coolidge, in other words, set out to put a certain man in the office of attorney-general, and found that, by reason of Senate opposition, he could not. In its practical workings, the outcome is a victory for the opposition to Warren in the Senate. Senators who opposed Warren were jubilant and supporters of the administration were not pleased over the outcome.

Looking forward to the next session of Congress, everybody who is concerned in what may eventuate in that session is speculating on the alignment of the various forces. It looks at this distance as if the rejection of Warren forecasted a coalition in the Senate which would be able to dictate legislation. This coalition will be made up of democrats and progressive republicans. The progressive republican group will be led by Senators Borah, Norris, Johnson and others of their way of thinking. That group will hold the balance of power.

This means that President Coolidge, in order to get through the recommendations he will make as to tax revision, tariff revision and other matters, will have to consult the views of the progressives.

This is not saying that he will consult their views. In fact, he may choose to ignore them and to follow along strictly conservative lines. But if he does ignore the progressive group, the probabilities are he will find many of his recommendations shipwrecked.

Going back into history, the situation to-day is not unlike the one President Taft faced in 1909. He chose to make war on the progressives, or "insurgents" as they are sometimes called, and the outcome was the wrecking of his political fortunes in 1912. However, it is too early to speculate on what may happen in 1928 to Mr. Coolidge. What is much closer at hand is the legislative outlook, and there is practically no doubt that the latest events have revealed the weakness of the Old Guard in the Senate. The Old Guard senators, who are the administration senators, are not in the saddle when it comes to legislation.

TROUBLE ON TROUBLE

Mrs. Seldow

BY BOB DORMAN

NEW YORK, April 14.—Out of a rose-tinted sky of happiness came a bolt of the laws swift lightning that turned all the world to sorrow's somber black for the former Mary Woodson, Washington deb and heiress.

For the same stroke of fate that had brought about a reunion with the mother who had searched a world for 18 months for a daughter who had disappeared without trace or clue, brought down upon the head of the man the long-sought girl had married, the representatives of a law he had flouted.

Jack Seldow, the husband who the police claim is known to them as "Maurice" Seldon, rests again behind the bars. He had been released on parole, a parole the police claim he has violated and for which the law demands that he serve out the sentence given him when he was convicted of burglary.

She wanted to do things—she ran away from home to New York where she found work.

Then in a dance hall, she met Jack Seldon.

It was a case of love at first sight.

A few short weeks of fervid courtship, and the two were married in the municipal building.

A little nest was established, and the hired truck driver—for that was the job that Jack Seldon had found—came daily to loving arms and the peace of home.

Mary Woodson knew of his past, for Seldow had been man enough to tell the girl of the things he had done. But the cloud on their happiness was but a small one, almost forgotten. And when a published photo of the missing Mary Woodson was seen and recognized by one of her neighbors, who notified her mother, the little cloud was completely forgotten in the joy of the reunion with a mother.

Mary and Jack wanted the whole world to know of their happiness. Run in cut here

Their pictures—the romantic story of the missing heiress—were in all the papers.

Jack Seldow is in jail but a frantic girl-wife is fighting valiantly, with a fond mother to back her up, to set aside the law's decree.

LABOR MOVES IN SOUTH AMERICA

Report Shows Rapid Advance and Better Hours Obtained.

PEONAGE PROBLEM

MONTEVIDEO, April 14 (Associated Press).—There has been a rapid growth of labor organizations and a widespread legislative action to give better hours and conditions to those who labor in the South American republics, Miss Elizabeth McFarland points out in her report for the Commission on Social Movements, prepared for submission to the Congress on Christian Work in South America.

"When the labor movement came into being in the port cities or in other crowded industrial districts, and the laborers tried to protest against wrongs by means of strikes, such as they were told had been successful in Europe, they were met with a show of military force and forced to desist," the report points out. "This made it seem that such a strike was a revolution against the government, and even to-day it is sometimes so regarded.

"However, the new labor movement in some of the countries, especially in South America, is one of the important influences which are bringing about rapid changes in social economic and political conditions."

Of the temperance movement, the report says: "In some of the South American countries there is marked activity along temperance lines. This is especially true in Uruguay and Chili, though in several other countries, among which are Argentina and Brazil, the movement is gaining strength. From the beginning, the leaders of this movement have been largely of the countries themselves.

"A real contribution was made to the cause of temperance in South America by the action of the Pan-American Union at its meeting in Santiago in 1923. Its recommendation was that the governments forming the International American Union, should bring about a gradual diminishing of the consumption of alcoholic drinks until the problem of alcoholism has been finally solved."

The effort of women in several South American republics to gain rights and privileges which have hitherto been held exclusively by the men is of very recent development, according to the report. It was first noticeable in Argentina in 1904, when a woman physician organized a lecture centre giving instruction to working-women on child rearing and hygiene; this was in protest to the refusal of authorities to enrol women students for the study of medicine in the university. The movement shows its greatest strength in Argentina, Uruguay and Chili.

"The peonage system," the report declares, "is one of the crushing problems that the South American nations must face. Argentina and Uruguay seem to be making the most effort to secure free labor. The system varies from country to country, the southern countries approaching more nearly to a free labor system, but the general features are common to all."

equilibrium between production and wants," and one of the chief functions of the organizers of industry is to restore this equilibrium (or value) whenever it is disturbed.

We need roads that pay their way

Constant patching and re-surfacing speedily run the cost of a road into high figures that keep right on growing. Such a road can never be a paying investment. It is a constant burden on the taxpayer.

In his interests—your interest—we must have permanent roads. Concrete is permanent.

Concrete roads literally pay their way. Their first cost is practically their last. Elaborate repair programmes are eliminated, maintenance being a minor issue involving little money.

Concrete roads are easy to drive over. They save gasoline, reduce wear and tear on tires, prolong the life of motor vehicles. They invite and endure heavy traffic and help reduce taxation.

GIRL SLAYER HURLS WATER AT COUNSEL

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—Dorothy Ellingson, the 17-year-old matricide, on trial for her sanity before a jury in Superior Court here, interrupted the proceedings on Tuesday by hurling a glass of water at her attorneys and denouncing them bitterly.

"You can't talk about me like that," cried the girl, smashing a bottle of smelling salts on the table by way of emphasis. "Wait until I take the stand and tell about it." She then wept and Judge Louderback ordered a brief recess.

The outburst came during the cross-examination of Edward W. Twitchell, an alienist for the prosecution, who testified that he considered the girl sane. Sylvester J. McAtee, of defense counsel, wanted to know whether the alienist considered normal a girl who could kill her mother on pretext of a quarrel. Mr. Twitchell said he did not hold it evidence of insanity.

The attorney then repeated incidents of the girl's arrest and her interest, when she was brought to police head quarters in newspaper accounts of the tragedy and in "a bum picture" an artist had drawn of her.

A question about her behaviour at head-quarters was interrupted when the girl seized the glass of water and threw it, spattering on the counsel

A writer of an interview between the Ellingson girl and Dr. Joseph Catton, prosecution alienist, was introduced. It contained a test intended to demonstrate that the prisoner understood all the proceedings and was capable of making a rational defense.

The statement, signed by the girl, quoted her as saying that she would rather stand trial for the murder because otherwise she "might have to be sent somewhere and have to stand it later—the quicker the better."

The defendant added that if necessary she could go into court and defend herself, and she was quoted as declaring that she "certainly knew" the difference between right and wrong, and understood what it meant to take a human life."

MOTHERS LIKE TO TREAT COLDS WITH VAPORS

Direct Treatment with Vaporizing Salve Immediately Reaches Inflamed Air Passages.

It is no longer necessary constantly to dose the children in treating croup, bronchitis, sore throat or deep chest colds. Many Canadian mothers now use the 'outside' remedy, Vicks VapoRub, for the cold troubles of all the family, because it is just rubbed over throat and chest—there is nothing to take. When so applied Vicks gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and making the breathing easier.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed and stimulates the skin like a liniment or plaster and thus aids the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

Money AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

What is value?

"Value is the automatic indicator which production follows," says one famous economist. Take a concrete thing like shirts to prove the truth of this statement. If the want for shirts increases, the demand rises, and therefore the value of shirts rises. This higher value stimulates shirt manufacturers to increase production until the supply is so increased that it equals demand. This results in the value falling to its old level.

If the manufacturers produce shirts in excess of the want for them, the value falls. Warned by the fall in value, the manufacturers will reduce production until the demand and supply balance once more and the value will swing back to the previous level.

This makes value represent "an

CLASSICS BEAT JAZZ IN FAVOR OF FANS

Special Programme From KSD—More Votes From Classics.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 14.—Classical music was a decisive victory over jazz when a special programme of request numbers was broadcast by Station KSD, here.

Out of more than 300 compositions asked for, following announcement of this request programme, more votes came in for classical selections than for jazz. As a result, Vin James, pianist of Belleville, Ill., sat for three hours at the KSD piano and played 76 pieces of music.

The programme ranged all the way from "Largo" of Handel to "Red Hot Mamma," but jazz took a minor part.

By the requests sent in, the most popular piece asked for was the "Peer Gynt" suite of Greig. Next came Percy Grainger's "Shepherd Hay" and "Country Gardens," "Henry VIII. Dances" by German, and the "Sonata Pathetique" by Beethoven. Other popular classics also received more votes than jazz.

Among jazz pieces, Irving Berlin's "All Alone" led the list. "Follow the Swallow" and "What's Become of Sally" had the least requests.

NAVIGATION ON TRENT IS OPEN

Boat Passed Through Lindsay Lock April 8 For First Trip.

LIFT LOCK CLOSED.

"Navigation, except at Lakefield and the Lift Lock, is open," said A. L. Killaly, superintendent of the Trent Canal, this morning. "All the locks are ready any time the boats want to go through, and as far as the canal is concerned they can start when they like." Mr. Killaly said he had no information about whether some of the lakes still had ice in them, although some of them had been reported clear. The official opening of navigation might be set at April 8, as a boat had been locked through at Lindsay on that day.

Mr. Killaly expected that the Lift Lock and the Lakefield lock would be open for navigation about May 1.

EASTER DANCE AT THE CONSERVATORY

Teachers' Association Were Hostesses at an Enjoyable Affair.

The Teachers' Association of the Peterboro Conservatory of Music held a very enjoyable Easter dance in the Conservatory Hall last evening. There were about one hundred and fifty people present. The hall was decorated in appropriate Easter fashion, with the orchestra on the stage banked with ferns and green and white paper streamers. Green and white paper formed the slashed curtains at the windows, with novelties in white cut-out paper "bunnies." Bowls of pink Japanese cherry blossoms made a bright touch of color.

Patronesses for the dance were Mesdames R. Harstone, W. R. Widdess, D. Carmichael, R. Gliddon and Madame Masson. Miss Edwina Palmer, president of the Association, also assisted in receiving the guests.

Excellent music was provided by Roy Nickrenz' orchestra, with J. Nazimok, H. Snelgrove and Ted McCarthy playing. During several of the numbers, Mr. Snelgrove sang with fine effect. The dance programme included a moon dance and an elimination dance, the prizes for the latter won by Miss Eleanor Eastwood and Jerry Coulthard. The refreshments served by the teachers were delicious.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Widdess, Professor and Mrs. R. Gliddon, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Sedgewick, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McClelland, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Skinner, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cook, Madame Masson, Mesdames R. Harstone, D. Carmichael, W. IN CASE OF SNAKE BITE

Keep Poison From Circulating Through the Body is Important.

Living in a small town, Mrs. Mann's children know little about poisonous snakes. But as soon as school is out they plan to spend several weeks in the woods.

So Mrs. Mann dug into her library to find out what to do in case of snakebite.

Here's what she learned:

Keep the poison from circulating through the body. This is done by tying a cord, rope or necktie a short distance from the bitten spot, and between the latter and the heart.

If there are no sores in the mouth or on the lips, suck the wound, being careful to spit out the poison blood.

A drop of pure carbolic acid may be applied to the wound or a strong solution of permanganate of potash.

If a person has the nerve, a red-hot iron or live coal of fire should be placed on the wound. This helps to cauterize the wound.

Most of the common variety of snakes are non-poisonous, Mrs. Mann learned. She planned to get a list and description of the poisonous kind so her children would know them on sight.

Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads makes the pores large and causes irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of peroxine powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off, and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

MANY BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Village of North Augusta Was Threatened With Complete Destruction.

BROCKVILLE, April 14.—(Canadian Press).—The village of North Augusta, situated 16 miles from here, suffered a serious fire loss at 5 o'clock this morning when a blaze, originating in the bakery of T. W. Ralph, destroyed that building as well as the adjoining residence of Fred Colborne, the premises of the Bank of Nova Scotia, the harness shop and outbuildings of Mr. Colborne, and the residence of M. T. Karl and W. S. Ralph. All the buildings destroyed were of frame construction, and it was only by great effort that the volunteer fire brigade prevented the fire from crossing to the opposite side of the street. The blaze was brought under control.

The fire is believed to have started in the flue of the bakery. Help summoned from Brockville, Spencerville and Smith's Falls was not available.

The contents of most of the buildings were also lost.

WATER PLUNGES OVER CITY DAM; 8,624 CUBIC FEET EVERY SECOND

Biggest Flow This Year at London Street Dam Was April 1.

ACCURATE COUNT

Drop of Thirty Feet Sends Spray High in Air — Deafening Roar.

The spring floods which are dashing these days over the dam at London street, form a wonderful panorma of wild, swirling, foaming water—a veritable Niagara on a small scale. The river, as it plunges over the dam sends spray up thirty feet or more—and then a rushing tide of white, foaming water it sweeps around the curve of the old sawdust pile on the left, a relic of bygone lumber days, and over the old wooden breakwater on the right, and then it converges again farther down to rush between and around the two old piers that form the visible remnants of the old dam.

The spring rush of water began in the first week of March and has been increasing in volume ever since. On April 1st the amount of water going over the dam was greatest. During the winter there was rather a shortage, but when the break-up came the creeks up, north Eel's Perry's, and the others, all conveyed the melting snows into the lakes which act as reservoirs. When the lakes were filled the dam was opened at Young's Point and the water was allowed to rush down towards Peterborough, gaining volume as it came.

The amount of water flowing through the sluices and running the generators at the powerhouse can be definitely estimated, since 1000 cubic feet of water a second generates 100 kilowat in electricity. By means of "taking up" or "putting down" the stop logs in the dam the the flow of water through the sluices under the power house is controlled.

On April 1, more water went over the dam than any other day this year, 8624 cubic feet of water a second taking the plunge, and one-fourth of that amount, or 2156 cubic feet a second, going under the power house.

The officials at the power house at London street stated that the river has not risen as high this year as in some past years, due to the absence of rain.

The water must be held back as much as possible in the Spring to insure a supply in the dry season of the summer. Reports are made out daily stating the maximum and minimum flow every day and these reports must be sent to the head office of the Hydro-Power Commission for the Trent Valley Division at Belleville.

Married 10 Minutes After Attacking Father-in-Law

EAST ORANGE, N. J., April 14.—(United Press).—It's a fast life they lead here in East Orange.

Ten minutes after Vicent Erlerdo and Angelo Rfigeu had been fined in police court Monday on charges of attacking each other with knives, Rfigeu was married to Erlerdo's daughter, Rose, by Judge Herbert Lightshipe.

Rose and her husband, whose hands were still bloody from his battle with the girl's father, left the court-room after the ceremony.

"Rose and her man are gone away on a wedding trip, and they will be back after supper," Erlerdo explained.

Business and History of the Company

The Elliot Manufacturing Company Limited represents the continuation of a business founded in 1879 by the late J. D. Elliot & Son at Port Hope, under the name of the Port Hope Knitting Works" making stockings and underwear with unusual success.

In 1886 the son (T. C. Elliot), who is now president and General Manager of the above Company, purchased from his father full control of the business, paying $10,000.00 for same.

In 1888 the business was moved to Peterborough and located at 382 George Street, where a retail branch was opened still under the same name of (Port Hope Knitting Works) and continued with big success.

This retail store grew very rapidly and twelve years later, in 1900 (T. C. Elliot) opened an additional store under the name of the (Beehive) and under his management the (Beehive) store enjoyed success from its inception and grew so rapidly and expanded until it took in two double stores in width and three stories high and was variously known as the (Beehive) and (Elliot's) and enjoyed a phenomenal success for twenty-two years when he sold the building and contents in 1922.

At this time T. C. Elliot and his son branched out into the Yarn Business, catering to the wholesale and retail trade throughout the Dominion under the Trade names of (Ellico) and (Baby Lamb). The names and its products are well and favourably known throughout Canada and the Company numbers among its regular customers some of the largest and best known concerns in the Dominion. The potential market for the Company's products is virtually unlimited.

In 1924 a range of 130 numbers of infants' hand-made Knitted and Crocheted wear were added to the lines.

Expansion on Business

The Elliot Manufacturing Company Limited have now seven travelling salesmen covering the Dominion from Halifax to Vancouver and are now establishing sales agencies in the Foreign countries, where there is a big demand for its products. The factory building is big enough to take care of all expansion and the sales force can handle any extra lines without increased cost.

We propose to increase our range by installing machinery for the manufacture of Underwear for Children and Infants, also machines to make Cashmere and Worsted Hosiery.

We have made arangements to take over three agencies for kindred goods from Great Britain, all of which it is expected will increase the business over 100 p.c.

General Manager

Mr. T. C. Elliot has demonstrated through his continued success his complete knowledge of the knitting business and will continue the management of the present Company.

The business has steadily grown and expanded until to-day its plant covers an area of 135 by 96 with a building 116 by 44, two and a half stories high, solid brick and cement construction with steel braced pillars. It is located on Rink Street, south side, between Stewart and Aylmer in the City of Peterborough, with the Canadian National tracks on one side and a siding from the C.P.R. on the other.

The Company with its unusual record growth and development has to-day been financed almost exclusively out of the profits of the business, assisted from time to time by bank loans which, due to the virility of the business, have always been readily obtainable. The Company at the present time is in a strong financial condition, and the demands for its products is increasing steadily from year to year.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

HYDRO APPROPRIATES $825,000 FOR CENTRAL ONTARIO SYSTEM

Sum in Provincial Estimates Believed to be for Dam at Allan's Mills.

HUGE RESERVOIR

Would Benefit All the Trent Power Plants Below Healey Falls.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14.—According to the official figures contained in the provincial estimates the Hydro Commission proposes to expend $825,000 in the Central Ontario system during the fiscal year which ends in October, 1926. As the Commission has in the past two years expended nearly $2,000,000 in the erection of two power houses in the Campbellford district, the proposed outlay for the coming fiscal year is regarded as liberal. There is only one meaning attached to it here, and that is that the proposed improvements at Allan's mills, which were described in detail in The Examiner recently will be carried out. These improvements, or extensions, include the building of a dam across Crow River, a work that would form an immense reservoir and enable the Hydro to carry on in this system unaffected by low water due to a dry season. The dam at Allan's mills would hold in reserve a supply sufficient to meet all contingencies, and it would benefit every power plant as far down as Trenton, with the exception of the one at Healey Falls. The first work to be undertaken is the building of the dam after which the erection of a power house at that point will be considered.

A dam at Allan's mills will serve the same purpose as the canal which it was proposed to cut from Belmont Lake to the Trent River at Healey Falls, the only difference being, as befort stated, that the plant at the latter place would not be benefitted.

Merchants and Workingmen of Campbellford are deeply interested in the proposed extension at Allan's mills.

JAIL BREAKER NABBED.

Brought Back to Lindsay and Pleads Guilty.

LINDSAY, April 14.— Roy Lindsay, the Indian who broke jail at Haliburton in May, 1924, and later made a sensational get-away from the police at Campbellford, has been run to earth. On April 9th, he was arrested by Provincial Officer Hinds at La Forest, New Ontario, and brought to Sudbury jail. Provincial Constable Crough, of Haliburton, brought him to Lindsay Monday, where he appeared for trial. He pleaded guilty to jail breaking and theft and was remanded until Friday.

U. S. TARIFF INCREASE.

Duty on Potassium Chlorate Aimed at Germany.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—An increase in the tariff duty on potassium chlorate from 1 1-2 cents to 2 1-4 cents a pound was ordered yesterday by President Coolidge.

The object of the increase is to equalize the cost of production in the United States with that in Germany, the principal competing country.

The product is used in the manufacture of matches and fireworks, as an oxidizing agent in cloth printing, and also as a medicant.

LINDSAY'S "RUM KING" ELUSIVE

Evades Police in Spite of Many Evidences of His Operations.

HAS MADE MONEY.

LINDSAY, April 14.—(Special.)—While border centres and some of the larger cities claim to have in their midst men who have commercialized the bootlegging business, earning the soubriquet of "Rum King," Lindsay, according to the authorities, has a genuine operator in its midst, and he has worried them to death in their efforts to "get something on him."

This town has been the centre of extensive bootlegging activities for the past few years, and although the authorities made several clean-ups there always appears to be others who are prepared to take a chance in the illicit business. The police have never been able to catch the man who has been termed "the king pin" and "the man higher up," although every ruse has been resorted to in order to gather him in. This man, the authorities freely admit, has been in the business for a number of years. He started out on a rather limited scale, but his patrons multiplied to such an extent that he was obliged to engage the services of an agent who had a car. It is freely admitted by the former's friends that he has made considerable money — so much, in fact, that he was able to put on a flashy front. He was a familiar figure at barn raisings, school dances and celebrations of diffrent kinds throughout the district, and although he was shadowed by officers they failed to get anything on him. In the course of time he branched out on a more ambitious scale, with the result that the authorities to-day are convinced that some of those convicted of handling bootleg whiskey in the past are simply his agents, and that in some instances he has provided the money to pay fines. This conviction, of course, is founded only on suspicion, but nevertheless those whose duty it is to enforce the law are satisfied that they are not far astray.

MILK MAY BE SERVED IN MANY WAYS

More and more milk is being recognized as Nature's complete food, supplying as it does all necessary elements for the human body. In many households its value is recognizd, but difficulty is experienced in getting the folks to drink their "pint a day." This applies particularly to children ,who are not always keen for milk. Wise mothers are getting over the difficulty by giving the family the greater portion of their milk in the food they serve. Milk is quite as good for us in sauces, muffins, cakes, and desserts as when we drink it plain. The fact that this is Borden Milk Week reminds us that the people who put up St. Charles Milk have issued a wonderfully attractive cook book giving dozens of recipes for appetizing dishes made largely with milk, and made so easily and economically with St. Charles, the milk to use wherever the recipe calls for milk. A free copy of this book may be obtained from Borden Co., Limited, Montreal, on mentioning this paper.

NORHAM BEEF RING TO BEGIN IN JUNE

Arrangements for New Season Which Opens Week Earlier.

NORHAM, April 13.—A meeting of the patrons of the Norham Beef Ring, which has operated successfully for neraly twenty years, was held in the hall on Thursday evening for the purpose of arranging the work for the coming summer. The president, Harold Skinkle, of Warkworth, took the chair, while Oscar Laver, secretary, kept a record of the proceedings. On motion it was decided to begin killing the second week in June, which is one week sooner than usual. The price per pound to be paid by those receiving meat and who do not furnish animals was fixed at ten cents. The animals for killing are to be brought to the slaughter house at J. Wesley Newman's on Monday evening that the physical condition may be right for killing on Tuesday evening.

Lewis Denike, Robert I. Mitchell and John Diamond constitute a board of control whose work it is to see that each beef is properly fitted and as near the standard as possible. Each animal is expected to dress 400 pounds by which arrangement each patron using a full share will receive during the summer a whole beef. The cutting and delivering is done early each Wednesday morning. The member supplying the beef retains the hide but must pay for the slaughtering, cutting and delivering. William Allen, of Warkworth, who for several years has performed this task for the Norham ring, has the contract again this year.

Sunday School Staff.

The Mount Olivet Sunday school was organized recently to re-open the last Sunday of April with the following staff of officers and teachers. Superintendent, Maurice Ames; Assistant Supt., Mrs. William Wilson; Secretary, William Goodfellow; Treasurer, John Goodfellow; Organists, Laura Ames, Iva Smith, Jean Valleau; Missionary Committee, Louisa Goodfellow, Harper Piester, Kenneth Ames. Teachers: Adult class, Mrs. William Goodfellow, Eric Foster; Young People's class, Mrs. Cora Valleau, Tennyson Adams; Primary class, Mrs. Grant Goodfellow, Mrs. Eldred Cameron.

An average of forty persons attended the midweek services held at Meyersburg during Passion week.

Several of the villagers may be seen each day going to and from the mill pond with rod and bait, but report rather small catches.

Miss Eva Denike, of Hillier, is spending this week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Denike, and her sister, Mrs. Eric Foster, of Codrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet R. Hay, of Healy Falls, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McNaught, of Mount Olivet.

Farmers this week are turning to indoor work, as the recent heavy fall of snow has delayed operations on the land for several days.

HER FACE WAS COVERED WITH PIMPLES

She Got Rid of Them By Using Burdock Blood Bitters

Miss T. Hunter, R.R. No. 8, London, Ont., writes:—"I wish to recommend Burdock Blood Bitters to all women who are suffering from pimples or any facial blemishes. About two years ago I was greatly troubled with pimples and sores breaking out on my face, and could get no relief until, finally, a friend recommended me to take B.B.B. This I did, and I am now glad to say that your remedy has given me the desirable results, and I now have a nice smooth, clear skin as it eliminated all the impurities from my blood."

Get B.B.B. when you ask for it; it has been on the market for the past 46 years; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

URGES ONTARIO TO ADVERTISE

Rewards of California and Florida Cited in Sarnia Address.

SARNIA, Ont., April 14.—Johnstone T. McAdam, just returned from a trip to California and Florida, told luncheon club members of the Chamber of Commerce Monday that when it became the popular thing for the Americans to go to Ontario for the Summer, as it is now for Ontario people to go South, financial anemia which now afflicted this province would be relieved.

California and Florida were reaping a harvest for tourist traffic, the speaker said, because they capitalized their resources and advantages to the limit. The same thing that took a man South in the Winter might serve to bring men from the South to the North in Summer. Ontarioans had never sold their proposition to these prospective visitors with the exceptions of the efforts put forth by the railways. Here there was one Blue Water Highway, while in California there were fifty such organizations, and the idea was one that might be adopted here. There could be district organizations and one general headquarters from which information could be disseminated in advertising the general advantages of the province.

People in the South had the idea that this was a cold country. Why not capitalize that idea and turn it into money. Let the manufacturer put a label on his goods going into the South with pictures typical of scenes of the province. Landmarks and historic sites should be made famous and once the flow of people started and it became the popular thing to do, it would go far to solve the problem of anaemic finances.

SILVER WEDDING OF MILLBROOK COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown Presented With Silver Tea Service.

A surprise partey of about fifty guests visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Brown, Fallis Line, on Good Friday evening to celebrate with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding-day.

The "bride and groom" of a quarter of a century, with their customary hospitality ,gave hearty greeting to their unexpected guests, the party including relatives and friends from Toronto, Peterborough, Omemee, Millbrook, and other points.

Rev, F. H. Howard was asked to act as chairman for the occasion, and as usual brought that "good humor which is the clear, blue sky of the soul", and which was naturally a prominent feature of the gathering, to assist him in discharging the duties of his position.

Previous to making formal announcement of the items on the programme, the chairman requested Mr. and Mrs. Brown to come forward when their neice, Mrs. J. J. Crown, of Reaboro, on behalf those present, and also of many others who sincerely regretted being unable to accept the invitation to join in the happy event, presented them with a handsome silver tea service,, and rosewood tray with silver setting, Mrs. Hugh Kennedy reading the following address:

Dear Friends:

It is with great pleasure that we have gathered here tonight to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of your wedding-day.

We wish to extend to you our heartiest congratulations, and to express our gratification that you have enjoyed together a quarter of a century of married life. Throughout the years we have enjoyed good fellowship with you, and have always held you in the highest esteem.

We hope that there are remaining for you many years of continued happiness, and that the ties of friendship which bind us together will grow stronger as the years go by.

Signed on behalf of relatives and friends.
Committee
T. M. Brock H. M. Green
J. W. Brock L. A. Strong
Millbrook, April 10, 1925.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were deeply touched by the affection and thought fulness which prompted both the gift and the kindly words accompanying it, and the former, who replied on behalf of his "bride" and himself, found some difficulty in adequately expressing their appreciation. The singing of, "For they are jolly, good fellows, helped to relieve the embarrassment, and emotion always incident to such an occasion.

Brief addresses were made by G. W. Mulligan, of Peterborough, Ex-Warden A. J. Henderson, Messrs. W. Fred Fallis, G. E. Burnham and Mr. Mulligan also added to the pleasure of the evening by contributing a number of vocal selections.

The self-invited "guests" had come well prepared for the bountiful supper which was presently served, giving further opportunity for promoting the social enjoyment of the occasion.

Warm congratulation, and repeated good wishes "for many happy returns of the day", were extended as the good-byes were spoken, and the guests finally left for their respective homes.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mulligan, Peterborough, M. and Mrs. R. J. McKnight, Mr .and Mrs. W. Fred Fallis, Mr and Mrs. George Thorne, Mr. J. and Miss. M. Thorne, of Omemee, Mr. and Mrs. Adams, of Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. T. Jameison, of Omemee, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brown, and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Strong, and daughter, Miss. Verna, of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brock, and daughter, Miss. Myrtle, of Peterborough, Mr Letts, Mrs. Parks, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Crown, Reaboro, Mr. and Mrs. David Armstrong. Miss Alberta Brock of Peterborough, Miss Jennie Brock, of Millbrook, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, Ex-Warden A. J. and Mrs. Henderson, Rev. F. H. and Mrs. K. Brown, Mr, and Mrs. G. E. Burnham.

Telegrams and letters of congratulations were received from a number of relatives and friends in Cobourg, Uxbridge, Orillia, Port Hope, and other points, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Brown many more years of happiness, and expressing keen regret that circumstances made it impossible for them to be present.

At Home Successful

The "At Home" held by the students of the Continuation School on Thursday evening was attended by over one hundred guests. The rooms were attractively decorated with the school colors, orange and black, and music was furnished by Byam's four-piece orchestra.

Games were provided in the class rooms upstairs for those who did not care to dance, and the entire evening was a most enjoyable occasion, the first of its kind held in the school here.

Miss. K. Sutton and H. Jordan, of the teaching staff, assisted by a number of the students, received the guests and were most thoughtful in looking after their pleasure during the entire evening.

The literary society of the Continuation School, Marjorie Sayles, president, took an active part in promoting the occasion, and carrying it through to a successful conclusion.

Misses I. Handley, E. Montgomery, and Mr. B. B. Dawson, of the public school staff, and Messrs. A. A. Smith and J. A. Vance, of the trustee board, were among those present.

The gathering did not break up until some time after supper had been served, the general enjoyment making the guests loth to bring the happy occasion to a close.

START SPRING WORK AROUND BONAR LAW

Farmers Are Busy Ploughing and Some Seeding Has Been Done.

BONAR LAW, April 14.—Spring work has commenced at last and everybody is busy. One farmer has most of his land cultivated, and ready to sow. The roads are in excellent shape and the land is drying up very fast. The fall grain and new seeding has come through fine and the farmers are expecting a good crop. There are no lazy farmers in this district; everybody has his job and is busy at it. Seeding has commenced.

The Farmers Club unloaded a car load of salt at Springbrook last week. They expect to order more as they didn't have nearly enough to supply their customers.

YOUR GARDEN

BUYING AND SOWING GRASS SEED

It is a wise policy to purchase only fancy recleaned seed from a reliable dealer. This will save you disappointing results.

Buy the separate grasses and mix them yourself, especially if your conditions vary considerably from a fairly level clayey or sandy loam soil. Special conditions require special grasses or mixtures in many cases.

If you do not care to or cannot purchase a reliable mixture, the following selections of grasses will be found very satisfactory.

For general purposes—

Fancy Kentuck Blue Grass	5 parts
Fancy Red Top	2 parts
Rhode Island Bent
English Rye	3 parts
	10 parts

For Shaded Places— Per cent.

Kentucky Blue Grass	40
Wood Meadow Grass	40
Various Leaved Fescue	10
Crested Dogs Tail	10

For Terraces and Slopes—

Creeping Bent (or Rhode Island Bent)	40
Crested Dogs Tail	25
Canada Blue Grass	25
Kentucky Blue Grass	10

Wet and Bottom Lands—

Kentucky Blue Grass	30
Rough stalk meadow grass	30
English Rye	30
Various Leaved Fescue	20

Sow these mixtures at the following rates:—

Light seeding, 1 lb. to 400 square feet.

Heavy seeding 2½ lb. to 400 square feet.

Divide the seed into two parts. First sow lengthwise of the area in strips about five to six feet wide. Bend the back well and swing the hand at a height of 1½ to 2 feet freely from side to side in a sweeping motion. Grasp a handful of seed and allow it to sprinkle out from either end of the closed fist or lightly between the slightly opened fingers, as may be most convenient. See that the seed falls on the entire width of the strip, but it need not overlap. Next sow the second half crossways over the first strips in the same way, and the job is done.

A little experience will teach one the right thickness to sow and one should benefit by observation and so improve. The grass should not be too thick at the beginning as when the individual plants start to increase in size and stool out, a large percentage will be crowded out and killed. The second year is consequently often very disappointing when the grass comes up "as thick as hair on a dog's back."

The original package may be used to hold the seed while sowing but a saucepan or pail of suitable size will be found more satisfactory.

THE PLEASURES OF MEMORY

By F. M. DelaFosse

My enforced seclusion came to an end at last. One morning, when it was scarcely light, I was awakened by an unearthly yell, and started up from my bed to encounter the gleaming eyes of a half-breed peering in at me through tent door. "Bijou, Bijou, Nitchie," the man grunted. I was versed enough in the patois of the country to know that this salutation stood for "Good morning, Sir," and I reciprocated it with emphasis.

On emerging from the tent, I saw three or four half-breeds lolling about and at a short distance from them, three ponies tethered to the same number of carts. The leader of the party, Wells by name, told me that he had been commissioned by Demmit to convey me and the provisions to the Forks. I was overjoyed, quite as much at the sight of human beings with whom to converse, as at the knowledge that my solitude was a thing of the past. I had grown very tired of the obtrusive familiarity of coyotes.

I cannot remember much of the journey beyond the fact that our road lay over a very sterile piece of country, where the chief product seemed to be cacti and where sandhills and sloughs abounded. On every hand were to be seen ribs and horns of buffaloes, whitening in the sun. When we reached the Great Sandhills I saw bleaching elk horns, and one of the men picked up the skin of a rattlesnake and showed me the rattles. The journey was interesting for it opened up an entirely new vista of life, and my associates also opened my eyes to a good deal. Once a wild duck flew squawking over our heads and Wells unslung his rifle and, without getting off his pony, fired and shot the bird clean through the head. "That was a wonderful shot," I remarked, and Wells grinned and asked me if I would like to see another one. I said "Yes," and he thereupon planted a stake in the ground about seventy yards distant, came back, picked up his rifle in a nonchalant way shot and split it through the centre. Two years afterwards, when the Riel rebellion was in progress, I remembered these feats and was able to appreciate the difficulties that our troops had to encounter against such marksmen.

I had a tent to myself, and every evening could hear my fellowtravellers reciting their Paternosters before turning in for the night. It was so long since I had said my own prayers that it gave me a feeling of shame, to speak frankly, to be set such an example by strangers.

One day, during a halt on the journey, I turned aside to examine some buffalo bones and picked up an arrow head, relic of some bygone hunt that had taken place before the era of Winchester rifles or shot guns.

I rejoined our party, as mentioned in a previous chapter, at the Saskatchewan. We had to swim our ponies across the river and ferry the goods on a raft which worked on a wire stretched from shore to shore. We had waited long enough at the little settlement to pay one or two visits to the houses of the half-breeds, and were treated everywhere with the greatest hospitality. Outside one of the houses I saw long strips of buffalo meat drying in the sun. I was offered some to eat, but as there was a considerable amount of hair sticking to the meat it was not very appetizing. It was a long way ahead, however, of a piece of loon which an Indian offered me a short time afterwards. My efforts to masticate the unsavoury morsel caused the man to chortle with the nearest approach to merriment that I ever witnessed in an Indian.

Wells took me to his house and introduced me to his wife, a woman of enormous girth and with a face like a relief map, with hills strongly marked and valleys watered by streams of perspiration that ran along the depressions. Her smile was as expansive as her face and her hospitality was as expansive as her smile. When I entered at the door, the first object that my eyes beheld was a beaming face of an infant slung up in a wicker-work basket to a hook on the wall. I can see the little fellow now, glub-glubbing at me and chuckling and waving his hands. There were two or three Crees in the room, huddled up in their blankets, sitting and smoking stolidly by the fire. Even then, at the beginning of June, the weather was cold, and everyone was glad enough to enjoy a fire in the evenings.

When we reached the scene of our future labours, Demmit informed us that he had contracted to survey twelve townships and that we would be expected to finish a township a week. Given good weather we found it was quite feasible to accomplish this, and as we had very few bad days the work went along merrily. When I use the word "merrily," I have no wish to imply that the men who were engaged in it were particularly merry. It was downright hard work. When one drags a chain over the prairie for from fifteen to twenty miles a day, or builds mounds along the line of march for the same distance, it can be supposed that there is not much time for idleness. We didn't mind the work but we did object to the terrific onslaughts from bulldog flies and the continued drinking of alkaline water. The mound-builders had to take their dinners with them and eat where and when they could. It was far from pleasant, on piping hot days, to sit down by the borders of some steaming slough, filled with rotting weeds and surface filth, and eat fat chunks of pork and the everlasting flat pies with which our cook supplied us. But it was worse, when we wanted to quench our thirst, to have to wade into the middle of some pond and scrape aside the slimy vegetation in order to get a good, long swallow. Sometimes the water was so foul that we simply had to keep on travelling till we were lucky enough to strike a fairly good drinking-place.

About halfway through the survey Demmit commissioned me to go to the Forks for the mail. It was the only opportunity open to the survey parties in that section to obtain or post letters, the Dominion Government having detailed the Mounted Police to take charge of the mail for a certain specified time during the summer. Demmit told me that I would have to ride barebacked as he couldn't spare me a cart. I am not, and never was, an accomplished horseman, and barebacked riding never appealed to me as a comfortable means of locomotion; but there was no help for it, so I rode off one balmy morning, with my blanket for a saddle, and with a few sandwiches of fat pork, some pieces of the inevitable pie, and a tin cup slung on my shoulders. The cook added his blessing and gave me one of his poems to cheer me on my journey. "Delly," she said to me at parting, "bring me back a letter from my missus; I'll be derned if I knowed how much I could miss her till I come to this 'ere blankety country. I've writ her a pome," he added, "and I'm givin' you a copy of it, seein' you and me is pals; tell me what you thinks of it when you comes back," and he handed me a screed, entitled "Love." He informed me that he thought it was the best thing he had ever written, and I was quite within the truth when I told him, on my return, that I thought he was perfectly right, and that I had never known him do anything better. It was a pious camouflage, and it expressed the truth without in any way hurting his feelings. The opening stanza was as follows:

LOVE.

Ah, Love! with what strange glamour thou surrounds us—
How meekly man, proud man, doth
at thy footstool bow;
One wayward glance from Heaven to Hell will send us,
And when you smile, my God, 'tis death at one fell blow.

"That ain't a swear-word in the last line, Delly," he said; "that's meant to kinder show how love takes yer when it takes yer."

I had a fifty-five mile ride before me, but the day was cloudless; there was a slight breeze from the north and everything pointed to a day of undiluted pleasure. As I cantered along, jack-rabbits, with amazing and prodigious jumps, leapt across the trail; herds of antelopes also gambolled gracefully into sight and as gracefully gambolled away again. Once I sighted a herd of twelve buffaloes slowly wending their way along a track about half-a-mile distant from the road. They were amongst the last of the myriads that had once wandered at will over that vast territory. My pony and I were on the best of terms, and for the first ten miles I felt that it was a glorious thing to be alive. But, after a time, insensibly, there stole over me the unpleasant consciousness that things were not altogether well with me. The pony's back was broad, but, nevertheless, my feelings took on a sombre tinge, and I felt much as Mazeppa must have felt when his wild steed was galloping, maddened and unchecked, over the wide acres of the Ukraine.

It was with feelings bordering on rapture that I slid off the pony's back at noon and sat down to try to enjoy my dinner. There was no place where I could tether the animal, so I simply held his rope in my hand and fed myself as best I could with the other. We both had to be content with slough water to quench our thirst, as the bank of the river was too precipitous for the pony, and I could not let go of the rope.

I had finished my meal and was on the point of continuing my journey when I noticed a column of smoke rising in the northern sky. I thought nothing of it, however, until I happened to turn my eyes to the same quarter about fifteen minutes afterwards and discovered that the whole northern horizon was obscured by smoke. Then I realized what I was in for. In a remarkably short space of time the fire was upon us, and I was tearing along the trail in the midst of blinding smoke and flying embers. Luckily the land was so sterile that the grass was short, but even at that it was quite long enough to cause great uneasiness of spirit to myself and anguish to the pony. In one place, where the fire was more than ordinarily fierce, I turned the animal's head aside and sought refuge on a sandhill that I saw at some little distance from the trail, but I had no sooner landed than I was on his back again. I had jumped into the midst of a colony of hissing, poisonous-looking vipers that were coiling over each other and darting out their tongues in a highly unpleasant manner. I preferred the fire.

Nightfall found me many miles from my objective, for the necessity of making wide detours had added a great deal to the length of the journey. I was forced to choose a spot near the river where the fire had not yet reached, and where, owing to the slow progress that it was making in the night air, I had hopes of obtaining a few hours rest. I tumbled off the pony's back, and, having eaten the balance of what the cook had provided me with, wound the tethering rope tightly round my arm and wrapping myself in my blanket lay down on the prairie to snatch some sleep. But I got no rest, as the pony, anxious to get some provender, kept dragging me about from place to place. So when the moon came up I made a virtue of necessity and started off again.

I was a pretty-looking object when I reached the Forks, as my face was as black as a coal and my shirt was full of holes from the tufts of burning grass with which I had been pelted. The pony's feet were so blistered that it took two days to doctor him, and about the same length of time for me to recover from my soreness. The members of the force were very kind and hospitable, and regaled me with copious libations of Perry Davis' painkiller and milk, which was veritable nectar to me after the horrible stuff that I had been swallowing since coming to the country.

My return was uneventful. My poor steed fared badly for lack of forage, but he was a game little beast and came through the ordeal gallantly.

When I returned, I found that the party had had quite as rough a time as I and had lost a tent in the fire. They had saved the goods by throwing them over the bank on to the river sands. They had moved camp during my absence, and, in order to reach it, I had to make my way through a cotton-wood grove. It was dusk, and there was a slight breeze soughing in the branches. As I passed through I noticed a peculiar creaking sound above my head, and, looking up, noticed three or four platforms which seemed to have shrouded figures laid upon them. I had inadvertently trespassed on an Indian burying-ground. It was rather a gloomy place to stumble on in all that mighty emptiness, and I breathed a good deal more freely when I emerged into the open land beyond.

M. E. MAYBEE'S BUDGET SPEECH

Member For Northumberland Reads Letter From Weston Shoe Co., Ltd., of Campbellford, on Difficulties Shoe Industry Faces.

The following is the Hansard report of the speech on the budget delivered last Wednesday by Milton E. Maybee, M.P. for Northumberland:—

Mr. Speaker, Canada to-day is in urgent need of some solution to our economic conditions that will bring about an industrial and agricultural awakening. This fact is forcibly brought to my attention by the condition in my own constituency.

The county of Northumberland, which I have the honour to represent, is engaged in various industrial pursuits as well as mixed farming. I regret to have to report that various industries have been compelled to close down owing to unfair competition from imports, and others are struggling on, holding by a mere thread. For instance, we have a shoe company located in the town of Campbellford of fifty years' standing, and in this connection I desire to read a letter addressed to me, dated March 7, 1925:

M. E. Maybee, Esq., M.P.,
Parliament Buildings,
Ottawa, Ont.

Dear Sir,—In view of the depressed condition of trade through Canada, and the increasing importation of shoes from Great Britain, we are writing to ask you to use your influence for the purpose of attempting to remedy this condition of affairs.

We have been in business for 50 years and up until a couple of years ago our factory was run continuously without loss of a day's time. During the last two years, however, a change has been necessary, and particularly during the year that has just passed, we have only been able to give employment to our help for four days a week, and sometimes not even that.

You will easily see that this not only makes our help dissatisfied but also makes the cost of production very much greater, as instead of having steady production and a full week's time to carry our wages and overhead expenses, we are compelled to divide it over the four days in which we are working, and conditions are such that it seems impossible to make any headway.

We assure you that none in the shoe business is making excessive profits. During the past two years there have been a larger number of failures, we believe, than at any previous time. We, ourselves, lost more money during the past year than ever before.

We believe that if something can be done to remedy the present conditions so as to enable our workmen to work full time instead of losing time, as is being done at present, it will be a benefit to the workmen, to ourselves, and the general public, as things can then be produced at lower prices than they can be produced under present conditions.

Perhaps there is no necessity for us to write this to you as there is no doubt your influence would be exerted in the right direction in any case, but there will probably be no harm in keeping you informed as to the real conditions in the shoe trade.—Yours truly,

WESTON SHOE CO. LTD.

This is a striking illustration of the condition of the shoe industry. The statistics show that the quantity of shoes imported from Great Britain has increased 355 per cent. in two years and 155 per cent. in the last twelve months; a large quantity was also imported from Germany. Twenty more shoe factories have failed since the 1st of January, 1924. The wages paid to employees in Great Britain and Germany are much less than those paid here, and that consideration almost offsets the fifteen and three-quarter per cent. preferential tariff on goods coming from Great Britain.

Another instance of the failure of industry in my constituency is that of the Cobourg Felt Company. The Cobourg Dye Company and the Cobourg Matting Company have been seriously affected by outside competition. Then, in the town of Trenton, adjoining my constituency, a very fine fertilizer plant has had to suspend operations due to the reductions in the duty on fertilizer. The Dominion Combing Mills in the same town have also had to struggle against the import of tops. Tops were imported during the year ending March 31st, 1924, according to the last trade returns available, to the amount of $4,047,674, and these came in free of duty. This concern is of great benefit to the farmers of this community who are engaged in the production of wool. The closing of these industries or the reduction of their output has had a great deal to do with the unemployment situation in my county and is also seriously affecting the home market for our agricultural products.

With respect to agriculture we have one of the finest counties in the province of Ontario. We have a varied production, including dairying, fruit growing, bacon hogs, poultry products, vegetables, and beef cattle. Much interest is taken in dairying; our county has a good reputation in connection with the manufacture of butter and cheese. I think it would be preferable to have the cheese inspected and graded in the factories, from the point of view of the educational feature if for no other reason.

A great many dairy products are imported into Canada. According to the latest available trade returns the following milk products were imported during the year ending March 31, 1824:

	Value
Milk and cream	$ 30,570
Milk, condensed	45,907
Butter	613,041
Casein	53,354
Cheese	541,279
Total	$1,284,151

I consider that the tariff on butter and cheese should be increased until it is at least equal to that of the United States, which is eight cents a pound on butter and five cents a pound on cheese as against four cents a pound on butter and three cents a pound on cheese coming into Canada.

Many of our herds are being tested for accreditation and are making a good showing. We have many splendid herds of pure bred cattle, and I regret the action of the Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Motherwell) in lowering the scale of compensation.

Our county is one of the foremost in the province in the production of apples, as well as of numerous small fruits, having secured a wide reputation in many international exhibitions. Here, again, we are labouring under a decided disadvantage, owing to climatic conditions, especially in small fruits, as the United States growers, under natural conditions, can produce fruits much earlier than we can, and by the time our fruits are on sale the markets are surfeited with United States fruits and our growers never get the top prices. According to the trade returns for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1924, the imports of fruit during that year were as follows:

	Value of Import.
Apples (fresh)	$ 878,415
Apricots and quinces	105,443
Bananas	4,859,460
Wild berries	13,393
Berries	21,627
Cherries	105,978
Cranberries	220,013
Currants	241
Grapefruit	728,641
Grapes	874,941
Lemons	1,156,564
Melons	379,467
Oranges	5,871,732
Peaches	510,710
Pears	782,464
Pineapples	530,304
Plums	374,450
Strawberries	740,699
Other fruits	89,235

The total imports of fresh fruits from the British Empire was valued at $169,153, and of fresh fruits from foreign countries, $18,084,294. Then we may include dried and canned fruits from the British Empire amounting to $774,683, and from foreign countries, $25,760,319. A great many of these fruits we ourselves can produce. A sufficient duty should be imposed to safeguard the Canadian market until Canadian fruit is available. I believe the fruit growers of Northumberland and Durham, as well as other organizations, have made representations to the government for relief, and I trust that these will be acted upon.

As a sideline with dairying, becon hogs are being produced in considerable quantities in Northumberland. I think in this the grading system is producing beneficial results, and while not yet perfect, no doubt it will eventually attain success. We can produce just as good bacon as Denmark, and while the education of our producers may be slow, it will eventually be completed. another sideline with dairying is the development of poultry products. Some are specializing in this line. Here again we are under a great handicap, accentuated largely by climatic conditions and lack of protection. Recently seven car loads of eggs arrived in Montreal on one day, and the effect was immediately felt in our market. While we are producing poultry under winter conditions, these products are being shipped in here from the south where they are produced under summer conditions. We impose a tariff of only 3 cents per dozen against them, while they charge 8 cents per dozen against ours. We find at the same time that eggs were imported for consumption to the value of $1,975,707, which includes $12,679 worth from Hong Kong, China. Adequate protection should be given the production of day-old chicks. I believe that something over 1,000,000 of such chicks came into Canada last year. Rigid inspection should take place at the border for not only the European fowl pest but for all contagious diseases affecting fowl. The grading of eggs is imposing considerable hardship on the producer. Many local dealers are refusing to handle them altogether, due to the extra labour entailed, thereby curtailing the local market, and as the salaries of the inspectors for the last fiscal year were $42,112, some real advantage to the producer should be shown.

A great many potatoes, vegetables and garden stuffs are produced in Northumberland, and here we find unfair competition from United States imports, due to their climatec conditions, American products flooding our markets much earlier than we can produce the vegetables. I find for the same period that I quoted before, we imported the following vegetables:

Cabbage	$ 273,933
Onions, dutiable	362,358
Onions, free	31,220
Potatoes	576,046
Tomatoes	1,033,154
Other vegetables	1,586,603

The total value of fresh vegetables imported from the British Empire amounted to $154,375, while from foreign countries our imports reached the huge total of $3,777,881. All of these vegetables could have been grown in Canada. We also imported during the same period dried, canned and pickled vegetables from the British Empire to the value of $574,816, and from foreign countries, $4,904,884. While the grading of potatoes generally may be advisable, I see no reason why a market gardener, selling produce on a local market direct from producer to consumer, where the buyer can see what he is buying and in most cases knows the seller, should be obliged to grade and tag the commodity, thereby entailing considerable labour and expense.

The conditions existing in the county I represent apply very largely to Canada as a whole. There is a general demand throughout Canada for a consistent application of the tariff; first, for the raising of revenue, thereby obviating the necessity of objectionable direct taxation; and second, sufficient protection to stabilize our industrial and agricultural activities. A policy to develop our own natural resources is urgently required. From the port of Cobourg alone, in my constituency, according to an answer to a questio I placed on the order paper, in the fiscal years 1922, 1923, 1924 and up to February 28, 1925, 264,239 cords of pulpwood were exported. At $10 per cord this represents a value of $2,642,390. If we had exported this pulpwood in the form of newsprint, we would have received $18,496,730, and at least $13,211,950 would have gone into the pockets of Canadian workmen.

We would not know of the excellent conditions prevailing in Canada if we had not been told by the Prime Minister and his colleagues during their meanderings up and down this country. We do not require any novel ideas for constructive legislation to-day. Conditions are very similar to those of 1878, when the citizens of Canada decided by their franchise to inaugurate a National Policy to protect the industries and the people of this country. If they were wise in 1878, it does not take a great deal of acumen to see what would be wise in this present day. The depreciation of currency; the low cost of labour; the ruin of Europe—these things have exposed our markets in all directions, whether industrial or agricultural, to a competition that cannot survive under ordinary conditions. The question confronting us to-day is, what does Canada need to establish an atmosphere of confidence and prosperity? Something to encourage the investment of capital, primarily. Undoubtedly we need more population to assist us in our expenditure and produce commodities for railway transportation, but what folly to expend huge sums for immigration when we are unable to assimilate new comers. British and American investors are awaiting the opportunity of consistent investments. But when thousands of industries have recently closed their doors, they do not appeal to these investors as consistent investments.

The present government is like a weather vane, constantly changing front according to the wind, promising all things to all people. As some of the people can be fooled all of the time, they have succeeded to that extent; but I believe the citizens of Canada are waiting for the opportunity to rise up in their might, as they did in 1911, and demand a sane policy for Canada. I do think that the situation in Canada at the present time is one which demands the most careful and earnest consideration of all classes of the people. I think we all agree that it is a grave one. There is a vein of discontent and of pessimistic feeling which is quite apparent as one travels through the country or listens to speeches made in the two Houses of Parliament; and there is also a buoyant and optimistic feeling, which refuses to lapse into pessimism—a feeling that if proper conditions are made to prevail the future of Canada is safe. Public debt has been increasing by millions since the war. Diminished indirect revenues mean greater direct taxation. The United States have greatly reduced their income tax, making this a greater incentive for investors to invest in United States. Other nations have reduced taxation and their indebtedness. We cannot live upon sentiment, and the average individual today does not believe he is prosperous unless he can see the actual returns for his labour. Sir Wilfrid Laurier once said, in 1897, that if he became premier the people would not need statistics to tell them they were prosperous—"they would have the money in their pockets." The Prime Minister is trying to show we are wealthy by arithmetic, but all the figures in creation will not convince the Canadian people that they are prosperous because "they haven't the money in their pockets." I think it was the hon. member for Fort William and Rainy River (Mr. Manion) who said: "Our unemployed are crying for bread and the premier gives them statistics."

To sum it all up we must have protection for all our activities. The hon. member for Queens (Mr. Sinclair) referred to the British embargo on potatoes, which he considered an injustice. Great Britain also had an embargo on cattle. But I would direct the hon. member's attention to the fact that that is the most effective means of protection. While Great Britain's fiscal policy is generally known as the nearest approach to free trade of that of any nation, she does not hesitate to protect her agriculturists or her industrialists if found necessary.

The tariff is a weapon to defend ourselves, or an equalizer of conditions; a means whereby we can demand and get consideration in our trade agreements. It resolves itself into one of two things, either protection or annexation. The reduction on farm implements has proven to be a fiasco so far as any benefit to the farmer is concerned. As has been shown in this House:

Binders are $2 higher now than in 1921; disc drills, $10 higher; cultivators, $3 higher; harrows, $1.50 higher; disc harrows, $4 higher.

Production of farm machinery is greatly reduced, fully 50 per cent. in 1924, partially due to the tariff, and partially due to general conditions and the present buying power of the farmer.

The fact that the government in their budget are proposing to raise the duty on a certain class of coal, goes to show that they recognize the fallacy of a free-trade policy, and the need of protecting our own resources, thereby admitting the wisdom of the national policy of protection. Canada is suffering from an impotent administration, and until the sentiment of my right hon. leader's resolution is adopted will continue to suffer.

In conclusion, I wish to quote the words of Solomon in Proverbs xxix, 2: "When the righteous are in authority the people rejoice, but when the wicked beareth rule the people mourn."

What Quebec Man Says After Taking Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. T. Simard found Dodds' Kidney Pills beneficial and suitable to his needs.

ST. URBAIN, Que., April 13.—(Special).—After suffering for over two years from kidney trouble, Mr. T. Simard, a well-known resident here, is again in good health, which he attributes to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was always tired and nervous," Mr. Simard states, "and for some time my memory was failing. I was depressed and low-spirited, my limbs were heavy and I had dragging pains across my loins.

"I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and have found them every beneficial and suitable to my needs. I am quite well now and work in comfort."

The road to good health lies through the kidneys. If they are kept strong and well all the impurities are strained out of the blood. But if they are weak and out of order, the impurities stay in the blood and disease is sure to follow. Don't delay, let Dodd's Kidney Pills keep you fit.

DARROW GLOOMY.

Lawyer Says Society No Better Than "Jungle Age."

BOSTON, April 14. — A gloomy picture of civilization was painted by Clarence S. Darrow, Chicago attorney who defended Loeb and Leopold in an interview recently. Here is the picture:

"Civilization is becoming top-heavy.

"Some day a frightful cataclysm will overtake society and civilization will crumple.

"Man still is a savage at heart and women are greater potential killers than men.

"Society isn't a bit better than it was in the jungle ten thousand years ago."

Darrow came here to debate with Scott Nearing and to talk to the Harvard Liberal Club.

BAILIEBORO CROPS FULL OF PROMISE

Farmers Have Seeding Well Advanced in South Monaghan.

BAILIEBORO, April 14.—The fall wheat and new seeds are looking exceptionally good since Sunday night's snowstorm. The wheat and seeds are a deep green color, which give the crops a prosperous appearance.

The majority of farmers who are working dry farms, and where the land is early, already have quite a lot of sowing done. If the weather continues fine this week a great many farmers will about finish up their spring sowing.

You need "the film of protection" most while your motor is still new

TO use any but the highest quality oil, suited to the mechanical requirements of your new motor, is simply to invite motor troubles.

Any oil will lubricate your motor, after a fashion. But skilled Tide Water engineers spent years in study and research to obtain, in Veedol, an oil which offers maximum resistance to heat and friction; an oil which forms a "film of protection" over all the vital parts of your motor; a film thin as tissue, smooth as silk, tough as steel.

This "film of protection" reduces to a minimum the ever-present danger of burned-out bearings, scored cylinders and lost power. Put the "film of protection" on the job safeguarding your motor and conserving its power.

Wherever the orange and black Veedol sign is displayed, you will find The Veedol Motor Protection Guide. This is a chart that tells which Veedol oil your car requires. Have your crankcase drained and refilled with Veedol to-day.

The "FILM of PROTECTION" thin as tissue, smooth as silk, tough as steel

Here is the Veedol "film of protection." Note how smooth, even and unbroken it is. That Veedol resists deadly heat and friction has been proved by hundreds of thousands of motorists. Veedol gives them more power, greater gasoline and oil mileage, less carbon and the greatest economy in operation.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

Girls Clothes Weigh Only Pound and a Half While This Young Man's Totals Seven Pounds

Man still dresses for comfort.

On the scales is a complete outfit for a girl. It weighs only a pound and a half. At the right a girl is shown wearing these twenty-four ounces of clothes.

He is not going to follow his sister, mother or sweetheart in attempting to attire himself in brief and airy clothing.

Where she puts on a pound or so of clothes, his attire this spring will weigh in excess of seven pounds.

This young man, dressed in the exact Spring of 1925 mode, has the following poundage on his back, head and feet:

	Lbs.	Oz.
Full shaped, English wide brimmed hat		4½
Deauville flannel (a la Prince of Wales) suit	3	12
Underwear		6½
Hose and garters (fancy over-plaid socks)		1¾
Wing-tipped, soft-toed English shoes	1	15
Madras shirt		8¼
Foulard, striped tie, long-pointed collar		1½
Belt (wide, brown)		4
Shirt buottons, scarf pin		2
Total weight	7	7

The cane and gloves, while dandy and proper, may be considered excess baggage by some of the correct dressers.

"I'm off to a party," said June, the fair, with her very nicest laugh.

"You are?" asked her mother, "and what will you wear?"

Said June, "A pound and a half!"

You'll have to hand the lightweight championship to the modern girl, for here is positive proof that her summer costume will weigh only a pound and a half! This includes a dress, hat, shoes, hose and everything else that is essential. The weight of the outfit could have been reduced a few ounces more by cutting off some ornamental buttons, but whoever dreamed a girl's outfit would weight less than two pounds? Here is the exact weight of each article shown on the scale: step-in, one ounce and a half; brassiere, one ounce; hose, one ounce and a half; satin shoes, ten ounces; picture hat, five ounces; gown, five ounces.

OLD HOUSES DECAYED.

Official Residences at 10 and 11 Downing Street, Are in Bad Shape.

LONDON, April 14. — Two of London's famous old houses, Nos. 10 and 11, Downing street, respectively the official homes of the Prime Minister and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, are now in such a state of decay that the government is considering whether it is desirable to pull them down and re-build instead of making further repairs.

The houses are not old as old houses go, having been built about two hundred years ago.

LOSE WEIGHT.

Juice 1 lemon, 1 cup spinach, 1 hard-boiled egg, 4 ounces fillet of sole, 2 tablespoons cauliflower with ½ cup tomato puree and 1 tea spoon grated cheese, 6 radishes, ½ head lettuce, 1 cup fruit salad, 1 shredded wheat biscuit, 1 slice gluten bread, 1 gluten roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

The cauliflower is boiled and then put in ramikins with the tomato and cheese.

The woman who must cook for her family individually, so to speak, will find ramikins a great convenience. Any device for individual service makes it possible to suit each member of the family. Individual salads and desserts allow dressings and sauces and changes in the ingredients themselves to suit each diet.

The spinach salad is made of cooked, finely-chopped spinach molded in gelatin and garnished with hard-boiled egg. Serve on a bed of lettuce with lemon juice, salt and pepper but no oil.

Juice 1 lemon, 1 cup cream of potato soup with 1 tablespoon grated cheese, 1 cup spinach salad, 1 hard-boiled egg, 1 cup cream of muchroom soup, 4 ounces fillet of sole, 2 tablespoons tartar sauce, 2 candied sweet potatoes, 2 tablespoons O'Brien potatoes, 2 tablespoons cauliflower with ½ cup tomato puree and 1 tablespoon buttered crumbs with 1 teaspoon grated cheese, 6 radishes, ½ head lettuce, 1 cup fruit salad, 2 tablespoons whipped cream salad dressing, 2 tablespoons oil mayonnaise, 1 shredded wheat biscuit, 1 banana, 2 tablespoons corned beef hash, ¼ cup table cream, 2 2-inch squares corn bread, 3 tablespoons maple syrup, 2 pieces buttered toast, 2 slices whole wheat bread, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons cream of rice pudding, 2 tablespoons date pudding, 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 1 pint whole milk.

For this menu the spinach salad is served with oil mayonnaise.

The banana is suggested for the shredded wheat biscuit.

Tea and coffee are not suggested in these menus but may be included, if desired. However, ths tea should be weak and so should the coffee.

The milk is imperative. Hot water the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night is well worth drinking if you are inclined toward indigestion.

Every person every day should eat some green vegetable. Lettuce, either leaf or head, celery, radishes or cabbage can be included in every diet and used interchangeably. Remain, the endives and watercress offer variety.

The "greens" come into their own with spring, and furnish necessary vitamines.

Buttermilk can be substituted for skimmed milk if desired. Plenty of water should be drunk during the day.

The toasting of bread does not change its food value, it merely makes it necessary to "chew" and is more easily digested.

GAIN WEIGHT.

Half grapefruit, 2 slices French toast, 1 serving broiled ham, 3 tablespoons baked beans, 1 cup canned tomatoes, ½ head lettuce, banana salad, 1 cup cream of celery soup, 1 lamb chop, 3 tablespoons scalloped potatoes, 1 boiled turnip, 4 tablespoons lemon gelatine pudding, 1 slice sponge cake, 4 tablespoons chocolate bread pudding, 2 tablespoons hard sauce, 2 tablespoons whipped cream (sweetened), 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 4 tablespoons maple syrup, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 slices rye bread, 2 slices brown bread, 1 pint whole milk.

It's rather interesting to know that 1 tablespoon of butter means about 100 calories and 1½ lumps of sugar mean another hundred. Butter, being pure fat, and sugar being pure carbohydrate, these are of course fattening foods.

The banana salad is simply a peeled and scraped banana rolled in ground peanuts arranged on a bed of lettuce with a "dab" of mayonnaise, but it adds 367 calories to the lettuce. Of these 367 calories, 200 are carbohydrate, 135 fat and 32 protein.

PRINCE ATTENDS RACES AT ACCRA

Remained For Entire Programme—British Community and Natives Present.

COAST UNIVERSITY.

ACCRA, Gold Coast, April 14.—The Prince of Wales spent Monday afternoon at the race course, remaining for the entire programme. Between the races he strolled about the enclosure chatting in his usual breezy style with his guests. The entire British community was present, and in addition there was a large attendance of natives.

While there was unbounded enthusism, there was no unseemly crowding or jostling, the people showing respect for the Prince's privacy in the same manner as would be observed at an English race meeting.

The Prince embarks on the battle cruiser Repulse today and will land at a Nigerian port early Wednesday.

Tour of the Gold Coast.

The Prince meanwhile is having a very varied experience, partly amid the primeval forest of the regions around Kumasi and partly along the main road running to the coast by Bosuso and through the heart of the cocoa country, and lastly at Accra. At Kumasi, wholly transformed since it was known as a place of slaughter, the Prince spent a peaceful Good Friday.

Throngs waited in the winding streets and beflagged markets to show their pickaninnies to the Prince at his every passing. He performed several ceremonies of great local interest and visited the fort built after Sir Francis Scott's bloodless campaign in 1895. The general appearance of the fort is much the same as when Sir Frederick Hodgson's column marched out to cut its way to the coast. All gun sheds still stand with pagoda shaped roofs but the former keep is now converted into a club. Peace reigns in the gardens which once were filled with corpses.

The natives send-off to the Prince at Kumasi railroad station was simply overwhelming. The royal train steamed into the bush and halted for the night not far from the beautiful Lake Bosumtwi. On the return journey southward being resumed, for four hours the party motored through lovely wooded country, catching sight occasionally of forested hills and rocky streams. Every villager in every village had mustered at the palaver tree along the line of the route and there was a wild stampde for the Prince's car as soon as the party appeared.

At Naawkaw, where a rich discovery of aluminum was recently found, the Prince met the head chief of the Kwaha, and at Kibi Oforiqtta the Omanhin of Akimabuaka met the party. This wealthy paramount chief is one of the three Omanhins who are members of the Legislative Council.

Early in the evening the Prince entered Accra and drove through the pleasant streets to Christianborg Castle, the Governor's residence, which stands at the edge of the sea. Every inch of space along the route, every window of the whitewashed houses and depots, was occupied. The evening's entertainments were somewhat delayed but not spoiled by a furious tornado which swept the whole district.

Natives See The Prince.

Sunday the Prince, with the Governor at the head of the officials of the colony, a party from the Repulse and the whole British community, attended divine service at Holy Trinity Church. After the service the Prince planted a tree in the churchyard and then went to the Gold Coast Hospital, inspecting the spacious wards and laboratories. Next the Prince was shown the native quarters and the markets, where a way had to be made for him through thorofares seething with chuckling throngs. "Ohene ba" (the great King's son) was here in the flash and there were determined thousands bent on giving him a gay welcome. Cries of "Yaba dsogban" farewell and return again) mingled with shriller yells of "Cheerio! Nightio!" Big-eyed babies squatted on the verandahs with their mothers, who had spent hours building up the elaborate Fanti coiffeures. Everywhere was the same jolly vista of white eyes and teeth.

Down in the roadstead, visible from various parts of the town, the Repulse was basking in the sun out of range of the surf boas and rollers. The presence of the battle cruiser created lively interest in the native population, who have the greatest veneration for the ocean, and many who came from the inland districts never before had seen blue water. Every opportunity was given them for going aboard and inspecting the gun turrets, the maze of decks and hatchways and seeing the illuminations and searchlight displays from the front.

When the royal visit is a thing of the past, Sunday's ceremonies will still stand out as a milestone in West African history, namely inauguration of the still uncompleted university and college at Achimota. A little while ago people were asking where and what is Achimota? Achimota is a remarkable attempt to solve the problem of providing British West Africa with a suitable independent educational centre upon which all future tuition may be based. It is situated in a pretty country, five miles north of Accra. Here the old system of literary education is being largely scrapped in favor of character training. Achimota is often called the Goal Coast Eton. Its youth are well selected from every race and tribe of the coonly of Achanti and northern territories. Thus it is hoped to bridge the gap existing between the semi-educated youths and turned out from the elementary schools and Gold Coast men trained in English colleges. The task before the staff will be to bring up the African in his own environment and make a man of him instead of a nondescript, anxious to don European garb and forget pride in native customs and qualities.

After inspecting the college which will bear his own name, the Prince unveiled a memorial table commemorative of his visit.

Put Your Bow In Front

The hat with a bow of ribbon directly in front is very popular. There is something very youthful and perky about a bow that makes it quite irresistible and in this way may bring variety into the small hat.

First Bottle Brought Improvement

"Pains in my side and back caused me lots of trouble day and night. I could hardly walk my beat. Tanlac fixed me up quick. I noticed the improvement after the first bottle."

Patrolman Wm. J. Bader 324 Paul Ave., Belleville, Ill.

WHEN you start to waste away to a shadow, when the color leaves your cheeks and your poor, tired legs will hardly hold up your weakened body, it's high time you started taking a fine tonic and builder like Tanlac.

Tanlac will build you up and make you feel that life's worth living. Made from roots, herbs, and bark, gathered from the four corners of the earth, and compounded under the exclusive Tanlac formula, Tanlac is just what the poor ,starved body needs.

First of all it cleanses the blood stream and puts the digestive organs in order. You find, after a few days' treatment, that you want to eat. Pretty soon the welcome color steals back into your cheeks and the scales tell you that you're gaining weight. From then on it's only a short time until you're feeling fit as a fiddle.

Millions of men and women have taken Tanlac with great benefit. More than one hundred thousand people have written us glowing tributes to this wonderful tonic.

When you know it has worked wonders for so many folks it's folly not to take advantage of Tanlac's help yourself. Don't put it off another day. Get a bottle at your druggist's now and start the good work right away.

'GHOST' PLANES NEARLY READY

If Final Experiments Are Successful France Will Build Thousands of Them.

FOR WAR AND MAIL.

PARIS, April 14. — (Canadian Press).—Experiments with France's wonderful "ghost planes" will soon enter the decisive stage at Istres, the French military air station near Marseilles. If, as anticipated, the final tests prove successful, hundreds of pilotless planes will be built for war and commercial purposes. Officers will be able to sit in the War Office or elsewhere, and by means of wireless guide airplanes at a distance of a hundred miles or more.

With equal ease, if the tests prove successful, the Post Office engineers or transport agents will direct the movements of mail or freight planes in the air merely by pressing a series of buttons.

TEACHERS HOLDING ANNUAL MEETING

Sixty-fourth Convention Started in Toronto To-day.

TORONTO, April 14. — (Canadian Press.)— Almost two thousand teachers gathered here to-day, delegates from all over the province to the 64th annual convention of the Ontario Education Association to exchange views and discuss various aspects of the profession.

The day sessions of the various sections last until Friday, during which time a series of addresses on all phases of school life, primary and secondary, will be presented.

A prominent feature of the convention programme is a discussion of religious education, taking place to-morrow, in which Bishop Fallon, of London, Rabbi Brickner, Toronto, and Principal Gandier, of Knox College, Toronto, will take part.

SCOTT'S LAWYERS STILL WORKING

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., April 14 (Canadian Press).—Attorneys for Russel T. Scott of Toronto, sentenced to be hanged at Chicago on Friday for the murder of Joseph Maurer, a drug clerk, filed a motion for a writ of error in the Supreme Court here today. They asked that it be made supersedeas to the death sentence of lower court, in order to hold up the execution. The court probably will pass on the motion tomorrow.

CRUISE CONTINUED.

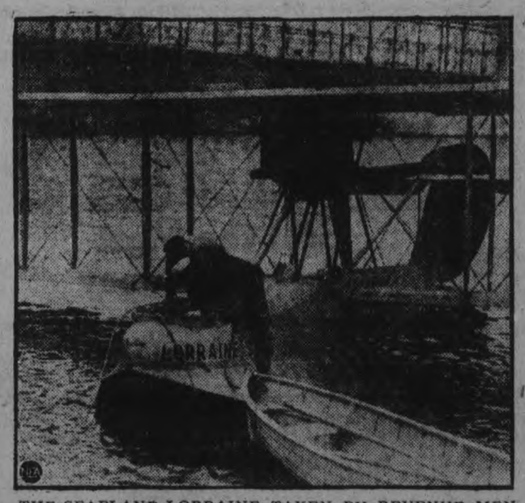
ACCRA, Gold Coast, West Africa, April 14. — The Prince of Wales on board the battle cruiser Repulse left here this morning for Nigeria. He was given a great send-off by the local inhabitants and the native chiefs.

AIR CROPS COMING.



THE SEAPLANE LORRAINE TAKEN BY REVENUE MEN.

(By Alexander Herman).

NEW YORK, April 14.—Within the near future civil authorities will be organized to combat the aero-criminal. Airplane cops will catch their quarry on the fly.

Bootleggers, alien smugglers and their associates will have to think up a new twist to get around the law.

New York police have already organized an aviation force as part of their reserve. Other cities are expected soon to follow.

"With the increased popularity of the airplane," points out Major Willim Hensley, in charge of Mitchell Field, "and the great development of aviation, comes the increased use of 'planes for illegal purposes.

"While the few cases of law violation by using airplanes may not yet seem to warrant it, I think that within a short time—two or three years—the police and other enforcement agencies will have to develop a plane service to combat the new criminality."

It had been known for some time that bootleggers had been using planes for short flights over the border. But it was learned only recently that the rum runners are increasing their scope. One large syndicate, operating out of Red Bank, N.J., is supposed to be running a fairly regular service to the 12mile limit and beyond.

Other groups are using similar methods to expedite deliveries. But the capture of the seaplane Lorraine II. found by the Coast Guard patrolling Rum Row, may put a crimp into the activity—for the time.

The plane, painted in low-visibility gray and equipped with two forward hatches, was caught by the crew of the Mojave 100 miles at sea. It is charged that the aero-marine was trying to establish communication with one of the Rum Fleet boats. If this can be proved, the boat may be seized, too, for a treaty drawn up with Great Britain and eleven other nations, covers this point.

But the authorities are more concerned with local enforcement than international complications.

"Civil authorities must never forget that the airplane is steadily increasing in popularity," says Major Hensley. "Announcement that Henry Ford may soon be manufacturing air flivvers further stimulates the development.

"And crooks will not be slow to take advantage of the new uses."

MANY MEMBERS WANT TO TALK

About Fifty Members of Dominion House Will Speak on Budget.

FROM ALL PARTIES.

OTTAWA, April 14 (Canadian Press).—The Budget debate, which has been the chief concern of the House of Commons since March 24, can scarcely be concluded before April 24. Fifteen members of the Progressive party and the same number of Conservatives have informed their party whips of a desire to speak. The Government, it is understood has some eighteen or twenty members who are prepared to speak on the Budget.

CHORUS WORK IN KIWANIS SHOW IS EXCELLENT

Perhaps some of those who have been reading about the Kiwanis Club show, "Minstrel Mimics," are wondering what has become of the girls who are always such an integral part of any production. Well, it's just this: There are nearly fifty of them. These girls have been carefully picked for their ability to trip the light fantastic and the management takes great pleasure in announcing the fact that a great treat is in store for those who go to see "Minsrel Mimics" at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday nights, April 24 and 25.

Those who are to appear in one of the featured numbers of the Olio, or the after part, which is called "It's a Pop Pop Popular Song," are the Misses Jessie French, Helen Weatherhead, Ruth McLeish, Melba Doughty, Lahring Parsons, Maida Conner, Florence Giroux, Mildred Archambault, Martha Kirn, Gertrude Kirn, Edna Conner and Marjorie Evans.

There are many things worth telling about, but something must be saved or there will be nothing left for the dates of the show, so those on the various committees ask you all to remember that this Revue is being given for the benefit of the underprivileged of this community.

BRIAND CANNOT FORM CABINET

Socialists Refuse to Enter Government Headed by Ex-Premier.

RENAULT MENTIONED.

PARIS, April 14 (Canadian Press) —Ex-Premier Briand, shortly after six o'clock this evening, definitely decided to abandon the attempt to form a cabinet in succession to the Herriott ministry.

After the French Socialists, following a meeting of the National Socialist Council this afternoon, announced that they would not enter a cabinet headed by Briand, the former Premier endeavored to gain the support of the Centre groups, but in this he was also unsuccessful. He then announced to President Doumerge the abandonment of his efforts.

Rene Renoult, member of the Senate, Socialist leader and Minister of Justice in the Cabinet, that has just resigned, is now mentioned as the next possibility for the premiership.

DRAGOONS HOSTS AT ENJOYABLE DANCE

About one hundred and twenty guests were present at a most enjoyable little dance and card party given to their friends last evening in the Armouries by the local officers of the Third Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons. Cards were played in the regreation room, while a large number danced to the strains of the fine music provided by Ken Blood's four-piece orchestra, stationed in the band room. Comfortable settees and chairs were provided in the lobbies, but the majority danced through until the early hours of the morning.

Everyone seemed to have a thoroughly good time. The rooms were tastefully decorated by the committee in charge and the floor was pronounced perfect by the dancers. The programmes were carried out in blue and gold, the colours of the local Cavalry unit. The novelty prize dance of the evening was a lucky number event, Number Thirteen, and prizes were won by Miss V. Johnston and Mr. R. Deyell. At the interval, dainty refreshments, catered for by Messrs. Hooper and Sons, were served in the lecture rooms.

Patronesses for the dance were Mesdames G. N. Gordon, W. H. Bradburn, J. J. Turner, T. J. Johnston. All the officers labored hard to make the dance the great success it proved to be. Members of the dance committee were Major F. Hills, Captain M. R. Sloan, who also acted as honorary secretary, Captain C. H. Stuart and Lieut. D. A. Loomis, M.C. Local officers of the Third Dragoons are Lieut.-Col. T. D. Johnston, M.P.P., Officer Commanding; Captain M. R. Sloan, Adjutant; Captain J. Abraham, Paymaster, Lieut. L. R. FIRE CHRISTIAN TELEPHONE GIRLS

Turkish Government Says Non-Moslem Operators Divulged Military Secrets.

LONDON, April 14. — (Canadian Press).—The Turkish Government has issued a decree dismissing all Christian and Jewish telephone girls throughout Turkey. This is a result of the Turks' failure to encircle the Kurdish rebels because non-Moslem operators are said to have divulged military secrets. It is expected that it will prove difficult under the new law to get Moslem girls who can "Hello" properly. The Angora Government has offered a reward of 1,000 pounds for Sheik Said, leader of the Kurds, if brought in alive, and 700 pounds for his dead body.

COURT ROOM CROWDED.

Preliminary Hearing of Moon on Charge of Murder.

BELLEVILLE, April 14.—(Canadian Press.)— The court room was jammed this morning when David Arthur Moon, bank messenger, appeared for a preliminary hearing on the charge of causing the death of Clayton McWilliams and John McGie on the evening of April 6, and was committed for trial. Both men were shot down while conversing in Lattimer's drug store, where McWilliams was employed. Three young women who were in the store at the time will give evidence.

Moon was committed for trial.

Teach Hubby Manners With Boiling Water

NEW YORK April 14 (United News).Mrs. Ellen Holliday, 35 years old, is a stickler for etiquette.

Resenting the bad form of her husband in passing remarks at her in the presence of guests, Mrs. Holliday refrained from calling his attention to the lack of manners until the callers had gone. Then she heated a pan of water to the boiling point, carried it into her husband's room and poured it over him while he slept.

Edward, the husband, is in a hospital, while Mrs. Holliday is in jail.

HERRIOT COMING.

Former Premier Will Visit America This summer, it is Planned.

PARIS, April 14—(United Press). —Former Premier Herriot plans to visit the United States in June, it is learned to-day. Herriot's interest in America has always been keen, and his friends assert he expects to obtain a much-needed rest in the trip. His present plan includes a trip to Canada and the Pacific Coast.

A good newspaper contains plenty of two kinds of news: one variety tells about the day's happenings to people near and far; the other deals with news about things to wear, eat and enjoy. Read the advertisements.

SAILORS DROWNED.

Launch Containing Officer and Men of British Navy Sunk By Barge.

LONDON, April 14. — (Canadian Press.) — A despatch from Chatham says that an officer and five men were drowned when a launch belonging to the Bacobus, an auxiliary vessel of the British fleet, collided with a barge last night and overturned.

FLEET VISITS CANADA.

Four British Cruisers Will Call at Canadian Ports During Summer.

OTTAWA, April 14. — (Canadian Press).—Canada is to be visited this summer by a small fleet of Imperial cruisers, including His Majesty's ships Calcutta, Curlew, Constance and Cape Town. The first three ships will go to Washington, arriving there June 9th, and will then proceed to Halifax about June 16. They will be in Quebec August 20 and in Montreal about August 31. The Cape Town will confine her visit to the Pacific Coast.

The Guarantee that Banishes All Worry

THE Snyder Sani-Bilt Guarantee against moths is a document of real value. It means something. It means something right now. It means something for the future.

Right now it means that you may buy Snyder's Sani-Bilt Living Room Furniture with every confidence; that the furniture to which the Snyder Sani-Bilt Guarantee is attached is the genuine Sani-Bilt Furniture, the only furniture which is treated in the Sani-Bilt way.

For the future the Sani-Bilt Guarantee means that you will never be troubled by moths in this furniture so long as it lasts—and it is built to last many years. The Sani-Bilt process removes all temptation for moths. Moth grubs starve to death if hatched on fabrics treated by this process. The experiment has been demonstrated not once but hundreds of times.

Consequently in the Sani-Bilt Guarantee you have a document worth preserving. It is the guarantee that banishes all worry. There is no other guarantee like it. It covers all points needing guarantee—construction, as well as moths. From moths Sani-Bilt is guaranteed absolutely immune, inside and out.

If moths should get into your suite and do any damage, produce the Sani-Bilt Guarantee. Your dealer has our authority to replace the suite without cost to you. We make this offer with every suite that leaves the factory.

Snyder's SANI-BILT LIVING ROOM FURNITURE
Guaranteed Moth Proof

Constructed For Life Long Use

The frames of Sani-Bilt are more than usually strong, being constructed of heavy posts and rails of solid Canadian hardwood. The springs are very strong coils of heavy steel wire, rust-proof and oil-tempered, tied and cross-tied in place with heavy cord. They rest on an interlaced mattress of stretch-proof Scotch webbing, fastened to the frames to stay. Every particle of the upholstery fillings is fresh and new—and mothproof.

You have a very wide choice of designs and coverings in the Sani-Bilt range, and the suite you want can be had at the approximate price you want to pay.

Make sure to lift the cushions after the dealer has shown you our guarantee, and look for the Sani-Bilt trade mark. It's proof positive that there has been no mistake.

Stands and Bleachers Repopulated To-day After Winter's Quiet.

FAMILIAR SCENES.

NEW YORK, April 14—The National game, buried under football gridirons and board tracks during the winter months, bursts forth today once again in all its glory—the sun pouring into the bleachers, the fans cheering and hooting at once, and the players, grimecrusted, sweating in seething conflict.

West meets west and east meets east in the jousts tomororw first of a warfare which will endure for six months. The ranks in the early days will be depleted by injuries and illness, but will come to full strength when the sun is warmest.

As this seasonal conflict gets under way the eyes of a quarter million enthusiasts will be upon the traditional foes. The Yankee stadium in New York, baseball's greatest structure, is expected to receive the largest throng, for there the world champions of 1924—led by the indomitable young general, Stanley Harris — will do battle with the Yankees of New York, for the three preceding years champions of the American League, and of the world in 1923.

Meanwhile, the National League's champions, the Giants, encounter the Braves of Boston at the gigantic park in Allston where another enthusiastic throng is predicted. The opening day games are as follows:

American League

Washington at New York.
Chicago at Detroit.
Cleveland at St. Louis.
Boston at Philadelphia.

National League

New York at Boston.
Pittsburgh at Chicago.
Philadelphia at Brooklyn.
St. Louis at Cincinnati.

For the second time in three seasons the campaign will be started without the greatest of home run hitters, Babe Ruth, in the lineup of the Yankees.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb, for nine years the American League's leading batter, is also victim of illness, while the inimitable Walter (Rabbit) Maranville, formery of the Braves and Pirates, will be unable to take his position with the Chicago Cubs, having suffered a broken leg in training. Denver Grigsby of the Cubs has a broken collar bone; Joe Hauser, first baseman of the Athletics, has a broken knee cap, and Fred Heimach of the Athletics has a sprained right shoulder.

OLD LACROSSE CLAIM SETTLED

Hastings-Orillia Dispute Over Guarantee Check Decided By O.A.L.A.

HAVE PAID $35.00

HASTINGS, April 14. — T. A. Coughlan and W. Wellman were the Hastings delegates to the O.L.A.meeting which was held in Toronto on Good Friday and took up the claim Orillia made to the Lacrosse Association against Hastings for $150. This claim has been outstanding since Orillia played here in 1923 in the Junior semi-final series.

When Hastings and Orillia arranged to play in Hastings it was agreed that a check for $150 would be given as a guarantee that Hastings would play the return game in Orillia. This was done by the local Association, and arrangements were made for the boys to play in Orillia. The president of the H.A.A.A. received a telegram when the date for the game was set, stating that Orillia could not play the game as it was not possible for them to procure the grounds. The payment of the check was cancelled much to the annoyance of the Orillia Association, who claimed that it was their's.

The matter had been left over and was thought to be cleared up when the local A.A.A. received a communication from the secretary of the O.A.L.A., stating that until the above claim was settled, Hastings would be barred from entering into the O.A.L.A.

The local Association then decided to do something to endeavor to clear up the matter if possible, and the above delegates were appointed to represent Hastings.

The matter was settled by Hastings paying $35 to the O.A.L.A. for Orillia, and getting a receipt to this effect.

Two one-time residents of Hastings were elected to office, E. P. Vernon, on the council, and A. T. Armstrong, 1st Vice-President.

BRAVES RELEASE "STUFFY" M'INNIS

Boston First Baseman Balked at Cut in Salary.

BOSTON, April 14.— "Stuffy" McInnis, first baseman of the Boston Braves, who refused to go south with the National League Club this spring on account of a salary cut, has been unconditionally released, according to an announcement last night by Emil E. Fuche, vice-president of the club.

In making his announcement, Judge Fuche said:

"In view of the long service of "Stuffy" McInnis, and in order that he may give his services to any club which shall offer him the best terms and to his best advantage and interest, the Boston National League Club has to-day given John P. McInnis his unconditional release."

The contract sent to McInnis at his home in Manchester, Mass., this season mentioned a smaller figure than was paid him in 1924 and he insisted that the former salary be restored. The first intimation that he was a holdout came when the Braves' management announced on March 3 that he would not leave for the south on the training trip.

McInnis played with the Braves for two seasons, coming to Boston from Cleveland.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

It is a common practice in golf for players to throw all their weight to the right leg during the address. Presumably they understand that the weight should be on the right leg for the hitting blow and they adopt this means of getting it there well in advance. I would call that better than never getting the weight over at all, but the golfer who does that is merely making the game more difficult for himself. Letting the weight transfer first to one leg and then to the other is not a difficult matter. Surely any golfer could stand on his feet and absorb his weight first on his right leg, then on his left. That's all he has to do while making his swing. Putting all weight on the right leg during the address throws the body out of its natural poise and requires a balancing act rather than a golf swing.

BOXING ENTRIES.

Fifty-three Entered in Ontario Amateur Championships This Week.

TORONTO, April 14.—(Canadian Press).— Fifty-three entries have been submitted for the Ontario Amateur boxing championship tournament, to be held on Thursday and Friday nights this week. Eighteen of the contestants are from points outside Toronto. The entry list which will probably stand at about 60 when the tournament opens is one of the largest recorded for this annual event.

WEST BROMWICH BACK IN FRONT

Defeated Arsenal While Huddersfield Were Idle on Monday.

SCORES HIGHT.

LONDON, April 14.—(Canadian Press Cable.) — "Bank holiday" football produced the customary small scores that are looked for near the close of the season, and in both the first and second divisions of the English League no goalkeeper was called upon to exert himself to any great extent.

In eight games played in the senior department only eleven goals were registered and the same thing goes for the lower string. Despite that, only two games were drawn —both scoreless—in the First Division, while the second produced a crop of five indecisive encounters.

The net result of the contests was to leave the League race as much in the air as ever. West Bromwich Albion took a couple of points from Arsenal and by virtue of this they were able to jump over Huddersfield Town into first place, but the Town were not engaged. To-day they play a return match with Bury.

In the Second Division the deadlock between Derby County and Leicester City remained unbroken. The City were unable to do more than divide the points with Southampton, while Derby County could not avenge their defeat sustained last Friday at the hands of South Shields and were also forced to split the points. This left the situation in the Second Division exactly as it stood. Nor did Manchester United regiser the improvement that was expected of them, for Chelsea played them to a goal-less draw on the Pensioners' ground.

With regard to the Cup finalists, Cardiff City demonstrated that their recent recovery was more than a fluke by taking Sunderland into camp by a couple of counters. On the other hand, Sheffield United succumbed to Newcastle at Bramall Lane, a circumstance that bodes little good for the "Blades" when the final great tlit of the football season is played at Wembley on April 25.

The Metropolitan teams did badly. West Ham were trimmed on their own ground by Liverpool, while Arsenal, as intimtaed, went down to West Bromwich. The 'Spurs were not engaged.

SPRING TONIC FOR GOLFERS

As Prescribed by Bob MacDonald

One of the greatest faults, and one of the most common, in putting, is a player's tendency to hit the ball too easily. Just a second's thought will show them their error, but until it is definitely pointed out to them they seldom think of it.

What I mean is that among the verage players, most of them putt to within a few inches of the cup, but not hard enough to reach the cup. It stands to reason, does it not, that a putt that does not reach the cup can never fall in?

Watch the good players. You will find that when they miss a putt they have overshot the cup a little, never come short of it. Also you might notice how often the poor putters come short of the cup and how the good one go beyond when they miss.

And another thing, hit the ball firmly when you putt. A shakey, uncertain shot on the green is something to be corrected and it will put an end to a lot of indifferent playing.

WORLD SERIES STARS MEET

The world series idol of 1924 gree ts the hero of 1920. Here we have Walter Johnson, baseball's greates t character, also pitcher, extending a welcome to Stanley Coveleskie, former star of the Cleveland club.

Johnson reached his greatest heights by his remarkable pitching in the final game of the 1924 classic, while Coveleskie's peak was staged in the world series of 1920, when he won three games for Cleveland, enabling the Indians to beat Brooklyn for the title.

Washington secured Coveleskie in a trade for Pitcher Byron Speece.

ENGLISH TEAM WINS IN PARIS

French Team Pressed Visitors in Second— Score Was 13 to 11.

30,000 AT RUGBY.

PARIS, April 14 (Canadian Press Cable)—Thirty-thousand rugby football fans thronged the Colombes Stadium here Monday and saw the last of the International games go to England after a gruelling contest by 13 points to 11. France sustained their fourth defeat of the season, each of the other countries having overwhelmed the Gauls. At the same time, notwithstanding their victory, England were unable to put themselves in the position of runners-up to Scotland, their place being taken by Ireland by virtue of better scoring average.

The English fifteen took the field as published, but several changes were made in the French team and the general run of the game revealed that these changes were justified, for in the second period particularly the French developed greater speed than England and their tackling was deadly. The French were somewhat unfortunate in the second half and a draw might better have represented the run of the game. All of England's points were obtained in the initial stanza. In the last half the French staged a brilliant come back. Cluchague in particular, showing up marvellously. With better goal kicking talent, the French might have won, for none of Cluchague's tries were converted. The latter player was brought in to replace Bringeon of Biarritz, while in the pack the French introduced Lavasseur and Barthe, dispensing with Cassayet of Narbonne and Clauzel of Beziers.

The play opened with exchanges even and the first points came when Luddington, whose goal-kicking powers have been the backbone of the English team, obtained a mark and sent the leather over the bar. The French staged a strong comeback and forced the English down into their own territory, but for a time the visiting three-quarters were able to show some fine combined runs and it was from one of these that Wakefield, the English captain, secured possession and dashed over for a try. Luddington's kick at goal brought out the major points. France were not discouraged, however, and they continued to press. Their rear-men got going, Du Nangir speeding off in a fine run. He slung over to Piquiral for the racing club forward to touch down. The kick at goal was successful.

Play kept up in fine style until towards the interval the English team again established a superiority when Hamilton Wickes romped home for a try which Luddington again converted. At half time the score stood:

England, 3 goals (1 marked), 13 points.
France, 1 goal, 5 points.

With a margin of eight points to the bad, the French started the second half with great determination and they kept the visiting fifteen on the defensive throughout. Cluchague got through the English defence twice, but in neither case was the try converted. In the closing minutes the English line was subjected to terrific pressure with the French swarming all over them, but the defence held and the game ended:

England, 3 goals (1 marked), 13 points.
France, 1 goal, 2 tries, 11 points.

The final standing of the International series is:

Team	P	W	D	L	F	A	Pts.
Scotland	4	4	0	0	77	37	8
Ireland	4	2	1	1	42	26	5
England	4	2	1	1	42	37	5
Wales	4	1	0	3	34	60	2
France	4	0	0	4	23	58	0

GODFATHER BY PROXY

If a godfather (or mother) after having given his consent is abroad or otherwise out of reach at the time of the christening, a proxy takes part in the ceremony instead, and without thereby becoming the godfather.

STANLEY R. HARRIS
Washington
Manager-Second Baseman

Born—Port Jervis, N.Y., Nov. 8, 1896.

Major League Career—Purchased by Washington from Buffalo of the International League in 1919. Reported sale price, $4000. Appointed manager start of 1924 season.

Oustanding Feats—In 1922 made 479 putouts, a major league record. Same season started 47 double plays, also big league mark. Batted .300 in 1920. As youngest major league manager won a pennant and world series in first season.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

UNUSUAL CASE.

Every now and then major league baseball offers a perplexing problem that is wellnigh impossible.

The case of "Dutch" Henry, southpaw, is a glaring example. Henry, for several years the property of the Brooklyn club of the National League, was recently traded to Indianapolis for the veteran Jess Petty.

In the minors, Henry has always been a sensational performer. For some reason he has never been a consistent winner in the big show.

Henry was originally dug up by Lee Fohl, then in charge of the St. Louis Browns, but was allowed to drift elsewhere.

During the past two years he has been sent to the Southern Association by Brooklyn on option. Getting a chance to work regularly he was the big noise in the south each year.

As I recall it, one season he won something like 20 and lost only four Henry has pitched better than .800 resembled 10 wins and only two defeats.

MINOR STAR.

Thus in 36 games in the south, Henry has pitched betetr than .800 ball. Had he not been the property of the Brooklyn club, major league scouts would have been fighting for his services with fat checks as their weapon.

Despite such a phenomenal showing, Brooklyn before the opening of the season shunts to the minors a most promising youngster for a fading veteran.

The fact that Brooklyn needs pitching to be up there, plus the belief of Manager Robinson that Pettys long experience best fits him to jump in as a regular, no doubt actuated the shift.

While looking the Brooklyn club over at Clearwater, Fla., I had a long chat with Henry. He didn't appear quite satisfied with his berth. Perhaps that had something to do with the trade.

Henry told me that it was the management's belief that his fast ball wasn't good enough to get by in the majors, but he doesn't think that way about it.

He believes that regular work rather than pitching to batters in practice is the thing he needs most to prove his worth as a big leaguer.

If Henry goes as well in the American Association as he did in the South, Indianapolis is going to get big money for the young man this fall.

MENTAL HAZARD.

Why Henry has failed in the majors in his three or four trials still remains a mystery. I am inclined to think it can all be traced to lack of confidence. In the minors, Henry is positive he can win easily, and does.

When he joins the majors, instead of being looked on as a star he is used as batting practice and relief pitcher. The oddity of the situation destroys the proper mental attitude that has always made him a star in the minors.

Baseball has had many cases such as that of Henry—big stars in the bushes who have never quite reached in the majors. Usually lack of confidence made most of the trouble.

NEW CLUB FORMED BY HASTINGS MEN

Will Fix Grounds at Hastings Tannery for Many Sports.

HASTINGS, April 14.—"The Pastime Club" is a new organization in Hastings, and was organized recently at the meeting called for electing officers and arranging to complete the sports grounds of the Hastings Tannery.

A four-team softball league was arranged for the summer, and Messrs. Stanley Stevenson and Lynn Hill were appointed managers of the town teams, and Messrs. I. Doonan and Alex. Shand for the Hastings Tannery teams. The land has been given by the Briethrunt Tanning Company, and considerable work has already been done toward making grounds. The club is aiming to complete the work on the grounds this year, and also to have tennis courts made at once.

One bowling green will be fixed at once, and a place made for quoits. Next year the other bowling greens will be completed.

The officers elected were:
Hon. President: J. C. Briethupt.
Hon. Vice-President: L. J. Briethrunt.
Hon. 2nd Vice-President: J. E. Briethrrunt.
Hon. 3rd Vice-President: L. O. Briethrupt.
Patrons: Rev. C. S. Bretherton, Rev. M. L. Hinton, Rev. D. A. Thompson and Rev. W. A. Pippen.
President: Neil Macdonald.
Vice-President: Dr. J. H. Hess.
2nd Vice-President: A. U. Bailey.
Secretary-Treasurer: C. E. Jones.
Executive: T. A. Coughlan, C. P. Doughty, W. R. Learmouth, L. B. Scriver, Neil Macdonald and C. E. Jones.

CANOEIST HALTED.

Canadian's Scheduled Paddle to Rome Delayed.

GENOA, April 14.—George H. C. Smythe, the Canadian canoeist, who set out last August from Nova Scotia to paddle to Rome, except for the trip across the Atlantic, has stopped at Savona, 25 miles from here, for repairs to his craft, and will not arrive here according to his schedule.

Smythe arrived at Marseilles on March 26 after paddling from Dover across the Channel thence across France by rivers and canals. He encountered much unfavorable weather. At Marseilles Smythe declared he must reach Rome within thirty days to win a wager.

Football Trophy for Dominion Clubs

The new Silver Trophy donated by the English Football Association to the Dominion of Canada Football Association for annual competition among the association football clubs of this country.

The Trophy was accepted on behalf of the Dominion Football Association in London last February by Sir George McLaren Brown, European General Manager for the Canadian Pacific Railway. Dominion Football Association officials found it impossible to be in England at the time of the presentation and Sir George was asked to act on their behalf. The Cup will be displayed in the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, and possibly in offices farther west.

PLAYERS READY FOR THE OPENER

Big League Managers Name Their Batteries For First Games.

CROWDS EXPECTED.

NEW YORK, April 14. — Greater New York's major league baseball team's opening the 192[illegible] season at home to-day, called upon their pitching aces to bring them victory.

Manager Miller Huggins announced his intention to pitch Urban Shocker, the former St. Louis moundsman, against the world champion Washington club, at the Yankee stadium, while Brooklyn's choice for the slab in the Dogers' opener, against Philadelphia Nationals at Ebbets' Feld, was Dazzy Vance.

Steve O'Neill, former Cleveland and Bosten veteran, was scheduled to handle Shocker's curves behind the slats.

Manager Harris selected George Mogridge, the seasoned left hander, to oppose the Yankees, with Ruel catching. Should Mogridge not look fit to Harris in the warm up he intimated that Tom Zachery would be called upon. Manager Fletcher favored Jimmy King to pitch for the Phillies, with Henline behind the plate. Mayberry will receive for Vance.

The Yan[illegible]s planned to welcome a host of 50,000 fans with music by three bands.

At Detroit all the reserved seats have been sold for several days, and the bleacher fans were in line early for the opener between Detroit and Chicago.

Warren Collins was Manager Cob's pitching choice with Johnny Bassler catching. Faber and Crouse are regarded as likely selections for Chicago.

At St. Louis, for the opening game of the American League season Manager George Sisler of the Browns lined up a team to oppose the Cleveland Indians similar to that he used throughout the spring series with "Bullet" Joe Bush picked as the starting pitcher. It was probable he would work against Sherrod Smith.

BALL SEASON OPENS.

Toronto Leafs and Baltimore Play One Day Ahead of Schedule.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 14. — (Canadian Press).—The Baltimore and Toronto teams of the International League were prepared to inaugurate the 1925 playing season at Oriole Park this afternoon, one day in advance of the regular schedule.

The change was made to avoid conflict with the opening of the Havre De Grace spring racing meeting to-morrow.

MAN WHO ONCE LIVED HERE IS 90 YEARS OLD

John Robertson Was First White Boy Born in Verulam Township.

NOW IN CLEVELAND

Learned and Worked at Millwright Trade in Peterboro.

CLEVELAND, April 14.—At his residence in East Cleveland, Ohio, on Thursday last, John Robertson celebrated his 90th birthday, a continual stream of callers bearing congratulations, and many lovely flowers bore testimony to the popularity and esteem with which he is held by the community.

In spite of his advanced years, Mr. Robertson is very active and keenly alert to present-day affairs.

Mr. Robertson was born on what is called the Scotch line in Verulum Township, Victoria County, Ontario, and was the first white baby boy to see light in that township.

Robert Robertson, the father of John Robertson, was one of the first Highland Scotch settlers in what was then unbroken forest on the shore of Sturgeon Lake.

The land was practically unsurveyed, having been originally granted to British army officers who had fought in Wellington's campaigns.

The grants were sold to such settlers as dared to face the very real hardships of that day, and Robert Robertson and his wife were of the Scotch whose pioneering spirit has done so much for every English speaking country.

As a boy, Mr. Robertson has vivid memories of the seemingly endless woods, scanty fare, wolves, Indians, bears and blazed trails to faraway villages.

There were winter snows which made isolation for days and cold which mercifully there were no thermometers to register.

Money was an almost unknown quantity, everything was home-made and such education as the children received was from a teacher who passed that way.

The change from bush trails and oxcarts to railways, paved roads and autos, hydro-electric power, supplied to all the farms nowadays, is a marvel none but Mr. Robertson can realise or comprehend.

As a young man he learned the millwright and building trades in Peterborough, Ontario, where he was married to Miss Borrowman.

Amongst the very vivid memories of his early manhood is the visit of the Prince of Wales, who later became King Edward VII., to that town in September, 1860, during his tour of Canada and the United States.

Mr. Robertson had an active part in the preparations for the reception of the prince, and was able to see the prince at close range in what was then a wonderful private railway coach.

After the close of the American Civil War, Mr. Robertson settled in Corry, Pennsylvania, and from there came to Cleveland where he has lived many years.

Mr. Robertson lives with his daughters. His surviving son is James A. Robertson, Research Professor at John B. Stetson University, Deland, Florida, and lives in Washington, D.C.

The older residents of Peterboro' will possibly remember Mr. John Robertson as the brother of the late Robert Robertson, who for many years was employed by the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., and an active member of the old Mechanics' Institute Library Board on which he served many years.

Mrs. Church, of Peterboro', Mr. John Robertson's sister-in-law, is spending the winter at his home in Cleveland.

AIR LINE PLANNED TO THE FAR EAST

French Company Would Extend Its Turkish Service to Japan.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—(Canadian Press).—Negotiations with the British and other Governments are now in progress seeking an extension of the French airline from Paris to Constantinople to include India and Japan, according to official reports received here. The French Compagnie Franco-Romanie now operates an air line from Paris to Bucharest and Constantinople which was recently advanced to Angora, the new Turkish capital, and is said to be primarily interested in this development. The commercial importance of an air line to the Far East is recognized by the nations interested in the negotiations.

THE DAY'S BAG

After a successful day's tiger hunt in Nepal, India, the above photo shows how the game is brought home. The system of tiger hunting in Nepal is to surround him with a ring of elephants after he has been located and then drive him out with a big tusker. The hunters, mounted in howdahs atop the elephants have a clear shot at their game when he appears in the open.

LENGTH OF LIFE IS INCREASING

Modern Medical Science Puts Longer Life in Reach of Man.

CAN BUY HEALTH

NEW YORK, April 14—That modern medical science is placing longer life within reach of man, was the assurance held out yesterday by Dr. William H. Welch, Dean of the School of Hygiene of Johns Hopkins University, as he passed his seventy-fifth birthday.

"If you pause for a moment co consider what are the conditions that must be fulfilled in order to add five years, ten years or twenty years to the average expectation of life, the question answers itself," read Dr. Welch's statement. "You cannot postpone death without great improvement in our modern conditions of living and working. The late Dr. Hermann Michael Biggs pointed out that health is purchasable. Longer life implies a certain measure of prosperity and of thrift. It also implies a higher popular intelligence."

Dr. Welch recalled perhaps the greatest health demonstration in history, when upon his recommendation with that of Sir William Osler, among others, President Roosevelt gave Dr. William C. Gorgas full control of the sanitary affairs of the Panama Zone. Known as the 'White Man's Grave,' where in September 1885 as many as 176 workmen out of 1,000 were dying, the death rate here was reduced to less than 10 per 1,000 by 1912. This and the Havana Demonstration which followed the Spanish-American war Dr. Welch called the precursers of the modern health demonstrations being extended in continental United States. The intensive health efforts now under way are grounded on the same and subsequent scientific discoveries, he said. The methods adopted and the procedures pursued are similar. "When the public learns that medical science knows how to deal with disease as it dealt with it in Panama and in Cuba, and that sanitarians are still capable of the organization effected there, it will demand that appropriations be made available for such demonstrations to be made a part of the daily routine of their local health authorities," he continued.

"Heredity is unquestionably a prime factor in determining the span of life. That's now scientifically demonstrated by experiment. Raymond Pearl has shown it without any question, at least so far as the fruit fly is concerned—and there is no reason to suppose it doesn't apply to human beings, that the span of life is inherited, inherited by definite laws conforming to the Mendelian law."

"Of course the contention that in preventing premature death we are saving the unfit goes back as far as Plato. To my judgment, there is very little substance in this argument. The business of the public health official is to improve health, to prevent death. But whether it is within our power at present to save the lives of many who are unfit, is a question, which has not yet been adequately investigated. That improved health raises the vitality of men and of nations, has been fully established. Good health is a prime requisite to the enjoyment of life. Happiness begets longer life; as longer life begets happiness. And it is a principle as old as Disraeli that public health is the foundation upon which rests the happiness of the people and the welfare of the state."

AT THE ROYAL

"COUNTRY STORE NITE" A HIT AT THE ROYAL

The first of a series of novelty nights "went over" with a bang. "Country Store Nite" is now an established feature of every Monday evening's programme. Lots of worth-while prizes were given away and lots of genuine laughs made this novelty one of the best seen locally in some time.

Amateur night is scheduled for Thursday.

'BUTTERFLY' A REAL GOOD PICTURE AT ROYAL.

Kathleen Norris' Novel Successfully Screened.

Kathleen Norris' famous novel, "Butterfly," has been converted to the screen with remarkable fidelity in the Clarence Brown Universal-Jewel picturization of the story, which had its local opening at the Royal Theatre last night.

To those who enjoyed the novel the picture will undoubtedly be received with enthusiasm. Its action is clear cut and well defined and the direction smooth and carefully balanced. The cast was evidently chosen with extreme care in the matter of reflecting the story characters.

Laura La Plante handles the title role with the finesse of a veteran "stager," and proving that comedy is a great field of training for dramatic acting. Ruth Clifford as her older sister, carries the role of sisterly self-sacrifice with conviction and surety of poise, without doubt the greatest piece of acting she has ever registered in a film play.

Although these three players carry the weight of the story, other members of the cast in roles of lesser importance contribute greatly to the value of the picture by their excellent performance. The remaining five major characters are portrayed by Kenneth Harlan, Cesare Gravina, Margaret Livingston, T. Roy Barnes and Freeman Wood.

The strength of the picture lies in its simplicity. It is more like a human document, than a carefully arranged photoplay production, a real triumph of direction for Clarence Brown.

AT THE CAPITOL

"COMING THROUGH"

The always popular Thomas Meighan, star in "Coming Through," had good crowds at both performances yesterday at the Capitol Theatre. The likeable big man, with his serious demeanor and rather puzzled expression has the stellar role in one of the stories that suits him to perfection, with plenty of action of a rugged type, the conflict of strong masculine personalities and a series of exciting scenes. Meighan excels in this type of characterization, and Lila Lee makes an excellent yielding feminine star, contrasting admirably with his vital personality.

Tom Blackford married an heiress and then, handicapped by her father's opposition, started in as superintendent of a big mine. Here, the difficulties he encounters with the men make a vivid story. His worries are complicated by the attitude of his wife, who decides to go away and leave him when she makes up her mind that her presence is hampering his work.

There is a good supporting cast. Wallace Beery always make an ideal "tough" villain, and, as the slouching mine boss, playing a double game, and inciting the men to strike, has splendid scope for his peculior abilities. There are several strong scenes, notably in the fight between Lawler, the boss, and Blackford, with a thrilling climax. In the episode where Tom saves the mine from destruction in the nick of time is included a real thrill, also.

There is a tense minute when Alice, Blackford's wife, decides to go away and leave him, just when he is harrassed most by labor troubles. But the feminine mind changes itself later, true to form. "I knew she would come back," was the satisfied comment of a small boy fan at yesterday's matinee, as he slid out of his seat while the final close-up faded into obscurity.—Jeanette.

ZANE GREY FILM RECREATES WEST OF 50 YEARS AGO.

"Thundering Herd" Proves Cities To-Day Sleepy Towns In 1876.

As radically as a covered wagon differs from an automobile, so a mid western town of 1876 differs from one of the present day.

No section of the entire world has changed so much in the past fifty years as have the towns of Kansas, Missouri, Colorado, Montana and Wyoming, as motion picture directors have discovered to their cost when endeavoring to recreate for the films some vanished centre. The sleepy freighting posts of the old west are to-day bustling cities.

For the production of Zane Grey's "The Thundering Herd," which William K. Howard directed for Paramount, an exact replica of an old-time trading post was built. Pioneers declared it was correct in every detail, according to their memories of old towns such as Fort Worth Village, Dodge City and Salt Lake City.

The post constructed for the picture was of the stockade type with logs ten feet in height, stuck in the ground and bound together to form a square enclosure. One side of this square, fronting the roadway, was formed by the post building, a log structure like the stockade. This had a sort of platform outside with steps leading down to the street and a door and windows into the store.

In the photoplay, the town is just starting to boom, as great numbers of hunters rush to the buffalo fields. Half a doren buildings have sprung up about the post. These buildings are occupied by dance halls and saloons.

The picture realistically portrays the adventures of two of the many caravans that started for the far west. An exciting Indian battle and a thrilling buffalo stampede are among the many dynamic scenes in this photoplay.

Naturally, the characterizations in a story of this kind are of prime importance, and Director Howard realized that when he was assembling his cast. Film fans are certain to approve his choice of such capable players as Jack Holt, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Raymond Hatton.

"The Thundering Herd" will be at the Capitol on Thursday.

AT THE REGENT

"THE AIR HAWK."

In old Mexico, across the border of Arizona, a horseman is pursued by desperadoes, headed by Robert McLean. The mysterious horseman jumps into an aeroplane and away.

Across the desert, John Ames, superintendent of the El Serrano Platinum Mine, receives word from the owner that unless the thieves who have been stealing the platinum are apprehended, he will lose his job and be imprisoned. He and his daughter, Edith, suspect MacLeod. Edith is in love with Al Parker, a mining engineer who lives in the village. When MacLeod offers to buy the mine, and thus relieve Ames of all responsibility if Edith will marry him, both she and her father refuse his offer.

Ames knows that there is a secret passage from the mine, which the thieves have been using, and one evening when Edith and Al are out walking, he attempts to find it. MacLeod's men have been trailing him, and they kill him.

MacLeod tries to avert suspicion to the mysterious stranger who is known as "The Air Hawk," but Edith will not believe that he is the guilty man, because he has aided her many times when she was in danger.

One day MacLeod gives a fiesta for the Mexican natives, and Edith is hostess. He announces his forthcoming marriage to Edith. This infuriates her. She slaps him. He is about to attack her, when the Air Hawk swoops down, saves Edith and fights a battle of swords with MacLeod. MacLeod is wounded and the Air Hawk and Edith make for the plane.

Later, Edith secures sufficient evidence to point to MacLeod as the guilty man. She rides to the army post with the evidence; MacLeod sends his men after, and she is captured. Again the mysterious Air Hawk comes to her assistance; she gives him the papers and he delivers them to the army post for her. MacLeod takes her prisoner, and places her in the cabin of his plane and makes away.

The Air Hawk follows, and a great fight takes place in the air between the two planes. The Air Hawk jumps from his plane into MacLeod's, and the two men have a fearful battle in the clouds. The Air Hawk is the victor, however, and drops MacLeod. He forces the pilot to ride to the army post, and there, to his amazement, he discovers Edith in the cabin.

It is discovered that the Air Hawk is a secret agent of the government, sent out to "get" MacLeod and his men, who concealed his identity during the day by using the name of "Al Parker." MacLeod has been killed, his gang is arrested, and the platinum discovered and returned to the rightful owners. The Air Hawk and Edith find happiness in their mutual love.

AT THE GRAND

"SAINT JOAN"

B. C. Whitney will present "Saint Joan," George Bernard Shaw's Chronicle Play, commonly accounted a masterpiece of the twentieth century theatre, at the Grand Opera House, Peterboro, one performance only, Monday evening, April 20th.

From the village of visions, through court, camp and church goes the Maid of France to trial and martyrdom. The dramatic narrative marches; the medieval background gains body, character, color; skill of the stage orders the course; romantic or poetic impulse occasionally plys over it; now and again graphic strokes of imagination and the theatre cleave it. More, however, is Mr. Shaw occupied with the mental states in those that judged and condemned Joan. Hence episodes of disquistion and debate in which he unfolds the collective medieval motions of feudalism and of heresy at odds with her national, protestant and individual faith. Notably in the trial scene, they are conducted with his habitual dramatizing energy in such combat of mind and tongue; but they over-strain the play that is container.

Upon the death of the Maid follows the much-questioned epilogue in which Mr. Shaw recites again her spiritual valiance down the ages.

The players vitalize speech, action, trait, argument. The homeliness as well as the ferver, the directness as well as the devotion, shine out of Miss Arthur's Joan. Sifted and subtle characterization is Mr. McGovern's Dauphin, and Edwin Mordant, Lowden Adams, Lynn Pratt, Henry Buckler and many others portray the characters entrusted to them in faultless fashion.

CHEMONG PARK SEEKS LIGHTS

City Folk With Summer Cottages Must Act Promptly or Lose.

MEET THURSDAY.

On Thursday afternoon last, the Hydro Electric Commission, through their engineer, reported to the Chemong cottagers in regard to the rates that will be charged for electriciay if a service is established.

The facts are as follows: The Commission is willing and ready to build the line, but it must first receive a guarantee through the Council of Smith Township from those who will use the service, that sufficient electricity will be taken to cover the cost of building and operating the line.

To understand the number required, it was explained that there are three rates.

1. The rate to the cottagers and the residents of the village who will require a moderate amount sufficient for lighting purposes and for a toaster or iron, a washing machine, a small heater, or a single plate.

2. The rate to the same users who will require sufficient power for an electric range, etc.

3. The rate for farmers.

The cost to the consumer will be a service charge plus the rate per kilowatt hour. The service charge will be for:

Class 1.....$19.44 per year.
Class 2..... 35.00 per year.
Class 3..... 49.00 per year.

and the rate for electriciay will be .05 cents per kilowatt hour up to 30 kilowatt hours per month, then .02 cents.

In order to secure the line, sufficient subscribers will be required to equal 72 of the first class.

It is to be noted that one of the second class will count for 2 2-5 of the first class, and one of the farmer class will count for four of the first class.

This service can be installed this year if the necessary preliminaries are complied with at once, and those who want the service must act promptly.

A committee is busy at Bridgenorth and with the farmers and a meeting of the cottagers will be held on Thursday afternoon at 5.10 in the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of getting the necessary forms signed by those desiring the service. Unless a sufficient number guarantees to become customers the line will not be constructed.

It is expected, therefore, that all cottagers who wish to secure this service will be present wihout fail at this meeting.

LEGISLATURE PROROGUES

Lieutenant-Governor Hopes O.T.A. Will Be Easier Enforced.

TORONTO, April 14.— (Canadian Press.)—The second session of the 16th parliament of Ontario was prorogued this afternoon by His Honor Lieut.-Governor Harry Cockshutt.

At the closing ceremony this afternoon a speech read by His Honor reviewed the Legislature enactments expressing the hope that the amendments to the O. T. A. will facilitate the enforcement of the measure and contribute to its efficiency. "The fundamental principle of the law has been maintained while the cause of hostility to it has been removed," said the speech.

ADVANCE MADE BY LOCAL FIRM

Elliot Manufacturing Company Incorporated—Intends to Make Extension.

BUSINESS GROWS.

Announcement is made to-day in the advertising columns, of the incorporation of the Elliot Manufacturing Company, Limited, which marks another step in the advance of a well known business house of this city. Commencing as the Port Hope Knitting Works, managed by T. C. Elliot, the next move was a few doors up the street into what was then named the Beehive, and later the purchase of the building itself, which was re-modelled, and all the upper floors used to accommodate the growing business, which was then re-named "Elliot's."

The next change involved the jump from the retail end of the business to take up manufacturing and marketing wools, using the upper floor of the double store for the purpose.

The rapid increase of volume of business soon called for larger quarters, and the firm finally settled in their present home in a suitable building on Rink street.

The latest step is just announced, in the incorporation of the Elliot Manufacturing Company, Limited. T. C. Elliot occupies the position of President and Treasurer.

Vega V. Elliot is vice-president and secretary, while the directors are Robert F. Gray, Basil D. Hall and J. C. Smith. The immediate intention is to instal further machinery for the manufacture of underwear for children and infants, also cashmere and worsted hosiery.

Judging by the past success of the operations controlled by Mr. Elliot, there is a bright future ahead of the new company, and it is safe to assume that the present policy is nothing more than a commencement for a management that evidently does not believe in standing still, and the outlook for an industry of real value to Peterborough seems assured.

VOL. LVI., No. 88 PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1925 PRICE THREE CENTS

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS DEFICIT FOR 1924 WAS $54,860,419, AN INCREASE OF $3,162,744 OVER 1923, REFLECTING DECLINE OF GENERAL BUSINESS

Sir Henry Thornton's Annual Report Presented Tuesday to Parliament—Gross Earnings Fell Off $17,547,305—President Says Freight Rates Are Not Satisfactory.

RAILWAYS HIT BY GENERAL DEPRESSION.

Operating Expenses Reduced By $14,360,907, Offsetting the Decline in Gross Receipts — Freight Tonnage and Passenger Traffic Both Reduced in 1924.

OTTAWA April 15 (Canadian Press).—Taking fixed charges into account, the Canadian National Railways last year had a deficit of $54,860,419. The deficit in 1923 was $51,697,674. The net before fixed charges showed an improvement of $1,270,687 but fixed charges increased by $4,433,423, swallowed the increase in the net and made the deficit $3,162,744 greater than in 1923.

The report shows that in spite of a decrease in gross earnings of $17,547,305 due to a smaller crop and general business conditions throughout the country, the company was successful in earning a net operating profit of $17,244,251, or $3,186,397 less than in the preceding year and therefore maintained "to a very considerable degree the rate of improvement during 1923 which was a phenomenal year in many respects from a transportation standpoint." A feature of the report is the item which shows that operating expenses were reduced by $14,360,907 to offset the reduction in gross receipts. This reduction could have been carried further Sir Henry Thornton, president of the company states, if the management had considered it advisable to pay less attention to maintenance of way and structures.

Must Maintain Property.

He advises against such a policy by declaring that "however low the traffic density may be, there is always a point below which expenses chargeable to maintenance of way and structures cannot be reduced without damage to the property and a consequent heavy expenditure in subsequent years," and "it would not be in the interests of the property to reduce expenses chargeable to this account to the point of borrowing from the future." The report also points out "that, while it which is serious to all of the transkervices when a reduction in that class of traffic occurs, it is impossible to pursue, to a similar degree, the same policy with passenger train services."

These two facts, the report indicates, provide the reasons for the increase shown in the operating ratio of 1924 as compared with 1923, the figures being 92.68 last year, as against 91,92 in 1923.

Freight Rates Low.

Sir Henry, in discussing the gross earnings of the system, finds it appropriate again to refer to the freight rate situation in Canada. He says, "as was pointed out in last year's report, continued reductions in freight rates will inevitably postpone the day when the National System will become self-supporting. The recent decision with respect to what is known as the Crow's Nest agreement has established a condition which s seriious to all of the transportation interests of Canada. It is earnestly to be hoped, that during the ensuing year, some solution of the difficulty will be found which will have due regard to the interests of all the parties concerned."

Sir Henry says further that active consideration has been given to the policy to be followed with respect to the capitalization of the Canadian National System and the extent to which, if at all, advances made and the capital held by the Government should be written down to a figure commensurate with the earning prospects of the property. The problem, according to the report, is proving both difficult and complicated, but it continues to engage the attention of the board and the financial department of the company. It is hoped that before much time has elapsed, it will be possible to present to the proper authorities a consistent scheme for consideration.

Details of Report.

The total operating revenues of the Canadian National for 1924 and 1923 were as follows:

1924—$235,588,182.55; 1923—$253,135,487.61. Decrease $17,547,305.06.

The total operating expenses of the company for 1924 and 1923 were:

1924—$218,343,931.07; 1923—$232,704,838.53. Decrease, $14,360,907.45.

Net operating profits of the company for 1924 and 1923 were:

1924—$17,244,231.48; 1923—$20,430,649.08. Decrease,$3,186,397.60.

While a comparison of the net operating profits for 1923 and 1924 show a decrease during the past year of $3,186,397.60, a comparison of the net before fixed charges over the same period shows an increase of $1,270,678.91. Fixed charges, however, increased $4,433,423.19, resulting in an increase in the net income deficit of $3,162,744.28. The position summarized is as follows:

Slump in Traffic.

The decrease in gross operating revenues represented a falling off of 6.93 per cent. as compared with 1923. "Traffic during the first three months of the year," the report states, "was in excess of that moved in the same period of 1923, but general business suffered a reduction early in April, and the depression continued until the end of the year. Due principally to the relatively small grain crop in Western Canada, the movement of grain to the lake head was in much less volume than usual and was considerably below the exceptionally heavy movement which took place in the last three months of 1923, with the result that the impetus to active business which a large grain movement usually engenders was noticeably lacking. The movement was also to some extent affected by the disposition shown to hold grain in the country, creating an unusual condition and one which business in general had not anticipated."

Maintenance Items.

With reference to the expenditure of money for operating purposes during the year, the following items are listed as among the most important by the report:

Maintenance of way and structure expenses were reduced $738,479.94, and, while this represents a reduction of 1.65 per cent., it is noted that reductions about proportional to the decrease in earnings were

TRAIN LEAVES RAILS.

Five Cars Derailed This Morning—Passengers Escape Injury.

TORONTO, April 15 (Canadian Press).—Tender, express and five cars of Train No. 1 bound West from Ottawa, left the rails when the train was derailed at Ombabika Station, on Kowbash subdivision, early this morning, by some cause not yet ascertained, a statement issued here today by Manager C. G. Bowker of the Central Region of the Canadian National Railways says. The cars remained upright and no passengers were injured.

The Nakina and Sioux Lookout auxiliaries were quickly at the scene of the accident.

Train No. 4 from Winnipeg to Toronto will be delayed four hours. The steamship special Westbound from Ottawa was detoured by way of Port Arthur.

REGRET LOSING THEIR MANAGER

Chairman Robert Hicks and Mr. Mason Comment on Resignation.

MR. FISK LEAVES.

In speaking to-day of the loss to the Utilities Commission by the resignation of H. O. Fisk, Robert Hicks, chairman of the Commission, said that they were sorry to see Mr. Fisk go, but they had no wish to hold him back if he had a chance at a better job. E. F. Mason said that there was not enough work to the position of manager of the Utilities Commission in Peterborough for a man of Mr. Fisk's calibre and ability. Mr. Mason and Mr. Hicks both expressed the opinion that although they did not know what Mr. Fisk had in mind, he was going to what he considered a better position.

PRINCE CHANGES PLANS.

Will Avoid Oyo Owing to Outbreak of Smallpox There.

LONDON, April 15. — (Canadian Press).—Another slight change in the programme of the Prince of Wales is reported by Reuter's Lagos correspondent, who says that while travelling in Nigeria the party will avoid Oyo owing to an outbreak of smallpox. It is hoped that the quarantine against Lagos will be lifted by Saturday so that the Prince will be able to lay the foundation stone of the new cathedral.

BALLOT BOX IS FILLING WITH VOTES ON DAYLIGHT SAVING

Groups Are Joined For and Against to Get Votes.

CLOSES SATURDAY.

Citizens Cannot Vote in Groups and in Examiner Office, Too.

Votes continue to roll in, showing that interest is very much alive in The Examiner's vote on daylight saving. Some citizens are canvassing their friends and will bring several ballots before the time limit expires, and one man yesterday dropped seven votes, representing all his grown up family, in the box. He said they were all for daylight saving, but no count is being taken until the vote closes. Those who vote in the groups being canvassed by either daylight saving fans or those opposed should be careful not to place votes in The Examiner ballot box, since this will only cause needless trouble to the scrutineers.

All the votes will be turned in to The Examiner office when the ballots will be carefuy gone over and checked, duplicates or unsigned ballots being thrown out. Names will not be published.

Here is the ballot. Mark an X opposite your desire and below the months during which you think daylight saving should be operative.

PRESENTS C.N.R. REPORT.

SIR HENRY THORNTON

Whose annual report of the Canadian National Railways was submitted in the House of Commons Tuesday.

MODERNIST IS GIVEN LICENSE

Doesn't Believe Bodily Resurrection and Virgin Birth of Christ.

LICENSE TO PREACH.

NEW YORK, April 15.—After a bitter debate of more than two hours the Presbytery of New York, at its annual spring meeting Monday in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, issued a license to preach to Cameron Parker Hall, a son of W. W. Hall, who is an elder in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church. Young Mr. Hall, who is an assistant at the Broome Street (Interdenominational) Tabernacle, and a student at Union Seminary, was considered unorthodox by the Fundamentalists.

The candidate underwent a grilling by the leading Fundamentalists of the Presbytery, during which he admitted he was unable to affirm belief in the Virgin birth of Christ, His bodily Resurrection, and a number of the miracles, inctuding the raising from the dead of Lazarus and the son of the Widow of Nain.

Dr. Coffin to His Defense.

The Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, pastor of the Madison Avenue Church, in which Mr. Hall was reared, suddenly jumped up and shouted:

"If this young man is not fit to come into the Presbytery of New York, I am not fit to remain in it, because my position on all these theological points is just what his is! Put me out! It is so cowardly! You take it out of these students. Why not bring to task those of us already in?"

"We would like to," said the Rev. Dr. Albert Dale Gantz, permanent clerk of the Presbytery and pastor of the Williamsbridge Churih.

The Rev. Dr. Walter D. Buchanan of Broadway Church announced that a complaint against the Presbytery for licensing Mr. Hall would be filed immediately with the General Assembly.

MONT LAURIER BURNS.

C.P.R. Transatlantic Steamer Still Afire This Afternoon in Dock.

LIVERPOOL, April 15.—(Canadian Rress).—The Canadian Pacific Transatlantic steamer Montlaurier, undergoing repairs at Birkenhead dock, opposite Liverpool, was partly destroyed by fire to-day. Firemen fought the blaze all day, and late this afternoon the fire was still raging, and the whole forepart of the steamer had been destroyed as welle as the third-class section. The cause of the fire is unknown. The loss is already estimated at from a quarter to a half million dollars.

NATIONALISTS ABSENT.

Will Not Attend Ulster Parliament Until Boundary Commission Reports.

BELFAST, April 15. — (Canadian Press).—The absence of Nationalist members from the opening session of the newly elected Ulster Parliament yesterday was due to their announced intention not to take their seats until the Boundary Commission which is studying the boundary question as between Northern and Southern Ireland makes its report.

VOLCANO CAMP.

HONOLULU, April 15.—A naval recreatoin camp a short distance from the active volcano Kilauea has been approved by the Navy Department. Construction work starts this spring. The site is one of the most beautiful in the Hawaiian islands.

INDIAN PRINCE WITH HAREM IN LONDON SUBURB

EIGHT BIG CARS.

Beauties Are Carefully Secluded From Eyes of White Men on Visit.

LONDON, April 15.—Housed in one of the most luxurious mansions in Wimbledon, London's exclusive suburb, are the Maharajah of Jedhpur, four of his wives and a suit of thirty—and London is reveling in tales of this youthful, debonair Indian ruler who is rich almost beyond all dreams of avarice.

The Maharajah has a fleet of eight enormous limousines, charters special trains as an ordinary mortal buys bags of peanuts, and has brought along a string of seventy polo ponies, intending perhaps to give the American Army polo team, now here, a little lesson in the noble sport.

But it is none of these details that is at the bottom of the excited gossip—it is the fact that he has with him four of his wives and that he brought them ashore from the channel steamer in shrouded sedan chairs, and that they have been guarded from view since their arrival on English soil as only the "purdah nasheen" can be.

These beauties of the harem are immune from ever being seen by white men's eyes and even white servants are forbidden to approach them or look at them. This distaste for being seen by the unfaithful was carried out by the Maharajah to the extent of having all the windows of his limousines curtained.

BUILDNG BOOST IN PETERBORO'

First Two Weeks of April Bring Eleven Permits For Houses.

VALUE $40,000.

Building permits for the first fifteen days of April have already doubled the total for the first three months of the year. For dwelling houses alone this month the total has already reached $36,650 and other small items such as repairs, garages, and alterations bring the total up to about $40,000.

There have been eleven permits for dwelling houses issued in April. Estimated costs range from $700 for a cottage built on Dunlop street for Wilford Boorman to a dwelling on Homewood avenue being erected by T. C. Ephgrave at a cost of $6500. Other permits were: C. Robson, dwelling on Waterford street to cost $2500, City Solicitor J. Wearing's new residence will cost $3000, a house for S. H. Abbott on the Monaghan road at King street to cost $3000, Harry Wilford will build a house on Olive avenue for $2450, C. H. Hoffman and Sons are building a residence on Homewood avenue at a cost of $4500. A new street is being started in the south of the city, namely Douglas avenue, where L. D. Letellier is building a house worth $1500. James Cumming is erecting a $4000 dwelling at 531 Chamberlain street and ames B. Brown is putting one up on Bolivar street for $3500 and F. H. Rowan is building a dwelling at a cost $3000 at 316 Frederick avenue.

CARLOAD FOOD FOR SUFFERERS

Peterborough Merchants and Private Citizens Donate Flour and Vegetables.

READY TO-NIGHT.

The warehouse of Walter Oke, at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets, was a busy place today, as the carload of foodstuffs for the Nova Scotia relief was being loaded. One end of the car is almost completely filled with sacks of potatoes and other vegetables contributed by farmers and dealers. There are also a number of cases of canned fruits and vegetables. The other end of the car was being filled with flour from the local mills and dealers. Some of this was donated and some was purchased with the cash contributions of the citizens. Flour was particularly desired as the messages from the stricken area indicated a shortage.

This generous and timely contribution from the City and County of Peterborough was made possible by the efforts of a committee of local business men who gave freely of their time in canvassing and of their delivery and warehouse facilities for the collection and loading of the goods. The citizens of Peterborough responded with money and goods and the value of the carload is estimated at $1,000. This freight is being delivered in Nova Scotia without charge by the Canadian National Railway Company.

LUMP SUM BIDS FOR BALL PARK RENTAL WANTED

Tender of $400 From Peterboro' Baseball Club Was Received Too Late.

INTEREST IS $850.

Parks Committee Consider Tourists' Camp at Exhibition Park—Grant $125.

James Stevenson Park was the cause of considerable discussion last night at the meeting of the Parks Committee, and after hearing a deputation it was decided to advertise for tenders again.

Last year the rental received by the council was $500, in 1923 they got $1000, and in 1922 they received $800. The only offer received this year was for $400.

When the city asked for tenders for the park none was received but a day after the time limit the Peterboro Baseball and Athletic Association sent in a tender with apologies for their delay.

Some of the aldermen thought that the tender should not be acknowledged as some word might have leaked out of the lack of tender.

Aldermen Turner suggested that the tender be not considered, but that the city should let the grounds to various clubs on a percentage basis or on a sliding scale.

A deputation was heard from the association consisting of Messrs Matthews and McFadden, and they said that they thought $400 was a fair figure. They would supply the caretaker and would permit junior teams to have the use of the park free of charge when they were not using it.

Annual Interest $850.

Chairman Turner explained that the interest and sinking fund amounted to $850 a year. He told them that the tender had not been opened.

The chairman suggested a sliding scale on a percentage basis and the Mayor thought that the minimum guarantee should be $500 and the maximum $1000. He thought that the city's expenses should be covered.

Unfair to Athletes.

Mr. Matthews said they couldn't pay the sum mentioned, and that the council was being unfair to the young men of the city. He said if they were forced to go to the Exhibition grounds the city would receive no revenue.

Chairman Turner said no member of the committee wished to penalize the sports of the city.

Mr. McFadden said that the expense of running the club would be $6300, if there were no unforeseen expenses. This sum, he said, included $400 for the grounds, and some for the caretaker.

After the deputation left the question was thoroughly threshed out. The question of hard times, which might interfere with the receipts was mentioned by Alderman Hancock.

Alderman Greene figured a charge of 12 per cent. would bring the city $840, but some of the members were afraid that a great deal of trouble would be incurred in operating the park.

The Mayor and Alderman Greene moved that as no tenders had been received, new tenders should be asked for on a lump sum basis or on a minimum lump sum basis plus a percentage.

The motion was carried.

Will Erect Standard.

R. Hicks, chairman of the Utilities Commission, was present and said that the cost of the light standard suggested for the corner of Burnham

SUGAR PRICE LOW.

4,000 Tons Sold to Refiner at 4.49c. a Lb.

NEW YORK, April 15.—(Canadian Press).—New record low prices for the year were established in the raw sugar market Tuesday, when 4,000 tons of the Porto Rican product was sold to an outport refiner at 4.49c a pound, delivered.

The decline was attributed to continued favorable crop advices and private reports that the 1925 yield would be fully equal to the maximum estimate and nearly 4,750,000 tons made earlier in the season.

Conservative Old Paper Plans Change In Style

LONDON, April 15. — The old order changeth. The ultra-Conservative Morning Post, 153 years old, and large for its age, anounced to-day that on April 27th the size of its pages would be reduced and increased in number from 16 to 24. "In response to suggestions from many readers" larger type will be used.

TERM DOUBLED FOR RUM THEFT

Sarnia Man Who Stole Jail Liquor Had Caused Another's Death.

DRUNK IN AUTO.

SARNIA, April 15 — (Canadian Press)—A term of not more than a year and not less than 6 months, a parallel to the penalty he is serving on a manslaughter charge, was imposed on Harry R. Finan, by Magistrate Gorman in police court here yesterday afternoon on a charge of stealing liquor from the county jail.

Finan and Sam McDougall pleaded guilty to the charge last week but sentence was reserved. Finan was found guilty of manslaughter in February after an auto driven by him had struck Henry Broughton and inflicted injuries from which he died. Justice Mowat sentenced him to six months determinate and six months indeterminate imprisonment. The defence set up at that time was that Finan was stupefied by liquor and did not realize his act.

In passing sentence on the theft charge the Magistrate said he was shocked when he learned Finan was mixed up in the liquor theft. He felt that he would have shunned liquor for the rest of his life after having the responsibility for a man's death on his shoulders due to drink. McDougall was given 19 extra days' imprisonment.

JOHN CROMPTON BORNE TO GRAVE

Comrades Honor War Veteran Who Died in Paths of Peace.

TRAGIC DEATH

The funeral of John Crompton was held yesterday afternoon with the Reverend J. Douglas Paterson officiating. After the impressive funeral service of the Church of England had been read Mr. Paterson made a short address. He spoke of the esteem in which the departed had been held by his fellow workers with the Utilities and of the grief they felt at his tragic death. He mentioned his four years in the service of his King and country overseas and the honor which his fellow veterans regarded him. To his comrades Mr. Paterson commended the sorrowing widow and child, expressing confidence that they would support and protect them.

Six war veterans acted as pall bearers for their departed comrade. They were Captain S. Whatley, Captain J. Abraham, Sergeant-Major J. Wilford, Sergeant Hales and Privates M. Gahagan and L. Gibson. A number of other veterans were present at the funeral.

Chairman Robert Hicks, Commissioner E. F. Mason and nearly the whole staff of the Utilities were present and the offices were closed during the time of the funeral.

As the long cortege passed through the streets many an ex-soldier was seen to stand at attention in reverent honor of the departed soldier and at the C.P.R. station a body of Boy Scouts of the Salvation Army, returning from the funeral of William Degen, stood stiffly at attention while their officers saluted the departed. At the cemetery after the body had been committed to the earth the veterans all passed by the grave and threw a flower in on the coffin.

After the ceremony from a position on the hillside overlooking the grave Bandsman William Layfield blew the Last Post followed, after a short pause, by the Reveille.

The floral tributes received from comrades and friends were many and beautiful.

CHURCH BURNED.

Loss is Estimated at Half Million Dollars in New York.

NEW YORK, April 15 (Canadian Press) — Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church was totally destroyed by fire within an hour this morning at an estimated damage of a half million dollars.

Flames roaring to a height of two hundred feet brought down the heavy slate roof soon after the blaze was discovered. The origin of the fire has not been ascertained.

SEATS NOW ON SALE FOR SAINT JOAN.

LAKE SUPERIOR LEVELS LOWEST NOW SINCE 1860

Register in March 10 1-2 Inches Below the Average For Ten Years.

CHICAGO REFUTED.

Cargoes on Great Lakes Will Be 1-38th Less Than 1923.

OTTAWA, Ont., Apri 15 (By Canadian Press)—The situation created by the lowering of the water level of the Great Lakes is becoming increasingly acute according to engineers of the Marine and Fisheries Department. The water of Lake Superior in March was three inches lower than a year ago and ten and one-half inches lower than the average level of the lake during the past ten years. Lake Huron was four inches lower last month than in March a year ago, and a foot and a half lower than the average for the past ten years. Cargoes on the Great Lakes will be approximately one thirty-eighth less than a year ago.

Canadian engineers entirely reject a report just issued by the Engineering Board of the aSnitary District of Chicago. The report, which is by twenty-eight engineers, undertakes to prove that lake levels can be effectively maintained by the use of regulating works. In endeavoring to establish their point the engineers claim that the dam and regulating works at the head of the Sault rapids has kept the Superior level at uniformly high stage and that the works could control the other lake levels. Canadian engineers assert that Lake Superior has not been so low since 1860 as it is at the present time. It is denied that the control board has held the Superior level up and sacrificed Lake Huron. It is pointed out that there would be no object in keeping Superior levels up at the expense of the lower lakes because ships which would carry capacity loads on Superior would be unable to travel the shallower water.

SAM CLARK ILL; FRIENDS CALLED

Dean of Ontario Legislature Undergoes Critical Operation in Hospital.

SUDDEN ILLNESS.

COBOURG, April 15.— (Canadian Press.)— Sam Clark, M.L.A. for Northumberland West, and dean of the Ontario Legislature, is reported to be critically ill in Cobourg hospital, which institution he entered on Sunday afternoon to undergo an operation for gallstones.

The attack which has prostrated the veteran Liberal fighter, came with surprising suddenness. Hospital authorities report that he has come through the initial operation with characteristic endurance and is resting as well as could be expected in preparation for a more serious operation to follow.

Members of his family living at a distance have been summoned home.

FARMERS' VOTE IS ROLLING IN; EXPRESS OPINION EVERYONE MAY Opportunity Is Appreciated By Men Who Trade in City.

FREE TO ALL.

This Is Fourth Ballot and Vote Closes on Saturday.

That farmers appreciate the opportunity The Examiner offers them to express their opinions on the effect to them of dayight saving in the city is shown by the number of votes received. There are upwards of 13,000 Examiner subscribers in the city and district, and their votes, with those of their friends, should constitute a decisive expression of opinion on an issue that is important to all.

Ballots may be mailed or may be placed in the ballot box in The Examiner office anytime before 10 o'clock on Saturday night.

Here is to-day's ballot. Mark an X opposite your choice, for or against daylight saving, and opposite the months during which you prefer that it should operate. This will not bring or avoid daylight saving in the city, but it will show the citizens and the council the temper of the farm community toward the measure.

In mailing ballots mark the envelope "daylight saving."

For Daylight Saving.....

Against Daylight Saving.....

If the council decides in favor, I would prefer daylight saving in the months I have marked..

May	June	July
August	Sept.	4

Will you stop trading in Peterborough if daylight saving is adopted? (Yes or no)

Will you work on daylight saving if the city adopts it? (Yes or no)

Name .....

Address ..... (Not for publication)

Letters from farmers on the subject will be published by the Examiner if short. A pen name may be used, but the letter must also bear a signature. Long letters cannot be used.

BISHOP SWEENY TAKES SERVICE

Havelock Had Impressive Confirmation With Fifteen Candidates on Monday.

CHURCH CROWDED.

HAVELOCK, Apr. 14—St. John's Anglican Church was the scene of an impressive and beautiful service on Monday evening when the Right Reverend J. F. Sweeney, D.D., Bishop of Toronto, administered the rite of confirmation to fifteen candidates. His Lordship was assisted by the rector, Rev. T. H. Stanley, and Rev. T. J. O'Connor-Fenton, of Norwood, Rural Dean.

The church was filled to capacity for the occasion and the large congregation listened with reverent attention to the Bishop's address, his message being based on the words of the apostle St. Paul in his epistle to the saints at Colosse. "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God."

At the conclusion of the address the rite of confirmation was bestowed upon the candidates, the men and boys being presented first and the white-robed girls and women immediately after.

WEDDING BELLS

BARNUM—FORDE

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Apr. 15.—The marriage took place on April 14th at the parsonage, Campbellford ,of Ethel Mildred Forde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Forde, to Mr. Harry Barnum, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Barnum, both of Pethericks' Corners. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Daniels.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnum will reside at Petherick's Corners.

MURPHY—McAULEY.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15. — Helen Gertrude McAuley, only daughter of Thomas McAuley, of Toronto, formerly of Kingston, was united in marriage to Dr. W. A. Murphy, of this town at 7.30 Tuesday morning in St. Mary's church, Rev. Father Phelan officiating. The bride is a niece of Mrs. Thomas McAvoy, with whom she resided, and owing to the recent death of Mrs. McAvoy's mother, the wedding was a quiet affair, only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was dressed is a gown of pink georgette, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses and orchids. Miss Marion Smith, the bridesmaid, wore grey brocaded satin and carried a bouquet of carnations. The groom was supported by Eddie Coughan.

During the service H. Brunelle and his sister, Miss A. H. Brunelle, rendered a duet and a special musical programme completed the part of the ceremony.

The bridal party motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McAvoy, where a wedding breakfast was served in the beautifully decorated dining room. Dr. and Mrs. Murphy then left for Montreal and other points in Quebec on an extended visit.

Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the young couple, these including presents in cash from the father of the bride and Peter Murphy, the groom's father, whose home is in Lindsay, a solid silver entree dish from the members of the Twelve O'clock Club, of which Dr. Murphy was president, and a set of cut glass sherbet glasses from Mrs. Murphy's fellow members of Bemersyde Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Dr. Murphy and his bride have been, since taking up their residence here, favorites in the younger social set and a host of friends will unite in tendering them their best wishes for their future success and happiness.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

Four Trains of Loaded Wheat Cars Pass in a Day.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15. — Four train loads of wheat, 30 cars to the train, passed through here last Sunday loaded with wheat in transit from Midland to Montreal. Four trains of empties, 120 cars in all, were taken to Midland the same day to be loaded. When the new bridges are in place at Peterboro and Hastings, the heaviest type of freight engine owned by the C.N.R. will be put on the wheat route so that train loads of 40 cars each can be hauled.

LAKEFIELD CARD PARTY A SUCCESS

Bridge and Euchre Followed By Dance on Monday Evening.

LAKEFIELD, April 15. — The A.Y.P.A. held a very successful card party in the Lakefield House on Monday evening, at which both bridge and euchre were played. There were sixteen tables of euchre and three tables of bridge and nearly as many more young people came in at 9.30 for the dance, which took place during the latter part of the evening. There was lots of "pep" in both cards and dancing, and the entire party was one or the jolliest of the season.

Miss Dora Darling won the lady's first prize at euchre and Mr. W. Chappell, the gentleman's first prize. Mrs. E. H. Northey and Mr. Rex Wilson won the consolation prizes.

At bridge Mrs. G. Northey and Mr. G. G. Connell were the prize-winners, and Mrs. Wagar and Mr. A. M. FitzGerald won the consolation prizes.

Prizes were presented during the supper hour by Rev. W. Cox, who spoke a word of appreciation to those who had contributed to the success of the affair, especially Mr. and Mrs. Lawless and the Wilson orchestra, who furnished the music for dancing and Mr. G. G. Connell who also played for several of the dances.

A capable committee served dainty refreshments about 11 o'clock. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Auction Postponed.

The auction sale of Mrs. E. FitzGerald is postponed on account of Gordon Crawford's funeral, from Easter Monday to Saturday of this week.

The Catholic Women's League are holding a card party in the Lakefield House on Thursday evening.

Miss Jessie McGregor of Toronto is visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Northey.

Miss Loretta Gibson of Campbellford is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Gibson, for the holidays.

Mr. A. O. Lompman, of Camp Borden, is spending Easter with his family at "Uplands."

Mr. P. Burke, of Peterboro, is spending a few days in the village on business.

Miss Dorothy Turner, of Peterboro, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stenner.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Shewin and Mr. Wm. Thompson, of Mount Julian, attended the funeral of the late Gordon Crawford on Monday.

VETERANS FOLLOW COMRADE TO GRAVE

LAKEFIELD, April 14—The funeral of the late Gordon Crawford was one of the largest and most impressive ever held in Lakefield and took place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. After a brief service at the house the cortege proceeded to St. John's Church, which, though filled to capacity, was not sufficiently large to contain the concourse of people who attended. The coffin, covered by the Union Jack on which the cap of the deceased soldier was laid, borne by six of his comrades in the Great War, Reginald Murduff, William Robinson, Theodore Manning, Laurence Charlton, John McFadden and Thomas Simpson, and followed by about forty veterans each wearing the scarlet poppy of rememberance. The cross on the altar was covered with a large cross of poppies. The mourners included the parents and brothers and sisters and a large number of relatives of the deceased.

The funeral service was read by the Rector, Rev. W. Cox, and was impressive in the extreme, the keynote being the immortality of the soul, and the faith in a fuller life in the world to come. This was also brought out in the sermon which spoke of the life beyond the grave to which we pass by the portal of death and which is a fuller development of our life here. The message of Easter, the resurrection of the body and the life everlasting is the great comfort of the Christian when their dear ones are taken from them. We know that Gordon Crawford is alive and is serving his Lord as a brave young knight in that better land.

After the service the congregation stood at attention during the playing of the "Dead March in Saul" and then as the cortege moved slowly and reverently out of the church the organist, Mrs. Todd, played very softly "Nearer My God to Thee." Three hymns, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "On the Resurrection Morning," and "Light the Good Light" were sung during the service.

Interment was in Hillside Cemetery where the committal service was said. C. C. Stenner was in charge of the firing party which consisted of Wilbert Webster, Ernest Robertshaw, Alfred Hudson, Sam Grylls, Arthur Barker, and Allan Clarke. Bugler Arthur Webster sounded the Last Post. The procession was re-formed and marched back to the village.

The sympathy of the entire community is given to the bereaved family which is held in the highest respect in the village and vicinity, and where Gordon, or "Tish" as he was affectionately called, was a general favorite.

CLERGY AND LAITY AT DOURO FUNERAL

Requiem For Mrs. Margaret Leahy Sung By Her Son.

DOURO, April 14.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret Leahy took place on Monday morning at ten o'clock to St. Joseph's church and cemetery. A large number of relatives and friends paid their last respects to one whose long life has been spent in the township.

Solemn requiem High mass was sung by Rev. Joseph Leahy, S. J., son of the deceased, assisted by Rev. Michael O'Leary, of Bracebridge (a nephew) as deacon; Rev. J. McCarthy, of Norwood, as subdeacon, and Rev. J. O'Brien, Peterborough, as master of ceremonies. Assisting the choir were: Rev. Father McAuley, Ennismore, Rev. Father Galvin, Downeyville, and Rev. J. McGuire, of Peterborough. Other clergy present in the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl, of Peterborough, Rev. J. J. Garvey, Lakefield, Rev. P. McGuire, Peterborough, and the pastor, Rev. M. J. McGuire. Three nephews, Rev. N. McNulty, Owen Sound, Rev. J. O'Leary, North Bay, and Rev. J. O'Leary, Young, Sask., were unable to be present.

The absolution was given by Rev. M. J. McGuire and the service at the cemetery was performed by Rev. J. J. Garvey.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor McColl preached a very eloquent sermon, taking as his text, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." He pointed out that all of us have vocations, that is we are called to serve God in different spheres. The vocation to which most people are called is the marriage state and while it calls for trials and sacrifices is also a glorious privilege, the propagation of the human race according to the Divine plan, when the first man and woman were created by God. The speaker dilated on the glories of Christian motherhood as exemplified in the life of the deceased and reminded those present that no matter how well lived one's life is there may still be stains to be washed away, faults for which penance must be done; hence it is the duty of the friends to continue to pray for the soul of the departed.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Patrick Healey, Michael Garvey, James Collins, Edward Carlow, and Patrick O'Brien, all of Douro, and Mr. John Condon, Peterborough. A feature of the funeral was the presence of two sisters of the deceased, Mrs. Catherine O'Grady, Douro, and Mrs. Mary McNulty, of Norwood, who are both considerably more than eighty years of age.

There were many spiritual offerings.

Among those from a distance who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzpatrick, son and daughter, of Downeyville; Mrs. Frances Dalton, son and daughter, of Peterborough; Mrs. Hannah Lynch, of Otonabee; Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McNulty and son; Mrs. Mary McNulty, Miss Mary McNulty and Mr. Chas. McNulty and Mrs. J. Brown, of Norwood; Mrs. Bridget O'Leary and Mr. Joseph O'Leary, of Peterborough; Sr. M. St. Bridget and Sr. M. Barbara of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Neiel Quinlan, of Asphodel, and Dr. Devlin, of Peterborough.

Surviving deceased, besides her family of six sons and six daughters are her two aged sisters, also thirty-one grand children and two great grandchildren.

and Hunter streets, was $130. This seemed to be a little high for most of the members of the committee.

The Mayor suggested one of the magnetite standards with a 400 watt lamp. This, Mr. Hicks agreed with as being more in keeping with the lights on the bridge.

As the standard was already in the possession of the Utilities Commission he thought this would be less expensive.

The Mayor asked that the small rate for frontage on the James Stevenson park be cancelled. He also congratulated Mr. Hicks on the splendid financial statements of the commission.

After some discussion in which Alderman Fife said that some money must be spent on King Edward Park it was decided that the council be recommended to have this installed.

Establish Tourist Camp.

The Kiwanis Club recommended to the council that a part of the Exhibition Park be set aside for a tourist camp.

The chairman reported that he and the Mayor had interviewed the Board who were willing to give the land provided the city would pay for the caretaker. Last year the cost was divided between the city and the baseball teams.

The Mayor recommended that a sum of $125 be set aside as the city's share of the cost of the caretaker, and the rest be left to the Exhibition Board or the baseball teams.

Alderman Greene asked where the money was to come from. Alderman Turner said that there would be some saving on other items.

The Kiwanis Club further recommended that conveniences be installed which will be taken up.

They also recommended that the Motor League be asked to give proper publicity, and said they would look after putting up signs directing tourists to the grounds.

It was moved and carried that the Kiwanis Club be written to that their recommendation had been dealt with and asking them to carry out their offer to erect signs.

Want Use of Park.

A letter was read from the Royal Oak Cricket Club asking for a cricket pitch on King Edward Park.

Another letter was read from the Pastor and young people of St. James' Church asking for the use of a part of King Edward Park for athletic purposes.

Arrangements will be made to meet the Cricket Club and St. James' people for a conference.

Not City Property.

A letter was read from W. F. Turner asking for permission for the Cricket Club of St. John's choir boys to play on the Central Park. It is said that the open parts of Central Park is the property of the Militia Department and the Board of Education, so that the council can take no action.

Take up Car Ferry.

The Committee will take steps by writing to Sir Henry Thornton and G. N. Gordon, K.C. M.P., to take up the matter of the automobile ferry from Rochester to Cobourg.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS DEFICIT

made in roadway maintenance, track laying and surfacing, while the item of removal of snow and ice was reduced by 35 per cent. due to the less severe weather.

Maintenance of equipment expenses were reduced by $4,203,875.89 or by 8.06 per cent. To a large extent repairs to motive power and freight train cars were reduced by decreased usage due to less traffic handled. There was, however, a reduction in the cost of locomotive repairs proportional to the reduction in mileage made. Notwithstanding these reductions, the system's motive power was fully maintained and the quota of equipment necessary to handle the business offering was adequately maintained. Adequate provision was made in the accounts for all units of equipment retired from service and ordered scrapped.

Transportation Expenses.

The reduction made in transportation expenses amounted to $10,217,416.98. This group of expenses covers chiefly yard, train and station services and the reduction amounted to 71.15 per cent. of the reduction made in the total oepration expenses. While the decrease in the total operating revenue was 6.93 per cent. the reduction in transportation expenses was 8.9 per cent. Relationship of transportation expenses to gross earnings is shown in the follow table:

Percentage of gross earnings absorbed by transportation expenses—1924—46.73; 1923—47.51; 1922, 48.57.

Improvement in the relationship of transportation expenses to gross earnings in 1923 the report says was assisted by an increase of over twenty million dollars in gross earnings, whereas in 1924 the advance was made in the face of a decrease of seventeen and a-half million dollars in gross earnings.

Increased Train Loads.

In effecting the reduction in transportation expenses the report proceeds, better train loading played an important part. While density of traffice decreased by 10.23 per cent. freight train mileage was reduced by 12.51 per cent., and the average freight train load (including mixed trains) increased from 502 tons in 1923, to 517 tons in 1924. Some benefit accrued from the slightly lower average cost of fuel, but the greater part of the saving came from its more economic use and the saving in freight train miles already mentioned.

Traffic expenses increased by $1,099,823.16, but the total expenses

ture under this heading was less than 3 per cent. of the gross earnings. A more aggressive policy in advertising was carried out.

Other Economies.

General expenses in the aggregate were reduced to the extent of $429,556.47 of by 5.33 per cent. A "substantial saving" in the staff of the accounting department was made possible by the co-ordination of accounting and auditing work.

The income statement shows that the item of railway tax accruals increased by $768675.23.

Less money, continues the report, was tied up in materials and supplies at the end of the year than at the end of 1923, and all collection items were on a better basis, showing reductions from the previous year. Current and deferred assets combined, as compared with the sum of current and deferred liabilities, showed an improved position in the railway's working capital.

Government's Funds.

Of the $56,527,000 voted by Parliament for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1925, $10,000,000 was received in cash by the company and two issues of guaranteed securities were made as follows:

$20,000,000 four per cent. three-year gold notes, dated July 1, 1924, and $26,000,000 four and one-half per cent. thirty-year gold bonds dated September 15, 1924.

As of July 1, 1924, an issue was made of $9,375,00 four and one-half per cent. equipment trust certificate, Series N, secured by $12,500,000 worth of new equipment.

Funded debt retirements during the year were:

Five and one-half per cent. five-year Canadian Northern Railway secured notes, $6,000,000.

Six per cent. five-year Canadian Northern collateral trust gold notes, $4,439,000.

Equipment trust certificates of various issues $5,063,400.

Payments under various sinking funds and sundry retirements, $99,573.30.

Total, $15,511,97...30.

Tonnage Decreases.

Revenue freight tonnage decreased by 8.29 per cent, namely 4,749,72 tons represented partly by a decrease of two and one-half millions tons of bituminous coal and one-half millions tons of anthracite coal.

Additional decreases in tonnage were as follows: Wheat 691,206 tons; sawn lumber, timber, etc., 561,609 tons; iron ores 287,733; dimension stone 260,182 tons.

In the manufactures class the tonnage of iron and steel commodities showed heavy decreases totalling 770,440 tons; automobiles and auto trucks 115,538 tons; unclassified manufactures and miscellaneous merchandise 684,291 tons.

Partially compensating increases were recorded in road making material of 834,112 tons, and cement of 95,278 tons.

Carloads of grain moved to Vancouver for export totalled 15,248 as compared with 6,981 carloads in 1923.

The movement of live stock to Winnipeg and to the East showed a good development and the cattle trade in the western provinces was reported at the end of the year as in promising condition.

Fewer Passengers.

The number of passengers carried declined from 23,683,781 to 22,707,880, or by .12 per cent. The average journey declined slighly from 61.09 miles to 60.43 miles, and the revenue per passenger per mile declined from 2.715 cents to 2.713 cents.

Express earnings showed a decrease of 2.4 per cent. from those for the year 1923. This is accounted for mainly by the general business depression and partly by the close season of halibut shipments from Prince Rupert, established by treaty with the United States and effective for about six weeks prior to the end of the year; also partly by expedited freight service available between various points.

The intention of the directors, says the report, will be to avoid, or postpone for so long as may be advisable any capital expenditures which are not essentially needed Certain additional capital expenditures were authorized by the Dominion Parliament in 1924, and will be made during the present year. These include branch line construction, also that part of the Toronto viaduct cost chargeable to the National railways.

During the year 1924, 55,450 acres of land were sold at an average price of $14.29 per acre, amounting to $792,152, as compared with 61,994 acres sold in 1923 at an average price of $15.66 per acre, amounting to $970,952.

Cancellation of purchase contracts during the year represented 39,295 acres as compared with 59,190 acres in 1923.

Labor Relations Good.

Friendly relations were maintained with employees during the past year. The supply of common labor remained plentiful and there was no general change in rates or conditions, although rates were somewhat lower in south-western Ontario than during 1923.

The self-insurance fund after payment of or provision for losses was increased during the year by $1,437,475. The total of the fund at the end of the year was $4,074,153. This amount does not include anything in respect of marine insurance which will be referred to in the report of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. The total fire losses were $420,250 as compared with $679,050 during 1923.

During the past year efforts were to obtain land settlers not only from the British Isles but also from other European countries, particularly Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland. Additional branch agencies have been opened at Oslo, Copenhagen and Rotterdam. Educational courses in agriculture were inaugurated with the object of enabling settlers to become familiar with agricultural methods in Canada before emigrating.

Immigrants Needed.

"From time to time," says the report, "and particularly during the report, "and particularly during past on various occasions to the need of immigration. The whole future of Canada and of the railway systems in Canada depends upon increased population and upon the increased traffic which would result therefrom. As compared with what might Government Drafting Regulations Looking Toward Profit in Merchandising.

TAKE TWO WEEKS.

TORONTO, April 15.— (Canadian Press.)—Two weeks is tentatively mentioned by the government as the period which will be required for the drafting of regulations arranging for the sale of 4.4 per cent. beer. No work has yet been done by the cabinet in this connection, but the beverage is to be the source of revenue. The matter is to have immediate attention along with the details of the gasoline and beverage taxes, which are also calculated to swell the provincial treasury.

SECOND SHOOTING IN THE SAME BANK

Young Cashier Was Fatally Wounded—Police on the War Path.

DETROIT, April 15. — The second fatal shooting by robbers in the same bank within a month which occurred here yesterday, caused Police Commissioner Frank Croul to issue an order that every thug in Detroit be rounded up in a campaign to rid the city of men with criminal records.

The shooting occurred when a quartette of armed men held up the west side branch of the American State Bank, shot down Charles Taggart, Junior, the 25 years old cashier, and escaped with $1800.

be done in order to bring about the desired result, the efforts made in the past might be termed somewhat spasmodic and unorganized. If there is to be real success the matter will have to be handled other-two years references have been made as a whole, the provinces individually, the railways and all other business organizations are, each of those interested. The problem is of sufficient magnitude and importance to justify in its solution the employment of the most capable and energetic minds in the Dominion. The investment of money on a larger scale than in the past will also be required. The matter might be entrusted to a permanent commission constituted somewhat on the lines of the board of railway commissioners, except that more commissioners would doubtless have to be appointed; and this immigration commission would have to be authorized to make expenditures under a general programme approved by Parliament."

DR. McCULLOUGH AS DEPUTY.

The many Peterboro people who have come into contact with Dr. J. W. McCullough, the Provincial Health Officer, or who have read of his work in that capacity, will hope that there is little foundation for the report that in the creation of a deputy minister of health his position is to be abolished, and that he is not to receive the appointment as deputy minister.

Dr. McCullough, who recently gave several addresses here on public health work, has been of great service to the people of this Province as Provincial Officer of Health.

He has made a deep study of the whole subject of public health, keeping in touch with the latest ideas developed throughout the world, and the best proof of the success of his efforts is to be found in the vital statistics which show Ontario from a health standpoint as setting the pace for the rest of Canada and more advanced than many of the States across the border.

If there is to be a change in the system—and unquestionably there is some justification for providing a deputy minister of health—then Dr. J. W. McCullough, who has led Ontario's fight against disease, should be the deputy minister.

THE VOICE OF LABOUR.

The action of the Ontario section of the Canadian Labour party, now a mere medium for the spreading of Communist doctrines, in passing a resolution demanding complete independence from Great Britain will not cause even a ripple of excitement in this country, and it is to be hoped will not be taken seriously in the Motherland.

There is a sort of a Three-Tailors-of-Tooley Street flavour in the motion.

The Canadian Labour party has no authority to speak for organized labour in this country, and President Tom Moore of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, which represents the trade unionists of the Dominion, has wasted no time in pointing out the real facts of the situation.

The Reds must have some medium for their propaganda, and since they met with no success in trying to capture the trade union movement, they are now using a political labour party to secure their ends.

They speak for themselves and for nobody else when they talk about independence from Great Britain, and Canadians generally prefer to accept President Moore of the Trades and Labour Council as the real voice of labour, rather than to pay any attention to a few half-brained Communists who, if they had the courage of their convictions, would be over in Russia with the rest of their unbalanced brethren.

DEVELOPING STATESMEN.

An interesting point was developed by Dr. S. B. Sinclair, the Provincial Inspector of Auxiliary Classes, in his address to several sections of the Ontario Educational Association in his prophecy that before long classes would be organized to train children of unusual mentality as potential statesmen and leaders of the nation.

That such education is needed, that Canada requires the services of men who have had the advantage of proper training to handle her affairs, is self-evident.

In all our legislative bodies there are too many men who are unfit for real service, because they have not the necessary equipment.

Dr. Sinclair's plan would produce the type of trained citizen that is needed.

It is not only necessary to bring out the right men, but, alas, it is necessary to get them elected. There's the rub.

Unfortunately, our political system works so imperfectly that the "glad-hander," the man with the ready handshake and the ready promise, unfit as he may be to occupy the seats of the mighty, has an excellent chance of crowding out the citizen who has been trained for the position.

And the indifference and inertia of a large portion of the electorate make it all the easier for the professional politician to gather the laurels.

There will be no advantage in training bright children to become statesmen until we have first succeeded in teaching our people generally to interest themselves earnestly and intelligently in political problems and the selection of their representatives.

THE EXAMINER'S POSITION.

"One day you groan because the Legislature is so long and the next you howl because it rushes things through and doesn't stay longer," writes a correspondent, who winds up his communication by wanting to know what the Examiner wants anyway.

Our correspondent has not been following the articles in these columns very closely or he would never have penned his letter.

The Examiner has at no time complained that the Legislature was wasting time during the session that has just closed; on the contrary, we more than once complimented the Government on its desire to expedite public business.

But the article that aroused the ire of our friend who howls "inconsistent" at us was one that pointed out that no matter how commendable was the speeding up of the proceedings of the House and the elimination of unnecessary debate, there was little justification for cramming through a redistribution bill with only a few hours' consideration.

The Examiner has always maintained that in both the Legislature and the Federal House the debate on the Speech from the Throne, and also on the Budget, should be cut down as much as possible in order to leave ample opportunity for the consideration of important business.

The Legislature during the last session did indeed shorten the Budget debate to a record degree, and deserves credit for that feat—but that does not alter the fact that the mad rush to pass 75 bills, including the redistribution measure, on the last day of the session was not exactly what was expected of legislators who had just voted themselves an extra $600.

DISREGARDING THE LAW.

There is a common belief on the part of many that the best way to deal with customs and immigration laws is to evade them, says the London Advertiser. There have been two cases brought to the attention of local people in the past week that show how such a plain fails in the end, even though it may seem to work in the first place. One had to do with an auto purchased in Detroit and driven over here under the guise of coming on a visit. The owner of the car had to go back to the port of entry, and he paid well for his evasion of the law.

The second case is even more far-reaching in its effects. A young man who had been living in Canada for some years went to United States, telling the authorities that he was going on a visit. That was three or four months ago, and during the interval he has become established in a position in Florida, and is also the owner of a piece of property there. All went well until the other day an officer of the immigration department called on him and asked how it was that he had no papers to show he was entitled to enter United States. Of course, he could produce none, and is now trying to get in touch with authorities here to see what can be done to keep him from being deported as a person who entered the country in an illegal way. In his case the conditions are as follows: He will have to come back to Canada in order to make application in person for permission to enter United States. Having been born in Britain, he will then come under the quota of immigrants from that country, and it may be months before he can get in legally.

It may be held that it is a lot of useless red-tape and official action that amounts to nothing, but the real point is that countries pass laws, and they are entitled to do so. The individual who seeks to break them is inviting trouble. If he complies with them these laws are his protection.

DR. TORY'S PROPOSALS.

That it would be a serious mistake for the Dominion Government at this stage to go into the farm loaning business along the lines of the recommendations made by Dr. Hory is the conclusion of the Financial Post after considering the whole situation in the interests of the farmers, the banks, the mortgage companies and the community generally. Further, we believe that the revival of the idea that the Government, by using the public credit to get the farmers easy loans, can avoid the inevitable readjustment which follows such a period of inflation as was experienced in Western agriculture is likely to have regrettable consequences whether the plan is adopted or not.

This view is expressed fully recognizing that any effort to discourage the Government in adopting the Tory plan will be resented on the one hand by those who would have the farmers believe that their ills can be cured by Government magic, and on the other hand by those business and financial institutions which assume that they would have an opportunity of reducing their Western losses by the circulation of a fresh supply of cheap money. As for the farmers themselves, while we are in favor of anything that will work out to their ultimate interest, we can see in this proposal only an extension of the period of difficulty and a further postponement of a return to that sound basis upon which permanent success can be built. Agricultural, commercial and financial interests have taken losses and the latter particularly are facing further losses, but nothing, we submit, is to be gained by postponing the issue by the aid of Government credit. And all experience with Government credits leads to the conclusion that there is a real danger that eventually there will be losses and that these will have to be added to the country's tax bills.

For too long the economic adjustment in the West was delayed by testing out all sorts of legislative panaceas and financial experiments. Then came the realization that all these efforts were merely pulling on the boot-straps and were having no real effect. The great majority of the farmers turned a deaf ear to the alluring proposals of the radicals and got down to work. And the result is that the West is now working out its salvation in a satisfactory way. There are many indications of a return of more healthful economic conditions.

The conviction of experienced business men who have examined into Western conditions is that the difficulties which are now being surmounted are the result of too much credit rather than too little. Farmers unconsciously are poor borrowers from the sound business standpoint. When money is readily available they are very much inclined to take it without considering whether they can make such use of it as to return a profit to themselves in addition to earning interest. During the period of agricultural prosperity the banks lent much too freely. Borrowers took the money available without realizing the responsibilities involved. The result has been that those who borrowed have lost and the banks who made the loans have lost. And the wages of economic sin have not yet all been paid.

Dr. Tory admits in his report that the best scheme which could be worked out in the United States to meet a situation similar to that in Canada, has failed. But he is not discouraged by this. He suggests something different for Canada. And as it is in the Province of Alberta that the progress in adjustment has been slowest, his plan is evidently designed to attempt to meet the situation in the Province. In brief, he suggests that Federal credit be made available to the Province to be extended to borrowers.

Our conviction in view of all the circumstances is that the West can and is working out its problems and that the final solution will only be delayed by this new proposal for Government credits. The aid which the Governments, Provincial and Federal, can best render is in taking steps to remove the present prior lines which are undermining the position of the mortgagee and keeping capital out of the country. When confidence is thus restored there is no reason why the Western Provinces should not find capital as readily available and at as attractive rates as in the Eastern Provinces.

If, when normal conditions are restored, there are definite indications that there is a real need for some form of credit not now available, we believe that such a need can best be supplied by some joint plan between the existing loaning institutions, perhaps with the co-operation of the Government, and employing the financial machinery now available, rather than the organization of some new Governmental system based on the credit of the state.—Financial Post.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 14—Investment buying of new crop deliveries gave the wheat market as a whole a decided upward swing today after an early decline. Numerous complaints of dry weather in Kansas and Oklahoma tended to stimulate demand. Wheat prices finished strong at the day's top figures, 3 1-4 to 5 cents a bushel net higher; May $1.60 1-4 to $1.60 1-2 and July $1.46 1-2 to $1.46 3-4. Corn closed at 1 1-4 to 2 1-8 advance; oats 1-8 to 1-2 cent up and provisions showing 5 to 17 cents gain.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

A hitch occurred somewhere in the export schedule, said to be a boat held up, and the result is two or three hundred cattle in the market for which at the moment there is not outlet. These cattle may have to be carried over for a week or more, as there is not likely to be space available before the opening of navigation. The first boat goes down from Montreal on May 1, so will have to be loaded before that date. In the meantime the demand for good to choice butcher cattle, handyweight, continues good and active at firm prices. Heavy cattle not wanted. The run for today was light, and some of the cattle were held over to tomorrow's market.

Calves are a shade firmer.

Sheep and lambs steady with light offering.

Hogs are unsettled, packers bidding 25 cents lower.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, April 14.—Receipts of eggs are becoming heavy and prices are very gradually declining. It is expected that storage operations will become general this week. Ontario country shippers are paying extras 27 to 28, firsts 25 to 26, seconds 20 to 22, and making sales, extras 28 to 30, firsts 27 to 28, seconds 25 f.o.b.

Toronto—Jobbing, extras 32, firsts 30, seconds 28.

Montreal — Jobbing, extras 36 to 37, firsts 35. One car of Western eggs arrived costing extras 28, firsts 26, seconds 24, f.o.b., Winnipeg.

STERLING RATES

Sterling demand $4.78 5-8.

Sterling cables $4.79.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 14.—There was some demand from foreign buyers for wheat, oats and barley on the Montreal market today, and as the prices bid in some cases were in line with exporters' views in the early part of the day sales of odd loads were made for April-May shipment, but the volume of business was not large and the market on the whole was quiet. The domestic trade in cash grain was reported quiet, there being little demand from either local or export buyers for supplies, but the tone of the market was stronger in sympathy with Winnipeg, and prices for car lots were marked up 1 cent per bushel.

Egg Market Steady.

A fairly steady feeling prevailed in the local egg market and no important change in prices was announced. The receipts were liberal, but owing to the good quality of the stock at this season of the year, all the surplus supply is being taken care of for storing purposes for future requirements. There was an improved consumptive demand and a more active business was done in a wholesale jobbing way. The receipts were 6,678 cases, as against 3,625 for the same day last week and 4,402 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The receipts of butter were 336 packages, as against 2,946 for the same day last week, and 1,332 for the corresponding day a year ago. A feature of the trade was the stronger feeling that developed in the market, and prices scored an advance of 1 cent per lb., which was attributed to the increased demand from local and outside buyers for supplies which resulted in a fair amount of business being done and the market was more active than for the past few days. Receipts of new milk butter continue light for the season of the year and in consequence stocks of held creamery are being reduced rapidly which may possibly tend to force prices to a still higher level in the near future. A small lot of No. 1 pasteurized fodder made creamery butter was sold on Monday at 32 1-2 cents per lb.

Cheese Weaker.

Owing to the increased supplies of fodder made cheese coming forward here and the absence of any important demand owing to the fact that the chief buyers have withdrawn from the market for the time being, a weak feeling prevailed in the market and prices have scored a sharp decline, with recent sales of Western No. 1 white and colored at 19 7-8 cents per pound, and No. 2 grades at 18 7-8 cents per pound, but the best bids available today for No. 1 grades were 18 3-4 to 19 cents per pound. The receipts were 1,640 boxes as compared with 572 for the same day last week, and 201 for the corresponding day a year ago.

Beans were steady at $2.70 per bushel.

MISTAKEN APPLAUSE.

VIENNA, April 15.—Friends of Fritz Kreisler tell of an experience of the great violinist when he was playing before the former Sultan of Turkey. As he played the Sultan started clapping his hands. Kreisler thought this was applause and kept on playing until an attendant rushed up and asked: "Do you want to be beheaded? The Sultan wants you to stop playing."

CALOMEL CLEANS THE LIVER

That heavy tired feeling, no pep, muddy complexion, no appetite, foul breath, biliousness, headaches, constipation and rheumatism, are all sure signs that your liver is clogging your whole system. Calomel is the only drug known that acts upon the liver. Start tonight, take two tablets of tanol calomel and in the morning drink plenty of hot water to wash from the system all the poisons and toxins before more food is taken in. Continue this treatment until the liver is restored to its original health then you do not need any more medicine. These Tanol Calomel Tablets can be procured at F. C. Webber's drug store.

Is This Your BIRTHDAY

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15—If today is your birthday, you will be very generous. You will spend money almost too freely. You will attract a large circle of friends, but some of them will impose upon your generous nature. You must learn to save. Your first impulse will be to marry young, but it will be better to "take your time."

These palatial liners, another Cunard achievement, have been added to the famous Cunard Canadian fleet which brings the pleasures of "travel de luxe" within the reach of all.

Like the Ausonia and Antonia, they are "Cabin Ships," carrying only Cabin and Third Class passengers.

Among the advanced conveniences offered are delightful private suites, beautiful bedrooms, and an unusually large number of two-berth staterooms.

Their public rooms embrace a Venetian Palace Smoking room, one of the most unique and charming of the kind afloat, a Long Gallery in fascinating design of oak panelling, a delightful Winter Garden, beautifully panelled in figured fiddle-back sycamore, a Peter Pan Nursery for the children, Gymnasium located on the boat deck, Lounges, Writing rooms, Library, magnificent Drawing room, perfected systems of heating and ventilation under the control of passengers, and every other modern equipment conducive to comfortable and pleasant ocean travel.

Add to the above features, the enjoyment and educational interest of the St. Lawrence River trip and it is easy to appreciate that a voyage via the Cunard Canadian Route is a perfect pleasure cruise.

Ask your local steamship agent for booklets, and for information about the St. Lawrence Route, or apply to:—

SPECIAL SERVICES HELD IN COBOURG

Easter Marked in Churches —Baptist Church Recently Decorated.

COBOURG, April 15.—Services in the different churches on Sunday were of special interest, with music of an outstanding character of excellence. At the United Church the services were taken by Rev. R. F. Stillman, who delivered able discourses suitable to the day. The United choir now number about fifty members, and delightfully led the service of praise. In the evening, under auspices of Mr. Frank Parkinson, they gave a part of Maunders from "Olivet to Calvary."

The Baptist Church.

At the Baptist church Rev. J. N. Norton preached in the morning on "The Moral of the Significance of the Resurection of Jesus", and in the evening from the time theme, 'After Death, What?"

The Baptist church building has recently been painted and redecorated and other improvements made to it, and now presents a very attractive appearance. This church was formerly the Episcopal Methodist church, and retained after the services of a separate pastor for a number of years after the union of the Methodist bodies, being then known as the King street Methodist church. Later King and Division street Methodists united and the church building was acquired by the Baptist congregation here.

At St. Peters'.

Rev. Dr. Boyle delighted large congregations yesterday at both services with his scholarly address. Easter Day is always looked forward to with pleasure by the members and adherents of St. Peters' church and Sunday was no exception.

"Five Minutes After Death."

The above was the apt theme upon which Rev. Adam Hamilton based his sermon Sunday evening at the Congregatoinal church, where the church is filled to capacity each Sunday to hear his outstanding discourses. Mr. J. Edward Fisher of Harwood is organist of this church.

A Special Day at Colborne.

At Colborne Methodist church where Rev. S. C. Moore, B.D. is pastor, the Sunday School conducted an appropriate Easter service in the morning, and the pastor preached at night on "The Victory of Easter." There was good music by the choir.

At St. Andrew's church, Colborne, Rev. R. McCullough took his first public service since his induction and was heard with much interest and delight.

Continuing Presbyterians.

The Bowmanville adherents of the Continuing Presbyterian Church in Canada, held services yesterday in the Disciple's church in that town. Rev. Ronald McEachern, B.D., of Toronto was the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wedlock of Peterborough were visiting at the home of M. Kenneally during the holidays.

Fell From Swing.

Miss Florence Wedlock suffered a painful accident, while having a picnic at the Serpent Mounds of Ashburn's Point. She was on the swing which has been erected there, and while some of the other young people were giving the swing a push the whole thing collapsed, precipitating her on to the ground. A bady bruised and swollen eye and numerous face scratches were the result of the fall.

Mr. Ed. Wright and family was visting at the home of Mr. John Edwards, Sr.

Mrs. Milling, daughter Ada and son Jack, were in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Albert Nelson is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Wm. Nelson.

While returning to Tyrone on Sunday night, Rev. Andrew McLauchlin had the misfortune to get stalled on one of the hills, breaking the rear axle of his car.

Sir Henry Thornton Pays C.N.R. Employees Tribute For Conscientious Work

OTTAWA, April 15.—In concluding his report yesterday on the operations of the Canadian National Railways, Sir Henry Thornton says:

"Notwithstanding the adverse business conditions already referred to, your directors feel that the work of the Company's officers and employees has been of a very satisfactory character during the year. The aim of the management is to treat employees in a fair and reasonable way in the expectation that such treatment will be appreciated and reciprocated. The feeling between the company and its employees themselves has been markedly good and your directors desire to take this opportunity of recording their appreciation of the good work performed by the employees, not only by those who come in contact with the public but also by those whose conscientious work is frequently known only to themselves and their immediate associates."

NEW SCHEME WOULD CUT SCHOOL COSTS

Premier Proposes Widening School Unit—Make Township the Basis.

TORONTO, April 15. — A plan by which the rural schools of the province can cut their costs by 25 per cent., and still obtain greater efficiency, was outlined to the general session of the Ontario educational association last night by Hon. C. H. Ferguson, the Minister of Education, and Premier, at the opening meeting of that organization, which is now holding its 64th annual gathering at the university.

The scheme concerned a bill which Mr. Ferguson introduced in the session of the Legislature which has just come to a close, and which bill, he stated, he had presented and had withdrawn merely in order to get its principles before the teaching profession, with the hope that during the coming year they would give it careful consideration and let him have their united viewpoint.

The bill, it would be recalled, asked for a widening of the school unit. Instead of school administration coming under school sections, as at present, the unitt would be the township present the unit would be the township coming under the direction of a board of trustees for that particular section of the province.

He then went on to point out that the average cost of educating a pupil in the public schools of the province was from $80 to $90. At the same time there were 900 schools with ten or less children, where the average cost was $156 and there were 180 schools with five or less children where the average cost was $250.

The system of township unit, he was confident, would tend to eliminate the small schools, where the cost might be as great as at schools where the school population was much greater, and he felt that the township school board would be in a position to apply the true principles of economy by eliminating unnecessary schools and bringing about that amalgamation which would result in fewer teachers and larger classes.

EASTER VISITORS AT TRENT RIVER

Dull Weather Marked Easter Day and Ground Was White.

TRENT RIVER, April 15.—Easter Day was dull; rain fell during the afternoon, followed by sleet and snow through Sunday night. On Monday morning the ground was again covered with the white mantle. Thunder was also heard several times Sunday night.

Easter Day brought many visitors. The following were at their homes:

The Misses McLaughlin and brother Willie from Toronto.

Mr. Ralph Spencer, of Albert College, Belleville.

Gordon Davidson of Toronto.

The Misses Eva and Marion Inkster, of Frankford and Wooler Public Schools, respectively, at the home of their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Waldie and son Earl, of Roseneath, visitors with Mr. and Mrs. John Boyd and other relatives.

Mr. E. H. Fairbrother and Mr. Long, of Toronto, at the former's cottage.

Big Congregations.

There was a large congregation at the Easter Dav service. Rev. Mr. Seymour delivered an appropriate address.

The annual congregational meeting of the Methodist Church takes place on Thursday night of this week. Members and adherents are invited to attend.

Dr. Allan Mitchell, of Toronto, arrived on Monday to spend the season as a guest at "Cedar Isle."

JAP MOVIE STRIKE.

TOKIO, April 15.—Japan's first movie production company was idle for nearly a month because of a strike. All the cameramen and a group of players struck because they were jealous of other actors, said to have received preferential treatment.

ELECTRIC RATE TO BE TRIMMED FOR CONSUMERS

Warkworth Light and Power Users to Have Benefit of Cut.

UPHILL WORK

Hydro Proves Its Worth to Residents After Trial of Year.

(By a Staff Reporter)

WARKWORTH, Apr. 15—Warkworth, that at the outset of its Hydro career enjoyed the rather unpalatable distinction paying a higher price for electric power than was charged any other community in the whole system, now has the satisfaction of seeing that price reduced by over fifty per cent.

The original figure was $85 a horsepower, a rate that caused many a financialy timid householder to tremble and to cause the chronic objector to anything like an innovation to predict all sorts of disaster. The price has been reduced by the Hydro Commission to $42 a horse power and this means a corresponding cut in cost of light and power to the consumer.

An Uphill Journey

It was 20 adventurous residents of the little village, residents with the true progressive spirit and the laudable desire to get the best out of life, who first brought Hydro to the village. This was not accomplished without a hard struggle. The Hydro power had to be brought on a transmission line, specially built for the purpose, from Bradley's Corners, a distance of six miles, a task that in itself involved a heavy outlay. The Hydro insisted upon at least twenty bona fide consumers before a move would be made. Figuring on this basis the Hydro engineers set what they regarded as the cost of power at $85. The work went forward, the first light was turned on a little a year ago, and the patrons of the system settled down to enjoy a modern luxury that cost the average householder about $100 a year.

Twenty-Four Hour Service.

Lighting the streets of Warkworth cost the residents $75 a month, but it was a 24-hour service as against a previous lighting arrangement that flickered out about 11 p.m. This was the only concern that those who did not have the new light in their homes had with the extra expense. The debenture debt of $11,000, incurred to pay for the transmission line and the installation of the plant was assumed by the consumers, the annual payment of principal and interest to be made out of the receipts. It is true the townships had to guarantee the bonds, but with such a village as Warkworth as a surety the risk involved was negligible. Even if the township had loaned the money to the village ,the investment would have been a safe one.

After One Year.

After one year's experience with Hydro, the local commission was able to show satisfactory results. There was a handsome surplus on hand, after all liabilities, including the debenture payment, had been disposed of. This meant that the rates to the consumer would be cut and such a reduction would mean an increase in the number of patrons.

That was a pleasing announcement, but the best of all was the intelligence that the Hydro had cut its price in two. It is the Hydro, always on the lookout to assure its own safety, that sets the rates, commercial and domesic, for its clients. This new schedule has not yet been received from Toronto, so that the old rates are still in existence, but a substantial cut is a certainty.

SPAIN AND CANADA FORM TRADE PACT

Spanish Goods Must Be Shipped Direct to Secure Benefit.

MADRID, April 15. — (Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's).—Following up the temporary trade agreement between Canada and Spain, which was signed a few days ago, the negotiations were finally concluded here Tuesday.

The Spanish Government places Canada in a position to renew her trade relations with Spain on a favorable basis although Canada has not obtained the benefits accorded the British Government by the Anglo-Spanish treaty of 1922 to which Canada did not, or rather could not, adhere as her tariff placed her in a different position from England. England admits most of the Spanish goods imported by her on a duty-free basis.

The conclusion of the agreement affords the first instance of a Canadian trade commissioner (W. McLeod Clarke) negotiating with a foreign government. The Dominion representative was assisted throughout by Sir Horace Rumbold, the British Ambassador at Madrid.

By the terms of the agreement entered into between Spain and Canada, Spain gets the benefits of the Canadian intermediate tariff only when her goods are shipped direct to a Canadian port from a country with which Canada has a convention. This is not the case with the United States,so that Spanish goods cannot be shipped via New York or other United States port into the Dominion without losing the benefit accorded under the agreement. Spanish goods, however can be shipped via Great Britain to Canada.

The agreement comes into force on April 30.

REMARKABLE MACHINE.

LONDON, April 15.—A remarkable machine has been invented by a Britisher. It will take dictation, answer the telephone in the absence of the subscriber, report his absence to the caller and take a message which will be repeated when the subscriber returns. It resembles a phonograph and employs cylindrical records.

BAND STAND IN MARKET SQUARE

Lakefield Council Passes Several Progressive Measures at Meeting.

SOCIAL NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, April 15.—The Easter services in St. John's Church were very impressive. The 11 o'clock service was choral and very impressive. The choir sang Jackson's "Te Deum," Roberts' "Kyrie" and "Sanctus," and Smart's "Gloria in Excelsis," and Calkin's "Gloria Tibi." The anthem by Calet Simper, "Blow up the Trumpet," was sung at both services, Mrs. H. G. FitzGerald taking the solo parts.

Municipal Council.

A special meeting of the municipal council was held last week. The members present were Reeve J. C. Strickland in the chair, and Councillors N. A. Moore, E. A. Tanner, W. W. Leonard and W. Madill.

By-law 634, providing for the regular collection and disposal of night soil, having received the approval of the Provincial Board of Health, was read a third time and passed.

An agreement with the citizens' band regarding the ownership of equipment was approved and signed.

Moved by the reeve and seconded by Councillor Moore—That the corporation purchase a Federal siren alarm and that the fire chief be authorized to arrange purchase and installation of same, not to exceed $600. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Madill, seconded by Councillor Leonard—That the council erect a band stand on the market square according to plans and specifications submitted. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Tanner, seconded by Councillor Moore—That we request the Lakefield H.E.P.C. to proceed with the lighting of the Lakefield bridge, the village to pay only the cost of power used. The present light at either end to be removed, and new cluster fixtures installed, using not more than 720 candle power. Carried.

Mr. J. F. Lillicrap addressed the council regarding a bathing house, and also read letters exchanged between himself, as president of the Board of Trade, and the Canada Cement Co., with reference to the possibility of the company resuming construction of the local plant.

Mr. J. Hill addressed the council with reference to the village dump, and the benefits received therefrom by the surrounding residents. The council decided to visit the dump and rectify any abuse that existed.

MURDOCK FINDS SHOE TRADE IN CANADA BETTER

Minister of Labor Asserts That Conditions in This Industry Have Improved.

LIST OF FAILURES.

Quotes New York Times in Comparison of Unemployment In Other Countries.

OTTAWA, April 15 — In his speech on the budget yesterday Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, said the Liberal Government had been unfairly charged with responsibilty for business depression in this country. In 1914 the commercial failures in Canada totalled 2,898 with liabilities of $35,045,094; in 1915 there were 2,661 failures with liabilities of $41,162,221; in 1920, 1,078 failures with liabilities of $26,424,301; in 1921, 2,451 failures with liabilities of $73,299,111; in 1922, 3,695 failures with liabilities of $78,068,959; in 1923, 3,247 failures with liabilities of $65,810,382; and in 1924, 2,474 with liabilities of $64,530,975.

Mr. Murdock read into Hansard the comparative statement of returns from the textile and the boot and shoe industries in Canada during a number of years. He sought to show that these industries were not nearly as unprosperous as some opposition members had said they were, and also that conditions in these trades had improved since 1921. The Minister of Labor also quoted comparative figures to show that Canada was not really suffering much more than the United States in the matter of industrial depression.

Members of the opposition had stated that conditions of unemployment in the United States were very much better than those in Canada. Yet, declared Mr. Murdock, the New York Times on March 8 last had pointed out that the United States ranked as third highest in the world in he rate of unemployment within its borders. Great Britain was first, Austria second, United States third, while France and Finland had the lowest rate. The article in question had given the number of those unemployed in the United States as 2,100,000 out of a population of 110,000,000, and Canada a total of 10,540 unemployed, or a rate of 19 out of every thousand. While he was inclined to think that at times during the past winter the number of unemployed in Canada greatly exceeded that estimate, and possibly might have at some stage reached as high as 40,000 still the high ratio of unemployment in the United States as compared with Canada, should not be overlooked.

Clash With Manion

Mr. Murdock clashed with Hon. R. J. Manion (Conservative, Fort William) when he quoted the latter as saying that one third of Canadians were ready for annexation. Mr. Manion demanded a fuller quotation which revealed that he had made this statement not as his own opinion, but as that of an "outstanding Canadian." Mr. Murdock went on to say that the difficulty was that misleading press despatches had gone out on the subject. The Chicago Tribune carried an item under the caption "Canada hears one third of nation would join U.S." The despatch said that talk of secession had come up in the house, and that one of the Conservative leaders had "stuck to his guns and offered to back up his assertion with facts."

Mr. Murdock went on to recall an occasion when Dr. Manion had been accused of avoiding the necessity for voting in the House. Dr. Manion having denied this, Mr. Murdock had taken the trouble to look into the records which he said showed that the member for Fort William had absented himself from quite a number of divisions. Dr. Manion then challenged the Minister of Labor to read his own record, which he felt sure would not be a much better one. Mr. Murdock had not his own record handy, but invited inspection. He added very much to the amusement of the House "There must be a few votes of mine lost last year because certain gentlemen opposite wanted to uphold the honor and dignity of parliament. But except for that—" The incident closed amid much laughter, members recalling that the Minister of Labor was charged with unparliamentary conduct in connection with a withdrawal from the Home Bank, and remained out of the House last session while the charges were investigated.

The Minister of Labor went on to read reports of conditions in Canada to show that trade conditions were not so bad as the Opposition members would have the House believe. Mr. Murdock remarked that it was just as well not to "get the blues" too soon nor to believe the country was really going "to the merry bow-wows."

"Tory Propaganda"

The Minister of Labor drew attention to "Tory propaganda" sent out, ostensibly by the Canadian Labor Press, to various factories, asking to be informed as to how many bulletins could be utilized among Labor in view of the possibilty of an election. As a matter of fact, the Canadian Labor Press had no standing in Canadian Labor, and the whole attempt was "Tory propaganda."

Mr. Murdock read the press reports of the speech by Senator Gideon Robertson, referring to the frequency of the Prime Minister's visits to the United States. That, too, was Tory propaganda, and the man who made the statement received his monthly instructions and pay cheque from the city of St. Louis, Missouri. There was nothing wrong with that. The Senator was Vice-President of the Order of Railway Telegraphers ,but why should he go out of his way to make such statements.

In conclusion Mr. Murdock spoke of the Conservative budget of 1921 as "a fine example of craw fishing." The Conservatives at that time did not have the nerve to make the changes in the tariff which their friends wanted because the people of Canada wouldn't stand for it.

EXTREMISTS OF BRITISH LABOR VEX MACDONALD

His Speech at Independent Labor Party's Convention Indicated His Annoyance.

MAY DROP THEM.

I.L.P. Not Representative of Whole Labor Movement—Noisy Driving Force.

LONDON, April 15.—(Canadian Press).—Ramsay MacDonald's reply to his critics at the Independent Labor party's convention at Gloucester Monday, when he defended the course of himself and his colleagues during the Labor Government's term of office, is regarded by critics who are by no means entirely friendly to the former Premier as still another sign that Mr. MacDonald is well nigh resolved to rid himself, at all costs, of the more extreme and disgruntled of his nominal followers.

The Independent Labor party never has represented the whole Labor movement but to a large extent it comprises the driving force behind the Labor Parliamentary representation.

Mr. MacDonald's caustic speech at the convention, withering the ideas of the extremists of the delegation as to what the Labor Ministry should have been canable of accomplishing while in office, is regarded as proof that the former Premier has in mind a new alignment, and the setting forth of a moderate policy in which he might reasonably hope to secure the cooperation of the Radical element in the Liberal party.

Conspicuous Support.

Such a proposal is said to have the sympathy of J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary in the MacDonald Government, who is always moderate and who never once while in office had to eat his own words.

J. R. Clynes, Lord Privy Seal in the late Labor Government, also, it is thought, would probably find himself able to support a new programme of social reform without undermining the foundation of his political principles.

Such sprigs of aristocracy as Lords Thomas and Arnold, who held office under the Labor Ministry, it is believed, are prepared to assist Ramsay MacDonald with a programme which would tacitly abbor politics of the extreme Clydeside type.

Antagonistic to Liberalism.

While Mr. MacDonald is expected to look to the extreme Liberal element for help, it must be remembered that he has always displayed particular animus against Liberalism as a whole. The cause of this is obscure, but doubtless it is largely personal. It is suggested that if he were clever enough he could secure the adhesion of a number of the younger Conservative members of Parliament who already have evinced what seems to be sincere sympathy towards the legitimate aspirations of industrial England.

There is talk of establishing a Sunday newspaper in the interests of the Labor party, a newspaper of moderate views, but it is doubtful if anything comes of it. The promoters and backers of Labor papers have burnt their fingers so badly several times in the past 15 years that they probably will hesitate to embark on another newspaper enterprise.

NORWOOD PERSONALS

NORWOOD, April 15.—Mr. H. O. D. Wilkins of Montreal is visiting his father, Mr. Frew W. Williams.

Mrs. Arthur Townsend is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. Litson of Galt.

Mrs. W. Brown of Peterboro was a recent guest of her daughter, Mrs. Claude Bongard.

Mr. Roy Bertrand and sisters, Misses Leah and Maye Bertrand visited friends in Campbellford over the week end.

Mr. Floyd Patterson of Sarnia arrived home on Monday, having been called on account of the serious illness of his brother, Mr. Earl Patterson.

Mrs. Jobe of Blackstock is visiting her sisters, Mrs. J. Reynolds and Mrs. Edward Patterson.

Mr. Samuel McConnell of Toronto spent over Sunday with friends in the village.

Miss Marjory Wildman of Toronto was a holiday guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wildman.

Misses Alma and Beatrice Simpson of Toronto are guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Simpson.

Miss Alice Foote is visiting in Hastings, the guest of Miss Mary Fowlds.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson and children, Ruth and Jim, of Shelbourne, were recent guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Robb.

Mrs. Bruce Puffer and Master Jack, of Havelock, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Puffer on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Andrews were in Campbellford on Monday.

Messrs. David Rollins of Belleville and W. Huycke and W. O'Keefe of Tweed were in the village on Sunday, attending the funeral of the late Mr. John Baskin.

Hand Injured.

Mr. Norman Andrews met with an accident on Sunday, when he had his hand cut so badly that he had to have nine stitches put in it.

Misses Pat and Marion McRae, the little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. McRae were successfully operated on for throat trouble on Monday morning by Dr. Buchanan of Peterborough and Dr. N. F. Sutton of Norwood. The operatoin was performed at their home on Queen street.

Barn Burned.

The barn on King street owned by Harold Beavis was burned last Thursday and the roof of the Public school caught fire from the sparks.

WESTWOOD NEWS

WESTWOOD, April 15.— The Presbyterian Sunday School has reopened, after having been closed for the winter months. Mrs. Charles Manley has been appointed superintendent for the coming year. The pastor, Rev. J. Archibald has charge of the Bible Class, which promises a treat for all who are privileged to attend.

Personal.

Mr. Charles Brackenbridge is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Mae Warner, Peterborough, spent the Easter holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Warner.

The W.M.S. of the Methodist church held its annual Easter thankoffering and song service on Sunday evening. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and despite the unfavorable weather there was a good attendance.

Messrs. Richard Faux, Ross Lobb and Matthew Breckenbridge attended the funeral of the late John Baskin in Norwood, on Sunday afternoon.

The heavy snow storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning on Sunday evening was very unusual. Seven inches of snow fell in less than five hours. A similar storm was experience don May 4, 1907.

JAPS SCRAP SHIP

TOKYO, April 15.—Japan, in accordance with the Washington arms conference treaty, has scrapped the battleship Tosa. It was sunk with aerial bombs under the direction of "Billy Mitchell."

Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness

HEADACHES, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are Nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If this is allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.

Do You Want More Money For Your Old Bicycle? - This Is

Bicycle Trade-In-Week at White's

We need more Used Bicycles, and during this week we will pay 25 PER CENT. MORE than market value if traded in on a new C.C.M. MASSEY. Your old Bicycle and nothing down and six months to pay the balance. Come and take a ride on the new C.C.M. MASSEY. You will be surprised how easily it runs, and there isn't a part on it that we haven't in stock. Doesn't that suggest a seven-letter word that sounds like "SERVICE"?

Quality is economy! The new MASSEY is the highest quality machine that has ever been offered the Canadian public, and the price is down to pre-war basis.

That is $15.00 to $20.00 Lower than Peak Prices.

New Bicycles Are Down and During This Week Old Ones Are Up. NOW ACTION.

If Out of Town and not convenient to call use this Form and we will gladly call to see you.

I am considering trading my bicycle on a new C.C.M. Massey. It is about —— years old and is a ———— make. I would like to get your offer with the understanding that I am not obliged to close a deal.

AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY FOR INVESTMENT IN A LONG ESTABLISHED AND HIGHLY PROFITABLE ENTERPRISE—NEW ISSUE

Elliot Manufacturing Co. Ltd

INCORPORATED UNDER THE ONTARIO COMPANIES ACT. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO

Capitalization 1000 Shares 7% Cumulative Preferred Stock Par Value $100. 2500 Shares Common Stock—No Par Value.

We are offering to the Public. Combination consisting of 1 Share 7 per cent Preferred at $100.00
1 Share Common at - - 25.00
$125.00 per combination.

Company Has No Bonded Indebtedness

Preferred Stock is redeemable on any dividend date at the option of the Company after 30 days' notice at $105. per share and accrued dividends. It is cumulative as to dividends and is preferred both as to dividends and assets. Dividends on the Preferred Stock are payable quarterly, on the first day of January, April, July and October. Common Stock dividends payable as declared by the Board of Directors.

PROFITS

Assets valued over $50,000. are being turned over to the Company by Mr. T. C. Elliot, for $37,500. in Preferred and Common Stock. This establishes a reserve to the Company of $14,000., which is an amount sufficient to pay the 7 per cent. dividends on the Preferred Stock for a period of two years. It is to be understood, however, that Mr. Elliot, knowing the wonderful opportunity for profits in this field, has taken stock for his assets. The surplus created above will be an absolute assurance of dividends to the Preferred Stockholders for two years. This reserve will be added to from the increased business.

The average profits of the old Company, previous to its INCORPORATION, have been about $8,000.00 per year on a $75,000.00 turnover, and with the additional capital and new lines, we can conservatively estimate a turnover of more than $200,000.00, with estimated profits about $20,000.00 per year, or about three times the amount required for the dividend on Preferred Stock. From the above figures it can readily be seen that there will be sufficient amount left to pay dividends on Common Stock.

It is officered and directed by a group of Executives thoroughly conversant with every phase of the business. Every member of the Board has had a lengthy experience in business throughout the Dominion, which will be at the service of the Company at all times, and the 7 PER CENT. PREFERRED STOCK of the Company may properly be considered as representing one of the safest and most attractive investment opportunities on the market.

CONCLUSION

We regard the stock of this Company with great favor and consider it to be one of the safest and most attractive investments in Canada.

DIVIDENDS AT THE RATE OF 7 PER CENT. OF THE PREFERRED STOCK ARE PAYABLE QUARTERLY, EVERY FIRST DAY OF JANUARY, APRIL, JULY AND OCTOBER. COMMON STOCK dividends payable as declared by the Board of Directors.

VAST TREASURE LIES UNTAPPED IN SEA WATER

Ocean Teems With Plant and Animal Life—Mineral Wealth.

MANY SALTS.

Billions of Tons of Iodine and Even Gold Exist in Water.

The ocean appears to the traveler to be a vast expense of salty water valued chiefly for transportation and source of rainfall. Yet it is veritably teeming with plant and animal life and its depths hold untold treasures. Its saltiness has caused muchinconvenience for many, as Coleridge's Ancient Mariner, have had parched throats with "Water, water everywhere, nor any drop to drink." Although apparently a nuisance and worthless, sea salt is nature's storehouse of treasures to the chemist, for it contains all the valuable constituents of the earth's crust that have been leached out by the countless rains of former years.

Although sea water is rather dilute, the amount of salt in the entire ocean is tremendous, for the ocean is immense—about 139,000,000 square miles in area and 302,000,000 cubic miles in volume. Its average depth is over two miles and its greatest known depth is about five miles. A gallon of sea water contains approximately a quarter of a pound of salt, and since the average density of rock salt is 2.24 times that of water, the entire ocean, if dried up, would yield approximately four and a half cubic miles of salt.

The beds of rock salt at Strassfurt, Germany; Cheshire, England, and which underlie most of New York, Ohio, Michigan and Kansas, are dried-up inland seas. They are so extensive that they may supply the world with salt for hundreds of centuries to come; yet in comparison with the amount of salt in the ocean they are trivial indeed.

In recent years geologists and astronomers have been interested in estimating the age of the earth. The ocean is a history book which contains the chemical records of the earth's crust which was eroded and passed from view before man's appearance. The water emptied into the ocean by the rivers is such a dilute solution of salts that their presence can scarcely be detected by taste, and, moreover, much of this mineral matter is deposited in the ocean near its mouth in the form of lime and magnesia salts. Geologists have estimated the quantity of water flowing into the sea each year, the chemists have analyzed the water from thousands of streams emptying into the sea, and have determined the total amount of sodium in the ocean. From these data various scientists have estimated the age of the earth. Dr. F. W. Clarke has carefully considered all the information at hand and concluded that the age of the ocean, since the earth assumed its present form, is somewhat less than a hundred millons years.

Many Kinds of Salts.

Sea water is mainly a solution of common salt, Glauber's salt, Epsom salt, gypsum, and potassium chloride and sulphate. Approximately, three-fourths of the saline matter is sodium chloride or common salt, and it is in the preparation of this important substance that sea water finds its principal use. Ever since man learned to cook his food salt has been an essential constituent of his diet. In ancient times all the salt was prepared from sea water, and sea-salt manufacture is still an important industry in nearly all warm, dry countries bordering the sea. In California salt of excellent quality is prepared from sea water.

In addition to the salts named above, sea water contains appreciable amounts of promine, iodine, iron, silicon, carbonate and phosphate. Traces of fluorine, nitrogen, arsenic, boron, lithium, rubidium, caesium, strontium, manganese, barium, aluminum, cooper, zinc, silver, lead, cobalt, nickel, gold and radium cave been found.

	Per Cent.
Chlorine (Cl)	55.292
Sodium (Na)	30593
Sulphate (SO 4)	7.692
Magnesium (Mg	3.725
Calcium (Ca)	1.197
Potassium (K)	1.106
Carbonate (CO 3)	0.207
Bromine (Br)	0.188
	100.000

While the density of sea water may vary slightly, the essential uniformity of the composition of ocean salts has been demonstrated. The differences in the results of hundreds of analyses of the mineral salts are so slight that they may be attributed to differences in anlalytical methods or in the atomic weight factors used in the calculation.

Samples of ocean water taken near the mouths of rivers show the effect of the dilution with fresh water. Around the poles are areas of concentration, because of the freezing of the surface, which removes nearly pure water and leaves a large part of the salts behind. The density, and therefore the salinity, of ocean water diminishes from the surface to a depth of 800 to 1,000 fathoms, and then increases to the bottom.

Billions of Tons of Iodine There.

The total amount of any of the elements occurring in the entire ocean is stupendous. Iodine exists in sea water only to the extent of about two parts per million, yet the entire ocean contains some 60,000,000,000 tons of iodine, valued at present prices at $540,000,000,000,000. Science has never developed a profitable method of extraction of this element from sea water, but nature has. Many seaweeds extract iodine from the water in their life processes. By burning the seaweed and extracting the ash iodine is obtained in the British Isles, Normandy, Norway and Japan. Potassium salts and bromine are by-products of the industry.

Bromine is also obtained in a limited way from the mother liquor left after the crystallization of salt from sea water. This is effected by a process invented by Balard three-quarters of a century ago, and is still in use at Giraud in Souther France. Immense quantities of bromine might be recovered if all of the mother liquors from sea-salt manufacture were worked up.

California produces approximately 250,000 tons of sea salt each year. The chief use of the mother liquor from this salt is in the preparation of magensium oxychloride cements. The potassium, bromine and iodine are discarded. If the French process of working up the mother liquors were in use in this country 7,000 tons of potassiumride, 68,000 000 tons of magnesium chloride, 40,000 tons of magnesium sulphate and 600 tons of bromine would be produced. The value of the bromine alone would be approximately $360,000. During the World War several of the California plants developed important by-product industries, but when the price of chemicals fell these innovations were abandoned.

In 1923 sensational rumors were afloat to the effect that Germany had discovered a practical way of separating the gold from sea water and that she expected to produce enough of the precious metal in this way to pay her reparation debts. Recently it has been learned that the Germans were experimenting along this line, and were really able to produce gold in this way, but that the cost of recovery was many times the value of the gold produced. Ever since 1872, when Sonstadt demonstrated the presence of gold in sea water, there have been many wildcat schemes for "mining" gold from the sea. Most of these attempts have been stock-selling schemes which have capitalized man's cupidity and gullibility.

Even Gold in Sea Water.

The amounts of gold reported to have been found in a ton of sea water vary from a tenth of a grain to a grain. Approximately three times that amount of silver is usually reported as being present. If the correctness of the above figures is assumed, the amount of gold in the entire ocean is tremendous. Supposing that the sea averages half a grain of gold per ton of water, there would be 4,821,736 ounces of gold in a single cubic mile of water, and if we value this at $20 an ounce it would be worth $96,434,720. However, if any one every finds an easy way of producing gold from the sea the price of gold will drop to the point where we can use it for the manufacture of non-corrosive implements for everyday use.

As in the extraction of iodine, nature is more efficient than man in separating potash from ocean water. Many seaweeds need potassium salts in their life processes and are able to concentrate it in their tissues. By burning these algae we obtain potash. At present, the potash is recovered merely as a by-product from the manufacture of iodine from seaweed, but in the eighteenth century seaweed ash was one of the chief sources of potash for soap manufacture, &c.

During the World War much of the potash used in this country was manufactured from the giant kelp which grows along the Pacific Coast from California to Western Alaska, but at the close of hostilities the plants shut down and at present none is operating.

Sea water is slightly radioactive. Joly has estimated that one cubic mile of sea water contains on the average 77 grams of radium. This is less than three ounces, but is more radium than has ever been separated. However, its radioactivity cannot be attributed solely to radium, and errors of great magnitude may have crept into the estimation.

Such are the mineral treasures of the sea. As yet chemists have not learned to unlock many of them from nature's largest storehouse, but in this age of chemical and physical miracles, who can say that it cannot be done?

BACK ANTI-CHINESE LAW

MANILA, April 15.—The Philippine bookkeeping law requiring that accounts of merchants shall be kept in English, Spanish or native dialect has been declared constitutional by the Philippine supreme court. It was aimed at Chinese merchants. An appeal will be taken to the U.S. supreme court.

BIRDS KNOW TRAIN.

LANCASTER, Pa., April 15.—A local train between here and Quarryville may not be a flyer, but it is a bird train. All winter the fireman and engineer have been throwing out food along the track. Now the birds flock out of the woods every time the whistle is blown.

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself.

A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief.

Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel.

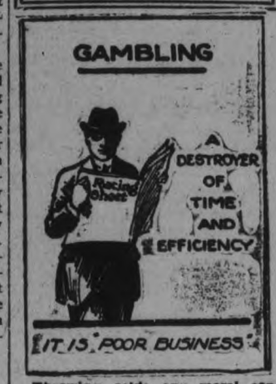
Money AT WORK



Throwing aside any moral considerations as to whether it is right or wrong, gambling—say on horses — or marginal speculation by the outsider is a poor investment for the average man because of its by-products.

Gambling or marginal speculation by the outsider is a poor investment for the average man first of all, because the mathematical chances for success are overwhelmingly against him.

Worse than this, however, is the fact that gambling in any form excites and disturbs the average man so much that he is unable to do his regular business normally or efficiently.

When gambling losses become habitual, as they often do, the worry grows more intense and a man's efficiency drops in proportion. The desire to recoup becomes so strong that a plunge is made—often with disastrous consequences and the former business efficiency of the gambler is broken to bits.

ATTACK ON KING BORIS IS FAILURE

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 15 (Canadian Press)—King Boris, Bulgaria, had a narrow escape from death yesterday at the hands of alleged communists while Gen. G. Haerghieff, one of the leaders in the movement which overthrew the Stamboulisky Government in 1923, was killed inthe streets of Sofia.

The King's, automobile which was travelling in the direction of the capital ran into an ambuscade of communists, who fired upon him. The king was not hurt but two of his attendants are reported to have been killed and the chauffeur wounded. One of the slain men was a young naturalist, Iltcheff.

Almost immediately after the attack the king's assailants fled. Troops went in pursuit and searched the entire district but without avail.

EARLY DOURO DAYS RECALLED BY WRITINGS OF A PIONEER

Tells Adventures of Early Settlers on Way to New Home.

CAME IN 1822

Township Will This Year Celebrate Its One Hundredth Anniversary.

COBOURG, April 15.—When, on the first of June, 1822, the ship "George" sailed from the city of Belfast for Quebec, she had on board two gentlemen, Mr. Stewart, and his brother-in-law, Mr. Reid, with their wives, families, servants, and all manner of requisites, in the way of tools, implements and household furniture, for settlement in the wilds of Upper Canada. Mrs. Stewart kept up a constant correspondence with her friends in the old land, and from these letters and a regular journal, the interesting records compiled in "Our Forest Home," a book of rare value in these later days, have been preserved, and from which we make the following extracts in view of the approaching celebration of the 100th annuversary of the settlement of Douro.

The "George" reached Quebec on July 21, and a few days later continued the journey to Montreal. The trip from Montreal to Kingston, a distance of one hundred and ninety-eight miles, was made in flat-bottomed, open boats and occupied eight days, during which the passengers were exposed to the hot sun by day, the dews by night, coarse fare, with no means of cooking proper food, and not least, the coarse language of the boatman, who frequently imbibed freely and, to say the least, were not pleasant travelling companions. During the trip the party slept in various places on shore, principally in the homes of settlers, and on one occasion in a barn. At Kingston they could not procure accommodation, so they slept in the boats. They arrived at York (Toronto), the capital of Upper Canada, on August 14. The description which Mrs. Stewart gives of our present provincial capital is not very flattering. She says:

When Toronto Was a Village.

"The town or village of York looked pretty from the lake as we sailed up in a schooner, but on our landing we found it not a pleasant place, as it is sunk down in a little amphitheatre cut out of the great bleak forest. The lake in front is full of rushes which have been cut and left to decay in the shallow water, causing it to be very unhealthy. It is not a healthy town (fever and ague are common), and it is said to be much fallen off within the last two years; a deadness hangs over everything."

At this time Col. Forster, Adjutant-General to Sir Peregrine Maitland, and a connection by marriage of Mrs. Stewart's, was living about two miles out of York, at the garrison barracks. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart walked out and found Col. Forster working in his garden. He procured for the party the use of two empty houses at the barracks, and the two families thankfully took possession of them. The Fosters further showed their kindness by loaning them four chairs, a table for their parlour and two bedsteads, placed a quantity of firewood beside their door and two "puncheons" of soft water for washing. A sofa was improvised by laying the frame of a cot on two trunks and covering all over with a large drawing-room curtain, utilizing another frame and a similar curtain for the back of the sofa. The gentlemen were advised to apply for a land grant instead of purchasing a farm, and a petition was laid before the executive council asking for twelve hundred acres of land for each. The request was granted, and the Township of Douro in Peterborough County was advised as an unbroken place in which to draw this large grant. As they wished to get permanently settled before winter, Mr. Stewart and Mr. Reid left Toronto on September 9 to drive to Douro to view their new possessions. They made the trip in two weeks, and returned with a most encouraging report of the locality which they visited.

Lake Fever, the Foe of Settlers.

Unfortunately during his first visit to the backwoods Mr. Stewart caught the "lake fever," and when the party arrived back at Cobourg from Douro Township, he was so ill that he was obliged to take to his bed. Mrs. Stewart's letters to friends state that he received every kindness and attention from citizens of that town, especially from Rev. Mr. McAuley, the English Church clergyman, to whose home he was removed. Rev. Mr. McAuley, it will be remembered, was a travelling missionary, whose field of work extended as far east as Belleville, and as far west as Hamilton, and who visited the Rice Lake district, and doubtless also any settlers living beyond that, in what is now known as Peterborough County. Mr. Stewart wrote to his wife telling of his trip and explorations in Douro, but either made light of or omitted to mention his own illness. He directed her, with the family, to join him at Cobourg, something of an undertaking under travelling conditions at that time, but our pioneer women were able, as well as their husbands, to cope with any emergency or difficulty. On September 28, Mrs. Stewart and family left York for Cobourg. The captain of the steamer, on which they travelled, proved very surly, and disagreeable. It is told of him that he would not permit his passengers to have any dinner until after he had been served, and then made things so disagreeable that the meal was spoiled for the others. Mrs. Stewart threatened to report him to Mr. Bethune and Mr. Henry (prominent Cobourg citizens), and this had the effect of making him change his attitude. At night a severe storm came up and the schooner could not make Cobourg. When the Stewarts awakened the following morning they found that they were back at York. The weather moderated the following day and the schooner succeeded in successfully completing the trip to Cobourg. There was a small wharf in Cobourg in those days, and historians state that when a boat came in a flag was run up on this as a signal to the villagers. We can easily imagine that this was done when Mrs. Stewart and her party arrived here. She tells, in her letters, about looking out among the people at the wharf for her husband, and a little later seeing a wagon with an improvised bed in it, upon which lay Mr. Stewart. He was too weak and ill to walk to the wharf, but insisted upon meeting his wife and family in this way.

Social Functions at Cobourg.

A house was put in readiness for them on the lakeshore at Cobourg and there the family resided for some weeks before going out to Douro. Describing a social function, she says: "I decided to wear a very pretty Irish tabinet which I had never before worn, and with all of my curlings complete I was quite set up." She further states the Cobourg ladies were quite fashionable and thought nothing of spending quite a sum of money for a fur tippett.

Left Cobourg For Douro.

In due course of time the Stewarts and Reids left the village of Cobourg to travel north through an almost unbroken forest for Rice Lake, from which place they were conveyed by boat to the Peterborough shore, the entire trip taking two or three days. Besides their household and other effects they took with them a dog, two kittens, a goose and a gander. The cats are stated to have been the first felines of their kind in Douro Township.

Whiskey Seven Pence a Quart.

Mr. Stewart tells of buying venison from the Indians, also the skin of the deer and its horns, and giving in payment for these things two quarts of whiskey, for which he adds they were very eager. The whiskey was worth fourteen cents or seven cents a quart retail. When the party of settlers made their first stop for the night at Rice Lake, they were visited by a number of Indians who were camping there.

After we got to sleep, he says, we were awakened about two o'clock by the Indians singing at the other side of the river. This was caused by the whiskey. Our old friend, the cook, sat up all night and kept up the fire. About nine the following morning we again made a start and about one o'clock reached the landing place, where there is a flour and saw-mill. We landed our baggage and crossed the river in another boat to our township.

House Built in Two Days.

Mr. Reid had sent a cart with some boards, so we put our things on it and away we went through the woods about two and a half miles on a line with the river. We at last arrived at the spot where Mr. Reid and party were at work. They were much surprised as they did not expect us. They were then busy building my house, which is 40 by 28. The situation is beautiful, on a rising bank above the river which runs with great rapidity, and is very wide, with heavy timber on both sides. The trees are very large, principally maple, elm, beech and cedar. Mr. Reid's house is about three-quarters of a mile higher up the river. I stayed with him two days and during this time my house was built. The day I went there they were only laying the foundation. We all slept in a shanty with a large fire in front, no door, and here in addition to the working party, which consisted of twenty-four men, were stowed away a large boiler full of pea soup and pork, another with potatoes, a cask of whiskey and a pile of bread."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir: There is no doubt I think that all future elections in Ontario, whether federal, provincial or municipal, will be fought out as between Drys v. Wets. The Drys have been maturing their plans in this particular for years and they are determined to fasten their little wills on the people of Ontario. The Wets will resist at every point for at last it has become plain that it is a question of liberty—of the liberty of the normal individual to be free in his or her individual capacity and as the responsible head of the family at home.

Who is going to rule the man and woman who hitherto have been both decent and free? Is it to be they themselves or every self-sufficient bounder who chooses to pose as the arbiter of human destinies?

God made man and put into his natural body at birth, alcohol. It is a free constituent of the human body from birth and is plainly used in the human body as the great purifier. It always exists as alcohol and passes off as such and is manufactured over again every day and every hour of the day by the natural body for the use and protection of that body. Some one takes too much and straightway the lords of human kind (laugh here) announce that God made a mistake when He made and makes alcohol.

I am not speaking of those who exempt native wines and home-brew. They are not prohibitionists. They are liars. I am speaking of and to those "sanctified" human beings who really think that alcohol is a curse and that the sin of Eve lay in the apple and not in herself. They would correct many things if they could, always excepting themselves. Humility being the flower of Christianity they stop and balk at that, preferring the policeman to persuasion. This wrestling match between them and Nature is worth looking at. It is an expression of their dissatisfaction with the way in which the Almighty has arranged things.

The sun may have to go yet and the moon and Christmas, &c. Meanwhile, however, the struggle has at last become one between Drys and Wets, not on referendum days only, but on every day.

—J. H. Burnham.

Hamilton, Ont., April 11, 1925.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Three electrical experts have given me an estimate of the average man power employed, per horse power, of electric energy used.

One says one man constantly for one H.P. is the average.

Another says two for every H.P.

Another says three for every H.P.

For purpose of calculation let us take the most conservative, one man to one H.P., so the 210,000 H.P. we now export would employ 210,000 men here at home, and estimating their average pay conservatively at say $5.00 per day, for 300 days per year, equals $1,500.00 in wages for one H.P., or over $300,000,000.00 per annum for the 210,000 H.P. now exported.

The public should be informed as to the conditions of power export.

Why not somebody publish a copy of the export part of the contract, so we may see definitely, whether it is contigent upon Canada's requirements or otherwise.

The Ontario Government, whom I suppose made the original contract would have one, the Ontario Power Commission would have control of or access to it, and the Dominion Government would have a copy of the portion providing for their authority to issue licenses.

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario I think might at least publish that portion of the contract dealing with the duration and export, so the public might know.

We have passed the Ice Age, the Stone Age, are just about through with the Coal Age, and in the infancy of the Hydro-Electric Age.

Why the standstill? since the Chippawa Power Canal was completed. If development had been actively continued since then, either by a duplicate Chippawa alongside, or Cornwall and other St. Lawrence and Ottawa developments, by this time we would have had employment for a large additional population. In fact the unemployment doles between then and now, would have provided for a very considerable, and served a much better purpose. Why not brace up to our duties and opportunities immediately and make Canada go ahead?

Action and results are what the people want to-day.

Yours truly,
W. O. SEALEY.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

As the farmer's occupation has to deal directly with nature, he must obey the laws of nature if he wishes to make a success of his calling.

Dayight saving therefore, in his case becomes a fizzle.

The farmer may have to go to the city in the afternoon for repairs for a machine, and supplies for his family; he finds the stores closed, he is disgusted with the city; he orders by mail and in a day or two it is at his gate.

You ask "will you stop trading in Peterborough if Daylight Saving is adopted?"

Answer—By preference, no; from necessity, yes.

PARIS, April 15.—A French yearling colt, owned by an attache of the Dutch legation in Paris, is the first race horse ever shipped by airplane from one country to another. The colt was carried from Paris to the owner's farm in Holland in a plane with a special horse stall.

Tired Nerves

Mrs. E. R. Walsh, R.R. No. 2, Navan, Ont., writes:—

"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food saved me from a nervous breakdown. I had been nervous, could not sleep and was always tired. The Nerve Food built me up and made me feel like a different person."

MODERN life brings a terrible strain on woman's delicate nervous system.

The continuous whirl of social life, charitable and church work, together with all the cares of home and family entail a burden that the nerves cannot hear.

Sooner or later physical bankruptcy must come and the inevitable break-down.

Why not guard against this by taking a reasonable amount of rest and building up health and strength with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?

This great restorative has long since proven its merits as the most effective means of building up the exhausted nervous system.

SOCIAL DOINGS OF TWEED FOLK

Farewell Party to Miss Helen Way—Tweed Lodges "At Home."

ANTI-UNION VOTE

TWEED, April 15.—On Friday night a number of young girls met at the home of Miss Helen Way to bid her farewell before she leaves to train in the Ontario Hospital at Kingston. A suitable address was read, and Miss Way made a reply. A very lovely compact case and purse were presented.

The service in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening was very interesting, as the choir, under the able leadership of Dr. Kindred, sang a cantata, entitled "Peace, Penitence and Pardon."

The Rev. Jas. Cattray had the services in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday. At the morning service Mr. and Mrs. Alec Yule sang a solo very sweetly, and at the evening service the whole choir sang.

The members of Tweed Lodge No. 290 and Tweed Rebekah Lodge No. 236 held their "at home" in the auditorium. Cards and games were indulged in till about eleven o'clock, when lunch was served, with dancing afterwards. The Tweed Novelty Orchestra furnished the music.

Church Union.

Voting of Church Union has ended in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. There were 48 votes cast—for Union, 10; against Union, 38; majority against Union, 28.

Mr. Garnet Arbuckle is home from Detroit visiting his parents.

PIE WAS SO GOOD FOLK WANT MORE

Ladies' Aid of Petherick's Corners Shows Its Culinary Skill.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Apr. 15.—The pie social held in Sentinel Hall on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Ladies Aid was a decided sucess, the hall being crowded to the outside entrance.

The feature of the evening was a play entitled, "Valley Farm," which was staged by a number of the young people. The play was divided up into four acts, presenting two hours and a half of depest romance spiced with unexpected comedy.

Other items on the programme were a duet, 'Hiawatha's Melody of Love," by Rev. Charles Daniels and Mr. Allan Simpson; a duet, "The Upper Ten and the Lower Five", by Mr. Fred Barnum and Mr. Allan Simpson, which was encored so strongly that a solo, 'Married Life" was given by Mr. Simpson.

The crowd then did full justice t othe pie which was served. The proceeds of the eevning were $97.50.

For the benefit of those who were unable to attend on account of the holiday, and after many special requests, the young people have consented to put on the same program with a few additional numbers, next Friday evening.

L.O.L. Meeting.

The members of this lodge take great pride in the fine hall which they now have.

Two years ago they built an addition to it enabling them to have a fine stage and also giving them more floor space.

They have now purchased three new gasoline lamps which illuminate it perfectly, and a few more fixtures are being added, which will make it second to none in the district.

Mr. J. D. Thomson of the Toronto Normal school is spending the holiday with his parents at Crow Bay.

Mr. Robert Irwin has been confined to the house for a few days with a serious attack of the grippe.

A PRESENTATION.

Mrs. Orr Sage, Douro, Showered by Her Friends—Pleasant Evening.

LAKEFIELD, April 15.—A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. D. Darling, Douro, on Thursday, when a very merry group of people gathered together for the pleasure of presenting to Mrs. Orr Sage (nee Dulcie Abbott) a miscellaneous shower.

A very much decorated wagon was drawn in to where Mr. and Mrs. Orr Sage were seated by her two nieces, Miss Marion and Phyllis Darling.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sage were taken very much by surprise.

The evening was spent in games and dancing, and the young folks journeyed home, having spent a very pleasant evening.

Personal.

Messrs. R. Little and W. Abbott motored to Dummer on Sunday to visit friends.

Mr. Harry Penberthy has returned to Lakefield to bid farewell to relatives before leaving for Saskatchewan.

Miss Etta Waldon and niece, Margaret Cheyne, visited friends in Peterboro, Belleville and Port Hope on Saturday.

Misses Dora and Mildred Darling of Lakefield are visiting their brother, R. C. Darling, Douro.

Miss Etta Abbott, R.N., of Cobourg, is spending her Easter vacation with her parents at Pine Grove.

READY TO MEET PETER VEREGIN

Doukhobors Make Great Preparations for Arrival of New Leader.

NOT BUSINESS MAN

SASKATOON, Sask., April 15 (Canadian Press).—Great preparations are being made to extend to Peter Verigin, Jr., a fitting reception when he joins his people at Verigin, Sask., possibly at the end of the present month, according to M. W. Cazakoff, vice-president and general manager of the Christian Community of Universal Brother, Ltd.

"Young Verigin will be the great spiritual leader of his people and he will not have any business worries to distract him," Mr. Cazakoff said. There will be a great religious revival immediately the settlement of his people.

Following the death of the older Verigin every effort was made to locate the son so that he could take his rightful place in succession to his father.

"We knew that he was in Russia," Mr. Cazakoff explained, "and by every means the news was broadcast, that we were searching for him. When he believed the time was right, he cables us to say he was on his way to Canada.

"I know the new leader. He is well educated, having left Canada shortly after his arrival here with his father to attend the university of Tiflis, in the Caucasus, Russia. His education, however, along spiritual lines. He is not a business man and his arrival here will not change the business policy of the community in the least way," the Doukhobour leader stated.

Mr. Cazakoff contradicted newspaper reports relating to the Doukhobours. "We like Canada; it is a great country. We like the people very much and we also like the government of the dominion. There is absolutely no truth in the reports that we are leaving Canada for other climes, for we are perfectly satisfied here. Too much false information has been circulated about the Doukhobours," he declared.

"While we are not contemplating any big additions to our holdings of land at the present time, we intend to keep all the land we have got, and if it is possible in the future we will enlarge our settlements. I would like to see the real feeling of my people toward Canada and the Canadians are put before the country and truth related about a people, much concerned about the misleading statements circulated respecting them."

THE JOYS OF SPRING.

TOKYO, April 15.—More than 100,000 people joined in ceremonies celebrating the Setsubun, or advent of spring. Buddhist families revived the ceremony of driving out the devil, which consists of throwing roasted peas in their homes and shouting, 'Out with the devil."

OLD-TIME WINTERS

MINOT, Me., April 15.—Snows this winter have been so heavy that for the first time in more than 50 years it was necessary to transport mail by dog teams.

Ancient Basra Grows Progressive

The ancient City of Basra, situated near the head waters of the Persian Gulf below the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers and near the site of the garden of Eden, is the great oil shipping port of Mesopotamia.

Here are located the offices of the British Oil Companies. During the world war Basra was used as the base of the British Mesopotamian expeditionary force.

One of the results of the sojourn of the British Army at Basra was the decision to extend and improve the local telephone system. Climatic conditions in Mesopotamia are exceptionally hard on telephone plant but these difficulties have been met and today Basra is enjoying at some of its exchanges that most modern improvement, the automatic or machine-switching telephones.

Who will say that distant Mesopotamia, home of "Sinbad the Sailor," and the reputed "cradle of the human race" is lagging behind in business acumen?

THE EMANCIPATION OF ENGLISH WOMEN

(A REVIEW).

(A REVIEW)

This new book can be got, like many other informing books, in the Public Library. It is an elaborate defence of woman on all points. It is more. It says, whether it proves it or not, that men are responsible for keeping women back. It also says, and very distinctly, that, but for men, women would be quite perfect. So you will see that this book is more than a defence of woman It is an attack on men. Now it would naturally be expected that the rise of woman towards this state of feminine perfection would show no sign of retrogression. But would you believe it, statistics, those deadly despoilers of cherished illusions, show that since their emancipation, women are gradually ceasing to attend church! This especially applies to Protestant churches and to the United States of America and Canada. There was a time when tearladen, downtrodden women sought the consolation of their sister angels and formed about 65 per cent of the attendants of the churches. At present men furnish nearly 60 per cent. and women a little over a beggerly 40 per cent. The independence of women has meant their spiritual decline. This is too sad for words, but statistics show it, and facts bear them out. When, therefore, the "Emancipation of Women" fiercely charges men with being the cause of women's decline, which it does in the barest and most short-skirted way, it must account for this alarming and suggestive falling-off in women's attention to their spiritual duties. How comes it that men are improving while women fall away? Is it that women are to be charged with the ruin of men?

Women were supposed to be the slaves of men. They could get no employment and take no pleasure except by permission of their masculine masters. The underworld, with its hideous population of fallen women and fallen men, was said to be the work of men and the unwilling retreat of their victims. That was the old theory. That is the theory of the "Emancipation of Women," but a canvass of the houses of prostitution shows that 90 per cent. of the inmates chose that life, and because it meant a career of fine clothes, idleness, and admiration, as well as a copious gratification of still baser passions. It has been said that Eve nearly ruined the world once and that another woman will yet do so. We have laughed at the prophecy. Are not women our idealists, our only good people, our nurses, and, above all, the mainstay of our churches?

But now we find, if these statistics and reports are true, that women are leaving the churches and going downhill in both cases in rapidly increasing numbers. It has also been said, which I don't believe, that the chief feature of women's characters is not their vanity but their self-will, that, so far from being idealists, they are the most unblushing of realists, that their scanty dress is designed for show, not of the dress but of the person, that the chief aim of women is to make men support them—give them motor toys to play with, jewels to flash in, and a ruling position in the world. This book admits all that, but blames men for it, and thus really denies it. The increasing extravagance and vanity, in dress and decoration, of women—not, of course, including the few and fewer sensible, God-fearing, noble women in all walks of life—are apparent, even to women.

They do not deny it, but claim it as their right and so justify it. They also want to get into the pulpit, and, perhaps, the selfish monopolising exclusiveness of men will yet be compelled to let them in, and then will the attendance increase—of both sexes.

It will be a "holy" show, sure enough But is it not time women began to show that they can be good in spite of men and without blaming them? It has been said that the last stand for civilization will be made by a few, and that the last stand for the faith will be made by a woman. If she doesn't mend her ways she won't make much of a stand if these statistics are to be relied on. However, if you want to read an undress, naked and unashamed statement of the woman question read this book. It is as "fierce" as only a modern woman could make it. Woman demands the equal standard of morals. She does not demand that men be required to comform to the higher standard required of women, but that she shall be permitted to adopt the lower! This needs some explaining. But this book does not explain it. Women must not expect, whatever have been men's sins against them in the past, that they can quietly sneak into the polling-booth and put it all over men without stirring up the real men against them for the future. That a large body of men is declaring silent and implacable war on women on this account is becoming plainer every day. It would, of course, be too stupid to suppose that women could undertake to whip men into line without suffering from the same mistake.

Ridiculous as it may seem, a cartoon representing the present relations of men and women, would show the People represented by a stupid-looking fat man on his knees, while a woman with a shingle, labelled "The Vote," is fairly spanking the life out of him with a ministerial demagogue in the background, giving encouragement and orders to her. The truth is also that we are receiving so much so-called education that we have no time to think what we are doing.

Women resent being women. They think the Creator gives man the best of it, and they want to be men accordingly. Hair, breeches, spats, bad language, all testify to that. It is this feeling of resentment that is at the bottom of their continual desire to master men. The emancipation of women will never come until they become "men." The ballot-box, backed up by the policeman, gives them unhoped-for power. The sex question will never be solved until all difference of sex ceases. Just as there are many varieties of cabbage but all are cabbage, so men and women are but varieties of the same being. Power, mental and physical, is what women feel lacking in, and they envy men accordingly. They will not, strange to say, be content with charm and beauty, with artistry added. They want to be a man—not an angel. Certainly, whether they are becoming men or not, they are fast ceasing to be angels. The first sentence in the latest book, Lord Fisher's "The Common Weal," consists of these momentous words: "Nobody has any wide experience of life without being conscious of the generally low standard of human behaviour."

Motor Notes

NEW YORK, April 15—Bromine, an ingredient used in a "dope" for motor fuel, is going to be pumped up out of the sea.

For this purpose the steamship Ethyl has been equipped as a complete chemical plant and will roam the seas for the fluid.

Refitted as a factory for recovering bromide from seawater, the Ethyl, formerly the Lake Harminia of the United States Shipping Board, will clear from Wilmington, Del., on what is probably the strangest voyage ever undertaken. She will call at no port and, roaming the ocean, will extract her cargo from its waters.

Chemical experts, who are members of the American Chemical Society, estimate that 1,700 gallons of seawater contain one pound of bromine. Hence, it is the Ethyl's mission to remove this seven one-thousandths of one per cent. of bromine in the seawater, with which it is planned to refill the world's bromine storehouses, emptied by the rapid development of ethyl gasoline in automobile operation.

In an official announcement of the voyage, A. M. Maxwell, vice president of the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation, owners of the vessel, says an entirely new process of bromine extraction would be employed. This process it expected to yield 100,000 pounds of bromine a month. To produce this quantity, the Ethyl will draw 7,000 gallons of seawater a minute.

"The success of this venture may give an entirely new aspect to the manufacture of bromine, which heretofore has been laboriously recovered from mineral springs and from the potash deposits of Germany," says Maxwell.

"Success, furthermore, may mean equipping a fleet of bromine ships for the recovery from the seas of other valuable constituents to enrich mankind ".

ASK FOR DRY LAND

Flood Sufferers in Brandon Ask City for Higher Land.

BRANDON, Man., April 15 (Canadian Press).—Flood sufferers here will present a petition to the city council, asking for a block of free land beyond all danger from the flood waters of the Assiniboine river.

Agitation which has been growing for some years has now crystallized into definite action and many of those who were driven from their homes this spring, will approach the authorities for relief.

THE BOOK OF ETIQUETTE.

I'm a stickler for etiquette
And I've never failed yet;
I know what is wrong in those pictures you see,
I know what to say when I tip over tea,
I've got the style, I've got the look,
I know what's what—
I've read the Book.

I am not the sort of chap
To blush at slight mishap,
I am full to the ears of ease and poise,
I've learned how to laugh without making a noise,
I pick at sight a fake or crook,
I know their type—
I've read the Book.

I'm a fusser about my style,
I keep my clothes on fyle,
I know what to wear at morn and night,
On every occasion I know what's right,
I have 'em each upon a hook,
I never miss—
I've read the Book.

Whenever I go to dine,
I display my graces fine,
I know the French for "fish" and "pork,"
I always use the proper fork,
I've got the style, I've got the look,
I know what's what—
I've read the Book.

When I meet a lady fair,
I bow with graceful air,
I converse of this and eke of that,
I have my conversation pat,
And when we seek a quiet nook—
I know my stuff—
I've read the Book.

COATES' CONDUCTOR QUITS ROCHESTER

English Director Resigns From Newly Organized Philharmonic Orchestra.

NEW YORK, April 15. — Albert Coates, the English conductor, for many years active in Petrograd, Russia, and a few seasons ago with the New York Symphony in this city, has just tendered to George Eastman his resignation as head of the newly established Philharmonic Orchestra at Rochester, N. Y. His parting, which means a withdrawal from America, is wholly a friendly one but is based on divergent opinions as to the future of the Rochester enterprise, founded in connection with the richly endowed Eastman School of Music.

Rochester despatches, expressing regret at the change, declare that Mr. Coates "has, in a sense, been the musical father of the Rochester Philharmonic." He has led the young orchestra during a large part of its two seasons thus far, besides doing pioneer work with a conductors' class, directing a junior orchestra of eighty students and leading chamber music concerts in Kilbourne Hall.

In his letter to Mr. Eastman, the conductor referred to a talk in which the philantropist had sketched out plans, as yet unannounced, for certain new departures.

"Every man, I feel sure you will agree," said his letter, "must, in order to do good work, have the conviction that the plan on which he is working is the right one, and this is where I cannot, I am afraid, see eye to eye with you. I do not mean to intimate by this that I criticise your plans.

"You know the town much better than I do, and I am therefore quite willing to accept your judgment in the matter of future policy for Rochester. I, however, personally could not work along those lines. I cannot act against my convictions and you cannot act against yours, and I therefore feel that it is better I should leave."

Mr. Coates is sailing with Mrs. Coates from New York on the Berengaria today for England. He will resume concerts there and will also lead a series of performances at the Paris Opera, where Chaliapin is to appear. Next Fall, following the Leeds Festival, Mr. Coates goes to Barcelona, where he will produce his opera, "Ashurbanipal."

"HIS OWN STUFF"

TOKYO, April 15.—Max Mallni, an American "Houdini" artist, found Krean jails too strong for him to "do his stuif" when he was arrested recently at a small village on a charge that his passport was not properly vised. LONDON, April 15.—Phonograph records are shattering some more childhood illusions. Records of the voices of animals prove that they don't say what Mother Goose books say they do. The dog's bark is "Wow-wow," not "Bow-wow." The tests show pigeons "hoo" instead of "coo."

SPECULATION STILL TOYS WITH MYSTERY OF YESTERDAY'S FIND

Human Skull Bones Offer Problem For Solution By City.

WHO? WHEN? WHY?

No Further Remnants Found On Surface—Debris Cleared Away.

No more human bones have been found beneath the old building lately used as a Chinese laundry at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets. The building is now completely demolished and the ground cleared of all debris. The boards and materials from the building are neatly piled ready to be borne away.

This old building beneath which a human skull has been found has had a long history and it may be that between its four dingy, rickety walls that remained standing until this week, grim tragedy has lurked or the proof of some foul deed has been concealed.

Some Disappearances.

Investigation shows there have been several disappearances of persons in Peterborough during the past thirty years, all in the history of this old building. One of these whom some old citizens may still remember and which is on the chronicles of the police department, was a Mr. Whibbs, who disappeared mysteriously and has never been heard of since. Another story of a disappearance with all the earmarks of foul play, is that of a lumberman who came into town rich, for a fling, as lumbermen did in the good old days. He disappeared also and no trace has been left of the manner of his disappearance.

Building's History.

The old building on Charlotte Street, which for the past ten years or more has echoed to the rubbing and wringing of clothes under Chinese hands, was built 38 or 40 years ago as a grocery store by John Webber, and it was owned by Mr. H. Morrow. A few years later, a lean-to was built, which was first used as a storeroom for the store and later as a butcher shop by Bruce Hughem. The store was occupied by many, passing in order from John Webber to Jimmy Coughlin, to a man named Peters and then to a Mr. Burnham, and later it was rented by the Chinamen as a laundry and in the possession of the Orientals it may have changed hands often.

The finding of a human skull under such circumstances cannot be passed over without raising a question in the minds of citizens and authorities. This is especially true when Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young avers the skull was fractured before being buried.

Others Found.

This is not the first example of human bones dug up in the city in places other than a cemetery. On May 15, 1911, in excavating for an addition to the post office, the diggers unearthed a well preserved human skeleton at a depth of 9 feet. This created a stir at the time and there was much speculation as to who was the man and why he was so interred. The mystery was never cleared up.

In digging for laying the water main to the armouries several years ago a skull was unearthed, being first discovered by some boys on their way to school at the Peterboro Collegiate. The boys took the skull to the science teacher, and since then it has resided in the glass case of the science room, giving a creepy feeling to nervous girls on their first visit to the science room and adding generally to the mysteries of the mysteries of that room.

There is however no mystery in discovering human remains on digging in front of the armouries or the Collegiate, as all the ground now known as the Central Park was a cemetery in the early history of Peterboro.

The mystery of the Charlotte street find of yesterday lies in the fact that the remains were not buried but evidently pushed under the floor boards.

ANY RELIGION IS BETTER THAN NONE

Declare Representatives of Presbyterians, Jews and Roman Catholics.

TORONTO, April 15 (Canadian Press)—Whatever our own particular views may be, are we now coming to recognize that the religious element in human life is so fundamental and so essential to the whole superstructure of character and citizenship that we would rather see our children trained as good Methodists, good Anglicans or good Roman Catholics or even good Jews, than have no religious education at all." So spoke Rev. Dr. Alfred Gandier, principal of Knox College and former Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly to the Trustees' and Ratepayers' Section of the Ontario Education Association gathered here this afternoon. His address part of a symposium to which Bishop Fallon of London, for the Roman Catholics, and Rabbi Brickner of Toronto, for the Jews, also contributed.

Dr. Gandier said that the "serious fact we face today is that religious teaching has not the place it once had in the home, that a large proportion of children are receiving no religious training in the home."

EASTER SERVICE IN DELORO HALL

Rev. B. E. Foster of Toronto Officiated—Other Services Held.

MARMORA, April 15.—A bright joyous Easter service was held in Deloro Hall on Sunday evening, the officiating minister being the Rev. B. E. Foster, B.A., of Toronto, formerly Presbyterian minister at Trenton. The hall was tastily decorated with Easter lilies and other gorgeous blooms. Deloro string quartette played the opening voluntary. A full choir rendered the anthem, "O Risen Lord," by Joseph Barnby, with great expression. An eloquent sermon was delivered by the Rev. B. E. Foster from the text, "Why art thou cast down, O my soul?" Is not the Easter message, "Hope thou still in God?" he enquired. The resurrection is the most challenging fact of all history. Upon it, the church of Christ was founded. The time was when ministers would bring forth many arguments to support the fact of the resurrection. That time is past.

St. Paul's Church.

Easter Day was observed at St. Paul's with services at 8, 11 and 7.30. At eight there was a celebration of Holy Communion, attended by a fair number of communicants. There was a large congregation at the eleven o'clock celebration, many coming in from North Marmora and Deloro. Miss Cheeseman of Toronto sang a special solo, "Weep not for Him who died," in a voice very pleasing.

The Rev. P. Caiger-Watson gave an address from the communion rails. In the evening there was again a good congregation. In the afternoon at Sunday school mite-boxes used by the scholars during Lent were brought in, yielding once more a substantial amount for the missionary work of the church. The postponed cantata will be held at St. Paul's on Sunday, April 26, in the evening.

Mr. Joseph O'Brien is visiting his mother over Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace motored to Campbellford on Saturday.

Mr. Norman Seal journeyed to Millbrook on Saturday.

A euchre party was held at the home of Mr. Ernest Shannon on Saturday evening.

Miss Ann Rayburn, of Tweed, spent Easter with her sister, Mrs. J. P. Marrin.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mantle and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Horton visited friends in Ivanhoe on Sunday.

Mrs. Samuel Skinner is confined to her home through illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pack, of Madoc, took tea at Mr. William McCoy's on Sunday.

Miss Margaret McCoy arrived in Marmora on Sunday to spend the expended portion of her Easter holiday.

FAREWELL TO REV ROBERT POGUE.

(Contributed.)

It is quite impossible to write an account of such a meeting as this, or by mere words to convey to the public any adequate conception of the true character of the gathering at Knox Church last night. There were somewhere about three hundred people present — two presentations, very valuable in themselves, were made, a beautifully worded address went along with them, speeches were made by visiting clergymen and dainty refreshments were served. But there was far more than that to this remarkable gathering.

To go back a bit. Some months ago Rev. Robert Pogue, pale and weak and barely able to stand in his pulpit, announced to his people that he was going to enter the United Church in Canada on June 10th, and hoped that his congregation would follow him. If they did not he would resign his pastorate and enter the United Church of Canada at that time. What followed is a matter of history. The people of St. Paul's, to the number of three hundred and ninety-eight, decided to follow their beloved pastor in this great step, leaving behind them those who do not believe in the Union of God's people. This group —the Unionist minority from St. Paul's—organized and agreed to pay their minister's salary until the end of June, and to immediately release him from all work for a prolonged rest. To-day (Wednesday) St. Paul's manse is empty. The loved minister and his wife are gone. The noise and laughter of the boys and girls—some of them born there, is stilled, the blinds are down. Nobody answers No. 406 now. The aged and the sick and the shut-in must look elsewhere for comfort and encouragement and prayers.

But last night at Knox Church was a heartening experience. Some three hundred Unionists from St. Paul's had borrowed Knox Church for a farewell to the manse folk. Mr. J. W. Fraser, in command as chairman, called upon Dr. Moir, who read the address of presentation. Miss Charlotte Dixon then handed over to Mrs. Pogue a service of sterling silver, while Mr. Young gave Mr. Pogue a cheque for one thousand dollars.

Mr. Pogue's reply was beautiful in its simplicity and reminiscent tenderness. Trying to picture to himself the reality of what was going on, a kind of unreal dream it was to him. Roots so deep down could scarcely be pulled up; affection so strongly entrenched can hardly be disturbed. Yet in the morning at six o'clock he would be gone. Tender words of thanks for so much kindness to himself and his wife, kindly advice and encouragement to his faithful Union followers —a benediction of love and prayer and then he gave way to Mrs. Pogue, who made a little speech through shining tears with gracious womanly presence. "We will begin to use it right away," she said, placing her hand upon the silver service, "always thinking of your love." It was the supreme moment of a great evening. Every heart was full. Not a sound disturbed the silence when she sat down.

Some unique speeches followed. Rev. W. H. Young, Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D., Rev. A. H. McConachie, Rev. J. W. Gordon and Rev. M. C. Mackinnon each spoke out of full hearts words of love and cheer. It is impossible to describe this unique meeting, its atmosphere of good cheer and even fun with tears never very far away. "In line with a movement of God's will going clear around the world—Church Union in India, China, England, Scotland, with Canada leading the way," said one speaker. Gratitude to God for Mr. Pogue's returning health, a firm and sacred re-dedication to the great cause of the union of all God's people—a good-bye and God bless you.

Of course it is needless to say that the splendid gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Pogue were contributed by the Unionist minority of St. Paul's and by no one else. Mr. and Mrs. Pogue and family are away to-day to Wasaga Beach, where rest and quiet will assist nature in restoring strength to the weakened body of Mr. Pogue.

The Address.

The address was as follows:

To the Rev. Robert Pogue and Mrs. Pogue.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Pogue,—After seventeen years of ministry to the congregation of St. Paul's Church, Peterboro, you have severed your connection with that congregation, and are about to take your departure from amongst us. At this time we, your friends of the Unionist minority of St. Paul's, feel that we must take the opportunity of assuring you of the high esteem and affection in which you both are held not only by us but also by the community at large.

To you, Mr. Pogue, as our pastor, we would also express our gratitude for the long years of faithful service which you have given us; that you have ever kept before yourself and us high ideals of truth and of service. Your influence from both precept and example must needs remain long with us.

As a citizen you have always helped forward every movement that aimed at the spiritual and moral advancement of the community and your removal will be felt as a distinct loss to our city.

To you, Mrs. Pogue, your fellow-members of the Auxiliary to the W.M.S. would express their sincere appreciation of your faithfulness through the years as vice-president of the society, and their keen regret at the loss of your kindly companionship in the work. We would also testify to the high ideal you have set before the whole congregation as a wife and mother.

We trust that both of you may long be spared, and that your lives may be blessed in joyous, useful and fruitful service for the extension of the Kingdom of our Lord and Master.

As tokens of remembrance, also of our appreciation and esteem we would ask Mrs. Pogue to accept this cabinet of silver and Mr. Pogue this cheque.

Signed on behalf of the Unionist minority of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church,

Jeannie L. Cormack,
J. Wells Fraser.

Miss Raeburn, of Tweed, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Marrin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson motored to Glenarm on Saturday for the week-end.

Misses Nellie and Hazel Williams went to Toronto on Monday morning. Miss Nellie Williams is a delegate to the Ontario Educational Association.

Mr. James Shannon arrived home from Belleville on Thursday night.

Mrs. Shortt and family have arrived home after a two weeks' visit with her mother in Toronto.

Mr. Lester, manager of the C.N.R. freight sheds, spent Easter at his home in Renfrew.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Bell were in Toronto over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Deacon, Miss Violet and Mrs. Myrtle Loveless motored to Stirling and spent Easter Sunday with Mrs. Deacon's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wells spent Easter Sunday with Mrs. Reynolds in Stirling.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

HE'D GIVE NO QUARTER.

Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: The agitation for daylight saying continues, but it seems to be weakening. The game has not worked as smoothly as they supposed it would, and the forces of the opposing faction are not sleeping.

If the daylight saving people think they can belittle our council, and shower a few with bouquets, and with a pat on the back of some, and a heavier pat on the back of others, and get them to change their verdict, they may find them made of better material and the council will likely reply like the Dad to his son: "Now, Johnnie, when I set my foot down, I mean it!"

Here is an instance of how the expressmen, factories and stores, will figure in this time:

C.P.R. trains arrive at 3.29 p.m., and leave at 3.35 p.m. The expressmen help the station men to take express parcels off the train. If daylight saving comes in force, with the train service as it is, the drivers have only 25 minutes to get perishable and other goods delivered and collect up what the factories and stores have to ship abroad.

Speaking to some teamsters, and this is the view of many, I find they feed their horses at 4.30 a.m.; some are working for the city, and live in the extreme south, or other extreme distances from their work, where they load. Think of under daylight saving time to arrive at 3.30 to get their horses fed!

There are men working on the railway who now have to be at work at 6.30 a.m. These men, who are in boarding houses, have to be away at 6 o'clock, while the woman manager of the boarding house has to get up at 5 o'clock, and it is surprising to learn how many boarding houses will be affected by a change, and the first breakfast will be served at 5 o'clock, and one for other boarders at 6 o'clock, and the breakfast will not keep from 4 o'clock either, meaning a waste of time and food.

Daylight saving is false economy at the best, as the following little story will explain:

The stingiest man was scoring the hired man for his extravagance in wanting to carry a lantern in going to call on his best girl.

"The idea!" he scoffed. "When I was courtin' I never carried no lantern; I went in the dark."

The hired man proceeded to fill the lantern.

"Yes," he said sadly, "and look what you got!"

It is the same with daylight saving; it is false economy.

The little boy dreads the fire, likewise those whose memory has not failed them—they dread daylight saving. Once burned, twice shy. Personally I believe in signing the ballot in the Examiner, to just mark an X against daylight saving time, and put a cancellation through the months as mentioned, showing no quarter at all against our decision.

Yours truly,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON

MASONIC BRETHREN HONORED BY LODGE

E. H. D. Hall and Harry Rush Presented With Bouquets of Roses.

At an emergent meeting, last night, of Peterborough Lodge, A.F. & A. M., as many as thirty members of Golden Rule Lodge, Campbellford, were the guests of the local lodge. The visitors arrived by motor, and took part in the work of the evening.

Wor. Bro. P. C. Denyes, with the officers of the Campbellford Lodge took charge of the first degree ceremony, and exemplified in the way it was performed very high facility and familiarity with the duty. After the lodge closed down a pleasant two hours were spent in the refreshment room, which was crowded by the many attending.

A varied programme had been provided, including short addresses from the visiting brethren, songs, music and brief remarks from members of the local lodge.

Two of the many places at table were marked by bunches of beautiful roses, and seated at these spots were two of the oldest members of the lodge and indeed the Craft in the city. Both had completed a half century of membership in the Order. Rt. Wor. Bro. E. H. D. Hall had remarked to a brother that April 14 was the recurring anniversary of his initiation, having been taken in as a member of Corinthian Lodge, fifty years ago, in the year 1875. But in the years that have gone sliding down the declivity of time, many other Masonic affiliations have come to or been bestowed on the excellent member, he being high up in other ramifications of the Order. He is also an honorary member of Peterboro Lodge. Flowers were quite in order.

Rt. Wor. Bro. Harry Rush shared in the agreeable shower, for it will be just fifty years on Friday of this week, since the esteemed brother was made Master of Peterborough Lodge, a high honor in those days, though his Masonic career began some time earlier Rt. Wor. Bro. Rush has acquired much of Masonic information and is well skilled in routine and precedent. In fact, he is able to draw from his store of ritual parts of the Wording of the Work that are not attempted by men fifty years his junior. Distinction and preferences have been showered on the eminent member by the local lodges and from others cutside the jurisdiction.

The chairman of the evening, Wor. Bro. W. D. Campbell, took occasion to explain, briefly, the happy incident that disclosed of these Masonic events in the lives of the two members, who ensconced behind the nosies hid their embarrassment. Wor. Bro. Hall spoke of his association of years and of his satisfaction that with the sorrowful fact to remember that the men who shared with him associations in the lodge of fifty years ago were nearly all numbered with their fathers, he found a sincere pleasure in making and keeping friendships with those who were coming along the same old road but using the surroundings that are so much improved and which make the Lodge an agreeable place to gather in. His expression of thanks was brief but sincere. It is understood that on Friday evening of this week, Corinthian Lodge will have something to say in addition and in recognition of its most ancent member.

Rt. Wor. Bro. Rush has never been addicted to speech making. Not that he discourages it in others, but draws the line clearly as to making himself heard, even after supper. He said he was deeply moved by the token of concern and appreciation from the members. He had a broad entree into all lodges, having been honored with honorary memberships, which he valued very highly. And failing to find words for expression of just what he dearly wished to say, he asked Bro. Wm. Bolton, with whom he is associated in business, to finish up and interpret to the meeting that which he (Wor. Bro. Rush) could not just lay his tongue to with readiness. Bro. Bolton, knowing that there is ever a time when some one may do for another some service very much better than the applicant can do for himself, neatly and feelingly expressed the thoughts and sentiments of the holder of the roses. Then the two excellent brethren, pleading years and infirmities, asked to be excused and withdrew, the company standing up amidst the thick and smoky haze, and making a prodigious noise in token of appreciation and friendship.

SARGENT IS DEAD.

Famous Portrait Painter Suffered Stroke and Died To-day.

LONDON, April 15 (Canadian Press)—John Sargent, noted artist, died suddenly at his home in Chelsea this morning. He suffered a stroke.

John Singer Sargent, probably one of the best known portrait painters of recent times was born in Florence, Italy, in 1856, the son of a Boston physician and author. Sargent passed most of his life in Europe, living in London since 1884.

Woodhaven, N. Y.—Mr. K. M. Collins says, "Instead of plodding through my work wearily on account of sick headaches and sour stomach, I now enjoy good health and ambition, can do more and better work and life is worth living. I have never before given my name to advertise a medicine, but you cannot imagine how different I feel since I discovered Carter's Little Liver Pills." Carter's Little Liver Pills tonic the whole system through the liver and bowels. They act as a mild and effective laxative in a gentle manner without any bad after effects. At all Druggists.

FIRES AND WARNING.

Chief Warns the Citizens Against Making Fires Without Permission.

Two chimney fires occurred today the first at 11.49 a.m. at 136 Robinson Street and the second at 11.54 a.m. at 368 Smith Stret. No damage was done in either case.

Chief Gimblett wishes to inform the citizens of Peterborough that according to the fire by-law, people must secure a permit before having a bonfire and under no circumstances must people set fires up against the cement sidewalk as this causes the concrete to crumble.

LAWN BOWLERS GETTING READY

Held Well Attended Get-Together Meeting to Prepare For Season.

CHANGE RULES.

The members of the Lawn Bowling Club were out in force at the Chamber of Commerce last night for a get together meeting to arrange for the coming season. The large attendance and the enthusiasm shown augur well for the success of the season of 1925.

Several matters of business were transacted, including a change in the scoring rules. For this season the point system of penalizing for absent players will be discarded, and straight games will be counted. It was decided to take up with R. M. Glover the question of changing the rules of competition for the Glover Cup. The open tournament dates were set as July 22 and 23.

QUEER ACCOUSTICS.

"To build up a rundown constitution or to strengthen the nerves, I know of no better medicine than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," said Chas. M. Brush of 408 Caron Ave., Windsor, Ont. "I had become in a rundown condition, my nerves were bad, and my stomach gave me a great deal of trouble; I would have spells of nervous indigestion. But after taking a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, my health was much improved and my nerves were stronger. I did not have any more spells of nervous indigestion. 'Golden Medical Discovery' seemed to tone up my entire system and made me feel much improved physically."

STRENGTH AND VITALITY CREATED BY RED BLOOD

The strength, vitality and nerve power of every man and woman depend on the blood. Red blood is the supreme driving force of life. When we lack strength we should think first of our blood. When we have rich, red blood we quickly regain strength. Weak, thin-blooded men and women can find an easy, safe way to create red blood.

Wincarnis gives also the blood the very elements from which red blood is created. For fifty years this blood builder has restored men and women who were lacking in life power.

If your body vitality is at low ebb, your system undernourished, or your nerve force exhausted, go to your druggist today, obtain a bottle of Wincarnis and begin the safe Wincarnis treatment.

Wincarnis is so effective that only three tablespoonsful a day need be taken. Try Wincarnis at once and see the strength that just a few days will bring.

"Let's go to California"

EVERY day some tired, prosperous or otherwise travel-inclined man says to his wife, "Let's go to California!" And such is the power of advertising that, although neither of them may ever have been there before, they know just how to go, approximately what it will cost, and where they will want to stay.

The same with anything you may need or want. You already know all about it, by whom it is made, what it costs, and where it is for sale. Advertising is the modern intelligencer. It keeps you informed, advises you of new things, suggests new uses for articles you already own, and prepares you to-day for wise and useful purchases to-morrow.

It does all this for you, almost unconsciously, during the half-hour or so you spend each day with your newspaper. Little by little—the best and surest way to learn—advertising makes you informed of what is going on in the world that is useful to you.

Read the advertisements. Get ready for to-morrow.

ART CLUB MET TO STUDY HUNT

Women's Art Association Gathered at Home of Mrs. L. J. Pettit.

SEASON TO CLOSE.

A meeting of the Art Study Club of the Women's Art Association was held last evening at the home of Mrs. L. J. Pettit, when a very interesting paper on Holman Hunt was given by Mrs. V. S. Foster. The next, and final, meeting of the Club will be held on April 28th, in the studio at the Conservatory of Music, when Mrs. C. Hodgson will act as hostess, and a paper on Sir Edwin Landseer will be given by Mrs. C. B. Adair.

Mrs. Foster's talk on Holman Hunt is summarized as follows:

Born in London in 1827 Holman Hunt had an unusually uphill battle to fight in the pursuit of art. At the age of twelve he was put in a city office but he employed his leisure in reading, drawing and painting. When his father learned that his master was encouraging him in studying art he secured another place for him. Here he drew pen and ink sketches at his desk and made several drawings which attracted attention among his friends.

At sixteen he began an independent career as an artist.

While drawing at the British Museum in 1845, he met Millais, who was then fifteen and winning prizes at the Academy.

In 1846, when Hunt's "Eve of St. Agnes" from Keats was exhibited, Dante Gabriel Rossetti pronounced it the best picture exhibited at the Academy that year.

Hunt and Rossetti both read Keats and adored "The Golden Gates of Ghiberti." It was during a discussion in their studio in 1848 that the name Pre-Raphaetite was adopted. The seven artists present agreed that modern art had stripped off the simple garment of natural truthfulness and had fallen into conventional phrases which had become empty and repellent by dull repetition. That year pictures were developed according to the new idea. The pictures exhibited by Millais, Rossetti and Hunt were from Keats and were all marked with the mystic P.R.B. The first two exhibits caused much excitement and derison, and when Hunt and Mllais exhibited for the third time such a storm of excitement broke forth that the pictures had to be removed from the exhibition. John Ruskin came forward and answered the attack in the Times in 1851. Only one criticism he left unanswered, and that was that they over-emphasized detail. He admitted that their work showed a laborious finish. Millais and Hunt arrived independently at a new method of rendering brightness in the air, byt painting in transparent color, with light sable brushes, over a half moist white ground. Hunt was very much discouraged in the three years following the exhibition of the P.R.B. pictures. No one bought his pictures and failure seemed inevitable.

His success was assured when in 1854 he exhibited "The Light of the World." For the first time in England a picture became a subject of general conversation and interest. Mrs. Combe gave this picture to Keble College, Oxford.

A second version, completed in 1904, was exhibited by Mr. Charles Booth in th chief colonial cities and is now in St. Paul's Cathedral.

In 1860 his next great picture, "The Finding of Christ in the Temple," begun in Jerusalem, was completed. It sold for £5,500.

In 1869 "The Shadow of Death," considered by most people as Mr. Hunt's finest picture, was exhibited.

He was not especially successful as an illustrator of books, but Tennyson's and Keat's poems gave the subjects of many pictures. "In Memoriam," describes "The Shin," "The Lady of Chalott" gave the subject of a work which took twelve years in painting.

To the Bible Holman Hunt gave his manhood— to Shakespeare his youth.

Beauty Secrets of Famous Beauties

BY FLO KENNEDY
Of the Ziegfeld Follies

I consider my hair my greatest beauty asset. I devote more time to it than any other phase of beauty culture, probably because it responds more quickly to care and it shrieks neglect more loudly.

I pin my faith on my hair brush. First, it must be of good quality, with firm, but not too stiff bristles. Then it always must be immaculately clean. I have several brushes so that I never need use one twice without washing it.

My hair is very thick, but I brush only a little at a time and always hold it away from the head with one hand and brush up instead of down. This keeps the scalp in a healthy condition and ,if the scalp is healthly the hair is almost bound to be thick and to have luster and sheen.

Once a fortnight I wash my hair in pure castile soap and water and dry it by hand. I never wear a hat when I can avoid it and give the air and sunlight every chance at it.

MAJOR BENNETT I.O.D.E. DANCE

Second of Season For Junior Chapter—Big Number Attended.

PRETTY DECORATIONS.

The Major Bennett Chapter of the I.O.D.E. held another successful dance last evening at the Conservatory of Music Hall. This was the second dance of the season for the Major Bennett Chapter. These dances by the Junior Chapter are always well attended by youthful dancers of the younger set, and last evening there were nearly 200 present.

The hall was prettily decorated with streamers and balloons, and the orchestra platform was attractively arranged.

Splendid dance music was supplied by Charlie Sedgwick's orchestra, who played generous encores.

The novelty dance was won by Miss E. McIntyre and Mr. J. Renwick.

Several of the most popular couples rode to the dance in a democrat drawn by a horse, something which has not been done in the city for many a day. It was the result of a wager.

EASTER MEETING AT ST. ANDREW'S

Women's Missionary Society Heard Inspiring Address By Visitor.

The Easter meeting of St. Andrew's W. M. S. was held on Tuesday afternoon, with the president in the chair.

It was opened by devotional exercises, prayers being offered up by Mrs. J. John, Mrs. Kerr and Miss Craw. The business part of the meeting was gone through, with the secretary and treasurer reading their reports.

The ladies then had the pleasure of hearing an inspiring address by Mrs. Johnston, president of the Toronto Presbyterial, who won the hearts of her hearers by her earnest and sympathetic talk on missionary work, which is doing so much for the world to-day. She spoke on the World's Mission Convention held in Washington, which she attended. The speaker said every country in the world was represented, and related incidents given by representatives from the Eastern countries, including India, Africa, Turkey, China and spoke of the faith and earnestness of the native Christians of those lands. At the conclusion of the address, Mrs. Jas. Gordon, on behalf of the society, moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker.

Mrs. Ford Turner favored the ladies with a vocal solo, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Little Garden Gods

By MARJORIE HOWE DIXON.

A delightful little poem by R. R. Chalmers, entitled "Cottage Garden Prayer," ends:

Little garden gods,
Bless the time of sowing
Watering and growing,
Lastly, when our sunflower nods,
And our rambler's red array
Waits the honey-bee his labors,
Bless our garden that it may
Beat our next-door neighbor's,
Little garden gods!

May it endeed "beat our neighbor's"—oh dear, how intensely human we are! It is perhaps that very quality which makes us place little gods in gardens!

And besides the little gods in cast cement, or cut in stone, there are those joyous little cherubs who rule proudly over fountains. One cherub in his bubbling glory, clasps to this bosom a justly indignant goose! Another relentlessly squeezes the cement prototype of the well-known creature called "poor fish."

Of course there are those trick fountains in which the poor fish looks as though he really enjoyed standing on his slippery tail and spurting water gayly over the assembled larkspur and lupine. But we feel that nature-faking on the part of the sculptors ought really to be discouraged, if not frowned upon.

Romance and the Garden.

"A dipping well"—doesn't that sound romantic? But what use is a garden if it isn't romantic? We are utterly in favor of romance in a garden—what hard-hearted person is there, who can resist the impish faces of the pansies, or the scarlet flirtations of the nasturtiums.

Yes, a dipping well with a carved surface belongs in a proper garden And a secluded nook with a marble bench for two belongs—nay, is an absolute necessity! Near this, in the surrounding mock orange and bridal wreath should stand a good Pan. Yes, he should—right where the moonlight would best illumine his grinning face—so he would catch you—you know—and wink at you—they say "daisies never tell."

Then, of course in romantic gardens when the colors fairly sing in the breezes and the sunlight, a prim sundial should find an open space to remind you of the "sunny hours." And since summer days have a little way of growing uncomfortably warm, a wall fountain offers a pleasant cooling trickling sound over in one corner, and invites birds and mortals to quench their thirst.

Special Baths for Birds.

The birds must never be forgotten, and their own special bird bath must be provided. They will enjoy it in their own way—with a good deal of argument apparently. We were taught in our youth, "Little birds in their nests agree!" "Well—maybe—but they don't agree about a bird bath—except that they all like it.

There are many useful bits of garden furniture, like the big handsome urns, in their varieties of shapes. Then there are the ornamental pieces—like the great oil jars, now in demand. They too have a tinge of romance—you remember Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves? Well, it was in just such an oil jar that the old boys were concealed, that time. And who knows what morning you might find a nymph or a satyr or perhaps a gnome fast asleep in your oil jar?

And of course there must be a flagged path in a romantic garden—and it must lurk behind shrubbery and steal away behind trees and finally lead you to the end—a little shrine—but surely—a shrine to the little garden gods themselves, or at any rate one of them!

Peter Pan and His Piper.

What will you choose for your garden god? There's a standing figure of a gnome suggesting the days of Rip Van Winkle—but busy with a broom. No, he wouldn't quite do! Then there's a Chinese philosopher gentleman who looks gravely down. No, he is too serious! There's a little seated Pan who is piping away as if he would burst—he might make a pleasant garden god. Or perhaps you would choose a sturdy, very young man, clotheh in nothing at all, who is blowing on a conch shrell? He might take good care of a garden.

Perhaps you will install your garden gods in a pool—they wouldn't get so thirsty, would they? For this, a pair of fat youngsters astride a merry dolphin, rampant, would grace a gay garden. One lad holds aloft a trident; perhaps that explains the expression of the dolphin: he looks ready to shout.

So let us have little garden gods to bless the growing petunias, mignonette, roses, iris, asters, golden rod: Let us have then to foster romance adventuring (have you not had a garden adventure?), and above all, "Beat our next-door neighbor's!"

Book Shelves as Decoration

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

Is there any home more totally uninviting than that one, rigidly precise and correct, whose wide tables and shelves contain no books?

One well-known lecturer said, "I know what books are for—they are for interior decoration!" He then illustrated one of his meanings by placing four or five brightly colored books on a library table, adding supporting book ends, and with this, completed a very effective room arrangement.

Books and book shelves are being used more and more in many fascinating ways to add to interesting rooms.

Book shelves in and about radiators are not new, but are being used more and more frequently. Radiators need coverings and often stand just below windows. A window seat combined with book shelves gives opportunity to conceal the heating device, and also storage for more books. What a cozy spot in which to read such a window seat would offer!

A broad set of shelves, with some books and pottery and perhaps a clock, becomes a very decorative piece, serving, too, a distinctly useful purpose.

Like in Grandmother's Day.

Pairs of shelves are being devised in ever increasing variety. One quaint old pair stood in opposite corners, each on its prim pedestal. These especially remind one of the "whatnot" of our grandmother's days, each shelf small and three cornered.

Tall narrow shelves can be hung in pairs, one either side a large picture or mirror. The arrangement of books or pottery must be carefully thought out, so that the colors blend pleasantly with the picture.

These narrow upright shelves are also hung in pairs, either side a fireplace. For that matter small desks are sometimes placed either side the fireplace, and above each is hung a wide set of shelves for books.

Our grandmother's "whatnots" are now highly treasured and have been brought out from their years of hibernation in the attic and are now proudly seeing active service again. Both books and china find a place on them.

Built-in book shelves have been suggested and indeed very cleverly designed for use in many rooms—the living room preferably.

Decorated in Lacquer.

Small shelves, with glass doors that lock, are also hung on the wall. These are sometimes fancifully decorated with designs in lacquer and are more often used for small treasures in jade, glass or ivory, than for books.

The idea of locking books away has largely gone out of use,—as indeed have glass doors for book shelves. One man found he just had to keep his valuable collection of autographs under lock and key. So he was glad to find an antique set of book shelves that had a key that really worked. To be sure the key was a nuisance on his keyring—belonging to the days when keys were generous in build.

He found that guests looking over autographs, many of them on small pieces of paper, were sometimes careless about replacing them, and while he couldn't and wouldn't believe any one would take one, still, his precious autographs would be found missing. The locked book case solved the problem, because he saw to it, that he returned the autographs himself.

As was said at the beginning, books are indeed "for interior decoration!"

Pleasing on All Heads are the Spring Hat Styles

As far as shape is concerned there will be little difference in the styles of the hats that men will wear this spring and those worn last fall. But the most radical change will be in the bands that go around the hats.

Some manufacturers have introduced the fancy band, braids similar to those worn around the straw hats. The colors however, will not be pronounced, but there will be a fine stripe or two running through the bands—just enough color to make the man's hat a noticeable part of his ensemble.

As stated, shapes in many instances are like those of last fall, but there is a considerable group which show a decided swing and curl to the brim.

Fedora Shape Always Good.

Fedora and Alpine shapes, in good taste for many years, will prevail once more. But there is a growing demand for the diamond and dented in shapes by the younger fellows. The tipped-down fronts, too, will be worn more than ever. As will be noted, there is quite a variety as far as shapes go.

A group of hat makers attempted to put over the green hat, but the success of this venture wasn't as marked as the sale of the book called "The Green Hat." A second effort will be made this spring, but the retailer's forecast doesn't speak any too hopefully.

Light colors, of course, will be the vogue. Among them pearl grays promise to give every other shade the battle for popularity. Then there will be tans and a few lavenders to match the suits of the same tone.

Sailor Straws Continue.

For summer wear, the light-weight straw wins in the long run. It has been the old standby for many years and promises to hold its popularity for years, unless something novel and striking displaces it.

Whites, light browns and tans will be shown and worn largely. In recent years there has been introduced many weaves of straws and most of them have had followers. They probably will all appear when straw hat day is announced.

Black bands, of course, will be worn with most of these straws, but it is predicted that the color bands to go with the general color scheme of dress will make great inroad. Most of these will show one or two fine colored stripes.

Old Standbys Remain.

The old timers, panamas and leghorns will carry off the honors among the older men who are wedded to their comfort, and there is a certain following among the younger fellows who will follow step.

The derby, which at one time was the spring and fall hat, probably will gain no more converts than it did a year ago. In caps, light, rich, distinctive over-all patterns will be shown.

Footnotes to Fashions

Now that frocks are short again shoes are more noticeable and more important than ever. But so many charming new shoes are offered for your selection that you are certain to enjoy your shoe shopping more than ever before.

For the daytime and for street wear, the trimly tailored pump walks the smartest paths of fashion. Sometimes it is quite unadorned but just as often the flash and gleam of a cut steel buckle lends a charming finish to a well shod foot. Patent or dull leather are equally good.

For the Afternoon.

In the afternoon slippers become more elaborate both in color and design. Many charming models are intricate with unusual strappings and sometimes agleam with buckles. Blonde kid or blond satin slippers will be seen with many a charming afternoon costume. Lizard and alligator are still smart but they are most popular when combined with plain kid. However, if the gown is rather elaborate the slipper is simpler—frequently a high heeled opera pump, for an elaborately strapped slipper with an elaborate frock gives a feeling of fussyness which is not of the mode of today.

On Warmer Days.

With the delicate frocks of summertime, the pastel slipper is very smart. Frequently it harmonizes with the deepest tone found in the costume or it is very chic to have it match the felt hat.

In the evening the strappings on slipers become more elaborate than ever. Some slippers show the sandal cut which goes right to the sole and shows a very broad expanse of the foot. However here again the opera pump is also very smart if you prefer it.

Gold and silver brocaded slippers are always good. But even newer are the dyed satin slippers. These slippers are dyed to mach the deepest tone in the dress or if the dress is all of one color they are dyed a deeper shade. Such as with a lilac dress, a slipper on the same tone but almost purple. This accent of color gives a perfectly charming effect on the dance floor.

Of course the most popular shade of hosiery is nude. Nude hose always with colored slippers, in either the afternoon or evening. For more tailored wear the smart woman tatoes and of the peat they had cut chooses a slightly darker tone.

GAY NOTES rule haberdashery

Once more color will be rampant in men's haberdashery. Once more the brighter shades of the rainbow will prevail. Once more will the gayer colors that were dominant last year be foremost in this season's presentation of furnishings.

Particularly is this true of Neckwear. In fact, it is almost arbitrary, for the sombre tones of other years will be shown in only small selections.

While floral effects are still in good taste, the dseigns will run more to the diagonal stripes. This is largely in keeping with the prevalence of stripes that will be shown in men's clothes. Of course, there will be some conventional designs of block effects, cubist treatments and small geometrical motifs.

Grenadines Are Featured.

Featuring the materials will be the moires, which will not be cut as fully as in other years, but ample in both knot and ends. Grenadines, too, will have quite a calling; so will the crinkly crepes and the almost permanent silks and wool mixtures. As the season advances into the good old summertime foulards will come strongly to the front.

Knit Ties Back in Favor.

Knit ties, which at one time threatened to lose much of their popularity, will probably get a new lease on life, due largely to the fact that the makers, realizing that colorful neckwear will be the vogue, have put plenty of splash and dash into them. Involved mixtures and bold bias stripings will be shown extensively.

One of the most decided changes of several seasons will be shown in shirts. The new soft shirt with two separate collars to match probably will win much favor. These will be shown largely in solid tones of blues, grays, browns and even pinks. There will, of course, be some striped and figured effects.

Two Collars With Shirts.

The pleated bosom hard cuffs and starched collars—that rare combination in shirts—also will be given another test. Last season such shirts were given a trial and went over fairly well. The sale of this apparel was hindered largely by the fact that in most instances only one collar was supplied to the buyer, while this year there will be two.

In collar-attached shirts, plain colors and some figure effects will be shown this season. White shirts will have quite a following, since almost any kind of a tie may be worn with them. Pattern effects in madras and broadcloths will be good.

The riot of color even goes to the hosiery that will be worn this season. This, in a measure, is largely due to the fact that the British Isles and France are sending across all the combinations that may be found.

Everything to delight the man who runs to color and patterns will be shown, among them checks, plaids, stripes, figures and clocks. Lisles and silks, of course, will lead the procession, but worsteds and softer fabrics, particularly in the early spring, will follow closely.

Sweaters Match Hosiery.

Especially in gold hose does color run rampant—not the dyes, but the tones, we mean. In fact, color in these have come out so strong that the makers are matching both sweaters and hose—and the combination is taking like the proverbial hotcakes. Wools, worsteds, camel's hair and brushed-up textures will prevail.

In gloves, the lighter shades will be worn. Bucks, chamois, and mochas will give the capes a battle for supremacy. The buttonless glove, very much like the short gauntlet glove worn by milady, will come out stronger than ever.

Handkerchiefs, too, have caught the color appeal. There will be colored corded borders, colored initials and colored centres.

Middy Styles in Pajamas.

For early spring, short legs and sleeveless underwear of fine cotton will be worn. In pyjamas, the middy styles will get more attention.

Silk belts in the hatband colors an patterns probably will win greater favor than a year ago when they were first introduced. Leathers, however, will be commonly worn with ornamental buckles. The new beltogram also is gaining in favor.

Suspender manufacturers report an increase in their sales, this being due largely to the fact that with the new "balloon" trousers need these trappings to hold them in place properly.

Junior's Clothes in step with Dad's

In line with their dad's clothes, which are more English in cut than ever, the boys of this Spring will follow the styles of their seniors. More than ever will the influence of Harrow and Eton exert itself.

While the Norfolk model will have quite a following, the Suits this Spring will show less of the pleated back and other frills, which made them decidedly boyish in past years. Today the young fellow of six to sixteen is almost a replica of his dad, as far as clothes styles go.

And with these new spring modes the vest will be a prominent acquisition—something to give the youngster a lot of proud feeling, that he is a growing fellow.

Better Tailoring the Rule.

Strange as it may seem the plainer the clothes the more difficult to make. That has made it necessary for manufacturers to put in needlework equal to dad's clothes. They are made for ruggedness in service, suggedness in fabric.

Tweeds will be used largely, because the fabric adapts itself to the gymnastics of the young fellow .And this material can be successfully used in the making of the new sort of knickers and knee breeches, which are frequently sold in combination at those stores advertising two-trousers suits.

Lighter Colors to Be Worn.

While dark colored fabrics have been used in other years this Spring ing their patrons th latest in ter- and lighter light colors, especially the light browns, greens and powder blues.

In topcoats the straight hanging coat, similar to those worn by adults, will be style admitted to be best for the little fellows. These coats truly make a little genteman of the boy.

There's little difference in the wearing apparel of the juveniles—the little fellows from two to six years of age. The middy suits or wash suits will get their play just as strong a ever, particularly when warmer weather permits them to romp and frolic outdoors.

Variety of Styles.

For cooler weather tweeds and serges will be the popular sellers and these wil be shown in a variety of quaint and interesting styles.

A for accessories the collar-attached shirts will be worn extensively. These will be shown in plain and pin-striped effects. Stripes, too, will be shown in neckwear. As for the other fixings there will be litle change from a year ago.

Oak Orchard Folk and Star

Johnnie Hines, the well-known film comedian, has his picture taken with Mr. and Mrs. Perry Alexander of the Hotel Dolphin, Miami, and Oak Orchard, Ontario.

REALISTIC CHILDREN

When the shoppers leave and the lights go out and the toy world comes to life, one should not wish that the little tin soldier and the little rag doll from the past could be there. The shock for them might prove too great.

Their world was all different. Great buildings were made of unjoined wooden blocks, and furniture of papier-mache. The tin soldier himself had no back, and the rag doll could never undress. They would feel out of place in the modern toy shop, which is only the adult world reduced to a smaller scale.

Children who loved tin soldiers and rag dolls have grown up, and the nursery is manned by a more sophisticated crew. Make-believe though they do, it is always on a firm basis of reality. Sham toys are passing. What is a flimsy tin train that winds with a spring to the boy who has seen the New York Central's little brother fly around its track under its own power, with electric headlights ablaze, or who by working an electric control away from the track has made the engine reverse itself without the touch of his hand?

Once an automobile was an automobile, but no longer so. An automobile, even in Toyland, is a Stackard Eight, a Ruick Six, a Dutz Racer or a Nickerbacker Flyer. The youngster wants and gets a car just like dad's, with windshield and cleaner, mirror, license and tail-light, even an electric motor that a child can run. The fenders are made in automobile shops and the springs work like a dream.

No less exacting is little sister for toys like the things mother has. She furnishes her playhouse with sturdy tables and chairs, bureaus and desks made of the same materials and along the same lines the furniture department displays. In her doll's boudoir are all the perfume bottles, atomizers and powder puffs of the coquette's dressing-table. Tiny electric lights glow in her doll house. Her dishes are decorated in gold leaf and her knives and forks must not bend. In her sewing box she demands scissors, however small, that can cut, and spools with more than one layer of thread. She can launder with her washing machine and her electric iron, and cook a real dinner on her tiny electric stove.

She wheels her baby in an English pram, a replica of the one that nurse rolls, and puts him to bed in a crib that drops its side at the touch of a button. She packs his clothes in a trunk that could be checked on a train. As for her baby, he is no stiff-limbed, expressionless doll. His face is all puckered, and his head wabbles when he moves. Dainty little French dolls come no more to the shop, the toy man declared, and even German dolls are scarcer as American makes resemble more closely the real nursery child.

Just Like Grown Folk.

The twentieth-century boy is through with the saw that never cuts and the plane that planes not. A carpenter, if his hand were smaller, might use the same tools. In place of building-blocks, steel girders from the skyscraper skeleton. The boy may even design and execute a building of elaborate architectural design with little tin tiles fitting into one another. From one set of building tiles may be erected a fifty-six-storey structure of 4,643 rooms, involving a climb on a step-ladder to clap on the roof.

Children all along have wanted the real thing to play with, the toy man found out long ago, but it took years to convince the manufacturer that such things would go on the market. Now the toymaker has learned, and the child revels in a life-like play world. His stuffed animals have joints. They move like the beasts of the movies. And, oh, yes, he himself shows pictures with a real movie machine. The magic lantern has lost its charm.

Pretty American Actress Tells Of Abduction By Samoan Chief

Ruby Norton, Forced To Sing "Don't Mind The Rain" To Natives During Driving Rain Storm

Pretty Ruby Norton is regaling her friends these days with thrilling stories of her abduction by a Samoan chief in the South Sea Islands. Miss Norton is a favorite vaudeville performer and has recently returned from a tour of the world. Among her one-night stands was Samoa, which she reached on a jump from Melbourne, Australia, to Honolulu, Hawaii.

Islanders Up to Date

South Sea Islanders, it seems, get all the news these days, and the fame of the play "Rain" and the song, "Don't Mind the Rain" had spread to them. When Miss Norton, therefore, sang the rain song at an official reception, a native chieftain, thinking it had come from the play, "Rain," appealed to Miss Norton in Samoan to come and sing the song to his favorite wives and their friends.

Unfortunately, Miss Norton doesn't speak the South Sea Island language, so she held back. Wanting what he wanted when he wanted it, the chieftain took no notice of her slight demur and hustled her into a waiting Ford. A native driver bumped them over a long road, at the end of which a crowd of natives was assembled.

Wanted Rain

After much experiment with the sign language, Miss Norton finally realized that they wanted her to sing about "rain." She says it was the most appreciative audience she has ever known but though she sees the humour of the situation now, she was not exactly mirthful then, for she was surrounded by dozens of hot, scantily-clad natives, and to add to the general effect, a rainstorm burst over the hilltop just as she finished.

By the time the abducting chieftain returned the singer safely to her hotel, he had learned to say the words "don't mind the rain" and was practising them in a vociferous sing-song.

250,000 FANS PACK BALL PARKS FOR OPENING OF MAJOR LEAGUE'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF NATIONAL Biggest Crowd Saw Shocker Win For Yankees From Champion Senators.

14 HOME RUNS.

Cleveland's Twelve Runs in One Inning Featured Ragged Game With Browns.

CHICAGO, April 15.—(Canadian Press).—All the thrills of an entire season were crammed into the opening struggles Tuesday of the annual baseball campaign, before a quarter of a million fans.

The King of Swat was sick abed but his mates shelled the fences with fourteen home runs.

The Boston Red Sox pushed the Athletics into an extra inning before acknowledging defeat.

The Cleveland Indians made twelve runs in one inning, but their St. Louis hosts were only slightly less expert with the war clubs.

Pete Donohue of the Cincinnati Reds put over the first shutout of the season, the St. Louis Cardinals being victims.

All the National League contests except the Chicago-Pittsburgh game lacked the thrill of a home run, but each American League game had one or more, the Athletics and Boston registering five.

Fiftieth Anniversary.

The National League parks elaborated their opening ceremonies in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the circuit.

President Heydler of the National League attended the Giants-Braves game at Boston. President Johnson of the American League attended the opening contest at Detroit, and Commissioner Landis at the Chicago Cubs.

Walter "Rabbit" Maranville, one of the long list of players disabled by training ship casualties, hobbled to the plate at the Chicago-Pittsburgh game to receive a floral crutch. Discarding one of his regular crutches, he wrapped his bandaged leg around the floral support and hobbled to the dugout with the assistance of the white-hair Baseball Commissioner.

Home Run Honor Roll.

The sluggers' roll of honor for the day includes Charley Jamieson, of Cleveland, who made the first home run of the season in point of time, in the first inning at St. Louis; Earl Sheely, of Chicago White Sox; Miller, Poole and Welch of the Phila. Athletics; Flagstead and Harris of the Boston Red Sox; Myatt and McNulty of Cleveland; Paschel and Meusel of the New York Yankees; Ken. Williams of St. Louis Browns, and Alexander and Hartnett, the Chicago Cubs' battery, who scored the only four base blows of the National League for the day.

The Boston, Brooklyn and Cincinnati National League fans had to be content with two and three-baggers and not so many of them.

The Yankees, with the world's champion Washington team as attraction, drew the largest throng of the day, close to fifty thousand. Chicago Nationals were next with their second largest crowd in history, 38,000. Detroit was close behind with nearly 35,000, and other crowds ranged from maximum capacity down to 15,000 at Boston.

OSHAWA TEAM IS GIVEN A BANQUET

Players Charged With Task of Winning Pennant.

OSHAWA, (April 15. — Monday night Oshawa Baseball Club got away to a flying start when the players were tendered a banquet at which a number of prominent local men pledged their support and charged the players with the duty of bringing a pennant.

L. S. Reeves, a new arrival in the city, and the new manager of the local club, was introduced to the gathering of over 100, and in a short address dwelt upon the necessity of harmony among the players and the support of local fans.

C. R. McIntosh, vice-president of the Oshawa club, was toastmaster and introduced W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., M.P.P., who briefly outlined sporting activities locally and said that with the advent of 4.4 beer baseball would become a very serious matter. He declared he was confident that with the fans' stomachs full of the non-intoxicating, palatable and refreshing beverage, that only the players could be boisterous.

Other speakers were: C. M. Anderson, L. O. Clifford, M.P.; Dr. T. E. Kaiser, E. A. Parsons, Al. Tyson, W. Fair, S. Everson, J. Taber, J. McDougall, P. Coad and C. R. McIntosh. During the evening solos were rendered by Bob Henderson and Jack Reid.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Walter Johnson, making his spring debut against the New York Giants, was batted for three runs in the first inning.

POOR SPRING DEBUT.

Fandom, intensely interested in Johnson, is no doubt wondering if the poor start presages a bad season for baseball's greatest idol.

Johnson's possibilities as a winning pitcher for 1925 are shrouded in much uncertainty.

It would be unfortunate for baseball, and Johnson, if Walter would have a very disastrous year, thereby dimming to a degree his most remarkable record, climaxed by the world series finish of 1924.

I am positive that Johnson intended to retire at the close of last season. He told me so, and Johnson is a man of few words. He believed the stage was all set for him to acquire a profitable minor league franchise.

Failure to get the desired club caused him to rejoin Washington after he believed he was through with the majors.

Money was not the only thing that caused Johnson to rejoin his old club. His love for the game was an even stronger influence.

REFUSED STAGE OFFER.

At the close of the world series of 1924, from which Johnson emerged the outstanding hero, he was offered a theatrical contract for 20 weeks that would have netted him over twice as much as he ever received for a year's salary on the ball field.

Johnson turned the offer down despite the fact that he would have had very little to do in the act. As he put it, it simply called for him to walk across the stage, say a few words to give the folks a chance to see that he was really human, and walk off.

A partner was to assist Johnson in the act and supply the comedy to put it over. When I asked Johnson why he turned down the opportunity, his reply was brief and decidedly to the point:

"I'm a ball player, not an actor. When people pay money to see me, I want to give them a run for it. As an actor I would be the 'bunk,' and my conscience wouldn't let me get away with it."

For Johnson to be unable to win consistently this year would be one of the tragedies of baseball. I would hate to see it happen.

KNOWS HIS STUFF.

I have two reasons for doubting such a possibility. The first: I believe Johnson still has enough natural stuff to pitch better than .500 ball. The second: He is too wise.

If Johnson after several months of play realized he was slipping, that his stuff lacked the deception to get him by, I feel that he would retire.

Johnson has a justifiable pride in his work. I know that his final success in the world series pleased him more than all his previous victories.

This makes me feel that Johnson would prevent an utter rout by quitting while the going was still good.

American League batters say they would be just as well satisfied if Johnson would retire before the opening of the season. None of them look for Walter to be a "bust."

WHEAT READY FOR 17TH MAJOR SEASON

Zach Wheat, veteran Brooklyn outfielder, is due to start his 17th season in the majors this year. He's one of the oldest players in point of service in the big leagues. For the past two seasons he has been right up near the top in hitting and, according to reports, is as frisky as ever for this time of the year.

TWO REAL STARS.

Roush and Wingo Rate With the Best in Old League.

TOP TO BOTTOM, EDDIE ROUSH AND IVY WINGO.

Two of the best bets on the Cincinnati club are the oldest players in point of service on the team. Captain Eddie Roush and Catcher Ivy Wingo. Roush has been in the majors continuously since 1916 and Wingo since 1911.

Roush, despite his many years of service, is still the National League's best outfielder, while Wingo has few superiors back of the plate.

They form the Reds' board of strategy with Manager Hendricks.

TEN INNINGS IN MACK'S VICTORY

Athletics Overcame Six Run Lead With Homers—Jess Doyle Starts.

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 — The Philadelphia Athletics opened the home session before a crowd of approximately 22,000 today and by a game, uphill battle overcame a six run lead that Boston enjoyed for seven innings and won out in the tenth by the score of 9 to 8. Ferguson, who started on the mound for Boston, held the opposition safe until successive home runs by Miller and Poole in the seventh and another by pinch hitter Welch with two on in the eighth sent him to the showers.

Circuit drives by Flagstead and Harris in the eighth and ninth innings kept the visitors in the lead but the Athletics tied the score in the ninth and in the tenth found Rudy Kallio, former Coast Leaguer, for three hits that settled the contest. Score:

Phila. ....000 000 242 1— 9 13 3

Ferguson, Ross, Wingfield, Kallio and Picinich; Baumgartner, Rommel, Grover, Harris, Walberg and Perkins, Cochrane.

Thurston Hit Hard

DETROIT, April 14—Detroit won the opening game of the season from Chicago, 4 to 3, the Tigers hitting Thurston hard while Leonard was effective until he was taken out in the seventh, Jess Doyle, a recruit, being substituted. One of Chicago's runs was a homer by Sheely. Score:

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions, "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans

Letting the right knee project slightly toward the ball as the right shoulder drops during the address is a practice that is used with great success by many fine players in combination with a 'forward press' action through the hips. In this the right knee not only is drawn inward during the address, but the hips move forward with it. This movement is in the direction line. Then, starting the back swing, the hips move to the right in a straight line, the right leg straightens up and the clubhead moves backward, low to the ground, in a straight line away from the ball—a fine way to start the back swing. This promotes rhythm, the most necessary thing in the swing, and it gives that 'whip cracker effect' that stings the ball solidly.

LOW-COST TRIP TO PACIFIC COAST.

A captivating four-week tour of Western Canada and the Pacific Coast, with a trip through the United States on the return journey, is being planned for Canadian teachers and their friends this summer.

Those who take advantage of this trip will see the greatest scenery on the Continent—the Buffalo herd at Wainwright; Jasper National Park; with its unsurpassed mountain scenery; Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies; the totem poles of Kitwanga, and the mystic beauty of the Skeena River.

At Prince Rupert the party transfers from train to boat for the glorious water trip of 750 miles through the sheltered Scenic Seas of the North Pacific Coast to Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

On the return trip five wonderful days will be spent touring Yellowstone National Park by motor, with a trip to Salt Lake City and three days at Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado. Then it's Denver, Clear Creek Canyon, Idaho Springs and Lookout Mountain before heading for Chicago and Toronto.

The tour leaves Toronto, July 9th, and you cannot afford to miss it. Full information, fares, etc., can be secured with illustrated booklet from A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorn Ave., Toronto; Martin Kerr, 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, or any Canadian National Railways Agent.

The sudden change in the weather put a damper on the baseball around town.

The Parks Committee received a deputation from the Peterborough Baseball and Athletic Association, but didn't rent the James Stephenson Park.

The City League will hold its annual meeting on Monday night at 8:00 in the Chamber of Commerce. Everyone who is interested in the development of ball players and fostering healthy sport should be there.

The Mercantile League will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. All the supporters of intre-company ball are asked to attend.

PAIR OF INVADERS TO SEEK RELAY LAURELS

Two foreign invaders who will appear at the Penn relay games the last of this month, are Lord Burgeley and A. E. Porritt. Lord Burgheley, the youthful British peer, will take part in the hurdle events, while Porritt, one of New Zealand's best athletes, is out to beat the American sprint aces.

CAMPBELLFORD TO HAVE TEAM IN NORTHUMBERLAND LEAGUE

Course Decided at Organization Meeting of Town Baseball Club.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Town Baseball League and a Softball League Proposed.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15. — Campbellford will have a team in the Northumberland Baseball League this year, that course being decided upon at a representative meeting of enthusiastic fans held last evening in the assembly room of the Public Library, with Archie J. Wood presiding and Harry D. Atkinson acting as secretary. The following officers for what it was decided to call the Campbellford Baseball Club, were elected:

Hon. Presidents—Hon. A. J. Meyers and all the clergymen in town.
President—C. H. Davidson.
Vice-President—C. H. Nadoo.
Secretary-Treasurer—Rev. C. D. Daniels.
Manager—Archie J. Wood.
Executive Committee—The Officers and Manager.

Delegates to annual meeting of Northumberland League — Manager Wood and Secretary Daniels.

C. H. Davidson, on account of his extended business connections, has been obliged to give up the active management of the team, but he has promised to do everything in his power to further its interests. He organized the team two years ago on his own initiative and at his own expense, providing the outfit and putting up the deposit required as admission fee to the League, but he has agreed to turn over all the equipment to his successor and to give the latter the benefit of his experience as a manager.

Manager Wood proposed to take on some of the best of the former members of the team and to recruit the remainder from the many promising youngsters in town.

It is also proposed to organize a Town Baseball League and also a Softball League, the latter for the benefit of lovers of the game but who find the hardball variety of the pastime too strenuous. The hardball league will be used as a training school, the best of its players to be tried out on the county league team as their services are required.

It is planned to have eight teams in the Softball League, representing different classes in the community, these to be managed by the following citizens:

Professional Men—Dr. O. C. Watson.
Hydro—H. Beatty.
Campbellford Cloth Company (two teams)—J. H. Bell.
Weston Shoe Factory—Cliff Weston.
High School—Earl Stephens.
Clerks (two teams)—W. S. Wiggins and D. A. Montgomery.

Manager Wood and J. H. Bell were appointed a committee to wait on the above-named residents to enlist their co-operation.

Any team wishing to enter either the Hardball or the Softball League may do so by applying to the Executive. The entrance fee was placed at $5.00.

The first practice of the Northumberland League team will be held on the Fair Grounds Friday evening at 6 o'clock, and all those who are ambitious to make the team are requested to turn out promptly on time.

MERCANTILE LEAGUE TO MEET THURSDAY

Organization Gathering to Launch Season's Sport Activities in City.

The Mercantile League moguls have called a meeting for Thursday night at 7.30, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, to prepare for the coming season.

All teams who are contemplating entering the Mercantile League are asked to have a representative on hand. Prospects for the coming season will be discussed at the meeting and an effort made to get the league under way.

Last year was the biggest year in the history of the Mercantile League, and a still better year is looked for this season.

There were six teams in the Mercantile League last year. They were as follows: C.G.E., Lock Works, Bankers, Quaker Oats, Westclox and Examiner. It is hoped to have all these teams back again this season.

FOOTBALLERS INVITED.

Campbellford Enthusiasts Hope to Have Team to Meet Peterborough.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15. — The football team of St. Mary's Church has been organized for the season and regular practices are held whenever the grounds are dry enough. William Fitzpatrick, the manager, is anxious to form a team, composed of the best players in the town—a team that will be able to cope with any team in Peterboro or the surrounding towns. Anyone willing to join such a team can get the necessary information by applying to H. Cubitt.

HORSE INJURES JOHN JOHNSON

Stabling Neighbor's Horse When His Own Horse Kicked Him.

'PHONE EXTENSION.

ELDORADO, April 15. — A serious accident occurred at Bannockburn, when John Johnson, while attending the stabling of one of his neighbor's horses, was kicked by his own horse. His leg was broken in two places, and his hand badly injured. He narrowly escaped further serious injuries. Dr. Lamb was in attendance in a very short time.

The winter's cut of logs belonging to William Rollins and Dan Bird, both of Cooper, situated at Bannockburn, are now being sawed into lumber and ties, the sawing being done by Arthur Parks.

To Have Telephones.

Mr. Cokers of the Bell Telephone Co., Belleville, was through Eldorado in the interests of the Telephone Company. The service is to be extended through to Banockburn. Mr. Cokers with the aid of Mr. Henry Lloyd and A. R. Holland secured the required number of subscribers for installation.

Special services were given in the churches here on Easter. The Foxes church (union) Eldorado, had a splendid attendance and special hymns by the choir. The Sunday school scholars rendered a selection which fitted the occasion, "The Resurrection," each child holding an Easter lily. The offering taken was given to the Women's Missionary Society.

SPRING TONIC FOR GOLFERS

As Prescribed by Walter Hagen.

When a golfer starts out to learn the game, and learn it right, he must realize that it is just like going to school and that each study has got to be mastered.

The first thing is equipment. Let your pro take charge of that. Have him select your clubs, picking out good hickory, good heads, good grips, right length and then see that you have the right kind of shoes.

Then take every stroke in your game and see that it will pass muster. Have your pro help with each of your difficulties. Don't slight anything. Practice regularly, spending most time with the putter. The mashie should have second attention and so on up the line, leaving the driver until last.

Above all things make up your mind not to slight any club, even the ones you don't like. Good golf is like success in anything else, lot of practice directed carefully along the proper paths.

U. S. TRADE BALANCE.

Exports Show Excess of $67,000,000 in March.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—(Canadian Press).—Exports from the United Staes in March were valued at $452,000,000, and imports were $385,000,000, leaving a balance favorable to the United States of $67,000,000.

The outflow of gold, which began last December, was shown to be still in progress, the exports of the metal during March amounted to $25,104,416 compared with imports of $7,337,322, leaving a net loss of $17,767,096.

AN ILLUSTRATED EDITORIAL

This is a peacetime picture of the waste of war. You do not see a shell exploding on an enemy's fortification. The explosion was set off by laborers engaged in the demolition of Heligoland.

Heligoland was a German submarine base, a great bulwark in a war scheme. Twenty-four years and $175,000,000 went into its construction. It was complete even to a shell-proof underground hospital.

For two years men have been blasting away, using 300,000 pounds of dynamite to reduce 200,000 cubic yards of concrete to dust. That, according to terms of the Versailles peace treaty.

What might have been accomplished for the welfare of humanity in 24 years of organized effort by a government using $175,000,000 for the purpose! How many families could be sheltered in buildings erected with 200,000 cubic yards of concrete!

Nations, like men, do not learn from experience. Despite much talk of disarmament, the nations of the earth are expecting war, waiting for it to come.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEETS

Discussion of Stopping of Pension to Children of Soldier.

The regular monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce. The president, Mr. B. F. Ackerman, was in the chair. Others present were: Mesdames Fanning, Darcy, Welsh, Holmes, Devey, Hodgson, Rev. R. C. Blagrave, Messrs. Edgar, Powell, Cormack, Stocker, Abraham.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mr. Edgar, who also read some correspondence with reference to certain wards of the society. These children, with a deceased soldier father, were in receipt for some time of pension moneys from the Soldiers' Pensions Department, and being wards of the Children's Aid Society, were looked after by this organization, and the pension moneys placed in the bank against their coming of age. The sum of over $7000 has gradually accumulated to their credit. The Pension Board, after a visit from the inspector, recently stopped payment of further pension funds. In answer to an enquiry from the local society, the Board wrote that in the case of such children, placed out with foster parents, and nothing paid out for their maintenance, the Board could not justify further payments. If the children should be returned to the care of the society, the situation would be different. A letter from G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., also gave the same view of the matter.

Some of the ladies were of the opinion that the pension money should have been used for the education of the children, instead of placing them out on farms, and the money saved for their comng of age.

Dr. Blagrave thought that too much education under certain circumstances was neither necessary nor useful, and the boys of this family at least, would be as well to follow up the avocation of farming.

Delegates Named.

Delegates to the annual convention of the Children's Aid Societies, to meet in Toronto on May 13th and days following, were appointed, in Mrs. W. H. Darcy, Mrs. R. J. Devey and Mr. J. Edgar. Mr. G. W. Powell will also attend in his official capacity as agent of the Society.

A letter from Messrs H. B. Taylor and Son re the coal supply of the Shelter, was referred to the Purchasing Committee.

The offer of Hodgson and Willison of $10 per annum for poster space on the corner of George and Ware streets, was placed in the hands of the Property Committee.

It was decided to have certain necessary repairs done to the Shelter buildings.

Mr. Powell gave the report for March as follows: Applications for children, 5; children brought to the Shelter (not wards), 1; wards placed out 4; wards returned to the shelter, 1.

Insurance on Child.

Mr. Powell also referred to the young boy, a ward of the Society, placed out, who requested a motor-cycle some time ago ,then wanted a sewing machine, and finally compromised his desires by placing $2000 insurance on his life with an energetic insurance agent. The sum was lowered to $1000 later, the agent paying the first premium, and the policy made payable to the Society.

The report of the Matron was read by Mr. Edgar, showing 23 children in the Shelter during the month of February, with seven brought in and nine sent out. No sickness. In the month of March, 16 children were housed in the Shelter, with two brought in and two sent out. There are measles at the Shelter at present.

Mrs. J. Fanning read the list of accounts for the month, as follows: Menzies' Bakery, $15.29; W. A. J. Giles, 36c; Peterboro Milk Products, $13.02; W. A. Ingram, $1.15; Telephone Bills, $6.61; J. M. Heard, $9.18; C. Griffin, $2.25; New Centre Meat Market, $2.30; H. Allen, 21c.; Hodgson Bros., $9; F. H. Dawson, $6.50; J. T. Braund, $19.28; R. Neill, Ltd., $10.72; Mrs. D. Rogers, (syrup), $3.60; R. Hall, 60c; Examiner Printing Co., $7.09; G. W. Powell, $2.85; G. C. Mitchell, $3.50. Total $114.81.

Donations for the month were as follows: Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E., cake; Downeyflake Tea Room, doughnuts; P. S. White, Sandwiches; Queen Mary Home and School Association, bread and potatoes; St. John's Sunday School, cake; Cognawagas of St. James' Church, cake; Mrs. Cowan, 11 jars fruit; Mrs. Lytle clothing.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

CAUSE A RUPTURE.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Understanding as I do the position of the farmer, I want to just say that those who are boosting the daylight saving in our city are doing the greatest thing possible to cause a rupture between the rural and urban population. No one can blame the farmer for dealing elsewhere if the business men of our city do not cater to their trade. If the retail merchants and others spent as much time in trying to give service by fair competition as they do in trying to stop the poor woman from selling a few articles at the house or the poor crippled man selling a few pencils on the street it would be better for all.—Yours, etc.,

W. H. Merrill.

NOT FAIR TO CHILDREN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir: In the discussion re "Daylight Saving," there is one point which I have not seen touched upon as yet and which no doubt accounts largely for the fact that we so often see children of the wisest mothers outside their homes in the summer evenings long after the clock has marked the proper bedtime hour. The point is this: that during our hot summer months—when there is most daylight to be saved—the sleeping rooms in many of our homes, particularly the smaller ones with few trees near, become so overheated with the long hours of blazing sunshine that it is often quite impossible to find restful sleep in them until hours after the sun has gone down; in short until the hours left before 6 o'clock are few.

Is it wise then to deprive the laboring man and woman, the tired mother and the growing child, of one of these most precious hours of sleep, which cannot be made up, either during the hot afternoon or in the evening?

Of course this matters little to those who rise late or to those whose hours are their own.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor.

Sincerely yours,

A. E. C. M.

CAN'T BE DONE.

Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I am very much pleased to note your efforts in getting after daylight saving, but am surprised at your not publishing the exact number of votes polled.

As it is obviously impossible for anyone to know how proportionate a vote to the adult population of the city you are going to get by this ballot, would you be good enough to show your absolute impartiality by publishing from day to day the number who voted for and the number who voted against daylight saving at your office, then possibly we common herd can draw our own conclusions.

I am voicing the opinions of several others in this request.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am, for uninformity.

Yours very truly,

Karl Simpson.

The vote is not being counted until scrutineers representing both sides get together and arrange the details of what votes shall count. It may be a week after the vote closes before the result is known.—Editor.

JULIA ARTHUR, SAINT JOAN, AT GRAND, MONDAY, APRIL 20.

The Editor, The Examiner.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY.

—Sir: Nearly everyone knows of the depression the textile trade has suffered and is suffering. We are told we cannot compete with foreign trade owing to low wages and cheap labor in general, and especially low tariff. But here is something I would like explained if this should catch the eye of the right person. Take a suit of clothes made in England. If cloth made in England can be made so much cheaper under the conditions described above, why is it that it costs you more than Canadian cloth? Take carpets—why is it you pay more for an English Wilton or Axminster rug, if it is produced more cheaply? Is anyone getting a big "rake off"? I would say Canadians can produce cloth and carpets equal to the imported goods, but some people will not be convinced as to this. The word imported seems to fascinate them. Take the large stores in Toronto. Every year thousands of dollars' worth of carpets that the writer knows for certain are ordered from England and yet these carpets are sold for more money than Canadian-made carpets. If the largest part of these orders were placed in Canada, the carpet mills would never be on short time and almost closed down as they are to-day.

Another thing, we see large posters advising us to "Buy Made in Canada Goods." The people who want this impressed on their minds are the wholesalers and retailers and not the consuming public. But here it "pops" up again. The wholesalers and retailers naturally buy in the cheapest market. If this is so, why do they charge more for imported goods than home-made? And lastly, if a big tariff was put on imported textiles, would it create a combine in Canada?

—Curious.

AT THE GRAND

Of all the characters which she has impersonated during her long and successful stage carreer, Julia Arthur prefers that of Joan in Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan", which she believes to be the greatest play of the present day and one which ranks in a class with many of the greatest works of Shakespeare.

"Curiously enough", remarked Miss. Arthur one day while discussing her latest venture which comes to the Broad Street Theatre for one week only beginning tomorrow night, "I have never played a part which did not appeal to me. Many other members of my profession have been obliged to do so, but, fortunately, I have always been able to find a play and a character which appealed to me. When I could not do so, as happened last season, I simply have not acted".

"Perhaps", laughed Miss. Arthur, "That makes me sound like a crank but I assure you that is not the reason. I love the theatre so much and I give so much of myself to my work that I have always felt that in undertaking a character with which I was not in sympathy I was really breaking faith with my audience, for under such conditions, I could not give them the best work of which I was capable. Nothing better than that has always been my moto—and always will be.

"Why some persons appear to have formed the wholly erroneous opinion that 'Saint Joan 'is a 'high brow' play, which only the so-called intelligentsia are likely to appreciate, is a mystery to me. It is essentially a human drama, intensely interesting from start to finish and clever as it is, contains nothing which the average man and woman cannot understand.

"To my mind, Bernard Shaw has excelled himself in this play, for his mingling of tragedy and comedy is exquisite and his much acclaimed cleverness is tempered in this instance by a profoundly human feeling, one which cannot fail to communicate itself to any person who possesses, and most of us do, the really human spark."

AT THE ROYAL

AMATEUR NIGHT AT ROYAL THURSDAY.

We are advised that the applications from local stage aspirants are arriving fast at the Royal for Thursday night.

Amateur night is always a welcome addition to any programme, and added to a production like Constance Talmadge's newest comedy, "The Goldfish," the Royal should not have any empty seats on Thursday night.

"THE GOLDFISH," ONE OF STAR'S BEST COMEDIES.

Constance Talmadge Again Appears in Modern Flapper Role.

CHOCK FULL OF LAUGHS.

Jack Mulhall as Lead and Other Members of Cast Add to Riot of Fun

Comes once agaie Miss Constance Talmadge at her very best in the sort of comedy that is ideally suited to her talents—comedy of the liveliest description with plenty of opportunity for the star's unusual talents. We believe that "The Goldfish," which opens tomorrow night at the Royal Theatre, is the very best comedy in which the star has appeared for some time, and one of the best she has ever made.

"The Goldfish," which is a First National picture, was adapted from the Broadway stage success by C. Gardner Sullivan and directed by Jerome Storm.

Miss Talmadge has the role of a piano-picker in a Coney Island dance hall. However, by judiciously marrying and re-marrying she climbs the ladder of success until she attains a summer home in Newport, a town house on Fifth Avenue, a private yacht and a fleet of motor cars.

But with success achieved, she finds that she is unhappy, and that, after all, she still loves her old sweetheart and first husband, the Coney Island song plugger.

The song plugger, played by Jack Mulhall, although he has been divorced by the ambitious Constance, doesn't lie down and die. No, indeed! Instead, he determines to make good on his own account. And he does.

In the picture Constance has four husbands and two other would-be husbands who are dropped in most amusing style.

If you like Miss Talmadge in her type of the saucy, modern flapper, then you will not miss this one. We can assure you there are enough laughs to satisfy anyone, and the theme is right up to the minute. As to the goldfish, well we will hold that in reserve, as we do not wish to spoil the surprise for you.

Besides Miss Talmadge and Jack Mulhall there is an excellent cast, every member of which adds their quota of fun to the piece.

AT THE CAPITOL

HISTORIC RUSH OF '76 REPRODUCED IN NEW FILM.

Two great "rushes" across the continent mark the history of the West's development. The first was the rush of the forty-niners from the East to the goldfields of California and the free lands of Oregon. The second was the rush of '76 by the farmers of the Mississippi valley to the buffalo fields of Montana and Wyoming.

It is this latter rush that forms the theme of Zane Grey's "The Thundering Herd," which William K. Howard directed for Paramount. It will be the chief film attraction at the Capitol Theatre, starting tomorrow.

The picture vividly recreates the old west of fifty years ago. Throughout the plains of the mid-west, huge herds of buffalo roamed at will. Then, in the spring of 1876, news spread that the hides were bringing as much as three dollars each in the east. Immediately there was a rush. Persons from all over the country and from all walks of life started for the buffalo fields. Perhaps the greatest influx was from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

The story of "The Thundering Herd" tells of the journey of a group of hardy men and women from their farms in the east to the vast uncivilized territory of the far west—of the hardships they suffered, of the dangers they encountered, the obstacles they overcame and of their ultimate success when they arrived at their destination.

The picture is packed from start to finish with thrilling incidents and dynamic action. Two of the mighty scenes in the production show a terrific battle between five hundred Indians and a handful of white men, and a mad stampede of two thousand fear-crazed buffalo.

A talented cast has been assembled which is headed by four featured players—Jack Holt, Lois Wilson, Noah Beery and Raymond Hatton.

"COMING THROUGH" ANOTHER "HE MAN" ROLE FOR MEIGHAN

Does Tom "come through" in "Coming Through."

We'll say he does—with a bang! "Coming Through" is Thomas Meighan's latest production for Paramount now at the Capitol Theatre. The story is a picture version of "Bed Rock," a mining novel by Jack Bethea.

Lila Lee, in her first screen role in more than a year, is featured at the head of a strong supporting cast. Wallace Beery gives one of his greatest characterizations as a roughneck mine foreman. Others in the cast are John Miltern as a multi-millionaire steel magnate, Laurance Wheat and Frank Campeau.

"Coming Through" has to do with a clerk who has big ideas and the ability to carry them out. We first see Tom keeping books in Pittsburgh. A whirlwind courtship and elopement with the president's daughter follows. The father calls him a fortune-hunter. Tom doesn't take the trouble to deny it and the girl turns against him.

Then the scene shifts to Colton, the wildest of mining camps just outside of Birmingham. Here's the scene of Tom's fight to prove himself worthy of a better job and the love of his estranged wife.

It's a great story for Meighan—and he plays it to perfection.

"Coming Through" closes tonight.

BAD FIRE IN LONDON.

Blaze in Varnish Factory and Oil Store Illuminated Whole City.

LONDON, April 15 (Canadian Press).—One of the biggest fires in recent years kept the firemen of London busy for hours last night. It started in a varnish factory and the flames spread to an adjacent oil store and waste paper depot, whose inflammable contents made a roaring blaze that iluminated all South London. The intense heat and the difficulty of approach through the narrow streets hampered the firemen Several firemen were overcome with heat.

PAINLEVE WILL FORM CABINET

Ex-Premier Will Attempt to Assemble Cabinet to Succeed Herriot.

CAILLAUX BACK.

PARIS, April 15. — Official announcement was made shortly after four o'clock this afternoon that ex-Premier Paul Painleve, who had been invited by President Doumergue to form a cabinet in succession to the Herriot ministry, had accepted the invitation.

M. Painleve said that he did not expect to have a cabinet slate ready before to-morrow morning.

Joseph Caillaux, ex-Premier, who recently re-entered politics after his rehabilitation by the amnesty act, will arrive in Paris at seven o'clock to-night from his country home. It is understaad that he is coming in response to a summons from M. Painleve. There is some speculation on the possibility of Caillaux entering the Painleve cabinet. The Socialist party to-day decided that it would allow its members to take office under the Painleve ministry.

CIVIL SERVICE WORKERS ANXIOUS

Fear Withdrawal of Bonus Without Any Increase in Their Salaries.

OTTAWA, April 15. — (Canadian Press).—The proposed reclassification of the Civil Service, submitted to the Government by the Civil Service Commission some time ago, is still under consideration.

This was the statement of Premier Mackenzie King at the conclusion of a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday. To-day is pay-day in the inside Civil Service, and Government employees in receipt of less than $2,280 per annum are somewhat anxious to know whether or not they are to receive the full amount of salary, plus the amount heretofore paid to them as a cost of living bonus. The bonus has been done away with, but the impression was that the new scale submitted by the Civil Service Commission to the Government would provide for increasing the salaries of those formerly receiving the bonus so that they would lose little or nothing, by the withdrawal of the bonus.

GERMAN SLAYER PAYS PENALTY

Admits Murder of 26 Men and Boys—Guillotine Ended Life.

"I AM GUILTY."

HANOVER, Germany, April 15 (Canadian Press) — "I am guilty, gentlemen, but hard though it may be I want to die as a man."

With these words, Fritz Haarmann, the Hanover butcher convicted of the murder of 26 men and boys, stepped to the guillotine early this morning and a moment later his head was severed. He was pale and nervous but made the same dramatic gestures of bravado which he maintained during his sensational trial.

The guillotine had been erected in a secluded spot of the prison grounds Next to it stood an altar with a crucifix. The prosecuting attorney, stepping before the altar dressed in his official judicial robe, read the sentence and the court opinion again to the assembled panel of judges, who likewise wore their official robes and had them once more confirm the sentence. When this was done Haarman garbed in a grey prison uniform and handcuffed, was brought from his cell. As he faced the judges and official witnesses he nervously changed from one leg to the other and blinked incessantly, but otherwise showed no emotion.

Haarmann listened in silence as the prosecuting attorney briefly repeated the sentence and agreement of the judges to the execution of the verdict. Only as the curtain before the guillotine was withdrawn did a realization of death seem to dawn on him and for an instant he appeared to be paralyzed.

But as the death bell sounded he pulled himself together and in a few unemotional words acknowledged himself guilty and ready to have the sentence executed adding that he felt sorry for his actions. Then with a sudden show of bravado, he turned to the witnesses exclaiming "I am guilty, gentlemen, but hard though it may be I want to die as a man."

A few minutes later the blade was dropped.

DAM BUILT ON SAND.

Poor Foundation Blamed For Collapse Which Caused Serious Floods.

DETROIT, April 15.— (Canadian Press.)—A strata of sand underlying part of the new Detroit Edison Company's dam at French Landing, near Ypsilanti, Michigan, is blamed by company officials for the break which permitted the flooding early yesterday of the Huron River valley from French Landing to Lake Erie, 25 miles away.

The damage was estimtaed at $1000,000. No lives were lost. A number of small homes were destroyed and one washed away.

TRACE FOUND OF LOST CONTINENT

Atlantis Actually Existed, Says Dr. Schulten—Trace in Spain.

BERLIN, April 15 (United Press) —Trace of the Utopian Continent of Atlantis, of which Plato and other ancients wrote and which archaeologists have sought for centuries has been found in Spain, according to the claims of Dr. Adolph Schulten, of Erlangen.

This continent, supposed to have occupied a spot in the Atlantic Ocean between Spain and Central America and to have sunk beneath the surface due to volcanic disturbances, actually existed, Dr. Schulten says.

He believes that the ancient culture City of Tartessos, Spain, which was the Biblical City of Tarsish, was a part of Atlantis.

Extensive archaelogical research by Dr. Schulten which is continuing shows that Tartessos had a wonderful trade and culture 3,000 years before Christ.

The city which the achaeologist believes was once a connecting link between the continents of Europe and Atlantis, lay at the mouth of the Guadalequive. It was conquered by the Phoenicians in 800 B.C. and given by them a wonderful culture, including works in bronze, tin and other metals.

It is from the lost continent of Atlantis that the Cro-Magnons, a race of supermen are supposed to have sprung. The Scots are claimed to be descendants of the former inhabitants of Atlantis.

Many attempts have been made to bring up from the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean evidence that a continent existed there.

OBITUARY.

NEW PROSPERITY BECKONING TO BRITISH COLUMBIA, MEMBER SAYS ANNOUNCING SUPPORT OF BUDGET

Independent Admits Previous Government's Bounties Advanced Mining Industry.

DEBATE DRAGS ON

Many Speakers Still on List as Budget Debate Enters Last Stage.

OTTAWA, April 16. — (Canadian Press).—With a long list of speakers still to come, the House yesterday continued the long-drawn-out debate on the budget. L. W. Humphrey, an Independent from British Columbia, indicated his intention to vote with the Government on the budget. He thought transportation and national expenditures of more importance, as issues, than the tariff.

J. H. Harris, Conservative of East York, thought that a budget "cluttered up with obscurities" did more to shatter confidence than to tell the public the truth. Mr. Harris strongly objected to the export tax on electrical power. In his opinion, the tax would have to be paid largely by Ontario consumers of Hydro power and "would knock their enthusiasm for public ownership."

Mr. Humphrey (Independent, Kootenay West) spoke of the prevailing pessimism which had been reflected in the majority of speeches on the budget debate. There was no such pessimism in his province or his constituency. He could not agree with W. R. McQuarrie (Conservative, New Westminster), who in his speech of Tuesday had given the impression that conditions were not good in British Columbia. Mr. Humphrey maintained that there was a new optimism and a new prosperity coming to the province of British Columbia.

British capital had proven of great benefit in opening up mines and developing other natural resources of the distrirt which he represented, said Mr. Humphrey. Conditions in the mining industry were showing marked improvement. In answer to Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Opposition leader, he admitted that the bounties on lead and zinc granted by the previous Government had been of value in putting these industries on their feet in British Columbia.

Mr. Humphrey urged the introduction of legislation at an early date for the reimbursement of Home Bank depositors. The town of Fernie, in the constituency adjoining his own, had been one of the hardest hit places in the entire Dominion, and its citizens had suffered a loss of nearly $800,000. He urged upon the Government the introduction of legislation for old-age pensions, and also more equitable treatment for great war pensioners.

Railway Costs Lower.

Dealing with the railway situation, from the point of view of Labor Mr. Humphrey compared the United States and Canada. The United States had 450 people per mile of railway, while Canada had only 221 per mile. Canadian railways handled 11,872 tons more per mile for each employee than United States lines. Canada had the lowest labor cost per ton mile in the world; the cost was $648, while in the United States it was $757. Railway wages had never overtaken the cost of living. The 200,000 railway workers in Canada had suffered a wage cut which totalled $45,000,000. Since the peak shortly after the war, railway wages had been slower to increase than any other industrial group in the years 1913 to 1923.

In closing, Mr. Humphrey an-

BANK MANAGER DEAD.

Had Been Month in Jail Since Arrest.

MONTREAL, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—J. Arthur Boyer, former manager of the St. Anne De Bellevue branch of the Banque D'Hochelaga, was yesterday sentenced to one month in prison by Chief Judge Decarie. As Boyer had already been a month in jail since his arrest, he was liberated.

The charge against him was that he had robbed the bank of $3,448 by means of a "fake" hold-up and that he had embezzled the sum of $1,100 that was found to be short on the bank's books.

In pronouncing sentence, His Lordshipe said that Boyer had already been punished sufficiently for what he had done.

WOMAN BLED TO DEATH.

Thrust Arm Through Window—Man a Witness.

MONTREAL, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Paul Dubond, aged 39, is held at police headquarters as a material witness for the coroner's inquest, which opened this morning to probe the bleeding to death, through a lacerated right forearm, of Mrs. Joseph Chevalier, aged 38, otherwise known as Emilienne Dubord.

According to investigations of Sergeant-Detectives Marette and Longpre, during a scuffle at a party Mrs. Chevalier thrust her arm through a pane of glass, inflicting injuries from which she bled to death.

CODERRE REPORT TO HIGHER COURT

Motion to Quash it Entered By Constable Gagnon.

MONTREAL, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Proceedings were put in motion yesterday by Oscar Gagnon, advocate for Constable Edouard Gagnon, whom he defended in the recent police probe, to quash the judgment and report of Mr. Justice Coderre in the matter, more particularly as touching on the costs of the proceedings, charged against the City of Montreal and repayable in part by Constable Gagnon.

The writ of petition asks that the report be declared ultra vires, illegal and null in the matter of costs, at least as between the petitioners and the City of Montreal, and also that the defendants in the present case, the petitioners in the police inquiry, Ovila Casavant for the city, Alderman J. A. A. Brodeur, chairman of the Executive Committee, has announced that the authorities are ready to seek the opinion of the highest courts, should the city lose in the present action. Union officials also say that they are prepared to go any length to prove that they have the right to organize.

DELORME REMOVES EXHIBITS OF TRIAL

Had Been in Court's Possession Three Years.

MONTREAL, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Rev. Adelard Delorme, who was recently acquitted of the charge of murder of his half-brother, Raoul, after being tried three times, yesterday was permitted to remove from the court-house forty-four exhibits which had figured in his trials.

Among them were clothes, cushions, and a blood-stained collar and shirt. The articles were loaded on an express cart and driven away, accompanied by the priest, who sat beside the driver. They had been in possession of the authorities for over three years. One article, however, was not handed over to him by the Clerk of the Court, who refused owing to it not being on Delorme's list. This was the .22 calibre Bayard revolver that had figured so prominently in the case.

LIBERALS BUY PAPER.

Secure Control of Weekly in Hull, Que.

HULL, Que., April 16.—(Canadian Press). — A group of Liberals, headed by Dr. J. E. Fontaine, M.P., have bought the controlling interesrt in "Le Progress De Hull," a weekly newspaper which came into being a year ago, from a group of French-Canadian business men. It is the intention of the new company to publish the paper semi-weekly in the near future.

Constable's Right To Join Police Union Involved In Montreal Policeman's Suit

MONTREAL, April 16—(Canadian Press).—The right of the City of Montreal to dismiss a man from the police force for being a member of the Police Union will be decided shortly by Mr. Justice Coderre of the Superior Court, who will render judgment in an injunction case taken by Philippe Delec against the city.

Whatever the decision, it appears likely that the highest courts of Canada and possibly the Imperial Privy Council, ultimately will have to settle the matter, on which the existence of the union virtually rests.

MANION SCORES OPERATIONS BY YOUNG DOCTORS

Prominent Conservative Declares It Criminal That Surgery Performed by Inexperienced Men.

TRAINING NEEDED.

Dr. Manion Appeals to Profession for Deeper Interest in Canadian Affairs.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 16. — The surgical knife in the hands of a practitioner without sufficient surgical experience, was deplored by Captain the Hon. R. J. Manion, M. C., M.P., Fort William, in an address to the association of officers of the Medical Services of Canada, at the retiring President's luncheon here yesterday. There should be a greater division between purely medical practice and surgery, Dr. Manion declared.

He declared that nowadays a young man can graduate with the letters M.D., after his name, and without proper post-graduate experience set his hand to the most difficult and dangerous operations,

"This is nothing short of criminal," said the speaker. "I think that no young practitioner should be allowed to perform operations of any seriousness unless he has had adequate surgical experience, some years in a big hospital, or other practical experience." Dr. Manion declared that he had been present, powerless to protest, when incompetent surgeons had performed operations.

National Problems.

Declaring himself more of a politician than a medical man, Captain Manion had another suggestion, of more national character, to offer his hosts. He appealed to the profession to take a more active part in national problems than it does now, declaring that the scientifically trained mind of the medical man would prove more fitted than the mind of many other professional men to solve the problems of the day.

"You doctors who are trained to diagnose the ills of the physical body can apply this skill to the ills of the nation and the world," the speaker said. Dr. Manion painted a terrible picture of conditions in the various countries of Europe and declared that doctors, particularly those who came in contact with European problems through participation in the Great War, were in an excellent position to prescribe for the present troubles and unrest.

'TREASON' EXILE NOW A PATRIOT

Caillaux Brings to Ministry a Desire for Welfare of His Country.

SERIOUS SITUATION.

PARIS, April 16. —(United Press.)— "The financial situation of my country is serious," Joseph Caillaux declared to-day, in his first public utterance since being invited to the post of Finance Minister in the prospective Painleve cabinet.

The United Press sought Caillaux's reaction to the situation as a storm centering about him swept through political quarters to-day.

"Yes, the financial situation is serious and the economic situation likewise demands careful attention," he declared. "It is useless, however, for the people to be under any illusion. I am not a magician and I haven't a conjuring stick.

I can only bring to the government the benefit of my experience, a desire for the welfare of my country, entire frankness and complete resolution." This was the statement of the man who since the world war had been imprisoned, tried and exiled for treason.

NEW DISTRICTS IN PROVINCIAL RE-DISTRIBUTION

West Peterborough Riding Disappears and is Replaced by the "City."

EAST REMAINS.

Ennismore, Harvey, Galway and Cavendish Go to East Riding.

The electoral districts of the City of Peterborough, and of the County of Peterborough, have succeeded the old ridings of East and West Peterborough for purposes of Provincial elections. This announcement was made this morning by W. H. Bradburn, M.P.P., for West Peterborough in the present Legislature.

The unit of population chosen for rural ridings, said Mr. Bradburn, was 15,000, whereas the population of East Peterborough was only about 13,648. For urban ridings the unit was 24,000, and the West Riding has 28,284.

By the redistribution, the City of Peterborough riding now has 26,201 inhabitants, and the County has 15,731. This change was made by taking the townships of Ennismore, Harvey, Galway and Cavendish from West Peterborough, and adding them to East Peterborough, to form the County riding, leaving North Monaghan, Smith and the City of Peterborough to form the City Riding.

The redistribution makes a very compact electoral district, as most of the population of the district is within two miles of the centre of the city, and only the northern part of Smith township is outside a radius of ten miles. That portion which is joined to East Peterborough is all the northern part of the district, which, outside of Ennismore, is scantily populated and hard to cover. Mr. Bradburn seems to be satisfied with the changes made throughout the province which were made so as to respect the county boundaries in every case.

In the list below, with populations taken from the last Dominion census, the townships marked (*) were formally included in West Peterborough but were changed over to form part of the County of Peterborough.

RUSSO-JAPANESE SECRET TREATY

Consists of Pact of Military Co-operation in Air — Other Provisions.

PARIS, April 16 (Canadian Press).—The Russo-Japanese treaty made early in February, has a secret military annex, according to reports in diplomatic circles here. It consists, it is said, of a pact of military co-operaton, notably in the air.

Japanese ships are authorized when in Russian waters to make free use of wireless. The Japanese may establish private docks in Vladivostok. Japan has pledged not to ratify the annexation of Bessarabia to Roumania and in general not to recognize frontier modifications not accepted by the Soviets.

Japan will support Russian interests in the League of Nations, notably Soviet claims to a portion of White Russia placed under Polish administration.

Japan obtains mining concessions in the regions of Amur, Siberia, with a favorabel settlement of fishing disputes.

BESCO PRESIDENT TO ATTEND ON FRIDAY CONFERENCE ON THE NOVA SCOTIA STRIKE

Hopeful Sign in Adjournment Wednesday Until President Roy M. Wolvin Arrives—President of Miners Remaining in Halifax.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 16.—(By Canadian Press).—Following yesterday afternoon's adjournment of the conference called by Premier E. H. Armstrong in an endeavor to bring about a settlement of the wage dispute between the British Empire Steel Corporation and the United Mine Workers of America, representing its 12,000 colliery workers, the Premier issued the following statement:

"The conference has been in session today discussing certain suggestions made by the Premier looking towards an immediate termination of the strike. Both sides have given thoughtful consideration to these suggestions. Discussion has now reached a stage where it is deemed advisable to await the arrival of Roy M. Wolvin, President of the British Empire Steel Corporation, who is expected Friday morning.

"In consideration of the coming of Mr. Wolvin, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has agreed to remain until Friday. The conference therefore will re-convene in the office of the Premier at ten o'clock a.m., Friday."

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE IS DRIFTING NORTHWARD WITH HELPLESS CREW AFTER BREAKING FROM MOORINGS

Twenty Men Aboard Cannot Control Huge Airship in Gale.

WIRELESS NEWS.

Tumbles and Tosses Out of Control Off the Netherlands.

LONDON, April 16. — (Canadian Press).—The giant British dirigible R-33 broke from her mooring mast this morning with twenty men aboard, and was rapidly carried by a strong gale out over the North Sea. The ship is in communication with shore by wireless. The War Office is hopeful that the men aboard may be able to get control of the ship and bring her back.

LOWESTOFT, England, April 16 (Canadian Press).—The runaway dirigible appeared over Lowestoft at 10.30 this morning driving ahead of a fierce south-wester. It was seen that her mooring ropes were hanging and lashing about while a big rip in her nose was plainly visible. As the airship passed seaward, she evidently was in difficulties, proceeding erratically, and now and then hanging for a brief space, apparently standing almost on end and then righting for another sweep before the gale. After passing Lowestoft, the airship turned more towards the north-east, rising higher as she disappeared in the distance. At that time she had regained a level keel and seemed to be moving under control.

WIRELESS MESSAGE.

LONDON, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—The British Air Ministry has announced that the Pulham air station received a wireless message from the R-33 at 3.30 o'clock, and that at that hour the dirigible was from 60 to 70 miles north-east of Lowestoft. She was making an approximate speed of 35 miles an hour on a course 35 degrees from true north.

FROM AMSTERDAM.

AMSTERDAM, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—The runaway British dirigible has been located by wireless in the neighborhood of Terschelling, an island off the Netherlands in the North Sea, says a report received from the airdrome in that vicinity.

No Hope Tonight

LONDON, April 16 (Canadian Press — Riding northward before winds that swept the North Sea the big British dirigible R33, which tore away from her mooring mast at Pulham, Norfolk this morning, apparently cannot be kept headed homeward by the crew of twenty which was aboard her when she broke loose. There is no chance of the R33 returned to Pulham air station tonight, it is unofficially announced.

PLAN TO HONOR PROF. GILMOUR

Joseph Wearing is Chairman of Committee to Carry Out Plan.

McMASTER ALUMNI.

At a meeting of McMaster University Alumni Association on Tuesday, by a unanimous vote it was decided to establish a fund to provide an annual scholarship in Church History, as a memorial to the late Prof. J. L. Gilmour, who, for some years had lectured on this subject. A committee was appointed, under the chairmanship of Joseph Wearing of Peterboro, to carry out the plan.

Professor Gilmour was well-known in Peterboro district.

FRENCH BILL PASSED.

Senate Ratified Increase in Francs' Circulation.

PARIS, April 16. — (Canadian Press). — The Senate last evening ratified the bill relating to an increase of the limit of circulation, as modified by the Chamber. The vote was 193 to five. About one hundred members of the Opposition abstained from voting, explaining that they did not want to impede a bill which was necessary.

LIQUOR STORES OPEN TO-DAY IN SASKATCHEWAN

Two Each in Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw—Government Control.

BARS ARE CLOSED.

Even 'Near Beer" Banned by New Liquor Act, Effective To-day.

REGINA, Sask., April 16.—(Canadian Press).—After a "dry" period extending over a period of several years, liquor will be legally sold in Saskatchewan again to-day.

Government liquor stores, created under the authority of the Liquor Act, 1925, opened at 11 o'clock this morning. The Act became effective Wednesday. The stores will be situated in Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw, two each, and in Prince Albert, Weyburn, Swift Current, North Battleford and Yorkton.

Open bars in Saskatchewan were abolished in 1915. The Government at that time organized a sale system of its own somewhat similar to the one opening to-day. The first experiment lasted a little more than a year and closed again in the war period.

Several bars which have been operating in the city closed permanently, it was stated, Tuesday night. The new Act puts a ban on even the "near beer" which was, to some extent, the stock-in-trade of the bars. The coming into effect of the new Act automatically puts the Saskatchewan Liquor Commission, responsible for the enforcement of the now dead Saskatchewan Temperance Act, out of business. Seizure of both hard liquor and strong beer ran into thousands of gallons while the Commission was active. The sale of empty bottles netted the Commission $35,080.

THREE LINDSAY PRISONERS JUMP FINES AND FLIT WHEN FREED BY TRUSTFUL COURT TO RAISE MONEY

Took Advantage of Magisterial Leniency and Promptly Quitted the Town.

AUTHORITIES WAIT

Two Were Sentenced in Liquor Cases and Third Committed for Theft.

LINDSAY, April 11 (Special to The Examiner).—While the local authorities have been both vigilant as well as successful in rounding up law breakers, they sometimes allow them to evade serving sentences handed out by the court. This has been demonstrated during the past few days, when a couple of men on whom sentences were imposed, folded their tents and, Arab-like, stole away to parts unknown.

About a week ago a well-known local character, Thos. Kearney, was fined $200 for a breach of the O.T.A. Thomas went out to collect the fine, so the court thought, but never returned, forgetting to notify the authorities of his next place of residence. On Tuesday, one Bruce Robson, who was given a similar fine for a similar offence, took advantage of the privilege accorded him to collect the money and left the limits. His present address is unknown to the authorities.

The same day a citizen named Sloan, who was committed for trial on a theft charge, asked permission to see his mother. He promised to bring her up town in the afternoon to arrange bail, but failed to keep his appointment. It was learned during the day that he failed to call on his mother, but went to his own home, gathered together some articles of clothing and kissed the town goodbye.

Montreal Firm Fined For Gainful Work on Sunday

MONTREAL, April 16. — Business corporations have no religion and therefore cannot enjoy the privilege of working for gain on Sundays that is accorded to the Jews under special circumstances by the Lord's Day Act of Quebec, Mr. Justice Wilson ruled yesterday, rejecting an appeal taken by Poyaner's Inc., of this city, against a judgment of Recorder Semple condemning the firm to $50 and costs for contravening the statute in question.

CANADIAN TAKES ICELANDIC NAME

Vancouver Sea Captain Engaged by Government of Iceland.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Grettier Algarsson, the young explorer who will sail from Liverpool in May to explore the territory at the North Pole for the Icelandic Government, was born in Vancouver, the son of Captain and Mrs. William Davidson, and christened Hector Davidson. Captain Davidson was for a number of years engaged in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway on the Oriental run, and in 1906 was transferred to the Atlantic service, commanding various vessels, until his death a few years ago.

Hector, now Captain Grettier Algarsson, left Falmouth on Monday in command of the little auxiliary vessel Iceland for Liverpool to outfit for his adventure in the Arctic ice fields. The young man is highly regarded as a navigator. He went early to sea and served in vessels of the Holt Lines. He has made a specialty of Arctic navigation.

In order to secure command it was necessary for Davidson to take an Icelandic name, which he agreed to do.

Norwegian Woman Says Families Have Similar Finger Prints.

OSLO, Norway, April 16.—A Norwegian woman of science, Prof. Dr. Christine Bounevie, claims to have evolved a method to determine by means of fingerprints the identity of the father of a child, in cases of doubtful fatherhood. She asserts that certain characteristics invariably occur in the finger prints of individual families.

QUEBEC REFUSES TO CHANGE MIND

Ontario Extension of Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Barred.

QUEBEC, April 16. — "Since the interview which took place between Hon. Mr. McCrae of Ontario and myself a few weeks ago, regarding the coming of the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway into this province there have been no other official pourparlers conducted," stated Premier Taschereau last evening, when asked if there was any change in the attitude of this province toward the sister province's project.

"I must add that there has been no intention whatever on our part to change our stand in this connection," asserted the Quebec premier.

As a result there is no compromise in sight, and Quebec even claims that the courts cannot intervene and deprive it of its right to resist the violation of Crown lands. Such lands form the greatest part of the territory which would be crossed in construction by the Ontario subsidiary.

MANY COINS MADE BY FRENCH MINT

The French mint coined 246,405,214 francs worth of gold, silver, nickel and bronze-aluminum coins last year for use in France and French colonies, according to advices received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its French Information Service.

The total value of bronze-aluminum coins now in circulation is 784,960,932 francs and the government has therefore decided, subject to approval by parliament, to withdraw the small paper notes of 50 centimes, one franc and two francs which were issued by the French chamber of commerce immediately after the war and which have gradually been replaced in circulation by the bronze-aluminum coins.

WEATHER

There was a heavy frost again last night, the temperature going down to 25 degrees, or 7 degrees below the freezing point. Heavy frosts at night along with bright sun in the daytime, are conditions unfavorable for the fall wheat, etc., but farmers say that no serious damage has been done as yet, and that prospects this spring are brighter than usual. Reports are general as to the friable condition of the soil.—W.P.

EDUCATIONALISTS CLOSE SESSIONS

Officers Elected and Members Asked to Consider Premier's Plan.

TORONTO, April 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Meetings of the Ontario Educational Association in all its branches were concluded this afternoon at the University of Toronto.

The Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association had a splendid attendance at its closing session this morning. Although this branch yesterday voted against the proposal to have the townships' board of education, the matter came up this morning again when Dr. A. T. Morrow, of Maxville, the new president, asked the trustees to go home and consider the question from all its angles before the session next year.

He asked them to consider the advantages if any of consolidation of schools in the greater work which would be carried on among rural pupils and also the question of transportation of school children in their respective districts.

The association elected the following officers: Hon. Pres., Premier Ferguson; President, Dr. A. T. Morrow; Vice-Pres., D. P. McPherson, Port Stanley; Sec'y-Treas., W. M. Morris, Toronto; Chairman Legislative Committee, Judge J. H. Scott, Perth; Chairman Journal Committee, Malcolm Macbeth, Milverton.

Most of the sections concluded their business yesterday, although some are having meetings this afternoon to clean up affairs.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK $325.00.

A 21-Day Tour, Including All Expenses.

Under the personal supervision of Professor Sinclair Laird, Dean of the School for Teachers, MacDonald College, P.O., Quebec, a special train will leave Toronto Union Station at 2.15 p.m., Monday, July 20th, 1925, en route to Victoria, via Canadian Pacific, through Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise and Vancouver, and thence by steamer across Puget Sound to Victoria, the famous Canadian resort.

The return trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, Kootenay Lake, Windermere Bungalow Camp, by motor from Windermere to Banff over the 104-mile newly completed Banff - Windermere Highway with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps, with a full day at Banff, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, Kenora. From Fort William to Port McNicoll by the C.P.R. Great Lakes steamers and by rail to Toronto will complete this interesting and varied trip.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to anyone desiring to go. The train will consist of the most modern equipment. The cost is for one person only occupying a lower berth. Proportionate fares from all points in Eastern Canada. The charge includes rail, steamer and sleeping car fares, hotel and bungalow camp accommodation, meals, sight-seeing tours and all gratuities.

A descriptive booklet giving details of the trip will be gladly mailed upon request to Dean Laird or any Canadian Pacific Agent. As the party is limited to 150 it is advisable to make reservations early.

EXECUTION AT COLOGNE

COLOGNE, April 16 — The first execution at Cologne since December, 1923, took place when Nikolaus Kuntzeler was guillotined for the murder and outrage of two schoolgirls at Aix-la-Chapelle.

CAMPBELLFORD TRIED DAYLIGHT SAVING ONCE – BUT NOT TWICE

Townspeople Liked It, But Neighboring Farmers Were Antagonized by Change.

RURAL OPPOSITION

Country Opinion in Sympathy With Opponents to Peterboro's 1925 Proposal.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16. — Campbellford residents may have their differences of opinion on a variety of topics but daylight saving is not one of them. That ghost has been laid for several years, and this town's brief experience with the shifting of the hands of the clock is now nothing more than a memory, to some a pleasant recollection, while to others it still calls up all the haunting sensations of a nightmare. With the majority of the town people daylight saving was popular, while the farmers regarded it as an invention calculated to accomplish their ruin.

Now, that a poll is to be made of the farmers in the immediate vicinity of Peterboro to ascertain their sentiments on the subject of daylight saving, followers of the same vocation in Northumberland County are ready with their sympathy and with their moral support to help their fellow craftsmen to fight off what they regard as an impending calamity. For the farmers here are as solidly opposed to the new fangled method of reckoning time as they ever were. This is not the proverbial prejudice with which farmers and others are inclined to greet every proposed innovation. Daylight saving, the farmers say, is a detriment to their calling, and they meet the proposition not with sentimental palaver but with practical argument.

If they Ignore It.

If daylight saving is adopted in any urban community, the farmers in the surrounding district are at liberty to either ignore it or adopt it. If they accept the first alternative endless confusion results, especially when they go to town to do their shopping. That is annoying, but if they work on the fast time system their business is injured.

Farm Work in the Morning.

It is in a rural community in which the chief industry is dairying that the objection to daylight saving is the firmest. The owner of a herd of milk giving cows, in order to keep them in condition by milking them regularly with a space of 12 hours between each process. Under daylight saving the cows are milked one hour earlier in the afternoon than when standard time prevails, and in the hot weather it is a difficult matter to preserve the milk at a proper temperature until it is taken to the cheese factory next morning.

Haying and Harvesting.

The farmer does not care to either cut or store his hay when the dew is on it in the morning. No binder will work well in a field of grain that is damp from either rain or dew. Harvesting operations are never in full swing on a farm until nearly 9 o'clock. The time reckoning system that almost compels a farmer to ignore natural conditions and begin an hour earlier is not popular in the country. Then again that same condition stops work one hour earlier in the evening, just when conditions for carrying it on are the most favorable.

The hired man refuses to carry on when he sees the urban workers, freed of their toil, joy riding, flocking to the ball game, or indulging in some other form of amusement.

Government Demands Rent.

The Dominion Government is proving itself a careful and exacting landlord. Owners of boat houses which are built on government land on the banks of the Trent Canal at Crow Bay, a popular boating resort near here, have been billed for their rent for the coming season. These boat houses were built by residents of Campbellford several years ago, and no rental was ever charged for them until last year when the owners were given a brief specified time in which to settle or vacate. The houses of some who refused to pay were locked up by Federal officials. Other owners removed their boats and abandoned their buildings, but the majority settled with the government, and were left in peaceful possession.

The government charge is 65c per foot frontage for the land occupied. As the houses are long narrow affairs, mostly standing with the gable end to the canal, the rent for these will not exceed six or seven dollars a year. Some of the houses stand broadside to the canal; for these the rent for a season has been fixed at $10. Altogether the government will receive a revenue of over $100 a year from this source, and the collections are made through the office of Superintendent Killaly at Peterboro.

NO CHANGE YET FROM UNION IN KEENE CHURCH

The Old Order Continues in Both Keene and Westwood Presbyterian Churches.

VOTED FOR UNION

Church at Westwood Was Used Only Once for Secular Purpose.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

KEENE, April 16.—Although the members of St. Andrew's Church, by a vote of 115 to 74, decided in favor of Union, conditions here, to all outward appearances at least, remain unchanged. Unionists and Antis worship together every Sunday as usual, and though these conditions are not in the very nature of things likely to continue no plans have been made for the future. Among the congregation are members who have spent their lives in fellowship with the church, and whose parents nearly a century ago helped to found it, and who sustained it with all the sturdy faith and perseverance that distinguished the Scottish pioneers, until it came to be known as one of the strongest rural charges in the Presbyterian Church of Canada. The descendants of these pioneers themselves nearing the end of life's journey, hesitate to make new associations and regret to see the name of their denomination make way for another.

Onle Famous Pastor.

Many of the best Presbyterian preachers in Canada have at one time or another spoken from the pulpit of the Keene Presbyterian Church. The late Dr. Andrews was the regular pastor for nearly 60 years. He went there a young man full of vigor and inspired with enthusiasm for his work, he labored among his people until he died in the harness full of years and of honor. His memory will always be cherished by those who recall his administration.

The Church at Westwood.

Connected with the Keene Church is the congregation at Westwood, a connection that was established by the late Dr. Andrews over 70 years ago. The present pastor at Keene, Rev. John Archibald, preaches at Westwood every Sunday. It is one of of the comparatively few virile congregations that still exist in purely rural communities, consisting of 46 families, which means a membership of about 150. It is nothing unusual to see that number in the pews at the regular services and the congregation is noted for its liberality in the matter of contributions to the Mission scheme of the church.

In one respect at least the history of the Westwood Church is unique. The building for nearly three-quarters of a century was reserved exclusively for Divine worship. No secular entertainment was ever held in it until about a year ago, although it was the centre of a community that contained a large number of young people. Then the choir, anxious to raise funds to secure new music and other equipment, gave an entertainment which was well patronized and apparently enjoyed by old and young alike., But after that entertainment, the old order of things was restored, and the experiment ,if it may be so termed, has never been repeated.

Voted for Union.

The Westwood congregation declared for Union by a majority of three, but here as at Keene there has been no apparent change. Not a single regular worshipper has left, the same choir officiates as before the vote was taken, among the elders and managers there may be difference of opinion on the vital issue but they work together in all seeming harmony.

Beside the Presbyterian Church at Westwood there is an Anglican and a eMthodist congregation, but the first mentioned has more members than the other two. The services of all three are held at nearly the same hour every Sunday, and the air in the neighborhood is filled with sacred melody as the several choirs raise their voices in praise. Of course the Anglicans are out of the reckoning, but so far as the other two are concerned, Westwood is regarded as an excellent field for giving the Union movement practical effect.

Rev. Andred McLaughlin, pastor of the Methodist Church here, and who was secretary of the Bay of Quinte Conference last year, is at present in Toronto, on business connected with the Union movement.

OBITUARY.

EARL PATTERSON

NORWOOD, April 16. — The death occurred on Tuesday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Patterson, 9th Line, Dummer, of Earl, their youngest son, after a short illness of about three days. The deceased, who was twenty-four years and six months old, leaves to mourn his loss, his father and mother and two brothers, Otto of Havelock and Floyd of Sarnia, also two sisters, Mary of Havelock and Ruby at home.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon from the home of his parents. Interment will be made in the Norwood Cemetery. Service will be held ot 2 o'clock and will be conducted by the Rev. J. P. McLennan, pastor of the Norwood Baptist Church.

NATHAN BELL

NORWOOD, April 16.—The funeral of the late Nathan Bell took place on Wednesday afternoon from his late residence, Spring Street, and was attended by a large number of friends from Lakefield, Warsaw, Dummer, Norwood and other places.

NEW PROSPERITY BECKONING TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

nounced that he proposed to support the budget.

Confidence in Canada.

J. H. Harris (Conservative, East York) declared that he would not take second place to any man in Canada in expressing optimism and confidence in the future of Canada. He did not propose, however, to confound confidence in the country with confidence in the present government of the country. He asked if this Government represented the feelings of the people of Canada at the present time., Did it represent the Gouin Liberals of Quebec, for instance, or the Fielding Liberals, who believed in business stability? He doubted very much whether the present Government had a mandate from the country to guide the destinies of the Canadian people.

Turning to the financial statement of the Acting Minister of Finance, Mr. Harris criticized the auditors' certificate which Mr. Robb had made reference to as not being a certificate at all. Such a certificate was of absolutely no value, he maintained. He also contended that the financial statement should be in the form of a simple balance-sheet which could easily be understood by the people reading it.

Public Should Know.

If the revenues of Canada were slipping away the public should be told. Mr. Harris believed that the public had faith in the country, but to have the budget "fluttered up" with obscurities would do more to shatter the confidence of Canadians than to tell them the truth.

The favorable trade balance which Mr. Robb had presented to the House appeared very well, but on examination it was shown that much of the goods coming into this country were in manufactured form, made from products which were also produced in Canada. The decrease in importation was not necessarily an indication of good trade conditions. In this case it was an index of the decreased purchasing power of Canadians. Raw materials which should be produced in Canada were still being heavily imported.

Mr. Harris asked the reason for the decrease in revenue during the past year. Why had the Government lost a million a week? The reason was dull trade and slack industry. He censured the Minister for utilizing a "frozen credit" of four million dollars, being accrued interest on loans to Roumania and Greece as an active asset of the Dominion. He complained that the nitrate and phosphate industries of this country had been seriously injured by the tariff policy of the Government.

The Tariff Board.

Mr. Harris made a scathing reference to the "great Liberal statesmen in this day and generation," and he suggested that the Premier might very well develop his present tendencies until he could qualify as President of the United States. The proposal in the speech from the Throne that a Tariff Board should be established in Canada, excited Mr. Harris' wonderment. He read many extracts from the 1912 Hansard to show that when a Conservative administration brought in a proposal for a similar board, the Liberals voted against it, having condemned it in very strong terms. He wondered what some of the Liberals who were still in the House would do when they were asked to vote for a Tariff Board. Perhaps this administration had introduced the idea again "hoping that it will again be killed."

Mr. Harris believed that we should retain our electrical energy in Canada for the benefit of Canadian industries and not export power to the United States. The revenue which the Government expected would, in his opinion, come out of the pockets of the people of Canada. He favored a protective tariff in the interests of the country as a whole.

ROBBERY MOTIVE IN KILLING MAN

Police Find That $100 in Wallet Was Taken From Vangheluive.

COBALT, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Robbery was the motive behind the killing of Petius Vangheluive, 59, a Belgian, whose dead body was found in a shack near the Mattagami pulp mill at Smooth Rock Falls, on Monday evening. This is the information reaching provincial police headquarters here yesterday.

According to the report received, the man was last seen alive on Sunday. There is no clue to the murderer, it is said, although some information may be available at the inquest today. The victim had a wallet, which is said to have contained $100 and this is missing, although some money and the man's watch were not touched.

REEVES OPPOSE UNITED SCHOOL

Some Ratepayers of Northern Townships Anxious for Scheme of Consolidation.

EASTER SERVICES

APSLEY, April 15—Easter services were well attended at both churches. St. George's had morning and evening services and at the Methodist Church service was held in the afternoon. Some beautiful Easter lilies adorned the latter church. These came all the way from Bermuda, having been sent in the bud to Mrs. Cyrus McFadden by her daughter who resides there, and were in full bloom by Easter. A big snowstorm came on in the afternoon which caused dismay to many feminine hearts whose owners, on the promise of a bright sunshiny morning, decked themselves out in their new spring hats and dresses.

The auditors who have been engaged on the work of auditing the Township's books for the past five years attended the council meeting and made several recommendations regarding the future keeping of the township's accounts, which the council decided to adopt "in toto."

Consolidated School

Little has been done of late with regard to the Consolidated School question. The reeves of Chandos and Burleigh and Anstruther both oppose the scheme, prophesying a higher tax rate if it came into operation, but in spite of this bugbear, there are several intelligent ratepayers who are anxious to see it materialize, and the School Sections affected will probably hold meetings in the near future.

Roads Are Heavy

Roads are almost impassable, especially for cars, in places. The Long Swamp has behaved well this year and justified the good work that was done on it last year, the water going off earlier. Tommy Lean, with Rev. C. Spence as passenger was the first to navigate it with a car, crossing last Thursday, and although the water was nearly two feet deep in the worst part no trouble was experienced.

Little Girl Hurt

Little Marion Roberts of Chandos met with a painful accident last week, her arm being badly injured by a fall. It is so badly swollen that the doctor is unable to determine whether the bone is fractured.

The offertory at the morning service at St. George's Church on Sunday, amounting to $11, was presented to Mrs. J. Downing as a slight token of appreciation from the congregation for her invaluable and loyal service as organist of the church.

HEART WAS WEAK NERVES ALL GONE

Mrs. J. H. Hallenbeck, 117½ Welland Avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"I was in a gas explosion; it left me with a weak heart, and my nerves were all gone. I suffered everything; couldn't sleep, or endure any excitement, and when left alone I felt as if I could scream. I took dizzy spells, often falling and bruising myself. My mother read about your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought me a box, but having taken so many different kinds of medicine it just seemed that I did not have any confidence in any of them. I took one box of H. & N. Pills, and felt so much better I continued with them until I had used five boxes, and after I had taken them I did not need any more. I cannot praise, or recommend, Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills too highly after all they have done for me."

OTTAWA, April 16. — (Canadian Press).—Canadian National Railway radio up to December 31, 1924, had cost to establish $51,621, and their operation and upkeep to that date cost $129,670, it was stated in the House of Commons yesterday.

KANGAROO RACES TRAIN.

MELBOURNE, N. S. W., April 16.—A kangaroo raced a train for three miles between Edgerol and Bellata recently. It kept up with the train by taking long 15-feet jumps. At the end of the three miles it stopped and, sitting back on its long tail, watched the train go by.

End Catarrh Germs In Three Minutes

Chronic catarrh, no matter how bad, and cases of bronchial asthma now yield instantly to the amazing discovery of a French scientist. This drugless method called Lavex eliminates the germs in three minutes, yet is positively harmless to the most delicate tissues. Your head and lungs are cleared like magic. Sufferers are relieved in a single night.

To prove it and to introduce Lavex to ten thousand sufferers in one month, I offer to send a treatment free and postpaid, to any one who will write for it. No obligation. No cost. If it banishes your Catarrh you can repay the favor by telling your friends—if not, the loss is mine. No matter what you have tried, just send me your name and address for this generous free treatment and prove that you can be rid of catarrh.

TRY TO SETTLE MINERS' STRIKE

Friday Will Be Decisive Day, is Believed by the Officials.

PRESIDENT THERE.

HALIFAX, April 16. — Friday, it is now confidently believed, will tell the story as to whether or not the deadlock existing for the past six weeks between the British Empire Steel Corporation and its 12,000 miners over the 1925 scale, is to be immediatel, broken by negotiations.

Following yesterday's adjournment of the conference called by Premier E. H. Armstrong, in a further effort to adjust the difficulties, the Premier announced that conversations would be resumed on Friday morning, when Roy M. Wolvin, the president of the corporation, fresh from the directors' meeting at Montreal, would be present.

DAVID TURNEY OF CRAMAHE PASSES

NORHAM, April 16.—David Turney, in his 93rd year, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Cramahe Township, passed away at his home in Morganston on Friday, April 10th.

The funeral services, which were largely attended, were held in Morganston Methodist Church on Tuesday afternoon, and were conducted by Rev. Ernest Butcher of Brighton, assisted by Rev. John E. Beckel, of Castleton, and Rev. Mr. Cameron, of Toronto. The bearers were Marcius Massey of Norham, William Campbell, Sayles Clarke, Judson Thinn, John Morgan and Alvin Darling. Interment took place in Stone's Cemetery, Norham.

Sunday School Annual.

The annual meeting of the Meyersburg Sunday School was held in the church on Tuesday, April 14th. The report given showed a total attendance of 42 with an average attendance of 26. $75.34 was spent for supplies for the nine months' period, which the school operates during the year. $7.6[illegible] contributed to the work of religious education through the Rally Day offering and $5.00 was contributed to the work of Christian missions.

The school was reorganized with Ben Hopps as superintendent and Miss Nora Jones as assistant. John Ibey, Miss Nora Jones, Mrs. Joseph Bertrand and Miss Florence Ward were appointed teachers for the ensuing year. Secretary, Fred. Jones; Organist, Mrs. Harry Jacques; Superintendent Cradle Roll, Mrs. John Ibey; Auditors, Frank Midgley and Ben Hopps.

Mission Band.

There was a good attendance at the Easter meeting of the Mission Band, which was held in the church hall on Wednesday afternon, April 15th. After the usual business was dispensed with, an interesting programme of missionary readings, recitations and music was given by the members. The Easter thankoffering was received, after which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Palmateer and Mrs. Mary Palmateer returned Monday after a two weeks' visit with friends in and around Rochester, and report a most enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. William Isaac, of Warkworth, spent Monday with their son, Oney Isaac.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Bertrand and Miss Rose, of Meyersburg, spent a few days recently visiting friends in Belleville.

CONDEMN PREMIER'S PLAN

Rural Trustees Section of Educational Association Frown on Extension.

TORONTO, April 16 (Canadian Press).—The rural trustees' section of the Ontario Education Association, in Convocation Hall, yesterday, demonstrated with very little opposition that it was opposed to Premier Ferguson's plan to substitute township school boards in place of the present sectional board system.

When a motion condemning the Premier's plan was put to the meeting, it was accorded a huge majority.

AVIATORS MISSING.

IRRESISTIBLE SATISFYING

ORIENTAL FIRE CAUSED ALARM

Sergeant John Deannard Raised Alarm at 4.25. This Morning.

DAMAGE $200.

Fire this morning menaced the old Oriental Hotel building on Hunter Street, starting in the office of the Peterboro Lumber Co., and spreading up through the ceiling and down through the floor.

Sergeant John Deannard, whose tour of inspection took him past the building, noticed smoke pouring from an upper window at 4.25 and immediately raised the alarm. It was due to his alacrity in handling the alarm and the good work of the firemen, who were quickly on the scene under Chief George Gimblett, that a more serious blaze did not develop. The fire, starting near a wall, had spread upward and downward, eating its way through the floor and into the ceiling, when brought under control.

Damage amounting to about $200 was done.

MOTHER CONFESSES KILLING CHILDREN

Mrs. Anna Cunningham Admits Having Poisoned Three—Five Died.

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 16 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Anna Cunningham, charged with the murder of one of five members of her family who have died in the last six years, confessed in the county jail here last night, to Sheriff Benjamin H. Strong, that she had poisoned three of her children.

RHEUMATISM A MYSTERY

Some diseases give immunity from another attack, but rheumatism works just the other way. Every attack of rheumatism invites another; worse than that, it reduces the body's power so that each attack is worse than the one before.

If any disease needs attention early it is rheumatism, but there is scarcely any disease more difficult to treat successfully. When a medicine does relieve rheumatism therefore it is worthy of special notice. Medical authorities agree that the blood becomes thin with alarming rapidity as rheumatism deevlops. Maintaining the quality of the blood is therefore a reasonable way of preventing and combatting rheumatism. That it works out in fact is shown by the beneficial effects which follow the treatment of rheumatism, acute, muscular and articular, with that great blood tonic, Dr. William' Pink Pills.

The thousands of people who have taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their rheumatism have been benefited is a fact beyond dispute. That rheumatism does not return as long as the blood is kept rich and red is equally true. If, therefore you are suffering from rheumatism in any form you should lose no time in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEWSPAPERS IN MAILS.

Average 125 Tons a Day, Pay $1,352,800.

OTTAWA, April 16. — Newspapers handled through the mails in Canada average in bulk 125 tons a day. The average cost per year of transporting newspapers through the mails in Canada is $3,500,000 or about 37 per cent. of the total cost of handling all mail matter. Revenue derived by the post office from the carriage of newspapers in 1923 totalled $1,329,310, and in 1924 was $1,352,800.

PRECEDENT IN POTATO FIELD

J. Stephenson, of Millbrook, Seeks a Record For Early Production.

SCEPTICS WATCH.

MILLBROOK, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Setting a precedent that is not likely to be equalled anywhere in the district, J. Stephenson on Wednesday planted an entire field in potatoes, evidently inspired by a determination to establish a record for early production this season.

Even experienced gardeners seldom put in more than a few hills of tubers at this time, or probably a week or so later, with the hope of having potatoes about July 1. A limited number of hills can be covered with comparative ease in case of the frost, which is a practical certainty for some time yet to come.

The field planted is on Main Street, the property of Mrs. W. O'Brian, and results will be watched with interest as Spring advances, fickle-minded as to weather conditions, in her usual changeable way.

DOES EVERY MEAL CAUSE YOU DISTRESS?

If It Does You Should Take Burdock Blood Bitters

Mr. M. P. Eldrige, Beaver Harbor, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with my stomach for some time, and everything I ate seemed to distress me I tried many different medicines, but without any results. Finally I was advised to try B.B.B., and after having taken several bottles I was completely relieved of my trouble. I can now eat anything I wish, thanks to B.B.B."

Burdock Blood Bitters puts the stomach into perfect shape by promoting proper digestion; and during the past 46 years it has been on the market has made a reputation, second to none, for relieving all stomach troubles.

MADE-IN-PETERBORO.

Several inquiries have been received by the Examiner in regard to the annual Motor Show by citizens who apparently missed the announcement made some time ago that instead of a Motor Show this year a made-in-Peterboro exhibition, on behalf of the Peterboro Health Association, will be held in the Armouries in June.

T hemade-in-Peterboro idea should be most popular with citizens generally as it will offer a demonstration of the extent and variety of Peterboro's industries.

The factories of this city turn out a diversified list of products, capable of making a most interesting and attractive exhibition, and manufacturers generally are expected to co-operate enthusiastically with the Health Association in making the event an outstanding one.

A SUCCESSFUL EFFORT.

The Citizens' Committee in charge of the work of securing a car-load of provisions for the relief of the families of the Cape Breton miners have successfully completed their task, and are to be congratulated upon the manner in which they, with the co-operation of many citizens of Peterboro and district, carried out this effort.

So far as is known Peterboro is the only Ontario city that has been able to ship a car-load of foodstuffs to the strike sufferers, and the supplies from this city, which include 700 or 800 bags of flour, with large quantities of rolled oats and other cereals, 125 bags of potatoes, a large quantity of canned goods and other provisions, will be of great service to the Glace Bay Relief Committee.

Peterboro is glad to be able to make a gesture of friendship toward fellow-Canadians who are the victims of a most distressing situation.

The car-load of food from this city should be regarded by the people of Nova Scotia as a sign that, despite the many statements that have been made that the citizens of the central part of Canada have not since Confederation been showing a proper regard for the people of the East, when the call for assistance comes we in this part of Canada are ready and glad to extend a helping hand.

The car has gone East, accompanied by the fervent hope of Peterboro people generally that a settlement of the difficulties will be speedily effected.

SAINT JOAN.

It is unusual perhaps to refer in the editorial columns of a newspaper to the coming of a theatrical attractions, although sometimes there is editorial comment after the appearance of a play of outstanding importance.

There are two or three reasons why, in the case of George Bernard Shaw's greatest play, "Saint Joan," with Miss Julia Arthur in the title role, which comes to the Grand on Monday evening next, there should be a departure from the customary rule.

In the first place, the sending of a theatrical organization of this calibre to Peterboro is somewhat in the nature of a test—unless the patronage is proportionate to the merit of the attraction it is extremely unlikely that the playgoers of Peterboro will have an opportunity of seeing in their home theatre any more the better things offered in the theatrical world.

In the second place, Miss Julia Arthur, who has scored a great triumph in her role of the warrior maid, is one of Canada's outstanding contributions to the stage.

Her career before the footlights has been crowned with laurels, and it is fitting that when Canadian cities are being given an opportunity to see this great Canadian actress in her finest role that she should be given a reception indicative of the pride her fellow-countrymen have always taken in her work in the United States and in England.

In the third place, the play itself is George Bernard Shaw's masterpiece, one of the most remarkable plays in the English language, hailed everywhere as Shaw's finest effort.

The three reasons combine to make it imperative that next Monday's attraction at the Grand should be greeted with a large and representative audience.

The stage offers little better than Miss Julia Arthur in "Saint Joan," and a small attendance would be a demonstration of the fact that Peterboro lacks the faculty of discrimination.

TOWNSHIP BOARDS.

Premier Ferguson, speaking as Minister of Education before the Ontario Educational Association on Tuesday night, succeeded in presenting a strong case on behalf of his proposed township school board legislation, which will be considered by the Legislature in its next session.

Mr. Ferguson prophesied that the cost of education would be reduced by 25 per cent. by his new policy.

The present system is unquestionably open to attack on many grounds.

The school section method under which education in rural districts is administered at present is needlessly expensive and it does not get the results from an efficiency standpoint that are desirable.

There is too much bickering and jealousy between sections, preventing the amalgamation that common sense has long since suggested as necessary.

That there are 180 schools in the Province with an average attendance per day of five or less and nearly 900 schools in which there are ten or fewer children is a striking indictment of the existing system.

The average cost per pupil in such schools runs as high as $156 per pupil, while the average cost for the Province is $87 or $88.

By placing the control of the rural public schools in the hands of township boards the number of schools and staffs could be materially reduced, and continuation schools could be operated at strategic points.

"I am going to put it up to your people in the interests of your own children," said the Premier, "to reform your methods and your whole rural administrative system. I think you can get at least 25 per cent. off the cost of education in a very few years, you can retain your boys and girls at home longer, and they will get much better education than they are getting today."

THE CRISIS AND THE MAN IN FRANCE.

Aristide Briand, after months of political manoeuvring, again finds himself the Man of the Hour in France. For the eighth time, one of the subtlest and most astute of living politicians finds himself called upon to assume the leading role in a great political extravaganza.

He is meeting with determined opposition from the Socialists and Leon Blum, the party leader, is said to have declared categorically against him. While Briand may be able to form a temporary Ministry, the chances of his being permanently established seems small.

Like David Lloyd George, M. Briand seems to court difficulty and he deliberately chooses thorn-strewn paths that the triumph of achievement may be the greater. Politics is not a game with Briand; it is a consuming passion. He can endure fools gladly, show interest in tiresome debates and can checkmate the plottings born in the coulisses and the lobbies. Therein he shows himself a wise politician. A great orator, a hard worker and a clear thinker, he subordinates all his gifts to the absorbing object of his life-success.

Two decades have brought many changes in France and have left their indelible imprint on her statesmen. It is not the Briand of 1906, the Socialist, Free Thinking author of the Separation Law, on whom the spotlight is focussed today. Time has mellowed his views and matured his talents. If in oratory today he is less flamboyant, he is more compelling; if the range of his attacks is lessened, his fire is more concentrated. The motto which he emblazoned on his political banner in the years of religious bigotry take a new meaning for him today. "The Republic cannot live in the past; it must live in the future."

If Briand is happiest when he is untying the Gordian knot of some political entanglement, he will have no cause for complaint, because the hour of his destiny has again struck at this time. He will have a hard task to placate the Socialists, whose ardent champion he was twenty years ago, but whom maturing age and wider vision has long ago focussed in an altogether new light. It will need all Painleve's suavity and all Briand's "souplesse," added to the co-operation of the man whom he is called upon to succeed, if the Socialists are to allow Briand a new lease of power. Yet without Herriot's group Briand, with all his winning oratory and all his conciliatory convincingness, cannot hope to remain in power for a day.

The financial position of the country, which admittedly requires instant measures of relief, must preforce wait while the jockeyings of the group leaders, the intrigues and the counter-moves which are an integral part of such a shuffle have their hour. Yet it is more and more apparent that the rehabilitation of the franc is a far more vital matter to France today than the rehabilitation of her devastated territories. Moreover, there will be a doubt in many minds if Briand, the diplomat, is the man for the strong measures which France needs. Like a wise physician, Briand will diagnose the evils from which France suffers, but there will be fears that he has not the courage to apply the surgeon's knife ruthlessly and fearlessly. Temporizing, however skillful, may bring upon France a worse disaster.

One thing is certain—Capital Levy is not only killed, but buried. Even under the disguise of a voluntary loan (presumably with Government officials cognizant of the extent of individual subscriptions), it has been rejected. Can Briand weld a Cabinet that will contain sufficient men who have the confidence of the financiers with the leaders of the group who are fuming and fretting under the irritation of something they cannot exactly define, but which urges them to change and upheaval.

It is not a task for a Metternich. The hour calls for Bismarck.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Although John McGraw, Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth were all missing, the baseball season opened as successfully as usual. The game is greater than the player.

Some sixty members are yet to take part in the Budget debate in the Federal House. The Hansard reporters would be justified in demanding an increase.

Have you voted on the daylight saving question? The vote closes, it should be remembered, on Saturday night.

Monsieur Briand seems to be the best pinch-hitting politician that France possesses.

The success of the Communists in the annual election of the Ontario section of the Canadian Labour party is not an encouraging sign. Labour will not get anywhere in Canada under such leadership.

On the last day of the session 74 distinct bills were disposed of by the Ontario Legislature. Among them was redistribution. Apparently, says the Globe, with the indemnity at $2,000, the Province got $2,000 worth of speed and about 10 cents' worth of consideration.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 15.—Packers' buyers are busy again on cows, and these moved freely this morning at quite steady prices. Choice butchers' steers and heifers for light beef 770 lbs., went to Frank Hunnisett sold at $7.55 a cwt., and a choice baby beef, 770 lbs., went to Frank Hunnisett at $1 a cwt. Two loads of medium quality stockers are moving this morning at $5.75 and $6 a cwt., and a load of grass cows is being sent out at $3.25 a cwt.

Handyweight butchers' cattle were undoubtedly firmer today by 10 to 15 cents a cwt., and a load scarcely good medium quality sold at $6.85 a cwt., and no butchers worth killing were below $6.50 a cwt. Exporters bought a number of rough bulls from $3.75 up, but choice butchers' bulls were up to $5.50 a cwt. One choice export cow cost $6.75 a cwt. More than half the cattle on offer were disposed of up till noon, and there will be little difficulty in cleaning up the balance.

Tuesday's run of dairy calves was heavy, but the market holds up well under the receipts, and prices are steady at the decline from last week of a dollar a cwt. on the medium and common calves. Choice calves are still 12 to 13 cents, but medium are selling from 8 to 9½ cents a pound.

Very light receipts are being registered in the sheep pens, and spring lambs are not in much supply. Choice sheep are from 9 to 10 cents a pound. Spring lambs of good quality brought $15 to $17 each.

Although hog prices are still unstable, a good many hogs are being turned over at $12.50 a cwt. f.o.b., and $13.60 a cwt. fed and watered.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 15—Nine cents a bushel collapse in the price of May delivery of wheat, resulted today from heavy selling that was said to be chiefly of a profit-taking character. The fact that it is only two weeks until deliveries on May contracts will have to be accepted and that no general scarcity of wheat in Europe or elsewhere is apparent had left but little incentive for continued ownership of May wheat, representing grain on hand from the 1924 crop. Besides, most of the speculative trading here has recently gone into July and September deliveries which stand for wheat to be harvested in 1925.

May was thus without any adequate support.

As a whole the wheat market finished very unsettled at the day's bottom prices, with losses ranging from 1½ to 9 cents net, and with May at 1.51½ to 1.52 and July 1.42½ to 1.43. Corn closed 3⅛ to 3⅜ cents down, oats ⅜ to 1⅝ cents off and provisions unchanged at 17 cents lower.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, April 15 — The egg situation is practically unchanged. Reports from practically all consuming centres indicate a movement of eggs into storage. On April 1st there were 1,845,900 dozens of eggs in storage in Montreal and 70,200 dozens in Toronto, these figures showing about nearly 50 per cent increase over last year.

Toronto unchanged.

Montreal steady, dealers paying delivered extras 32, firsts 30, seconds 28, these jobbing extras 36, firsts 34, seconds 32.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 15—The enquiry from the United Kingdom and the continent for Canadian western oats on the Montreal market today was very good, there being a number of firm bids received for shipment in all positions and some business was worked with the continent, but exporters stated that the prices bid from England were in most cases out of line and no sales were reported.

EASTER MUSIC AT MILLBROOK

All Church Services Marked by Special Renditions—Floral Decorations.

SPECIAL MEETING

MILLBROOK, April 15. — Special Easter services were held in the three local churches on Sunday, large congregations gathering for worship in each case, both morning and evening.

Easter lilies, and other spring flowers, made appropriate decorations, those which banked the altar in St. Thomas' Church being given in loving memory of friends who have been called to a higher sphere of service.

In Grace Presbyterian Church, the pastor, Rev. G. S. Gervan, took as his morning subject, "The Dawn of Day," the text being from Matthew 28 : 1: "In the end of the Sabbath, as it began dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, to see the sepulchre."

The special musical numbers included, in the morning, a duet, "Come Holy Spirit," by Mr. H. W. Johnston, and Mrs. (Rev.) Gervan, a solo by Miss Kathleen Lancashire, and an anthem, "Hail Immanuel." In the evening a processional hymn, "Forth From Gloom to Glory," was used as an opening selection while the minister and the choir marched to their respective places, an anthem, "The Saviour," a quartette, "He Was Nailed to the Cross," by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston, Mrs. Gervan, and Mr. M. McDowell, and a concluding anthem, "It is Jesus," completing an appropriate, and much enjoyed musical programme for the day's services.

Mr. Gervan's sermon at night was prefaced by a brief talk on "The First Day of the Week," emphasizing the fact that New Testament teaching shows this, rather than the seventh day, as the one Christians are bound to observe John 20 : 19 and 26, "Then the same day at evening, being the first day of the week": "And after eight days again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them; then came Jesus, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst and said: 'Peace be unto you'," were the two passages upon which the speaker based his remarks. The concluding part of the message was of a character specially suited to Easter Sunday.

One hundred and eighth communicants partook of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper throughout the parish of Millbrook and Cavan on Sunday, the services at each of the four churches being marked by features particularly suited to the Easter occasion. The rector, Rev. Canon Allen, preached at the morning service in St. Thomas' Church, and the curate, Rev. M. G. B. Williams in the evening, the sermons in each case giving prominence to the glad hope of newness of life of which Eastertide gives assurance. Holy communion was observed at 8 a.m. and again at 10.30, eighty-two members participating.

The choir was augmented by seven boys, in cassock and surplice, whom Mrs. Allen has had in training for smoe weeks past, and who from now on wilp be regular members of the organization. Their clear, strong voices, reverent attitude and evident pleasure in the worship of song, was much appreciated by the older choir members, and also by the clergyman, and the congregation.

Four special Easter carols were sung at the evening service, two preceding the offertory, and two following, and these with an organ solo by Mrs. Allen, and hymns particularly suited to the occasion, added to that perfect concord between sacred music and the heart which should always exist at religious services.

Methodist Church.

The unusual feature of the morning service in the Methodist Church was the attendance, in a body, of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, the Mission Circle, and the Mission Band, the centre front pews being reserved for these organizations, which were well represented.

The pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, in his opening remarks, gave a brief resume of the extent of the missionary enterprise carried on by the parent society and its junior branches, and outlined the various ways in which the income of nearly half a million dollars is spent. From coast to coast in Canada, and in West China, and Japan, the women have their workers doing heroic service for the Kingdom.

The text was taken from John 1 : 18, "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, He hath declared Him," and the message stressed particularly the debt of gratitude which womanhood and girlhood owe to Jesus Christ for the blessings which He has brought to them. "Men become like the gods they worship, and that sometimes means tragedy, and sometimes brings one to glory, national and individual."

Jesus has revealed the Father, and everyone has a right to this knowledge but not everyone has the privilege, though the Women's Missionary Society, the circles, and bands, are doing their share to give everyone the chance to which they are entitled.

An anthem, "'Tis the Glorious Easter Morning," preceded the sermon, and a solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Mr. Chester Lambert, of Oshawa, at its conclusion, was much enjoyed.

The evening service took the form or a song service when the pastor delivered an appropriate Easter message, and the special musical numbers included two anthems, "From theP ower of the Grave," with obligato by Misses E. Elson and Phyllis Richards, and solo by F. N. Alcorn; and "Our King Hath Risen Victor," solo and duet by Mrs. P. Stinson, and Mrs. I. Hatherly; a solo, "Calvary," by Mr. V. C. Lambert, and a closing anthem, "Lo, in the Grave He Lay," with obligato duet by Misses Elson and Richards, and solo by Mrs. F. P. Johnston.

The annual Easter thankoffering was taken up at the morning service, and amounted to over $70, with a number of envelopes yet to come in. The three organizations represented sh red in the special offering, the larger amount going to the Auxiliary, which has a membership roll of nearly ninety names.

Presbyterian Church.

Announcement was made in Grace Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning that a meeting of the non-concurring members of the congregation will be held on Tuesd y, April 28, at 2.30 p.m., to consider rrangements for carrying on the church services after June 10.

It will be recalled that at the recent vote taken here a majority of three to one against entering the United Church was polled. The resignation of the pastor, Rev. G. S. Gervan, takes effect after June 10.

RESIGNATION OF MINISTER URGED

Government of New Brunswick Criticized by the Minister of Health.

FREDERICTON, N.B., April 16. —(Canadian Press).—Referring editorially to the speech of Hon. Dr. W. P. Roberts, Minister of Public Health, who in the budget debate in the Provincial Legislature Tuesday evening condemned the Government's administration of the Prohibition Act and urged the election of prohibitionists at the forthcoming general elections, regardless of their political persuasions, "The Cleaner" yesterday called upon Premier Veniot to demand the resignation of the Minister of Health from the Cabinet.

The editorial says:

"The speech and the action last evening in the Legislature of Dr. W. P. Roberts, Minister of Public Health, will make a burlesque of constitutional government in this province if Dr. Roberts is permitted to continue to hold his place as a member of the Cabinet. That speech is deliberate defiance of the Government of which he is a member; it is subversive of every wholesome form of constitutional practice and procedure. There is but one course open to the Premier if our time-honored system of government is not to be repudiated."

A British inventor has developed a camera which will take pictures indoors without a long exposure. An unusually large lens is used.

GRAIN STORAGE MARCH 31 LESS THAN YEAR AGO

Wheat in Canada 121,084,000 Bushels, as Against 202,493,000 in 1924.

TOTALS COMPARED

Farmers Holding 39,225,000 Bushels, Smallest Quantity Since 1920.

OTTAWA, April 16. — Returns from elevators, flour mills, railway companies and crop correspondents, to the Bureau of Statistics, show that on March 31, 1925, the quantity of wheat in Canada was 121,084,000 bushels, as compared with 202,493,000 bushels on March 31, 1924.

The total for 1925 comprises in round numbers 73,555,000 bushels in elevators and flour mills, 39,225,000 bushels in farmers' hands and 8,304,000 bushels in transit.

Of oats the total quantity in Canada on March 31, 1925, is estimated at 183,486,000 bushels, as compared with 283,516,000 bushels in 1924. The total for 1925 comprises 31,221,000 bushels in elevators and mills, 148,533,000 bushels in farmers' hands and 3,732,000 bushels in transit.

Farmers' Holdings.

At the end of March, according to the reports of crop correspondents, 15 per cent. of the total wheat crop of 1924 remained in farmers' hands. This proportion applied to the total estimated production of 262,097,000 bushels, representing 39,225,000 bushels.

In 1924, the same percentage of 15 was reported, but as the total crop of 1923 was 474,199,000 bushels, the quantity in farmers' hands was then 70,755,000 bushels. In 1923, the proportion was 14 per cent., and the quantity 54,771,000 bushels. In 1922, 14 per cent., representing 41,649,000 bushels; in 1921, 19 per cent., representing 48,919,000 bushels, and in 1920 18 per cent., representing 34,837,000 bushels.

Therefore this year's retention of 39,225,000 bushels is smaller than that of any year since 1920, when the quantity required for that year's seeding was considerably less than that now necessary.

CAVAN PERSONALS

Mrs. Creighton Carr, accompanied by Mrs. L. J. Parnell of Newcastle, were visitors to Peterborough on Saturday.

SEEDING IN MANITOBA.

Half Work Will Be Completed This Week.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 16. — That more wooded and lower sections of Manitoba are rapidly working into condition for seeding, is shown by a report issued yesterday by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is estimated that almost 50 per cent of the seeding operations will be completed in the province by the end of the week.

The same conditions apply generally to Saskatchewan, where seeding has advanced favorably in the south and is getting under way at many other points.

In Alberta good progress is reported from the following points: — Nightingale, Duchess, Nobleford, Kirkaldy, and High River.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Shepherd's Counsel Asks in Vain For Quash of the Indictment.

CHICAGO, April 16 (Canadian Press).—William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of his foster son, William Nelson McClintock, pleaded not guilty today when formally arraigned in the criminal court.

Chief Justice Jacob Hopkins overruled the defence motion to quash the indictment. The State asked for an early trial, but the court said the date could be fixed by the trial judge when the case comes up in the regular course.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Tony Jacobella Said to Have Set Fire to His Shop—Child Burned.

STURGEON FALLS, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Tony Jacobella, shoe repairer, was committed for trial this afternoon on a charge of arson as a result of the fire which on March 31 destroyed the block in which he had his shop and caused the death of little John Vermet, who failed to escape from a burning apartment in the same block. Jacobella had insurance on his effects, and, according to the evidence of the insurance adjuster, some of the furniture was found in another house.

JAMES EDWARD OF C.N.R. DEAD

Started Career in Omemee and Married a Peterborough Girl.

LONG SERVICE.

MONTREAL April 16 (Special to The Examiner).—Following an illness of only a few months, James Edward, division freight agent of the Canadian National Railways at Montreal, died early this morning at his home.

For more than 39 years, Mr. Edward has rendered valuable service to the Grand Trunk and later to the Canadian National Railways, and was particularly well known in commercial circles in Eastern Canada. His first railroad experience was that of an operator and agent on the Ontario lines of the Grand Trunk Railway System, serving in turn at Omemee Junction, Millbrook, Lakefield Bombay Junction and Dominion, until 1892, when he came to Montreal as agent of the Great Eastern fast freight line. In August, 1903, he was appointed travelling freight agent for the Grand Trunk Railway at Montreal and the following year was transferred to Moncton, N.B., where he served in turn as travelling freight agent and commercial agent until May 1918. He was then made division freight agent at Ottawa and remained there until May, 1919, when he was appointed to the position which he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Edward was born on March 9, 1866, and in 1892 he married Miss Emma Tatnor of Peterborough. He is survived by his wife and five children. Mr. Edward was a member of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church. He also belonged to the Thistle Curling Club and the Canadian Club and was also a member of the Montreal Board of Trade. He was a Mason of many years' standing.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon from his late residence to Mount Royal Cemetery.

European Trip To Cost Less Than Driving Car

NEW YORK, April 16 (United Press).—The European trip of the future will cost less per mile than driving a flivver.

This was the prediction of Edward Filene, a Boston merchant, in a radio address from Station WGBS.

"One class" ships, serving meals on the cafeteria plan, will make possible ocean travel at two cents a mile, according to Filene. The immigration restrictions are forcing ship operators to cut the cost of passage to obtain the necessary volume of business, he said.

DISAPPEARANCE OF MAN NAMED REGAN

Peterborough Resident Recalls Incident on Charlotte Street Long Ago.

Fred Bissonnette, 260 Euclid Avenue, tells to-day of an incident that occurred when he was a small boy, called to his mind by the finding of skull bones under the old house at Charlotte and Aylmer Streets.

A man named Regan, a lumberjack, he says, disappeared at the corner of Charlotte Street some years ago. He had spent the summer in a lumber camp as a watchman, and had come into Peterboro to get new clothing and supplies for the winter's cutting. About eight o'clock one night he left the old hotel, which occupied the corner of Charlotte and George Street, where McDermid and Jury have the drugstore now, and turned west on Charlotte Street, and was never seen again. Word was sent to his son, Hugh, who was foreman in a lumber camp, and he came back to Peterboro and conducted a thorough search for his father.

All the likely places were searched, and as a last resort a fortune teller was consulted. All that the fortune teller could or would say was that the old man had been done away with and had been put under something, but he was unable to say what he was under.

OPEN GRAVE LEADS TO MORE ACTIVITY

English War Bride Disappeared—Husband is Under Arrest.

HALIFAX, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—The finding last night of an open grave near the roadside, three miles east of Kemptown, on the Pictou-Truro highway, has added a fresh fillip to the intensive search being made for the body of Sarah Gammon, English war bride, alleged to have been murdered by her husband, Duncan Gammon, in September of last year. The grave was discovered by the Canadian National Railway police officer, P. O. Carroll, and gives evidence, it is said, of having been recently disturbed. Gammon was taken in custody by Halifax police when his wife's relatives in England advised that she was months overdue on a visit to her old home.

CAILLAUX ACCEPTS.

Definitely Takes Ministry of Finance in Painleve Cabinet.

PARIS, April 16. — (Canadian Press).—Ex-Premier Paul Painleve, attempting the task of forming a Cabinet in succession to the Herriot Ministry, was able to only report progress and no definite conclusion of his task when he visited President Doumergue at the Palace of the Elyses this afternoon.

M. Caillaux has definitely and officially accepted the Ministry of Finance in the Painleve Cabinet, Caillaux's secretary announced in the lobby of the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon.

TOSS COINS FOR LIVING.

LONDON, April 16.—Many men in the north of England become quite adept at coin-tossing to a line. They then travel from village to village, get the people in a game with them, and walk off with their money.

J. HENRY PETERS CO. LTD.

Fashion's Decree in Sportswear for the Summer Girl

THERE'S something undeniably youthful and modish about Peters' Hyloom Rayon Sportswear. It may be the newness and the novelty of their style, may be their fresh pretty colors.

The Summer Girl, or the woman who cares about her appearance, will want two, three, perhaps more, of these new knitted Rayon garments this year, because they give her, at very low cost, a summer wardrobe of real pretensions.

Your own local store will now have Hyloom Sportswear in stock. Look for the HYLOOM label, however, because only genuine Hyloom is so labeled. Designed and manufactured by

A Love Story Written About Folks You Know

Gloria Gordon is a home town girl.

She married for a life of ease and luxury.

But in her quest for pleasure she forgot her husband and the better things of life.

You will be interested in reading of her experiences in "The Flapper Wife," which will start serially in the Examiner tomorrow.

It is a human document which carries a forcible sermon to all.

Gloria's story has been written by Beatrice Burton, a talented newspaper woman, who is skilled to detect the deeper currents of emotions which sweep women.

This great story about one whom you probably know will start tomorrow exclusively in the Examiner.

You will want to read every chapter.

This Little Brandon Lassie Is Never "Dosed" for Colds

The Browns Now Use the "External" Treatment for Croup and Cold Troubles.

Mrs. John Brown, of 426 24th St., Brandon, Man., is the mother of this fine little girl and one of the many Canadian mothers who now use the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, in treating the colds of all the family. After using Vicks for some time Mrs. Brown writes:

"I have eight small children—aged from one to twelve years—and can certainly say that Vicks is the only cold remedy I have in the house all winter. If the cold is in the childs' head I just put a little up each nostril and it gives relief in a short time. If it is in the chest I rub Vicks well in at night and by morning the cold has almost disappeared. I also use Vicks for chilblains and for burns—in fact, I use it too for severe headaches and find relief in a very short time. I always recommend Vicks to my friends especially those who have children."

Vicks is the eternal direct treatment for cold troubles—absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor. It is the ideal treatment for children's colds, just as good, too, for adults.

YOUR GARDEN

GRADING, SEEDING AND FIRST CARE OF THE LAWN.

Lawns should be sufficiently large to give an ample setting to the home especially. If it be well placed, two thousand to three thousand square feet may be enough, although more space would be better. Care should be taken not to cut up a plot of grass unnecessarily, but to leave the lawn in as large unbroken areas as possible.

Before any fertilizer is applied or seed sown, the desired grade should be established, and any excavating or filling done. Grading is expensive, and should be reduced to a minimum, and once a lawn is made its level should never be changed. Easy flowing convex and concave curves should be aimed at and steep terraces avoided whenever possible. Terraces are difficult to cut and require more time to keep in order. A retaining wall, though more expensive in the initial outlay, will reduce the time spent on upkeep. Where the grade is not too steep, say a two-foot drop in sixty feet, the ground may be made to slope gradually from a point above three feet out from the house foundation, to the sidewalk. This will avoid a terrace, be much more pleasing and easier to cut.

The surface should be smooth enough for the easy running of the lawnmower, but many of the natural undulations should be kept, especially in an area one hundred feet square or more. With lawns of even half this size it is rarely advisable to grade them perfectly smooth and level. A lawn should slope away from the house and never be hollow. Hollows will hold water on the surface, and the consequent killing out of the grass, which will have to be renewed.

In all grading operations care should be taken to avoid covering up the good top soil. Remove this rich soil first to establish the desired grade and then replace it. Any subsoil, carelessly dumped on the surface soil will have to be manured or top-dressed in most cases, and may prove more expensive in the long run than the moving of the top soil.

The next important step is to prepare the ground deeply and thoroughly, as the permanence of the sod will very largely depend upon the richness and preparation of the soil in the beginning. The character of the soil should be ascertained. Cold, wet land must be underdrained, and if the soil is sour, air-slaked lime may be used to correct acidity. Use it at the rate of 12-15 lbs. per four hundred square feet. A moist soil is the best for a lawn with a slight mixture of clay or a clay subsoil which retains a certain amount of moisture, yet is not too wet. Sand may be added to a very heavy clay soil or clay to a very sandy one to get the right proportions. Well rotted manure should be applied at the rate of 15-20 tons per acre (½ ton to 1,000 sq. ft., or 400-500 lbs. per 400 sq. ft.), and dug under deeply (or ploughed). A good commercial fertilizer may be used if manure is not available, say, 4 p.c. nitrogen, 8 p.c. phosphoric acid, and 10 p.c. potash, applied at the rate of 40 lbs. per 400 sq. yds. If the area be large enough to admit a team it may then be harrowed. The ground will then require a thorough raking. All debris should be removed, the hollows filled and the humps smoothed out. A good rolling will help at this stage, after which the ground should be raked again to a fine smooth seed bed and the seed sown. One hundred and fifty pounds to an acre is a good seeding, or one pound and a half to four hundred square feet of area. After the seeding the ground should be rolled again.

Only the best seed from a reliable dealer should be used. There are many mixtures on the market for general purposes, and special locations which are quite satisfactory. For sowing, the seed should be divided into two parts, the first being sown in strips one way as evenly as possible, and the second lot sown also in sprigs crossing the first; thus securing the most even distribution of the seed possible. A comparatively calm day should be chosen when the ground is moist and the weather cool. Seed may be sown in the spring from the time the snow eaves to May 15, with excellent results. If sown later, however, the weather is liable to be hot and dry, which would result in a poor catch.

The first mowing of the lawn should be given with a scythe. Should it be necessary to use the lawn-mower, it may be adjusted to cut higher for the first time, and must be sharp. Start cutting when the grass has reached a height of between two and three inches.

Weeds will appear with the grass after seeding, but if annuals, they will be kept in check by the regular cutting, and will die at the approach of cold. Perennial weeds such as dandelions, plantains, docks, etc., should be spudded out at all times.

If the weather becomes very dry, water the lawn thoroughly. Do not give a daily sprinkling, but thoroughly soak the ground to a good depth at much less frequent intervals and only when necessary. Raise the cutting bar of the mower a little also during a drought.

In conclusion, I would say, that though this article gives directions for grading, preparation of the soil and that seeding should not follow immediately after the first preparation in all cases. One of the main conditions in obtaining a good sod is thorough prep ration and cultivation to keep down weeds. If the land has been well worked sometime previously, and is in good shape, the spring is a good time to seed. If it is necessary to grade and prepare the land this spring, do so, but leave the seeding until the fall or the following spring. In the meantime, keep the area well cultivated, or sow a crop of soy-beans, vetch or rye to plough under just before seeding.

Peterborough Hens Are Giving Many Big Eggs

Fred Bissonette, 260 Euclid avenue, has a flock of barred rock hens that present him quite frequently with eggs as large as 6½ by 8¼ inches. The hens are last year's chickens and were raised by him from eggs laid by hens in his possession. Mr. Bissonette has about twelve of these prolific birds and expects to have plenty of eggs big enough to feed the whole family.

WOULD BAN SPANISH.

Dr. John McGillivray Says It Weakens School Efficiency.

TORONTO, April 16.—(Canadian Press)—That the effect of the teaching of Spanish in High Schools was undoubtedly weakening the general efficiency of these institutions was one of the charges made against the "Spanish drive" by Dr. John MacGillivray, head of the Department of Germanics, Queen's University, before the modern language section of the O.E.A. to-day. The blame of introducing Spanish into the schools he laid on "a sensational pastor of a Toronto church, now an actor on the stage in the United States, and two other notoriety hunting individuals of the same city."

He suggested that the study of French and German be put on a footing of equality and that no foreign language be attempted in the continuation schools.

PRISON INSPECTOR UP.

EASTER SOCIAL AT MILLBROOK

Social and Business Meeting of Young People's League.

HOLIDAY VISITORS.

MILLBROOK, April 15.—The Young People's League held a combined business and social gathering on Easter Monday evening, under the Citizenship Committee, G. Elson, convenor, occupying the chair.

There was a fair attendance considering how many members are absent for the holiday week.

After the opening devotional period, business items received attention, and a reading, "The White Rose," by Mrs. P. Stinson, was much enjoyed. The Easter topic was not dealt with in order to leave more time for the social hour. Those present were divided into six groups, and a Bible alphabetical contest heartily entered into, providing a fair test for the young folks' Scriptural knowledge, particularly of geographical and personal names.

The same groups were retained for an "Easter egg" contest, the winners of each group playing off until W. Sayles was finally judged the victor and awarded the prize—a large chocolate Easter egg.

The missionary committee, Mrs. G. W. Sayles, convener, will have charge of the programme for next Monday's meeting.

Miss Gladys Gray, of the public school staff, Janetville, is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth Gray, for the Easter holidays.

Miss Alberta Russell, teacher at Mount Pleasant School, is spending the easter holidays at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. Russell, 7th Line, Cavan.

Rev. J. and Mrs. Wilks were in Toronto for the Easter week-end, going to the city on Thursday.

Miss Gertrude Spence, of Malton, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Spence, for the Easter holidays.

Mr. Chester Lambert, Oshawa, was the guest of his brother, Mr. V. C. Lambert, for the Easter week-end.

Rev. Canon Allen was in Toronto on church business this week.

Miss Alberta Brock, of Peterborough, spent the Easter week-end with her sister, Miss Jennie Brock, Tupper street.

Mrs. (Dr.) Rea spent the Easter week-end with her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. B. Weldon, Bond street, Lindsay.

Miss Ida Sprague, of the Technical School staff, Hamilton, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Pendrie, for the holiday week.

Mr. G. Crossley, of Port Hope, spent Easter Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Crossley, here.

Mrs. Jas. Dawson and her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Perrin, of Peterborough, spent the Easter week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce B. Dawson.

Messrs. A. Stinson, and J. Heaslip, of Janetville, were guests of Councillor and Mrs. P. Stinson on Easter Sunday.

Mr. P. I. Bentley was at Picton over the Easter week-end.

Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds, and little son, Donald, Misses Beryl and Alixe Johnston, of Toronto, are guests of Mrs. F. P. Johnston, 5th Line, Cavan, for the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnston, Janetville, were guests of Councillor and Mrs. P. Stinson on Sunday. Miss Jean Stinson motored home with her aunt and uncle and will remain for the holiday week with them.

Mr. Walter Collins, manager of the Bank of Commerce, Kitchener, and his son, Bobby, spent the Easter week-end with his mother, Mrs. T. B. Collins. Master Bobby, who is attending St. Albans' boys' school at Brockville, is remaining with his grandmother until school reopens next week.

Mr. B. Smith, of Kingsville, spent the Easter week-end with Mr. F. W. and Miss L. Burton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McConnell, and two children, Bobby and Margaret, motored from Toronto and were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Nattrass, for the Easter week-end.

Miss Eileen Higgs, teacher at the Marsh school, went to Port Perry for Easter week.

Miss Edna Eastcott, B.A., of the School of Science staff, Toronto, is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Eastcott, for the Easter holidays.

Miss L. Coburn, of Warkworth, is spending the holiday week with her aunt, Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard, at the parsonage.

Lang & Madill shipped two cars of hogs, one each from Millbrook and Frazerville, to Toronto on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mullen are visiting their daughter, Mrs. B. R. Raper, Toronto.

Millbrook Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 308, will attend divine worship in Grace Presbyterian church on Sunday, April 26, at 7 p.m. Rev. G. S. Gervan, who is himself a member of the Oddfellows, will preach.

Miss Marjorie Smith, B.A., of the Port Colborne Collegiate staff, is spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. ASmith.

SUNDAY'S SNOW AN AID TO PLOUGHMEN

Sod Was Drier When Spring Opened Than For Many Seasons.

BESTS' STATION, April 15.—The heavy snowstorm on Sunday evening came very unexpectedly to the early cultivators and sowers but the ploughmen report that the sod is drier this year at this time of the season than it has been for several years, therefore the snow will allow the land sufficient moisture to supply the necessary amount of rainfall.

Mrs. A. Rutherford and Mrs. Chas. Rutherford visited the latter's daughter, Mrs. Herman Franks, of East Emily, on Easter Sund y.

Concert Enjoyed.

The concert in the Temple on the Fourth Line of Smith on Thursday evening was largely attended by the young people of Fowler's Corners, and Bethel, when the congregation of Lakeview Church was entertained by a play put on by Bethel talent, entitled, "The Price of a Fish." The intervals between the plays were filled in by solos, recitations and choruses. The concert was thoroughly enjoyed by all and the young actors are to be congratulated on their splendid performances.

Mr. T. Lillico, of North Monaghan, has purchased R. Tully's valuable gray team of horses of the Fourth Line of Smith.

Messrs. Tom Franks and Vernon Ferguson, of Peterboro', visited friends at Fowler's Corners on Wednesday evening.

BABY'S BODY FOUND.

On Farm of Widow in Mariposa Township.

LINDSAY, Ont., April 16.—Provincial Officer Storey and Coroner Dr. Logan Tuesday evening visited the home of Mrs. Beardon, a widow on the seventh concession of Mariposa township, and superintended digging operations a few yards from the front door, which revealed the body of an infant.

An inquest will be held on the body Friday night.

ELECTION VOIDED.

Judge Finds Irregularities in Campbell's Bay Vote.

CAMPBELL'S BAY, Que., April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Judge Honare Achim Tuesday declared the Campbell's Bay Mayoralty election in January last null and void, and ordered another election to be held. The decision followed charges by Henry Dolan, unsuccessful candidate, against E. G. Lawn, successful candidate, of alleged irregularities.

HAVELOCK CALL TO A MINISTER

Mr. John Lennox, of Owen Sound Presbytery, Has Been Honored.

HELD MEETING.

HAVELOCK, April 16.—A congregational meeting was held in Knox Church on Tuesday evening for the purpose of considering a call for a minister. Rev. G. I. Craw ,of Springville, interim moderator, occupied the chair, and Mr. H. F. McNichol acted as secretary. The meeting was opened with prayer and scripture reading after which Mr. Craw addressed the congregation regarding the necessity of choosing a minister at an early date.

The motion by Mr. Wm. Mathison, seconded by Mr. Wm. Hitchins, that Mr. John Lennox of the Owen Sound Presbytery, who is at present in Aylmer, Que., be invited to become minister of Knox Church, was unanimously carried, and a call is being prepared and will be forwarded to the Peterborough Presbytery in the course of a few days.

Successful Dance.

A very successful dance was held in the town hall on Monday evening under the auspices of the Dorcas Rebekahs. Mr. Charles Jones of Marmora acted as floor manager and the music was provided by the Boardwalk Orchestra. The hall was attractively decorated by the committee in charge and a very enjoyable time was spent by all present.

FREIGHTERS MOVING.

Fleet at Midland Getting Under Way This Week.

MIDLAND, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Two more vessels cleared from this port yesterday, and it is expected that the majority of the freighters which wintered here will sail in the next few days. Both the vessels sailing Wednesday cleared light. The S.S. Glenalg, Capt. C. Kirk, for Bucalo, and the S.S. Glencairn, Capt. D. Hudson, for Cleveland. The S.S. Cletus Schneider, which was stuck in the ice near Hope Island, is reported to have gotten clear and is proceeding up the lakes. The Schneider sailed from this port Tuesday afternoon.

FIRE IN MARIPOSA.

Modern Farm Dwelling a Total Loss.

LINDSAY, April 16. — (Special.) —On Wednesday the homestead of Mr. Ferguson Whiteside, of Mariposa, which was one of the landmarks of the township, was totally destroyed by fire of mysterious origin. A high wind was prevailing at the time, and as a result the flames spread with great rapidity. The residence, which was of brick, was built over half a century ago, and had since been remodelled and modernized. Most of the contents were saved. There was no insurance on house and contents.

BOY DROWNED.

LUNENBURG, N.S., April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Curtis Richard, 16 years of age, was drowned at Dublin Shore breakwater, near here, yesterday morning, when the boat in which he and his companion, Lee Adams, were proceeding to a lobster trap, upset. Richard was unable to swin. His body was recovered later.

WOMEN'S INTERESTS

EASTERN STAR ENTERTAINMENT

L. O. B. A. 525 Ladies Are Hostesses to Bethlehem Number 650.

PRIZE WINNERS.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in Victoria Hall last evening when the members of the Eastern Star, L.O.B.A., No. 525, entertained the officers and members of the Star of Bethlehem L.O.B.A. No. 650, a large number of both lodges being present.

At the opening of the meeting a hearty welcome was extended to the visiting lodge by the Worthy Mistress, Mrs. E. Staples. Very enjoyable speeches were given by Worthy Mistress, Sister Burnham, Deputy Mistress Sister Yate, Guardian Brother Morrow, District Master Brother Sunman, Brother McCullough, Brother Burnham, Brother Wigg and Brother Welsh, all of the Star of Bethlehem, followed by short speeches from Worthy Deputy Mistress Sister E. Brown, Brother Freeman and Brother Reynolds of Eastern Star No. 525. Later in the evening a game of progressive euchre was engaged in. The prize winners were as follows: First prize for ladies, a silver fork, won by Mrs. A. Huffman; first prize for gentlemen, a pair of silk hose, won by Mr. Burnham. Second prize for ladies, an Easter chicken, won by Miss Hazel Brown; second prize for gentlemen, a bottle of real booster (cold water), won by District Master Brother Sunman. The prizes were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Freeman.

Dainty refreshments were then served by Sister H. Freeman, convenor, assisted by Sister Meldrew, Sister R. Sexsmith, Past Worthy Mistress Sister E. Brown, Deputy Mistress. After lunch a few splendid vocal selections were given by Mrs. Brailey, accompanied by Mrs. Baird, of Star of Bethelhem, followed by a few joke speeches given by Brother Wigg, Brother Fred Brown, Past District Master, and Brother Freeman.

The evening's entetrainment, which was arranged by Brother H. Freeman and Brother J. Brown, was enjoyed by everybody and came to a close at 12.30.

IS NOT CONTAGIOUS NOR COMMUNICABLE

Dr. H. W. Hill, of the Institute of Health, Warns of Small Sores.

LONDON, Ont., April 16. — Dr. Hibbert W. Hill, dean of the Institute of Health, stated that cancer is not hereditary nor is it contagious or communicable.

The statement was made by Dr. Hill in agreeing with the expressed opinion of Dr. F. C. Good, director of the Institute of Cancer Research, Columbia University, in a report on the subject of cancer in the United States.

Dr. Good stated also that fully 15,000 lives could be saved each year if those having cancers would have them treated within a few weeks of formation.

Dr. Hill pointed out that the public is beginning to become alive to the truth of this latter fact and that people are having treatment for cancer as never before. The average period after formation that people used to seek medical treatment was twelve months, but, according to Dr. Hill, that has been reduced to eight months.

In emphasizing the point that early treatment should be sought for cancer, Dr. Hill stated that cancer might easily arise from warts or other small sores, which if not immediately treated around the orifices of the body would lead to disaster.

ANOTHER COAL STRIKE.

Call For General Cessation of Work in West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 16. — A call for a general strike of coal miners in the four Panhandle counties of West Virginia, was issued today by officers of the Ohio district organization of the United Mine Workers.

BLACKHEADS

Coming MONDAY

BERNARD SHAW'S SAINT JOAN

TO GRAND OPERA HOUSE

A MASCULINE NEGLIGEE

This type of negligee is very popular with the practical girl, although the idea is very obviously stolen from a man's dressing gown. Of printed silk in shades of blue, it is bound and belted with plain blue of a darker tone. The sash makes any other closing unnecessary.

CARD PARTY.

Catholic Women's League Entertained in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum.

The members of the Catholic Women's League were hostesses at a very successful card party held in the auditorium of St. Alphonsus' Lyceum last evening. Twelve tables of bridge and twelve of euchre were played, prize-winners for bridge being Miss Marguerite Merrell and Mr. John E. Sullivan, for euchre Mrs. F. Fairen and Mr. Booth. The gues s were received by the president, Mrs. C. J. Snider, and members of the Executive: Mesdames H. Owen, E. G. Hiland, C. Hodgson, F. J. McFadden and E. H. Hickey. Miss Kate McAuley acted as general convenor.

FRECKLES

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckleface, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any drug or department store and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine, as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove your freckles.

MULHALL—MURRAY

COBOURG, April 16—The marriage of Mr. Frank Mulhall, son of Mr. Thomas Mulhall, to Miss May Murray, elder daughter of Mrs. Owen Murray, took place at St. Michael's church on Monday. Rev. Father Corkery officiated. The bride was looking particularly well in a smart travelling suit of navy blue with hat to match. She was attended by her sister, Miss Alice Murray, and Mr. Murray Walsh attended the goom. The happy couple left later for Detroit where they will take up residence. The bride received many beautiful and useful presents as well as several cheques.

THOMPSON—DAVEY.

COBOURG, April 16.—The marriage took place at high noon on Wednesday at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. John Davey, Baltimore, of their second daughter, Miss Hazel M. Davey, to Mr. James T. Thompson, local manager of Dominion store, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Thompson, Barrie. There were no attendants and only immediate relatives were present, among whom was Mr. Walter E. Thompson, St. Catharines, brother of the groom. Rev. Mr. McKee, past of Baltimore Methodist church, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left on the 3.39 C.N.R. train to spend the honeymoon in Toronto and Barrie, after which they will take up residence in the Way cottage on James, which was recently purchased by the groom.

ROLLINGS—EDGELL.

COBOURG, Oct. 16.—The marriage took place on Saturday at the Baptist parsonage, of Miss Amelia Rollings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rollings, to Ernest Edgell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Edgell. The bride wore blue silk taffeta and carried roses and Easter lilies, wearing also the groom's gift, a string of pearls, with white gold pendant set with diamonds. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elsie Rollins, who received as gift from the groom a white gold brooch with diamond setting. Mr. Frederick J. Edgell was groomsman, his souvenir being a diamond set tie pin.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgell left to spend the honeymoon in Toronto and at points west before taking up residence on Orange street, Cobourg.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.

Calexico Shaken By Three Tremors— Inhabitants Frightened Into Street.

CALEXICO, Calif., April 16. — Three earthquake shocks visited Calexi last night between seven-thirty and nine-thirty shaking plaster from the walls and frightening the inhabitants into the streets. No serious damage was done.

Home Furnishings

ADD BEAUTY TO STOLID PIECE

Small tables should be adorned in accordance with their intended use. The hall console is formal and should be formally decorated. The small smoking table is informal and should be made so. While the guest room table, as shown here, should be a happy medium, formal and useful. The writing pad and the decorative effect, here, make a good combination.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

CLEANING FURS.

To clean the fur on coats or neckpieces lay the collar on a newspaper and sprinkle full of coarse cornmeal. Let it lie for several hours, then shake out the meal.

SAVE CLOTHESLINE.

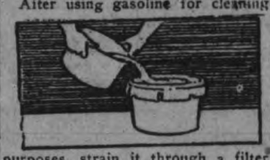
Do not leave your clothesline out from week to week. A clothes reel that you can take in after each drying is better.

NEVER BOIL WOOL

Never soak or boil wool of any kind. Always squeeze the water out of woolen goods—never wring them.

STRAIN GASOLINE

After using gasoline for cleaning purposes, strain it through a filter and it will be clean.



TO PRESERVE LACE.

If lace is very fine and valuable, it is better to sew it on to a thin piece of muslin or cheesecloth before washing it. This preserves the shape and the wear and tear on the lace.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR GREAT ARTIST

John Singer Sargent Acclaimed One of the Greatest Masters.

LONDON, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Memorial services for the eminent artist, John Singer Sargent, who died yesterday, will be held in Westminster Abbey early next week. The date of the interment is not yet decided, but the place of burial has been selected at Woking, near London. If future generations endorse the encomiums pulished today, Sargent will have a place in the Temple of Fame, alongside the greatest masters of all time.

SCOTT REPRIEVED.

Toronto Man Was to Have Been Hanged To-morrow Morning.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 16. — Russell Scott of Toronto, was given a reprieve of ninety days by Governor Small, shortly after the Supreme Court had failed to-day to take action on his appeal. Scott was to have been hanged on Friday for the murder of a Chicago drug clerk.

WOMEN'S GUILD AFTERNOON TEA

All Saints' Ladies Held Successful Affair—Attendance Excellent.

GOOD PROGRAMME.

The Women's Guild of All Saints' Church held a particularly successful afternoon tea and sale of home-made cooking and candy at the home of Mrs. R. J. Wolstenholm, Bolivar Street, yesterday afternoon and evening. In attendance and in financial results, the tea and sale was very satisfying to the ladies in charge.

The guests were received by Mrs. Wolstenholm, and the president of the Guild, Mrs. R. Trotter. Ladies in charge of the tea-room were Mrs. A. A. Haskill and Mrs. P. Fitzgerald. Tea was poured by Mrs. John Davidson, assisted by Mesdames Johnston, Kimmell, Dillon and Miss Dorothy Rattenbury. Mesdames Sabin and Cottrell had charge of the sale of home-made cooking. Mesdames McLeod and Allen of the sale of home-made candy.

The tea-table was very effectively arranged with a filet lace cloth and centrepiece of large silver basket filled with pink carnations, yellow daffodils and pussy willows. Yellow candles were in the silver candlesticks.

The programme was very enjoyable, and included vocal solos by Mrs. L. Spriggs and the Misses Bertha Hill and Edith Tucker, instrumental selections by the Misses Bertha Hill and Edith Tucker, instrumental selections by the Misses Jean Bryce, Allen, Marion McCannon and Margaret Johnston, violin numbers by Mrs. Percy Hooper and readings by Mrs. H. E. Connolly. Accompanists for the afternoon and evening programme were Mrs. E. Glover and the Misses Agnes Logan and S. Shearer.

DUNSFORD WOMEN ELECTED OFFICERS

W.M.S. Held Their Annual Meeting Recently—Good Reports Given.

The W.M.S. held their business meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. V. Thurston. The president, Mrs. T. J. Thurston, conducted the devotional exercises. After singing a hymn, Mrs. (Rev.) Carmichael led in prayer. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were then read and adopted. The Watch Tower was called and each responded with good reports. Mrs. E. Gordon read the Bible lesson fro mthe 25th Psalm and gave a good explanation. After singing another hymn, the appointing of a delegate was discussed, which was left over till next meeting. A vote was then taken on the election of officers for the coming year:

President—Mrs. T. J. Thurston.
Asst. Pres.—Mrs. (Rev.) Carmichael.
Secretary—Mrs. W. M. Thurston.
Trasurer—Miss E. Brien.
Cor. Sec.—Mrs. W. Brien.
Organist—Mrs. R. W. Brien.

Mrs. W. Brien and Mrs. W. F. Thurston were appointed program committee for next meeting at Mrs. J. Courtney's in May. After singing the president closed the meeting with prayer. The hostess then served a dainty lunch and a social hour was spent.

A Successful Play.

On Wednesday evening of last week a number of young people from Cambray motored to our village and put on the play "Ten Nights in a Bar-room."

There was a good turn out and every one enjoyed it. At times it was quite jolly and every one joined in a hearty laugh. Then again at the more serious periods one could hear a pin drop and tears were brought to the eyes of many in the audience.

The young people are to be congratulated on the manner in which they one and all enacted their parts.

After the play lunch was served in the Orange Hall and a social hour was spent.

Personals.

Miss Garnette Thurston of Toronto is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Thurston.

Mr. and Mrs Geo. Burgess were business visitors to Lindsay on Saturday.

W. J. Thurston and son Jimmie, motored to Toronto on Thursday last and report the roads in first class condition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Robertson are spending a few days with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Burgess and family spent Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Brown, Bobcaygeon.

Mrs. Roy Robertson is spending a week with friends in Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thurston have moved back to their home at Greenhurst, where they will reside during the warm weather.

The county road men have been quite busy during the past two weeks, and are being congratulated on having the roads in such good condition.

The heavy fall of snow on Sunday night made things look like Christmas time again. However, the farmers don't seem to mind it. Several of them say that snow this time of year is a good fertilizer.

Miss Florence Hunter is home from Toronto for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kennedy motored down from Toronto and spent Sunday with friends here.

Miss Luella Thurston of Toronto spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thurston.

Miss Helen Burgess and Miss Alethia Kennedy are spending a few holidays on the Scotch Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bell visited friends in Lindsay Saturday evening.

Bon Ami —keeps kitchen-ware like new!

Take a little Bon Ami on a damp cloth, and give your aluminium kitchen-ware a few brisk rubs. You'll find that dirt and tarnish vanish like magic!

The soft Bon Ami powder gently absorbs all grime—brings back the original lustre without making the slightest scratch on the smooth surface. That's why it's so good also for cleaning the inside as well as the outside of kettles or saucepans. Scars, even tiny ones, catch and hold the food, causing it to scorch—making the utensil harder to clean next time. But with Bon Ami you never need worry about scratching.

There's nothing like Bon Ami for cleaning and polishing dozens of other things throughout the house! And it won't redden or roughen your hands!

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

Care And Feeding Of Baby Chicks

By J. G. HALPIN

Half the battle of raising chicks is won if you get everything ready and place the chicks under the brooder without their being neglected for a minute.

Several days before the chicks are due to arrive start the brooder, clean and thoroughly disinfect everything that is to be used for the chicks. Keep the brooder running until the house is thoroughly dried out and then put in the litter.

For litter, use sand around the brooder and for the feeding floor alfalfa or clover chaff, chopped straw or coarse shavings. Be sure that the litter is not musty or mouldy. Mouldy litter will cause brooder pneumonia.

The first thing to feed chicks is limestone grit. Cut pieces of cardboard about six inches square and scatter several over the litter in the brooder house. Put some chick-size limestone grit on these. The chicks running on the paper make a noise that attracts the attention of other chicks and the baby chicks fill up on the limestone instead of eating the litter.

It is important that this be done at the start so that the chicks will eat the limestone and not eat coarse pieces of litter.

Galvanized Pans.

Put in a fountain or fountains of milk. Whold milk is the best, but skim-milk or buttermilk will do if whole milk is not available. Do not use a new galvanized metal fountain because the milk will unite with galvanizing and form a poison.

If necessary to use galvanized drinking dishes, fill them with milk and set in a warm place for two or three days, where nothing can get at the milk. Then pour out the milk and thoroughly wash the dish with warm water and cleansing solution of any kind, then rinse and the most soluble part of the galvanizing will have been destroyed.

This is one of the many things that must be attended to before the chicks arrive.

So far as feed is concerned one can use either a simple home-made mixture or buy one of the proprietary chick mashes. If you buy a ready-made chick mash, buy the best your dealer has and be sure that it is fresh.

If you use a home-made mixture remember that a chick either makes a rapid growth or dies. Consequently the ration must be complete and supply the chick with material for the rapid building of bone, flesh, and feathers and also supply energy.

llow corn must be sweet and f a ration is made up from a of a large number of feeds, e feeds may be of poor quality so very dangerous, whereas imple mixture one feed forms larger proportion that great t be taken that the quality is could be desired.

uld also be remembered that orn should be used, as white s not contain enough of the ble vitamin to supply the eeds. Baby chicks fed entirely ns made from white corn, oats, k, etc., will develop eye trouble

e rations specified, limestone e are mixed with each. This more satisfactory than trying minerals from a hopper. If additional grit hoppers can , but minerals should be mixed e feed even if hoppers are d.

Sunlight Essential.

e Wisconsin Experiment Station been conclusively demonstrated g weakness in chicks is rickets, improper bone formation. If icks run out daily into direct t and the ration used is reasonwell supplied with minerals, leg ess will not occur.

y in the spring on cold, sunny open the windows so that the ll shine directly onto the chicks. e sunlight is strained through e ultra violet rays are screened d the resulting sunshine will not t leg weakness.

enever possible begin getting the out of doors within the first or four days. The most successful raisers, as a rule, are those that e chicks out of doors even if the er is cold.

chicks must be raised in a baseent, garret or other place where there direct sunlight, special precautions be taken to prevent leg weakness. ar as known the two best things se are egg yolks or cod liver oil. hen chicks are very small, one yolk can be used for 100 chicks. r a week, increase to three yolks day for each 100 chicks. his, combined with the good mineral ture recommended, will make the cks grow even in the absence of ct sunlight. If cod liver oil is used at the rate of 2½ per cent of the l liver oil mixture.

In practice we have found that a isfactory way to feed eggs to chicks to break enough raw eggs into a tle milk. Beat the mixture with a oon or egg beater and use enough this mixture to make a crumbly oist feed for the chicks once each y.

Egg Feeding.

is necessary to beat up the eggs where the whites are fed, otherwise the mixture will be sticky and not readily eaten. By adding a little milk to the egg it will beat up more readily. Infertile incubator eggs, small dirty or broken fresh eggs may be used.

There are a number of other things that make an excellent addition to the ration for chicks. Among these green feed is important. For green feed use green sprouted oats whenever possible.

It is a good plan whenever the weather is warm to put the green growing oats out into the direct sunlight for an hour or so before feeding to the chicks. In cold or cloudy weather this, of course, is impossible, but it should be done whenever there is a mild sunshiny day.

Other forms of green feed that are important are alfalfa or clover chaff. This must be carefully cured so it is still fairly green and free from must or mould, otherwise it is not good chick feed.

Sweet green-colored alfalfa or clover leaves supply protein, mineral and valuable vitamines to the baby chick. It can be fed best by putting on the floor as a litter and letting the chicks help themselves.

Succulent Food.

Mangels, or other succulent feed, are beneficial and can be fed by cutting the mangel into two pieces and fastening to the wall of the house by impaling on a large nail. The chicks will spend hours eating the mangel, thus getting valuable feed and exercise at the same time.

Chopped onions are also excellent feed.

Canned tomatoes are rich in vitamins and make an excellent addition for baby chicks. We have found that it is a good plan to use enough canned tomato with the mash to make a crumbly mixture, and then feed all of this that the chicks will eat once each day.

How the chick sleeps at night is just as important as how he eats in the day time. Where chicks are brooded in large lots it is important to keep them well spread out at night on a dry clean litter.

If the litter becomes dusty and dirty, eye trouble is likely to follow. It pays to clean the brooder house and put in fresh litter as often as the litter becomes badly used.

Stir up the litter each day to keep it from packing, and let the heavy dirt settle to the floor. Some kinds of litter need changing oftener than others, but all kinds must be changed whenever the litter becomes dirty, damp or dusty.

Safety Hints.

One of the most common troubles when raising chicks in large groups is the tendency for the chicks to pile in corners, especially after they are two or three weeks of age. It pays to round off the back corners of the brooder house by using either wire netting or roofing paper. Also, by making a "chick guard" for the front side of the brooder, you can practically eliminate the crowding trouble at night.

For the small brooder stoves use a strip of galvanized metal six feet long and eighteen inches wide. For the larger brooders use a strip eight feet long and eighteen inches wide. Fasten small pieces of metal to either end of the strip so that it will stand on edge with no danger of falling over onto the chicks.

The metal guard should be placed near the canopy when the chicks are small and then gradually moved away from the canopy as the chicks become larger. On cold nights it will be found necessary to have the metal guard closer than on warm nights.

Chick Comfort.

Baby chicks must be kept warm enough so that they will be comfortable without crowding. At the same time they must not be kept too warm.

Chicks that run out into the cold need more warmth than chicks running out into a warmer temperature. In other words, when chicks come in from the cold they should be able to go to a warm place and get warm and then move back away from the extreme heat to a place that will be comfortable.

A successful brooder is warmest next to the centre and then slowly changes to a cooler temperature. If the brooder floor changes temperature too rapidly, the chick will be uncomfortable.

As the chicks grow they need less and less heat, but no absolute rule can be adopted because the faster they grow the faster the temperature can be reduced. Always remember that if the chicks huddle up close and act cold they must have more heat.

No matter what the thermometer reads, the chicks are the real guide as to brooder temperature.

SEPARATE CHICKS.

Failure to separate young cockerels from pullets may result in stunted pullets. Separate the sexes as soon as they can be determined, especially if the brooder house is crowded.

FEWER POTATOES.

A smaller acreage of potatoes is expected this year in the United States, due to low prices prevailing at present.

LOW PRICES AT FARM AUCTION

Good Demand For Cattle and Pigs, But Small Price For Horses.

IMPLEMENTS CHEAP.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16.—J. R. Battisby sold at auction, last week, the stock and chattels of Charles Longmuir, of Seymour West, who has been compelled to give up farming temporarily on account of ill-health. As Mr. Battisby was somewhat indisposed himself, he was assisted in his work by another licensed auctioneer, Dr. G. A. Hay, of town.

There was a large crowd at the sale and bidding was brisk, the entire list of machinery and stock being disposed of at good prices in a little over two hours. The present high price of cheese has caused a lively demand for dairy cattle. Twelve of these, all grade Holsteins, were offered for sale and found quick purchasers, the top price being $75, regarded as a good figure when the present market for pure-breds of this breed is considered.

Fifteen Southdown ewes were disposed of, some of them going for $29 each.

Pigs are still regarded as among the farmer's best live stock investments. A brood sow with a litter of 10 pigs, four weeks old, brought $78.

Three horses were sold, one handsome work mare, five years old, bringing $103, the premier price. The price of horses has not kept pace with that of other classes of live stock and shows no improvement.

The reduction in the price of farm machinery, amounting to 10 per cent., or about $30 on a binder, over the schedule of last year, together with the easier terms of payment allowed by the manufacturers, is apparently lessening the demand for used implements offered at farmers' sales. One of the best bargains at the auction was a binder, 6-foot cut, that was in good repair and which was knocked down for $64. The same binder, if bought new to-day, would cost $238.

CAN USE ALL WHEAT

World's Population in 2025 Will Require Six Billion Bushels.

The growing populations of the world could handle the wheat production for the next century or so, if rational direction and control are inaugurated even now, says Dr. O. E. Baker, economist of the Department of Agriculture. He has recently completed a study of world wheat production.

The white wheat-eating people of the world now consume 2,525,000,000 bushels of wheat annually, says Dr. Baker. With normal population increase, but no increase in per capita consumption, the world's demand a century hence will be 5,800,000,000 bushels.

Potential wheat production of the world, says Dr. Baker, is 12,150,000 bushels, with 3,000,000,000 under production of non-white peoples. This leaves a comfortable surplus for the white race for the next century at least.

Seed corn testing this year is more important than it has ever been. Inspection of an ear will not tell what its germination will be. Only by actual test can experts determine this, and you cannot hope to do better than they.

SEEDING BEGUN NEAR DARTFORD

Is Always Among First Localities Owing to Fast Drying Land.

FALL CROPS GOOD

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16.—The farmers in the vicinity of Dartford are always the first to start seeding operations in the spring, as, owing to its location, the soil there dries out quickly. On Saturday, April 4, Thomas Atkinson sowed a field of spring wheat and has since finished another.

George Hutchinson, a neighbor, has sown oats and is well on with his other work. This seeding is about a month earlier than the start of last year, and is the earliest of any year since 1921.

Wheat and Clover.

A trip through the township of Seymour leads the observer to the conclusion that fall wheat never came through the winter in better shape. Field after field fails to show a single brown or winter-killed spot. The crop has made a start in growth since the snow disappeared, and is already further ahead than it was in the middle of May a year ago. The cold wind of the past few days has been against it, but a shower, with a spell of warm weather, is all that is needed to put the wheat well past the danger spot.

Clover in old and newly-seeded meadows has made an excellent start, and as much can be said of the timothy and pasture fields.

IMPROVED BREEDING

Farmers House Dairy Cattle in Stables Worthy of Better Animals.

Improved breeding is urgently needed in dairy herds. Most dairymen feed and house their cattle in a manner that is worthy of much better cattle than they are keeping. Efficient cows, efficiently feed and housed, are the dairyman's economic salvation. The most successful dairymen are breeders and improvers of dairy cattle.

While silage is an excellent feed for dairy stock, it should be combined with some leguminous feed, such as clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa, owing to its insufficient productive quality. The leguminous material will tend to correct the deficiencies of the silage in dry matter, protein, and mineral constituents.

The dairyman's motto is: "Production first"; and every cow, pure-bred or grade, must produce and keep us, because we can't afford to keep her. This is one reason why some pure-bred breeders shun cow-testing associations. They are afraid of their records; afraid some of their cows are not paying for their feed, or afraid some grade cow will step too fast for them.

USE OF MARL.

Marl is a good form of lime for the soil that needs lime. Two to three tons per acre of air-dried marl will not be too much. Broadcast on the ploughed land and harrow in. It is always best, however, to have marl sampled and analyzed before using. Marl, on air-drying it, readily crumbles, falling into a more or less fine powder, which is easily distributed on the land.

Yokohama now has more school children than before the earthquake, although a census last fall revealed the population was 75,000 less.

HARD WORK FOR REAL SUCCESS ON HOMESTEAD

Successful Farming a Matter of Careful Management, Hard Work and Thrift.

MIXED FARMING.

Live Stock Helps Profits When the Grain Crop is Lean.

That success on Western farms as on Eastern farms is the result not so much of locality or weather conditions, but is in the long run a matter of crop diversification, mixed farming, careful management, thrift, hard work and close attention to details is being proven by the experience of many prairie farmers. Following is a typical case.

Elkdale, February 12, 1925.

Dear Sir: Referring to your letter of January 20, in regard to the methods of farming:

1.—My motto on the farm is to work hard and make every step count; be up on time in the morning for feeding, and feed regularly, do not go to a dance or a party three or four times a week and sleep the next day, and at 12 o'clock have your stock without feed and water, that cannot work, and there are a lot of farmers acting that way, and I am sure there are some of your mortgagors acting the same. That is the root of the trouble with some of your mortgagors.

2.—I took this land over eight years ago, starting with four small horses and six cows, and $24 in my pocket. I never left the farm to go out to work, but made what I have to-day right on the farm, and to-day I have eight horses and 30 head of cattle, pigs, chickens, and all the machinery needed on a farm, all paid for, and my quarter section is all broken except 15 acres, and I have always had a good living, three good meals a day since I came here, but I must tell you that I am not going to dances or parties, but am looking after my business.

3.—In this part of the country you must keep cattle, that is what pays on the farm. I am going to milk 15 cows this summer I believe, and I expect the cattle will bring me close to $15 a week; remember this is clear in the summer time. I have no need to feed them. My cattle are all grade cattle, but I keep them good. Ihave always all kinds of hay, straw water and a good, stable for winter. What is the good of having pure-bred stock if you let them starve, leave them outside without feed or water in the cold winter—there is no profit in that. Here we have to have the cows calf in March and April and then we have the cattle in good standing for to start on green grass and get lots of milk all summer; also when I sell a steer I always get a first-class price. I have just as good stock as those pure-breed men, but not feeding three times a week. I said three times a week, but I mean do not give as much feed during a week as would keep my cattle three days a week.

4.—With the skim milk we keep some pigs; 12 to 14 pigs is enough for any farmer, more would be too much when you have to feed them with grain, but pigs will pay if you have lots of milk, as you need very little grain if you have a lot of milk; my pigs are White Chester. Farmers should not keep more than two sows for breeding, that is enough.

5.—Farmers should not keep less than 30 chickens or more than 50. That is enough to give you lots of eggs. We also raise over 300 young chickens with forty hens, but chickens are something that do not pay very well, o eggs are too cheap, and also, if you want to have a good fall chicken for the market, it takes a lot of feed. My chickens are mixed.

6—Here is how I arrange my farm work: I am summer fallowing 30 acres every year; then I am sowing wheat the first year; the second oats, and third year barley, if it is not too dirty, but if it is dirty, I summer-fallow again and then have a fair crop every year. Up to the present I have not done very much summer-fallowing, but I have done enough to show that it paid. I have done some breaking every year, and that keeps me busy, but I have always a fair crop, as I work my land good. My wheat this year ran, on new land, 22 bushels to the acre, but on the old land it was not so good, but I have an average of 16 bushels per acre. My oats average 40 bushels, and barley 20. I am sowing 30 acres of wheat, 40 acres of oats, and balance barley. This year I threshed 2,400 bushels of grain. I have not sown grass seed or clover yet, but I will start soon.

I am closing my letter now and hope you will find it satisfactory.

Yours truly,

District Elkdale, Manitoba.

South Monaghan Farmer Imports Prize Chickens

Frank Head, South Monaghan, has just received a shipment of prize Barred Rocks from New Jersey. These will be added to the fine flock which Mr. Head already has, which are well known to patrons of the Peterborough Poultry Show and Industrial Exhibition.

LICE ON CATTLE.

The method of controlling lice suggested by the South Dakota Agricultural College, is to dip the cattle during the fall and spring. Dipping of cattle is not advisable, however, during the winter months, on account of pneumonia. Hand treatment, in many cases, may relieve the animals until spring, when they may be dipped. Three different treatments are commonly used. Equal parts of ground sabadilla seed and flowers of sulphur in the form of a dusting powder is a good treatment.

No one has ever been able to develop a system whereby poultry could be made profitable by keeping the flock in a mite-infested house.

When The Tin Pail Hangs On The Maple Tree

By ANNE CAMPBELL.

When the tin pail hangs on the maple tree
And the sap drips down for the world to see,
It's a better sign of the rush of spring
Than anything!

When the tin pail hangs on the maple tree
There's a sudden stirring of memory,
And our thoughts go back to the good old days—
The good old ways!

When the tin pail hangs on the maple tree,
Then we travel back to the used-to-be,
To the trees that we tapped there, row on row,
So long ago!

When the tin pail hangs on the maple tree,
And the sap drips down for the world to see,
There's a sudden lift of the heart's old pain—
It's spring again.

INCREASING THE YIELD OF OATS

Proper Treatment of Seed and Soil Produces Larger Crops.

IMPROVED STRAINS.

There are great possibilities, it is made strikingly apparent by various experiment station bulletins, for increasing the profit in raising oats and placing the crop on a much more dependable basis by following the practices of the best oat farmers who plant only high-yielding tested varieties, treat the seed with formaldehyde, take unusual care in preparing the fields for planting and apply acid phosphate fertilizer to soils which need this particular form of plant food.

Improved strains have demonstrated a distinct gain in acreage for several years, but a large proportion of the farms show the use only of the old smaller-yielding sorts, the seed being saved from year to year from neighborhood crops. Seedsmen are carefully testing and improving the grade of oats with an eye to increased yield and to clean seed, and there is little excuse for going along with a mediocre grade of seed.

Improved strains of oats very often will outyield the older types selected in neighboring fields for comparison by 20 per cent. It is a simple matter to increase the crop and place it upon a much more dependable basis by the use of higher-yielding treated seed without any extra cost of production and only the added labor of harvesting a heavier crop. The only additional expense will be a slight outlay for better-class seed which is made up many times in the increased yield of the pedigreed crop.

Acid phosphate or other fertilizers of high phosphorus content almost always give a distinct increase in crop after the application. The yield and weight per bushel is increased and it has also been found that the crop matures at an earlier date and more uniformly than when the fertilizer is not used. This fertilizer also tends to overcome the tendency of the grain to lodge on heavy soils.

On fertile land, the experiment station experts say, the application of barnyard manure is not advisable for oats as it produces too rank growth.

THE GRADES OF CANADIAN EGGS

Specials, Extra Firsts and Seconds Are Unknown to Family Buyers.

BEING ADVERTISED.

The value of egg grading will not have reached the limit of its possibilities until the buyers for the family table have learned to distinguish between the different grades, which are "Specials," "Extras," "Firsts" and "Seconds." Until one has learned to ask for "Specials" when the finest quality of new-laid eggs is desired, he will have no assurance of getting that quality of freshness and delicacy of flavour so desirable in a boiling egg. This, which is the highest of the standard grades, is a product largely of the specialist poultryman, who observes every condition for producing the highest type of egg and of getting it to market at once. Eggs of this grade are also the largest, requiring to be 25 ounces to the dozen and of uniform size. Eggs of the "Specials" grade are not on the market at all seasons of the year. The next grade, "Extras," to all but the most exacting, is a first-class boiling egg, lacking only that delicacy of flavour that goes with extreme freshness. This is a popular egg for the breakfast table, and is obtainable at practically all seasons of the year. It might weigh a little less than the "Special," the standard being 24 ounces to the dozen. "Firsts" come into the class of smaller eggs, being 22½ ounces to the dozen, and, while still good, they lack that flavour and texture of the higher grades. "Seconds" come within the culinary class, still sound in quality, but not so fresh as "Firsts."

During a discussion of these grades at a session of the Agricultural Committee of the House of Commons, it was brought out by an officer of the Department of Agriculture that the grocers who are wide-awake to the advantages of advertising their best grades of eggs, are rapidly developing their trade in this commodity.

FIRST FAIR HELD IN THIS DISTRICT WAS 95 YEARS AGO AND WAS A SUCCESSFUL SHOW

Northumberland and Peterboro County Farmers Were Progressive Bunch.

PRIZES FOR ESSAYS

Ancestor of Present Residents Won Prize for Writing About Wheat.

COBOURG, April 16. — Ninety-five years ago the farmers of Northumberland County and of the settled parts of Peterborough took a progressive step, when they decided to hold a cattle and horse show in May. It was on the nineteenth of the previous October that Northumberland County held its first agricultural exhibition. At this first fair in addition to prizes for stallion, bull, brood mare, milch cow, working oxen, boar, ram, etc., prizes were given for the best field roller, and for home-made cheese. There was a prize given for the best written essay on the culture of wheat. This prize was won by Joshua Webster, whose descendants still farm in Northumberland County. The first prize was $5.00. A second prize of $5.00 was won by Chas. Powers of Haldimand Township.

There were four prizes offered in the live stock classes, $3.00, $3.00, $4.00 and $3.00. The stock at this fair made such a good showing that it was then and there decided to have a cattle and horse show the following spring. The farmers in this district were just becoming seized of the importance of careful breeding, and it was not unusual for a county to import a high-grade bull or board. A little later when a Provincial show was organized there was keen competition among the counties as to which possessed the best breeding sires. These competitions were only second in interest and importance to the historic plowing matches which were the occasion for a holiday for the entire countryside.

Field Crop Competition.

The directors of the first agricultural show in Northumberland were nothing if not progressive, for not only did the arrange for a spring show to be held in May of 1830, but also for a ploughing match and planned for this to be held at Cobourg. But they even went further than this by laying the nucleus for the present field crop competitions. They decided to give prizes for the best crops of wheat, Indian corn and potatoes. The judges in this important agricultural event were men historically well known. They were Hon. Zacheus Burnham, whose descendants still farm in Hamilton Township; Henry Ruttan, who, a few years later, was president of the Provincial Agricultural Exhibition, and John Gover, a prominent citizen and farmer of Haldimand Township. The latter was a leading spirit in the organization of the first county agricultural society.

When the awards were made, Cremahe Township took the lead in wheat culture, with Peter Alger winning the prize, as it was judged he produced the best sample. The prizes for Indian corn went to Isaac Waite, Truman Hirman and Jonathan Massey, all of Haldimand Township.

Fruit Stand On One Tree For This Man

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 16.—In the Transvaal a remarkable tree has been grown as an experiment.

A lemon tree was trimmed until only three branches remained. Upon one was grafted an orange, upon another a grapefruit, while the third was allowed to remain a lemon, with the result that the tree is now bearing all three fruits at once.

The tree has the dark and paler green leaves belonging to the various fruits.

About six specimens of each of the fruits grew on the tree this year.

HOW TO SPRAY APPLE ORCHARD

Necessary For Good Crops, But Must Be Properly Done For Results.

USE SPRAY CALENDAR.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

1. Do not spray at all unless you are going to try to do it well. It will not pay.

2. You cannot make a success of apple growing without good spraying.

3. You cannot spray well without a good outfit which will give you plenty of pressure. So overhaul the old spray machine at once, or if it is not satisfactory buy a new one with plenty of power.

4. Get a spray calendar from your Agricultural Representative, or from Mr. P. W. Hodgetts, Director Fruit Branch, Toronto, or Prof. L. Caesar O. A. College, Guelph. Tack it up in the spray shed where it will always be available.

. Use only the spray materials recommended in the spray calendar.

6. Do not spray when it happens to be convenient, but spray at the times the spray calendar says. The time of spraying is of vast importance and the times given in the spray calendar are based on years of study.

7. Omit none of the first three regular sprays, some years the first is the most important, some the second and some the third. Each spray helps to make the next more effective and each must be given to insure clean fruit.

8. McIntosh and Snow trees should always receive a fourth application. Read what the spray calendar recommends under "Extra sprays and remarks" and be guided by it.

9. You will not control San Jose scale on large trees, twenty-five years old or more, unless you first prune them heavily and scrape the loose bark off with a hoe. Then see that every particle of the bark is wet with the liquid; a mere mist or a light spray will not kill the insect. Use lime sulphur 1 to 7 of water, preferably just as the buds are bursting.

10. For scab and codling moth cover both sides of every fruit and also cover every leaf. Scab attacks the leaves, too, and is often washed from them to the fruit. It will require from 7 to 13 gallons for each tree twenty-five years old or upwards, not just 2 or 3 gallons.

11. Be sure the spray reaches right through the trees. To insure this go in, if necessary, underneath the tree and spray the part beyond the trunk first, then step back to the outside and spray the remaining part. Do this from both sides. Remember that it is the centre or shaded part of the tree where scab naturally is worst and poor sprayers nearly always miss this side through they often cover the sunny or outer side all right.

12. A tower, even with a spray gun, is a great help. Often it will suffice to stand on the tank. A railing or support on it removes the danger of falling.

13. Do not use large openings in the discs of either nozzles or spray gurs unless you have 225 pounds pressure or more. They are wasteful, make it difficult to maintain high pressure, and give too coarse a spray.

14. In many cases better work will be done with a rod and three angle disc nozzles than with a gun. In any case use some system in spraying so that you will make sure everything is being covered in a methodical manner.

1 . Have a handy place to fill the tank. Ten minutes should be long enough for any tank.

1 . Do not stop spraying because rain threatens. Go right on until the rain has well begun. It is rain and moisture which cause scab outbreaks.

17. Do not stick to an eight or ten hour day when spraying, but make every effort to get it done as soon as possible without sacrificing thoroughness. If the second spray is not finished before the blossoms open, omit the poison and go on until it is finished.

18. Wash out the tank and pump clean water through the machine and nozzles at the close of each day.

19. Remember spraying gives healthy foliage and is a great factor in producing annual crops as well as giving clean fruit. Even trees that are not bearing should be sprayed to keep them healthy.

20. Get a new spray calendar each year.

21. When in difficulty consult your Agricultural Representative or write to Prof. L. Caesar, O. A. College Guelph, or W. A. Ross, Vineland.—L. Caesar, O. A. College, Guelph.

By scientific seed breeding and selection the returns of the farmer's investment and expense can be increased more than in any other way. Much has already been accomplished. Are you taking full advantage of it?

MORE CREAMERIES IN PETERBOROUGH

One Section of Country Now Has Six Where There Was One.

The following is a summarized report in by the Agricultural representatives:—

Farmers agree that recent weather has been very satisfactory considering all phases of crop prospects. As a large acreage intended for spring sowing passed the winter unplowed because of drougth, the advantage of an early start is obvious. Plows have been in action in the drier land as far north and east as Prescott and Russell where farmers plowed in March for the first time in many years. Seeding has commenced on the favorable acreages in Western Ontario, including Huron, Perth and Peel. A small acreage has been sown in Prince Edward. A few warm days would encourage the seeding of vegetables which has been light to date in the chief garden sections.

While most of the peach orchards have received the early spray, practically no apples have been treated. Durham reports that orchards have wintered well and that there is an abundance of fruit buds on most varieties. Cheese factories have been opening up with prospects of satisfactory volume and fair initial prices. The increase in butter manufacture is illustrated by a section in Peterborough County, where there are now six creameries in a territory served by one a few years ago.

It has been predicted that the alfalfa acreage sown this year in Ontario County will be three thimes as great as seeded in any previous season. This is partially due to the alfalfa campaign conducted throughout the country this spring. In Victoria, ranchers are preparing to turn their cattle on the ranges in the near future. The season has been favorable for a clean-up in bush work, and practically all teaming has been completed. A scarcity of farm help has been reported from several counties.

ATHLETICS WIN TWO STRAIGHT

Senators Even Up New York Series in Five Innings Game.

TIGERS DROP ONE

PHIADELPHIA, April 15.—Philadelphia made it two straight over Boston today, playing between the showers, and winning 5 to 3. Gray proved an enigma to the Red Sox and in the last four innings held them hitless. Score:

Boston .....001020000— 3 6 2
Philadelphia .....10201010x— 5 13 1

Fullerton, Ruffing and Picinich; Gray and Cochrane.

Cobbs' Pitchers Fail.

DETROIT, April 15.—Chicago won the second game of the series from Detroit, 9 to 6, seventeen Detroit players making the attempt to stop Boss Collins' youngsters. Six were Detroit pitchers. Sheeley again led the visitors' offensive, his three bagger in the second starting Chicago's offensive. The score:

Chicago .....011502000— 9 10 1
Detroit .....000000510— 6 11 0

Robertson, Connally and Schalk; Whitehill, Holloway, Moore, Stoner, Colo. Johnson and Bassler.

Rain Stopped Game.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Tom Zachary pitched the world champion Washington club to a 5 to 2 victory over the New York Yankees today in a game which was called on account of darkness at the end of the sixth. A heavy rainstorm delayed the start for half an hour. Sam Jones was driven from the box in the second when the Senators tallied five runs. The score:

Washington .....050000— 5 6 1
New York .....200000— 2 6 1

Called end sixth, darkness.

Zachary and Ruel; Jones, Pennock and O'Neill.

LEAFS PASSED UP ORIOLE OPENINGS

Baltimore Pitcher's Wildness Offered Toronto Chance in Second Game.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 15.—Inability of Toronto to come through in the pinches to take advantage of the extreme wildness of Cliff Jackson, Oriole pitcher, killed the Canadians' chances of winning the second game of the opening series of the International League season here. On the other hand, the Birds' blows off Walter Stewart, visiting lefthander were timely and the flock manufactured five runs off eight hits to win the game by a score of 5 to 2. Score:

Baltimore .....03010100x— 5 8 1
Toronto .....000000020— 2 5 1

Jackson, Thomas and Cobb; Stewart, Erickson and Manion.

10,000 At Jersey City.

JERSEY CITY, April 15.—More than 10,000 persons witnessed Jersey City's 15 to 7 victory over Buffalo in the International League opening here today. Each team negotiated fifteen hits, but Rube Zellars kept the Buffalo blows well distributed. Simpson and Holt hit homers over the right field fence. The score:

Buffalo .....000400003— 7 15 2
Jersey City .....01411710x—15 15 2

Fisher, Proffitt, Auer, Reis and McAvoy; Zellars and Freitag.

Merkle Hit Homer.

READING, April 15.—Rochester defeated Reading in the opening game here today, 4 to 2. Fred Merkle's home run in the first inning accounted for two runs. Score:

Rochester .....210001000— 4 7 1
Reading .....000000002— 2 9 2

Thormahlen and Lake; Smallwood, Roberts and Lynn.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

It is so necessary in the back swing to get started slowly because a slow and flowing start does two very essential things. First, it promotes rythm, since if the start is rhythmic the entire action is likely to continue with rhythm. By the same rule if the beginning lacks rhythm this elusive necessity is not likely at all to be picked up enroute in the swing. Next, the slow start rids the back swing of the troubles that will accrue from a quick start after the quick start is made. The quick start leads to jerkiness and an almost certain lack of control of the club at the top of the back swing, where it must be nicely and thoroughly under the player's command.

One demonstrated and workable method for a correct starting of the back swing is this: First take a square stance with the weight equally on the feet. Get well planted on the heels. Grasp the shaft only with the left hand. As the right hand is brought into the shaft the right shoulder will have to drop down slightly to allow the right hand to reach. As the shoulder drops let the right knee fall in toward the ball. This is illustrated in the sketch. Then as you start the club away from the ball let your signal for the actual starting of the swing be a straightening up of the right leg under you. That is, withdraw the knee to the point where the right leg is straight under you, but do not let the knee lock. All players should have some sort of starting signal, and this is is a good one.

SPRING TONIC FOR GOLFERS

As Prescribed by Gene Sarazen

The average golfer, I think, gets a great deal of satisfaction in stepping up to the ball and "giving it a ride." He gets the big kick out of his golf by ptting everything he has behind his drive and watching the ball sail down the fairway.

But if he hit the ball as hard as he thinks he does, he wouldn't worry about his lack of distance. His trouble is, more often than not, I think, that he is trying to hit too hard. In other words, his anxiety to get distance is defeating his main purpose.

His mind on hitting hard, he subconsciously puts the strength of his swing on the club too soon. He either starts to put all he has at the top of the swing or actually begins before the back swing is finished.

The extra force of the drive, the snap of the forearm and wrist, too often are expended too soon by the average player. In consequence, when the ball is met the force has begun to wane and light driving results.

The ex-crown prince of Germany has written a book and we are eager to see if it gives the official A.A.U. time of the young gent's retreat from the Marne.

Glenna Collett knocked a golf ball 310 yards at Ormond, Fla. ....This must be the same golf ball the reformers have been knocking so much.

FOURNIER AND MYERS BATTLE

Dodgers' First Sacker Alleged Phillies' Coach Had Insulted Dazzy Vance.

REDS WIN SECOND

BROOKLYN, April 15.—A fist fight between Jacques Fournier, the Dodgers' hard-hitting first baseman, and Coach Benny Myers of the Phillies, marred Brooklyn's 6 to 4 victory over Philadelphia today. Fournier said after the game that Myers had insulted Pitcher Dazzy Vance in yesterday's contest and today turned the verbal attack upon him. Several blows were struck before the men could be separated by Umpires and players. Score:

Philadelphia .....106111000— 4 8 0
Brooklyn .....00103002x— 6 15 4

Ring, Betts and Henline; Ehrhardt and Taylor.

Luque Hands First

CINCINNATI, April 15.—Cincinnati made it two straight from St. Louis by winning the second game of the season today, 4 to 2. Luque pitched brilliantly except in the fourth, when an error by Bressler and three singles gave the visitors two runs. The score:

St. Louis.....0000200000— 2 6 3
Cincinnati .....220000000x— 4 8 1

Sothoron, Day and Gonzales; Luque and Hargrave.

Did Mrs Barger-Wallach ever hold the national women's tennis championship?—F. F. F.

Yes, in 1908.

What was the result of the bout between Tiger Flowers and Johnny Wilson last December?—F. S. W.

Flowers won by a kayo in three rounds.

THE MARKETS

Egg Demand Steady

A fairly good business continues to be done in eggs in a wholesale jobbing way, there being a steady demand for small lots to meet immediate wants and as supplies were ample prices showed no change. The market on the whole was fairly active. The receipts were 3,047 cases, as compared with 3,373 for the same day last week, and 4,135 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The receipts of butter were 879 packages, as compared with 1,255 for the same day last week, and 667 for the corresponding day a year ago. There were no further developments in the market but the undertone was firm at the late improvement in prices noted owing to the continued steady demand for supplies from local and outside interests and the fact that stocks of some grades were becoming somewhat small, a moderate amount of business was done. The trade in a wholesale jobbing way was reported fair there being a steady demand for small lots and prices were unchanged with sales of finest creamery at 350 per lb. in solid packages, and at 36c per lb. in 1 lb. blocks.

Cheese Business Dull

The receipts of cheese were 521 boxes, as against 516 for the same day last week, and 159 for the corresponding day a year ago. The trade in cheese showed no improvement, there being little or no demand for supplies from any source at present and this coupled with the increased receipts tends to depress the market and prices have a lower tendency. Business was dull with Western fodder No. 1 white and colored nominally quoted at 18¾c to 19c per lb., and No. 2 grades at 17¾c to 18c per lb.

Beans were steady at $2.70 per bushel.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, April 15—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today as follows:

Sterling Demand—$4.78½
Sterling Cables—$4.78⅞.

WIN NATIONAL BASKETBALL HONORS.

Hempstead (N.Y.) High School Damsels Gain Scholastic Championship By Sensational Play in Annual Tournament.

LEFT TO RIGHT—IRISH WALSH, IDA RYERSON, ALMA SEAMAN, ELSIE KLUN, DOROTHY OATES, BETTY REMSON, LOUISE GUARNIERE AND GERTRUDE VAN HOVEN.

These lassies are members of the Hempstead (N.Y.) high school basketball team. They recently won the girls' national scholastic title by sensational playing in the annual tournament to decide the honors. Included in their list of victims was the Guthrie, Okl a., team, national champions in 1923-24.

BALL FAN DROPS DEAD.

Excitement at the Louisville Opener is Held Responsible.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 16.—Charles Meyer, 36, collapsed at Parkway Field Monday afternoon as he was about to purchase his ticket to the Milwaukee-Louisville baseball game. He died in the Colonels' club house, without regaining consciousness. Excitement attending the opening game is believed to have been responsible.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

GREAT BATTERS

Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians has won much of his baseball fame because of his spectacular fielding ability. But as a matter of fact he is equally efficient at the bat.

Speaker has a beautiful style at the plate. His stance is most graceful and he takes a cut at the ball that is rhythm itself. As opposing pitchers say, Speaker looks good when you strike him out.

During the course of the season I get many written queries as well as personal asking to explain what power the great hitters of the game possess that is lacking in the ordinary player.

Much natural ability is, of course, the outstanding feature of every great batter. He must have a good eye, power to his swing and judgmen in picking the ball to hit. All these things make for perfect coordination.

Also the element of luck plays a certain part in the batting average of every player. Often hard-hit balls, going directy at some fielder, results in outs, while some weakly hit ball just escapes the clutches of several fielders.

Every ball player, however knows when he is hitting the ball properly regardless of whether it goes safe or not.

TIMING BALL.

Proper tiiming of the ball is most essential. This comes with perfect co-ordination of eye and muscles. When a ball is properly timed it will travel. If it goes directly into the hands of waiting fielder it must be accepted as the "breaks" of the game.

While Tris Speaker may have lost some of the agility that featured his general play 15 years ago, it is still a treat to watch him go back after a ong fly or take a healthy cut at the ball.

Having called many a ball and strike on Speaker during his career, I know that he has a most remarkabe eye. During the course of a seasn he hits at mighty few bad balls.

Speaker will often take a strike because the ball is pitched just where it is difficult for him to properly time it. He will accept the penaty of a perfectly pitched ball.

Realizing that the control of a pitcher is far from perfect, Speaker picks his spot. Any time the ball is in his "groove" he is cutting away at it.

Work to get the pitcher in the hole, and, when you do, try to keep the advantage by taking a crack at everything that is over. Most pitchers have less on the ball when in the hole. That's the big thing in batting.

PICKING SPOTS.

Speaker is of the opinion that most batters take too many well-pitched balls. In other words, permit the pitcher to get them into the hole, thereby suffering a handicap.

Another mistake made by many batters is getting the edge on a pitcher and failing to take advantage of it by not picking on the cripple.

In baseball the cripple is a ball that it thrown with the intent to get it over and usually it lacks some of a pitcher's regular stuff. He lets up to insure accuracy.

"Get the pitcher in the hole and the moment you do, plug away at every pitch that is over," says Speaker.

"When a player is up there to hit, it is up to him to pick the spots, the ball he wants to hit, and then seek to do that very thing."

As Speaker says, it has been my observation that all the great batters seek to set the stage at the expense of the pitcher and take advantage of it.

SOCCER NOTES

All boys between the ages of 14 and 18 who are anxious to play football, are asked to meet at the Y.M.C.A. Friday evening at 7 p.m. The purpose of this meeting is to organize a juvenile team in the north end of the city.

The following players have been selected for the Quakers on Saturday, Quakers vs. Woollens, at the Oval: N. Metcalfe; S. Maker and F. Honour; W. Logan, J. Scott and R. Walker; A. Maker, J. Green, G. Logan, T. Craig and T. Williams. Reserves: J. Smith, J. Meyette and M. McLennan.

MURDERERS AS TIGERS.

London Doctor Would Keep Them Behind Closed Doors.

LONDON, April 16. — "Murderers should be treated as if they were man-eating tigers and kept behind closed bars," declared Coroner Graham at an inquest on two men who were hanged together in the jail at Durham yesterday.

The coroner added that the dole paid to the unemployed was money wasted; it would keep all murderers, and the country would get better value than under the present system.

One of the murderers hanged at Durham had killed his wife. He had asked that at the time of his execution the Salvation Army band play "Nearer my God to Thee," outside of the prison. The band complied with his request.

HAMILTON COUNCIL REGULAR MEETING

Roads Superintendent Given Instructions to Start Work Right Away.

COBOURG, April 16.—Hamilton township council met on Thursday with Reeve R. George Holdsworth presiding, and members all present.

Mr. Perrin of Bewdley complained about a shop situated in front of his place and asked to have it removed. Mr. Thomas Sedey asked to have a street in Bewdley opened up to give access to his property, being deprived of entrance to the gravel pit. The council agreed to view the places in question and see what could be done regarding the requests of both parties.

The township road superintendent was given instructions to start work immediately. The council will go over the roads with him at an early date to plan the work.

Upon motion by Messrs. Drope and Green, a resolution passed at the March meeting of the council granting Mr. Wallace a letter of occupation was rescinded.

The clerk was instructed to write to the Railway and Municipal Board for settlement in the case of the Maybee road, lot 33, concession 1, and to notify their solicitors to that effect.

The collector returned the roll for the year.

A large number of accounts were passed by the council board. Among them were J. A. Noble, salary as collector, $250; F. M. Field, accountant, $100; F. J. Slade, for cedar, $167.96; Chas. Hannah, gravelling, $41.55; Howard Lengard, $24; David Stevenson, opening road, grading etc., $34.55.

There were also many smaller accounts for gravelling and road repair work.

OLD MINISTER DEAD.

Rev. Dr. James Farquharson In West Nearly Fifty Years.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Rev. Dr. James Farquharson, reputed to be the oldest clergyman in the services of the Presbyterian Church in Western Canada, died Wednesday at Pilot Mound, Man. Dr. Farquharson, who was 75 years old, came to the West more than 47 years ago, of which time he served for 30 years at Knox Church, Pilot Mound. For the past years he has been in charge of home mission work in Manitoba. He was a graduate of Knox College, Toronto.

CHARGE OF MURDER AGAINST MOTHER

Mrs. Anna Cunningham Alleged to Have Poisoned Son.

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 16.—A charge of murder was preferred yesterday against Mrs. Anna Cunningham, of Gary, In., in an affidavit alleging that she killed by poison her own son, Walter Cunningham, 13, who died September 20, 1923.

A considerable quanitity of arsenic was found in his vital organs by William D. McNally, chemist, whose report of his examiantion was made to Coroner Wolff on Tuesday.

Less than an hour before this information was given out the boy's mother, Mrs. Anna Cunningham, 47 years old, collapsed in her cell at Crown Point, where she is held for the investigation into the deaths of her husband, three sons and a daughter, and the illness of another son, David, who is near death from arsenic poisoning.

Dr. McNally would say nothing more than that he had found arsenic in the body. He would not tell the amount of the poison present. Tests on portions of the vital organs of another brother, Henry, who died in 1921, have not been complete, he said. Walter, the fifth member of the family to be in the five-year series of fatalities, was buried in 1923.

Mrs. Cunningham was awaiting an examination into her sanity when the collapse came. She fell to the floor and almost immediately dropped into a coma which doctors could not end for hours. She had collapsed last Saturday in Chicago also.

Most impressive Easter services were held in the local churches on Sunday.

Only three men know the secret of its flavor

THERE is only one "Canada Dry," and there can be only one. For this fine old ginger ale is made from a formula that took fifteen years to perfect and the secret of its flavor is known to only three men in all the world.

The secret is handed down like the lore of the wine-makers of ancient France.

Once you try "Canada Dry"—once you get to know its delicate, intriguing flavor, you will never again be satisfied with any other ginger ale.

Try it some night soon at dinner and note what zest it adds to the meal—how keen and fresh it makes you feel.

SPECIAL FAMILY PACKAGE
A new way of packing ginger ale. Ideal for home use. Twelve bottles in a substantial carton. You will be especially glad to have it handy for automobile trips or when friends drop in unexpectedly. This Family Package is sold by all "Canada Dry" dealers.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

A more impressive play than Bernard Shaw's dramatic, "Saint Joan", which opens a brief night's engagement at the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, Monday evening, April 20th, will not be seen in Peterborouh the present season. This is a rather strong statement, but we speak whereof we know. Peterborough theatre-goers will have the distinction of witnessing this much discussed play of two continents: "Saint Joan" having been seen only in New York, where it ran all last year at the Empire and Garrick Theatres, and subsequent brief visits to Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and a few of the larger mid-Western cities, from where it comes to the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, for this one performance only.

"Saint Joan" was a sensation in New York, and it is still running in London, England, at the New Theatre, where it has been for the past six months, playing to capacity houses; the engagement having been twice extended. Shaw has to his credit many plays of the drama, but in his latest and greatest offering, he has achieved a dramatic triumph, "Saint Joan" is thoroughly characteristic of its author, in its constant conflict of sense with nonsense. It is alternately serious and mirthful, historically accurate and lampoonishly innacurate; always brilliant, if not aways convincing in argument, and always entertaining in flights from exalted heights to tragedy to the depths of burlesque. It is fortunate that the story of the play is familiar and that the attention can be allowed to center on the fine points of Shaw's exquisite conception of "Saint Joan". The lass of Doemremy with her health, energy, genius, and consecration to fier vision is a study in sincerity and truth.

We are to welcome back to this city that brilliant artist, Julia Arthur, pleasantly remembered locally for her spendid success in "The Eternal Magdalen", "Out There," and "More than Queen."

Included in a distinguished cast of players are Edwin Mordant, Lynn Pratt, Henry Buckler, John McGovern, Albert Barret, Lowdon Adams, Erskine Sanford, George Fitzgerald, House Baker Jameson, Edward Skinner, George Kendall, Henry Major, Mason Palmer, Walter Winter, William J. Maloney, Stanley Wood, and many others.

AT THE CAPITOL

"THE THUNDERING HERD" IS HISTORICAL ACTION ROMANCE

"The Thundering Herd," which opened a three days' run at the Capitol this afternoon is bound to appeal to all levels of humanity. It will be hailed with the keenest delight by the average movie-goer because it contains some brand new thrills and bristles with exciting action. It will meet with the univeral favor of the younger generations because it combines just the right proportions of drama and romance. And it is certain to attract the scholar and student because of its historical background.

The picture is based on Lucien Hubbard's adaptation of Zane Grey's famous novel, and is a story of the lawless west of 1870-76, when vast herds of buffalo roamed the plains and the Indian war cry was a thing of terror.

Briefly, it deals with the hardships of a caravan of pioneers who abandon their farms in the middle west and make a drive for the buffalo fields of Wyoming and Montana, at that time a wilderness inhabited by hostile Indians. More particularly the story concerns the romance of Tom Doane and Milly Fayre—a romance which exemplifies the truth of that old adage, "the course of true love never did run smooth."

The exciting adventures of the pioneers which culminate in a terrific battle with the Indians, and the harrowing experiences of the young lovers which reach a smashing climax during a spectacular stampede of two thousand maddened buffalo, provide a choice assortment of dynamic thrills for audiences to enjoy.

Pony Contest.

Anyone interested in the pony contest at the Capitol Theatre is requested to hand in nominations at once. Any child can be named as winner of the pony, and names should be handed in without further delay. People who are holding votes for the contest are also requested to turn them in during visits to the theatre.

Here is a fine chance for some Peterboro child to win a pony. There are very few children in the city who possess that delight of childhood—a real live pony of their own, to ride upon or drive about town. So here is an opportunity for parents to nominate their children and see that they have a real showing in the contest, which closes on May 15th.

"Conny" Talmadge Romps Across the Screen in "The Goldfish," a Comedy that Bubbles With Mirth and Laughter

STAR SHINES IN GORGEOUS CROWN

Many Jewels Worn by Constance Talmadge in "The Goldfish."

A diamond anklet, diamond shoe buckles and heels, seven rows of diamond bracelets. A diamond studded staff four feet tall surmounted with a diamond ball, a four-strand pearl necklace, a belt buckle encrusted with gems and rings on every finger.

Constance Talmadge in the nouveau riche sequences of her latest comedy, "The Goldfish," is a brilliant sight. Clare West, noted costume designer, has literally draped Constance in jewels for the scenes in "The Goldfish," which show the star as a New York working girl who has suddenly come into great riches.

"The Goldfish ",a First National picture, will be shown at the Royal Theatre tonight.

Constance is gorgeously beautiful in the gowns designed for her by Clare West, even though Director Jerome Storm has purposely seen to it that she is overloaded with a stupendous display of wealth and dressed in the extremes of fashion.

As Mrs. Herman Krauss in "The Goldfish" Constance will be the centre of attraction for every sheik from Portland, Oregon, to Portland, Maine. In the earlier sequences the role of a piano picker in a Coney Island dance hall. And, after she divorces Herman Krauss and becomes Mrs. Hamilton J. Powers she is seen as a young Fifth Avenue matron of impeccable taste.

"The Goldfish," adapted by C. Gardner Sullivan from Gladys Unger's stage play in which Marjorie Rambeau was featured, was directed for Producer Joseph M. Schenck by Jerome Storm with Constance Talmadge as the star.

AT THE REGENT

"TROUBLES OF A BRIDE" IS A COMEDY HAIR-RAISING PROPORTIONS, REVIEWER FINDS

Action Fast and Furious and One Exceptional Scene Almost Caused Him to Faint.

BUCKINGHAM DIRECTED.

Which Explains Fast Movement of Film — Mildred June and Robert Agnew Have Leading Roles.

We went to be entertained and to review "Troubles of a Bride," the William Fox special photoplay which opens at the Regent Theatre tonight, but we stayed to be thrilled until we thought our spine would just shrivel up and break. In between thrills and when we were not gripping our seats we were entertained to a fare-you-well we admit, but the entertainment, good as it was, could not make us forget the thrills.

They came one right after another, Zip-a murder—Zowie-a hold-up — Bing-a kidnapping — Zing-a chase—Bang-a robbery—Biff-an explosion—ZOWIE-a blazing runaway train with the heroine on it and another speeding train chasing it with the hero going to the rescue—ZAM—The rescue, the most daring and spectacular we ever witnessed, on screen or any other place. We almost fainted from excitement.

But then what could you expect when it is a Thomas Buckingham production? This director is known as the greatest creator of thrillers in the motion picture business. Was it not he who was responsible for the super-great production, "The Cyclone Rider," of the current season, and did he not direct "The Arizona Express," last season? Absolutely.

What threw us off our track was the title "Troubles of a Bride." Knowing, just a little, about these griefs, it never occurred to us they could be of such hair-raising proportions. But they are and we will never see a bride again without thinking of the wonderful thrills in store for her ere twenty-four hours of matrimonial bliss has been experienced.

Mildred June, charming and vivacious as ever as Mildred Patterson, is the bride to whom falls all these wonderful experiences.

Golf Scene Laid in Grounds of Local Golf Club.

One of the very attractive scenes in "Minstrel Mimics" which is being sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis club, is the scene laid on the links of the local Country Club. In this scene twenty people will vie for the honors of being the best players of the club by driving harmless golf balls out over the audience.

This skit being complete with costume and scenery is to be one of the bright spots of the evenings entertainment and all those who are given to this healthy sport should learn in this most unusual way how to play our most exasperating game with a smile.

Yes there will be caddies too: eight of them all ready to act at your command. Those in the group are: Jean Puttick, Marion Hall, Jean Robinson ,Evelyn Armstrong, Irene Wright, Dorthy Henry, Arleigh McKone, Velma Strong.

Those who are taking part as the golfers are the Misses: Grace Wilson, Janet Stapleton, Jean Wilgar, Helen Ross, Effie Dick, Lillian Green, Violo Martin and Violet McIntyre.

Now no Golf Club is complete without a professional or two so acting as Instructors to all concerned we find Ernestine McManus sharing honors with Mr. Harold Snelgrove. For real entertainment this combination cannot be surpassed. Already many of the members of the Kiwanis club and their friends are on the list to be pupils of this most worthy group of golfers.

The tickets are now on sale by any member of the cast or member of the local Kiwanis club so when buying your seat for the Annual Frolic please remember the underprivileged children of our community. "Minstrel Mimics" which is the official name of the revue will be staged at the Grand Opera House on Friday and Saturday nights of April the 24 and 25 at 8.15. Plan on being among the supporters of the worthy cause.

ZBYSZKO WINS.

Veteran of Mat Takes Falls Out of Younger Opponent.

PHILADELPHIA, April 16. — (Canadian Press). — Stanialaus Zbyszko, 58-year-old veteran of the mat, again rules the world as the champion of wrestlers. He regained the title he lost several years ago by conquering Wayne ('Big') Munn last night in two straight falls, and in less than fourteen minutes of actual wrestling. A cleverly executed forearm hold earned the first fall for the veteran, while he scored the second and deciding fall with a forearm and hammerlock.

Zbyszko exhibited the same mat prowess against his more youthful opponent that brought him the championship years ago, and clearly demonstrated that Munn's great strength was no match for the science of the master grappler.

FIRST BOUTS TO-NIGHT.

Big Entry List in Ontario Championships—Finals To-morrow.

TORONTO, April 16. — Preliminary bouts in the Ontario championships wil be boxed to-night at the Arena Gardens, and the winners will contest the finals to-morrow night.

Because of the enormous entry the first bout will be staged at 7.45 and after that it will be a continuous performance until midnight or later.

DEMPSEY ON TOUR.

Takes Wife and Director to England, France and Germany.

LOS ANGELES, April 16 (Canadian Press).—Jack Dempsey, prize fighter and film actor, his actress wife, Estelle Taylor Dempsey, and Jack McDermott, the champion's director, are to make an extended tour of England, France and Germany, it was announced here yesterday, with the issuance of passports to Dempsey and McDermott. They will leave in the latter part of this week.

DANCER GETS $32,000.

Mumtaz Begum Benefits by Will of Slain Merchant Baula.

BOMBAY, April 16. — Mumtaz Begum, former dancing girl favorite of the Maharajah of Indore, receives one hundred thousand rupees (about $32,000 from the estate of the Merchant Abdu Kadir Baula, under a ruling handed down by the high court. Baula was mortally wounded on Malabar Hill last January, when a gang attempted to seize the girl, allegedly for the purpose of returning her to the Maharajah's household from which she had fled. The will was made by Baula on his hospital bed.

"GUTTA PERCHA" BALLOON LOW PRESSURE TIRES

—from the first day on

The big, flexible, easy-steering, low-air-pressure "Gutta Percha" Balloon Tires are a revelation in road-smoothing, shock-absorbing car-saving comfort and economy on light cars.

And by the same token they are perfect tires for heavy cars, because they carry the greater weight upon a resilient cushion of air. They have a habit, too, of gripping the road; minimizing skidding, and they put the "brakes" on car depreciation.

These advantages are the results of scientific research by "Gutta Percha" engineers. "Gutta Percha" Side Walls are marvels of construction. The side wall ribs are well worth investigating as a distinct advancement to give longer service and to save money for the user.

"Gutta Percha" Balloon Tires are standard in price. They will prove all that has been said about them, whether your car is light or heavy—from the first day on.

Here is a new type of tire —The "Gutta Percha" Medium Pressure

This new G.P. tread masterpiece has the easy riding qualities of the balloon tire, with the easy steering of the high pressure type.

If your local dealer cannot supply you, write us giving us his name, the size you require, and we will see that you are immediately supplied through him.

Banish Your Beauty Blemishes

Skin eruptions are usually but manifestations of hidden forces at work below the surface. A good complexion comes from within, not from without. You must look after your liver and keep your system clear.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

remove the surplus bile and bring back the natural color to the complexion; they expel the poisonous products of imperfect digestion and banish disorder, the cause of facial blemishes; they tone up the system and give the skin a healthful bloom.

RUMANIA GOING DRY.

First Step Reduces Alcoholic Content to 25 P.C.

BERLIN, April 16.— Rumania has hopped the water wagon. The Rumanain Minister of Finance has informed the press that the Government has prepared a bill which is to make Rumania entirely dry within twelve years.

Step by step the manufacture and consumption of alcohol is to be reduced in order to get the people gradually accustomed to drinking water.

The first step has already been taken. It prohibits from public places all liquor with more than 25 per cent. alcohol.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

HE'S AGAINST IT

The Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir.—As regards Daylight Saving, it matters not to me as to many others who have reached a certain age although blessed with health, hearing and sight and could do certain kinds of worok as well as ever are not permitted to do it, so have to take work often too hard or do without it. As regards farm work. I was born on a farm and spent between 30 or 40 years of my life at it, and wish I was able to do it now. I consider Daylight Saving a nuisance to a farmer. Cannot say more now without making it too long, but would take the farm side in debate any time and thresh it out.

V. S. CUNNINGAM,

To the Edtior of The Examiner:

Sir,—I am writing to you somewhat in haste in order to catch the attention of your feader and call it to the most important events now transpiring at the Educational Convention in Toronto. First we have a magnificent address by Bishop Fallon, in which he says that if Catholics should stand in the way of Protestants in the teaching of some form of religions he would have Catholics stand out in the woodshed rather than do so. Some form of religion as a basis of life must be taught and if it is not to be the Catholic let it be then the Protestant. Principal Gandier follows him up with one better. He says so necessary is religion to life that he would rather see Judaism taught than no form of religion, which is curious to say the least of it coming from a Christian. However, we see in this great meeting and its startling proposals the fruition of the recent union of Protestant churches, in which the hope of a still larger union is set forth. A great effort is now being made to check the ravages of modernism, even by modernists, who are a little late in thinking of what they have been doing. Cursing the works of God, such as alcohol, is another form of modernism that awaits a check. Forcing decent people to conform to our opinions and practices, thus taking away their freedom of conscience, is another. However, this convention will do immense good and I earnestly hope that our people will not overlook it.

J. H. BURNHAM.

APPRECIATES EXAMINER

The Editor, The Examiner:

Dear Sir.—I am another, of the many, who wish to acknowledge appreciation of the method you have taken to give us an opportunity to express our opinion on the question of Daylight Saving.

On the question For or Against, I am unalterably opposed to it, as it is impossible to work by that time on the farm. We get up at five o'clock now, and work until sundown, and sometimes until darkness stops us, and that is quite long enough.

Your question of whether I will stop dealing in Peterborough if the Council passes daylight saving? I answer Yes, as a matter of necessity. I am about as near Bridgenorth as I am to Peterborough, where I can obtain my groceries at any time I go there, and for other things, Simpson's and Eaton's will appreciate my trade, and will deliver the goods right to my door without any extra charge. In fact, I do not have to leave the farm at all, any more than going to the mail box at the gate, and I am only one, that is going to do this if the City of Peterborough adopts Daylight Saving.

You ask how many hours per day we work? Well, we are working about 14 hours per days now, and in July and August we will be working from 16 to 18, and I want to say right here, that if R. E. Layfield, Paul Manning, Dr. McPherson or any of those enthusiastic advocates of so-called Daylight Saving would like to come out here on the farm, and follow me every day for six months, I will guarantee them all the daylight they will need for a while, and put the quietus on this question as far as they are concerned. They will be perfectly satisfied with Standard Time forever afterward.

Now Peterborough, at the present time, cannot afford to antagonize the farmer, or his trade, and that is what is going to happen, if your council adopts Daylight Saving. There is too much of that spirit of antagonism existing between the urban and rural folk now, so why make it worse, and the board of aldermen will be well advised to give this matter very careful consideration.

Thanking you for this space in your paper, I am,

Yours truly,
W. A. WOOD

OBITUARY.

W. W. HENRY.

The funeral of the late W. W. Henry, was held yesterday afternoon from his late residence, 187 Bethune street, the Rev. M. C. Mackinnon officiating. After an impressive service, conveying sympathy to the bereaved family, the body was conveyed to the Little Lake Cemetery for interment. The pall bearers were three brothers of the deceased, Jos. and Alexander of Orono, and Ralph, of Peterboro; and Cousins Howell Rollond, of Newcastle, and Richard Morton of Orono, and Mr. Brownlee of Peterboro. He is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters; also by three sisters, Mrs. Ralph Ballagh of Guelph, Mrs. Chas. Cooper of Kendall, and Mrs. B. Piper of Toronto, and three brothers, John and Alec, of Orono, and Ralph, of Peterboro, who were present at the funeral.

The floral tributes were pillow from the family; wreath from J. and A. Henry; wreath from R. Henry and family; wreath from Mrs. A. Henthorn and Mr. Brownlee; spray from sisters, Mrs. B. Piper and Mrs. C. Cooper; wreath from the armature dept., C.G.E.; basket from Mr. and Mrs. C. Waller; spray from Edna Dulmage, Pearl Baker and Gladys King.

WILLIAM E. DEGAN.

The funeral of the late William E. Degan was held from the family residence, 90 Gladstone Avenue, on Tuesday afternoon, and was very largely attended by members of the District Orange Lodges and the Salvation Army Life-Saving Scouts, of which he was instructor. In religion he was a soldier of the Salvation Army and was highly respected by all those who came in contact with him. He was a member of the Orange Young Britons Lodge. He was always first to give his assistance when called, and he will be greatly missed by his many friends.

The service was conducted by Staff Captain McElhiney, of Toronto.

The floral tributes were: Kitchener Fire Department, wreath; Peterboro Fire Department, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. H. Cooney, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Irwin, Omemee, basket; Mr. and Mrs. R. Carr, basket; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Crouter, spray; Mrs. York, spray; Salvation Army Corps Cadets, spray; L.O.L. 1175 wreath; Salvation Army Life-Saving Scouts, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. T. Hatley, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bathgate, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Hearne, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Killenbeck, spray; Mrs. Reader and family, spray; Juvenile L.O.L., spray; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gimblett, spray; Orange Young Britons, gates ajar; C.G.E. Employees, wreath; Cooney-Jopling Employees, wreath; Salvation Army Corps., wreath; Family, pillow.

JOHN BATHGATE.

The funeral of the late John Bathgate will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence, 138 Douro Street.

MRS. EDWARD BALL.

The death occurred last evening of Lucy Smithson, widow of Edward Ball, at the residence of Mrs. Sackville, 313 Maitland Avenue. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon, April 17, at 3 o'clock, to Little Lake Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Rose.

REDEMPTION OF TAX FREE BONDS ISSUED IN VICTORY LOANS URGED BY PROGRESSIVE IN PARLIAMENT

West Huron Member Says Mistakes Were Made in War-Time Financing.

BUDGET DEBATE

Toronto Veteran Tramps to Ottawa Where Wife Works for $12 a Week.

OTTAWA, April 17.—(Canadian Press.)— J. H. Harris (Conservative, East York), resumed his speech on the budget at the opening of the House Thursday afternoon. He stated that 15,000 people were being educated in technical and vocational schools in Toronto to take their place in industry, but it was for parliament to keep the industries going for them. If the present administration was honest, it would go to the country. Mr. Harris hoped it would.

As an example of industrial depression, he told of a war veteran who had walked from Toronto to Ottawa and had called on him yesterday morning. The man had three children, his wife was working in Toronto for $12 a week. The man had been let out of a Toronto industry which had reduced its staff.

W. J. Hammell (Liberal, Muskoka), advocated a separate government branch to develop the tourist traffic. The branch would co-operate with other government departments. It would operate a publicity department, an information bureau, and would work for better hotel accommodation, roads and camping sites in Canada. There should be more uniformity of laws affecting the tourists. The customs regulations should be made as elastic as possible in this regard.

Revoke Tax Free Bonds.

W. Black (Progressive, South Huron), said that there had been mistakes in financing during the war period. The man who stayed at home should have been taxed much higher than he was. He advocated calling in every dollar outstanding in tax free bonds. He favored reducing the number of members in the House by one-third and in the senate by two-thirds, it could not be eliminated altogether. He was also in favor of an active policy of immigration, a tax of three per cent. on watered stock, and a small direct tax on the people to establish a sinking sun to meet obligations. Duplication of railway lines was a curse to this country, he said, and he supported the idea of a revaluation of the Canadian railway system.

Grote Stirling (Conservative, Yale) remarked that sometimes the fruit grower was described as spineless and looking for assistance; but this was an utterly erroneous opinion. "The fruit grower has battled," he declared, "to a great extent successfully, with a very considerable number of difficulties."

Twenty thousand people in Canada were dependent on the fruit industry, in which forty to fifty million dollars was invested.

Western Fruit Combine.

Referring to the investigation into the fruit combine in western Canada, Mr. Stirling recommended the report of the commissioner to the members of the House. He spoke of the report as containing some very light reading and referring to "the slang which these brigands use among themselves."

The Minister of Labor had recently gone fishing and in the report on the fruit combine, he had landed his first fresh fish, which was now wriggling on the bank. The fish had been declared unfit for human consumption and the Minister of Labor was now waiting for some one to come along and scotch it. Meanwhile, the fruit growers were extremely anxious lest the fish flop back into the stream again.

Mr. Stirling believed that the Government had power to proceed against the combine, and suggested to the Minister of Labor that he get the opinion on the matter of 11 GRAIN COMMISSIONS.

Five of Them Cost Country $302,456 Since 1897.

OTTAWA, Ont. ,April 17 — The cost of grain inquiry commissions in Canada is analysed in a return tabled in the House of Commons Thursday. Since 1897 there have been eleven of these commissions. Of six of these no record of cost is available. The rest cost a total of $302,456 of which $170,596 was spent on the Turgeon Inquiry of 1923. Of the eleven commission, one was a special committee of the House of Commons (1897), five were Royal Commissions appointed by the Dominion, three were appointed by the Saskatchewan Government, one was conducted (in 1916) by the Board of Grain Commissioners and one was the Price Waterhouse Audit of Terminal Elevators in 1918.

TRAPPER'S FIST FELLS RUSSIAN IN MAD ATTACK

Knocked Out and Disarmed After Shooting Third Man in Shack.

VICTIM MAY DIE

Scene of Frenzy and Courage in Depth of Woods Near Chapleau.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., April 17—(Canadian Press).—Jack Chaisson last night was seriously wounded in a little secluded trapper's shack four miles from the track at Tatnall, mile 215 on the A.C.R.

Nick Dominick, a naturalized Russian, who is charged put 3 out of 4 shots from a high powered 32 calibre special rifle into Chaisson, is now in custody of the Chapleau Provincial police according to word which came down the A.C.R.

S. E. Thompson, an American trapper well known in the Sault, who was the only other witness of the shooting which took place in his camp Tuesday morning at daylight, is suffering from a broken hand which he received when he knocked Dominick out with his fist. The three shots which entered Chaisson's body were all serious.

Shots were fired at Thompson also but the latter was too quick, and it is reported that he made a heroic rescue. He went into a clinch with the maddened Russian and took the gun away from him. He then knocked him out with his fist breaking his hand.

While his opponent was unconscious it is reported that Thompson tied him to the bed with chains, dressed his partner's wounds as best he could and handing him the rifle with orders to shoot Dominick if he started anything, walked four miles over a difficult trail to the tracks to send out word.

THINKS ACTION HASTY.

Premier Would Have Preferred to Have Discussion With Constituents.

TORONTO, April 17 (Canadian Press).—Premier Ferguson stated today he thought the school trustees section of the Ontario Education Association was too hasty in condemning the government's township school boaord scheme, submitted as a means of reducing the cost of education. He said, he thought the trustees would have discussed the proposals with their constituents before making a statement. The Government would welcome suggestions for alterations, but if the people wanted the cost reduced, they must assist in bringing it about.

Daylight Saving a Curse Farmer Member Declares

OTTAWA, April 17 (By Canadian Press)—"Daylight Saving is the greatest curse this country has ever seen," declared W. Black (Progressive - South Huron) speaking on the budget in the House of Commons today. Mr. Black was dealing with causes for the financial condition of the country. He declared that the daylight saving resloution which had passed the House of Commons some years ago had "done more harm and made more lazy men than anything on the statute books of the country." He favored cutting the civil service in two. If the Civil Service Commission was not capable of doing its duty, he would dismiss it. If the present overstaffing was due to the deputy ministers, he favored dismissing them.

GOLF CLUB MAY EXTEND COURSE AND BUILDINGS

Club House to Cost $15,000 Talked of After Meeting.

TAKE IN 75 ACRES.

The Peterborough Links Are Well Known Throughout All Ontario.

That the Peterboro Golf Club has plans under way to extend their property to a course with an extent of 75 acres and to build a new $15,000 club-house is a rumor going the rounds since the meeting of the local Golf Club last night.

Percy Bond and Frank Bradburn, when approached by The Examiner this morning, stated that they had heard the rumor, but they would make no statement as nothing was definitely decided as yet.

Widely Known.

The present course of the Peterboro Golf Club comprises the ground between the River Road and the Trent Canal, just above Auburn. It is a very fine and beautifully laid-out nine-hole course, with a well-equipped club-house and several clay tennis courts. Its membership is growing steadily as more men come in contact with the grand old game and learn its true wonders and value.

The Peterboro Golf Club and course have gained a fine reputation throughout golf circles in Eastern Ontario, and the local course is known as the best course in Ontario east of Toronto, excluding Ottawa. Tournaments are annually held with Oshawa, Lindsay and other clubs.

Last summer the local course was honored by a visit from Premier King when he came to Peterboro.

ROSS L. DOBBIN HAS NEW POST

Charge of Utilities Construction Pending Appointment of Manager.

ONLY TEMPORARY.

Ross L. Dobbin, as engineer of the Utilities Commission, will be in charge of all construction work, and W. G. Henderson, accountant, will take charge of the offices of the Commission, following the resignation of H. O. Fisk. These temporary appointments were passed at a meeting of the Commission to make arrangements for carrying on the business until a successor to Mr. Fisk is appointed.

H. G. Beatty was appointed to superintend all electric construction under the supervision of the Engineers, who will continue to supervise waterworks construction. All purchasing will be done by the Engineer and accounts will be passed on certificate of the Engineer and Accountant.

The request of S. C. Warne for water connections to five new houses he is building on Albertus Street, in North Monaghan, will be granted on the same terms as are given to residents on the south side of Lansdowne Street.

CAILLAUX STAR AGAIN ASCENDS WITH PAINLEVE

Finance Minister in New Cabinet Was Banished For Treason in 1921.

NEW MINISTERS.

Painleve Completes Ministry, Including Briand With Foreign Affairs Portfolio.

PARIS, April 17. — M. Painleve announced at a late hour last night that his Cabinet had been completed and that an accord on the Ministerial programme had been reached.

Premier and Minister of War — Paul Painleve.
Foreign Affairs—Aristide Briand.
Finance—Joseph Caillaux.
Justice and Vice-President of the Cabinet—Jules Steeg.
Public Instruction—Anatole de Monzie.
Interior—Senator A. Schrameck.
Commerce—M. Chaumet.
Marine—Emile Borel.
Colonies—Andrew Hesse.
Agriculture—Jean Durand.
Public Works—Pierre Laval.
Labor—Antoine Durafour.
Devastated Regions—Pierre Doyris.
Pensions—Louis Anteriou.

The return of Joseph Caillaux to public life is the dramatic feature in the formation of the new Cabinet. The former Premier of France was four years ago convicted of treason, and narrowly escaping a firing squad, was banished from the capital for 10 years, with the loss of his civil rights.

Now, he is commissioned to handle the most difficult and most important task facing the government, namely the re-establishment of France's financial stability. Briand's acceptance of a post in association with Caillaux is another surprise.

Caillaux's Political Career.

Joseph Caillaux was Minister of Finance in March, 1914, when his wife shot down the editor of Le Figaro in the office of that paper. In 1905 he had been an inspector of national finances, elected as Deputy from the Sarthe and then Minister of Finance. In 1911 he had been President of the Council. He had a dominating personality and an established reputation as a financial expert.

His experiences in 1914 have clung to his career until the present day. In that year Germany sent the Cruiser Panther to Agadir, on the west coast of Morocco, as a remonstrance against the French domination of that country.

Caillaux began to negotiate direct with the German Foreign Office behind the backs of the French Foreign Minister and the French Ambassador in Berlin. His medium was the Chancellor of the German Embassy at Paris, Baron von Lancken. His object was said to be to isolate England and form an entente with Germany.

Before this could be done the matter became known through three cipher dispatches sent to Berlin by Ambassador Lacken, and intercepted by the French Intelligence, but not then entirely deciphered. A parliamentary investigation was called for, Caillaux resigned and was succeeded by Raymond Poincare, to whom whom the British government is said to have intimated that the Anglo-French entente could not survive another administration of Caillaux.

Meanwhile Germany had forced France to surrender a large tract of land in the French Congo in exchange for practically a free hand in Morocco.

Caillaux, who was one of the chief founders of the Radical-Socialist Party, at the time of the Dreyfus scandal ,did not materailly suffer politically. Moreover he was sustained by his ever-growing reputation for finance; so two years later he again had that portfolio, which he immediately resigned when his wife shot down Calmette. At the trial the three despatches of von Lancken were indicated but not produced "for reasons of state." It was generally believed, however, that Mme. Caillaux's assault on the editor had been inspired by her husband's desire to get possesion of them, and not of the mere love letters which had passed between Caillaux and his wife when each had been otherwise married, and which the Figaro had been publishing.

The world war placed in the hands of the French authorities the key to the German cipher and the despatches themselves played a prominent part in Caillaux's trial for treason six years later.

Mme. Caillaux Acquitted.

Mme. Caillaux was acquitted on the eve of the world war. Viviani was then president of the council. On acount of what had happened in 1911 and the necessity of having no obstacle to the Anglo-French entente, Caillaux did not "come back." In-

CHINESE FIRST TO BUY LIQUOR IN REGINA SHOP

At Head of Line That Crowded One of the Two Stores.

OPENED THURSDAY

People of All Conditions Saluted Government Vendor —Other Store Idle.

REGINA, Sask., April 17.—(Canadian Press).—Tied in a neat brown paper package, bearing the Government seal, a pioneer Chinese resident of Regina had the distinction of purchasing the first bottle of liquor sold under the new Government Control Liquor Act, which became effective Thursday. He was the first in line, and walked proudly away with his bottle of Chinese liquor.

Two stores opened in Regina yesterday, and others at Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Prince Albert, Weyburn, Swift Current, North Battleford and Yorkton.

The Saskatchewan Liquor Commission which efforced the Saskatchewan Temperance Act was succeeded by a one-man commission, of which Dr. W. W. Amos is chief.

"Cash-and-Carry" Plan.

Purchasers of liquor under the new Act do not require a permit in obtaining single bottles, but for sales in "bulk" permits must be filled in at the stores. The stores are "cash-and-carry," so far as the city and town dwellers are concerned, but a "mail order" system will operate for those living in the country districts. The amount to be sold to an individual purchaser in a single day is limited to four gallons of beer, two gallons of wine and one quart of spirits in a city store, and four gallons of beer in a country store.

Local Option Provided.

Under the Act both city and country districts have the privilege of taking a local option vote to discontinue the stores after they have been established. The sale of beer or other beverages in licensed premises is not permitted.

The new law is different in many respects to the Manitoba and Alberta Government control systems, under which in the former province permits are necessary, and in the latter beer by the glass is sold in hotels and restaurants.

One Store Crowded.

The two Regina stores presented a remarkable contrast when the opening hour arrived. One was simply swamped with business, while the other was by comparison almost idle.

Long before 11 o'clock crowds started to gather around the first-named. The sidewalk immediately in front of the shop was packed solidly. All sorts, classes and conditions of people were in the crowd. They came in automobiles, a few in wagons, and a host on foot. Within two minues of the opening the big cash register was ringing continuously.

GERMS ON PAPER MONEY.

BERLIN, April 17.—A German bacteriologist says that coins are far more sanitary than paper money. On paper money that had been in circulation for some time as many as 143,000 bacteria were discovered.

The oldest map of the heavens was made by the Chinese in 600 B. C., and is now in the National Library at Paris. It denotes the position of 1,400 stars.

NEW POSITION.

ROSS L. DOBBIN,
Superintendent of Peterborough Waterworks Department, who will take charge of all Utilities construction work pending naming of new manager.

Expect Filled Cellar; Find Only Three Quarts

NEW YORK, April 17 (United Press).—In his will, Charles William Troughton left the key to his cellar to relatives and hospitals, who were to use his liquor "for medicinal purposes."

It was understood that Troughton's cellar was well stocked, but investigation showed that his supply had not been replenished since pre-prohibition days, and all that remained was hardly sufficient to cure a cold.

The hospitals will divide three quarts of whiskey.

DIRIGIBLE RIDES OUT STORM AND IS SAFE AT HOME

British R-33 Driven by Gale Across North Sea to Holland.

PUBLIC RELIEVED

Guided by Sloop's Searchlights in Return Journey Last Night.

LONDON, April 17. — (Canadian Press).—Amid the cheers of British army officers, soldiers, workers and crowds of spectators, army dirigible R-33 returned home safely shortly after two o'clock this afternoon, after her 28-hour battle with the elements over the East Coast of England and the storm-swept North Sea. The runaway craft, which tore away from her moorings at Pulham Air Station yesterday morning during one of the fiercest gales in recent years, was sighted by anxious watchers at the Airdrome at 1.54 o'clock this afternoon. She manouvered for position and landed safely a quarter of an hour later.

A favorable wind allowed the sorely stressed crew of the R-33 to start their ship homeward from a point near the Dutch coast after daylight, and she made a slow, steady flight across the North Sea.

British Air Ministry officials are loud in praise of the stability of the R-33, which withstood the severe buffeting it had been submitted to, and it is their opinion that the crew will have gained much valuable experience during their forced journey.

Much praise is being meted out to Flight Lieut. R. S. Booth, aged twenty-six, who has had crammed into a short space of time the experience of years, for he was responsible for navigating the ship to safety. His wife, who waited at Pulham Air Station since yesterday evening, was one of the first to greet him. Full praise also is being given to the young wireless operator, Spencer Keeley, who was on duty practically the whole time of the enforced flight.

LONDON, April 17. — (Canadian Press).—Relief came last night to an overwrought British public,which had been fearful throughout the day as to the fate of some score of officers and men who were borne away early Thursday morning in the dirigible R-33, which was torn from its mooring mast at Pulham by a fierce gale and driven across the North Sea.

The relief came with a report which reached the Air Ministry that the airship had successfully ridden out the storm and was starting on her homeward journey to Pulham from Holland. The aircraft was making from five to ten knots an hour, the reports said, and expected to reach the airdrome some time this morning.

The Air Ministry says the R-33 reported at 9.37 p.m. that she had crossed the Dutch coastline ten miles south of Ymuiden and was making her way west north-west toward England. The British sloop Godetia was instructed by the Admiralty to accompany the aircraft in its trip over the North Sea.

Shortly after 11 p.m. the R-33 was 14 miles seaward from Ymuiden and still making headway, but slowly. She asked by wireless that the Godetia show her searchlights and also requested the weather forecast. The radio added that the wind at the time was blowing from 20 to 25 miles an hour.

Late last night at Pulham flares were kept burning and the necessary forces had been assembled to land the runaway airship when she returned. There was a rumor afloat that one of the port engines of the airship had ceased working, but the officials at airdrome felt no alarm over this fact, saying the craft would be entirely disabled only if three of her engines stopped functioning.

BIG LIQUOR PROFIT.

QUEBEC, April 16—&The surplus of the Quebec Liquor Commission for the fiscal year will approximate $4,500,00, according to reports gathered at the Parliament today. This has been the average profit realized by the Commission since its organization, the Province having thus benefitted from that source a total of nearly $17,000,000 with operations reaching over $80,000,00.

To inspect the Paris office of the Quebec Liquor Commission and to confer with some of the large exporting firms of France and Italy, L. B. Cordeau, chairman, will leave for Europe on Saturday by the S. S. France.

RATE OF BIRTHS IS STATIONARY

November Total Was 11,473 as Compared With 11,492 Year Previous.

DEATH RATE DROPS

OTTAWA, April 17—The birth-rate in Canada in November, 1924, was almost identical with that of November, 1923. Last November there were 11,473 living births in the Dominion not counting Quebec, which is not in the registration area. In November, 1923, there were 11,492 living births. In the same month of 1922 and 1921, however, the rate was about a thousand greater.

Last November 5,845 boys and 5,628 girls survived birth. There were 116 pairs of twins, and no triplets. There were 367 still-births. The equivalent annual birth rate per thousand of population was 20.5, unchanged from the previous November, but four per thousand less than in 1921.

Infant mortality continues to decrease. The infant death rate per thousand of population has dropped from 80.2 in 1921 to 71.3 in 1924. Of last November's infant mortality, nearly one quarter died because of premature birth. Maternal mortality last November totalled 64.

In the same month there were 4,741 marriages and 1,249 deaths. The equivalent annual death rate shows a slight and steady decrease. Last November it was 10 per thousand of population: in November, 1921, it was nine per thousand.

TOWN NEARLY LOST IN RAGING FLAMES

Two Hundred Stores and Their Stocks Destroyed —257 Houses Burn.

WARSAW, April 17 (Canadian Press).—The little town of Ryki, near Lublin was nearly wiped out by fire last night. Two hundred stores with their stocks were destroyed and 257 houses were burned, only 61 remaining. There was no loss of life.

SARGENT FUNERAL.

Strictly Private Interment of Famous Artist at Woking.

LONLDON, April 17 (Canadian Press).—The funeral of John Singer Sargent will be held tomorrow and will be strictly private, to be attended only by relatives and close friends of the artist. Burial will be in Brookwood Cemetery at Woking, twenty miles from the capital. Memorial services will be held in Westminster Abbey at noon on April 24, members of the Royal Academy attending in a body.

Increase Over 1923 Was 7.5 Per Cent., Only Five Less Than 1921 Peak.

114 IN ONTARIO

1,368 Canadian Marriages Were Dissolved in United States in 1922.

OTTAWA, April 17. — (Canadian Press).—Thirty-eight more divorces were granted in Canada last year than in the year before. These figures comprise divorces granted by the Dominion Parliament for Ontario and Quebec and by Provincial courts in the remaining provinces. The total of 543 divorces is an increase of 7.5 per cent. over 1923, and only five less than the record number of 1921, when the extraordinary increase of that year had been ascribed to the unsettling effects of the war period coupled with the new facilities for obtaining divorce provided by a decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. This enabled the courts of the prairie provinces to grant divorces.

Of provinces, says the Bureau of Statistics, British Columbia headed the list for divorces in 1924 with 136. Alberta was next with 118, the order of the other provinces being: Ontario 114, Manitoba 77, Nova Scotia 42, Saskatchewan 28, New Brunswick 15, Quebec 13. Again, as in the year before, not a divorce was granted in Prince Edward Island. In fact, in all the years which have rolled by since Confederation, only one divorce has been granted in Prince Edward Island, and that was in the year before the war.

Alberta's Increase 31.

The largest increases in divorces in any province during the year was in Alberta, where 1924 showed an increase of 31 over 1923. Next in order were Nova Scotia, Ontario and Quebec, with increases of 20, 9 and 2 respectively. Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick and British Columbia recorded respective decreases of 13, 4, 4 and 3.

But divorces granted to Canadians in Canada are only part of the story. Many go south of the international boundary to terminate the matrimonial bond. The marriage and divorce bulletin of the United States Bureau of the census shows that in 1922 no fewer than 1,368 divorce decrees were granted to couples married in Canada, a number more than 2½ times as large as the total number granted in Canada in the same year. This number also formed 36.2 per cent. of the number of divorces granted in the United States during the year to couples married in foreign countries: while, at the same time, the percentage of the Canadian-born population to the total foreign-born amounted to only 8.1 per cent.

Laws More Liberal.

"It is possible," says the bulletin, "that many Canadians acquire a residence in the United States for the sole purpose of obtaining divorce because, in general, divorce laws are more liberal in the United States than in Canada."

Algoma Steel Corporation Rail Mill Goes on Double Turn.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Apr. 17.—(Canadian Press). — The rail mill of the Algoma Steel Corporation, which has been operated on a single shift for the past ten days, will go back on to double turns on Sunday evening. The change to single turn was made because of the fact that rails were being piled in the storage yard faster than they could be delivered before the opening of navigation.

VERY WIDE SCARF.

The very wide scarf of plaid silk with fringed ends is liked with the mannish topcoats that are so guiltless of any feminine touch.

SLENDER LINES

In sports clothes the jumper idea is generally liked because it achieves the slender straight line without any extra fullness.

MOTOR NOTES

BOSTON, Mass., April 17.—The flivver is going to be out-flivvered.

A Boston concern has begun the construction of cars cheaper than the cheapest, made principally from usable parts of discarded Ford cars. The new product will be named the Mayfair and will sell for $485, as a three-door five-passenger sedan. The cost of a Ford sedan, of the two-door type is $590.

If Henry Ford doesn't stop this concern in the use of his products, motorists will see running about the streets cars with a disk clutch and three-speed sliding gear transmission. There will be old Ford engines on these cars, but the cylinder blocks will have been reground and fitted with oversize pistons.

The Mayfair company expects to produce about 3000 cars the first year, the entire output to be put on sale only in the Boston territory. There will be a 90-day guarantee, but Ford stations may be resorted to after the expiration of the guarantee period.

Both foot and hand brakes operate on drums at the rear wheels. Bosh starting, lighting and ignition are installed. The gasoline tank is in the rear, although the fuel system is of the gravity type.

FESTOONS ON HATS.

Varicolored flowers and festoons of flowers are used on the new felt hats.

WEIGHT TAX PLANNED.

A bill in the New South Wales Legislature would impose taxes on motorists according to the weight of their cars, instead of horsepower. It would also double drivers' license fees.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF Margaret Smith, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Widow, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Chapter 121, Section 56, that all creditors and others having claims against the estate of Margaret Smith, late of the said City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, who died on or about the seventeenth day of February, 1925, are requested to forward their claims, duly proven, to the undersigned, on or before the seventeenth day of May, 1925.

AND NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that after the said date the executors will proceed to distribute the estate, having regard only to such claims as they shall then have had notice of.

DATED at Belleville this fifteenth day of April, A.D. 1925.

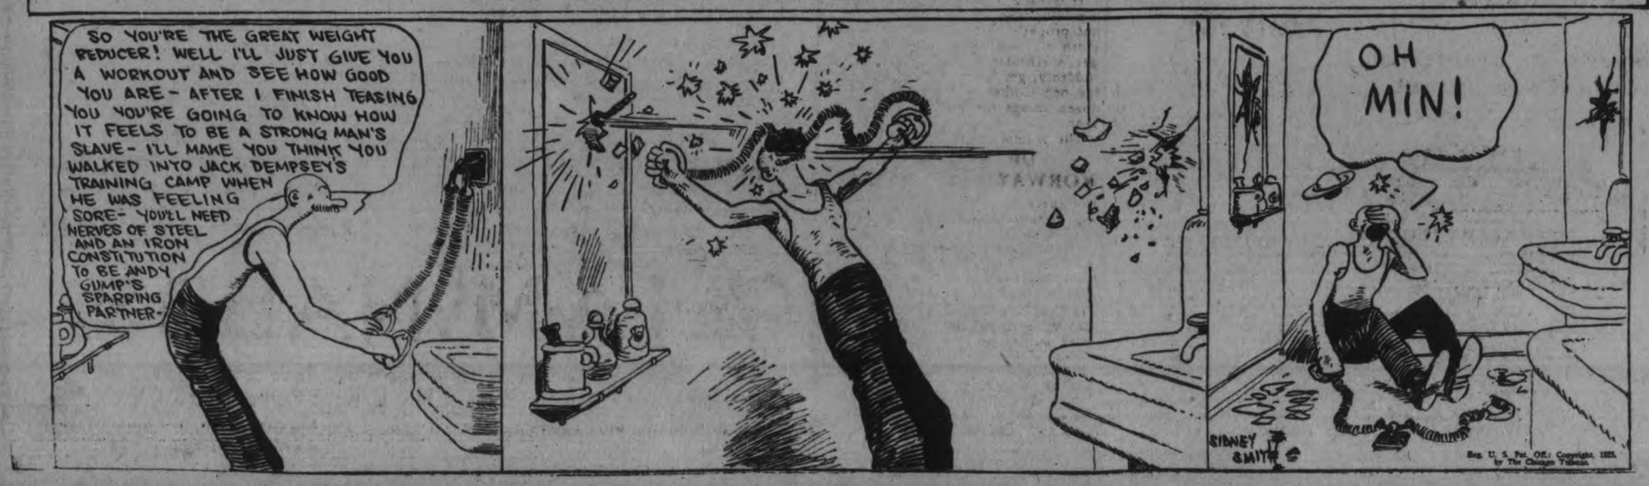
THE GUMPS—THE SPRING HAS COME



DISTRICT LODGE MET IN BRIGHTON

Rebeccas Hold Semi-Annual Gathering at Brighton and Confer Degrees.

BRIGHTON, April 17. — A very pleasant and profitable afternoon and evening was spent on April 14 when the semi-annual meeting of District 47 of the Rebecca Lodge was held in the I.O.O.F. Lodge room here. The District Deputy President, Mrs. Minnie Norwood, Picton, had charge of the meeting at which delegates were present from Macpheleh Lodge, Picton; Quinte Queen, Trenton, and Brightonia, Brighton, Loch Lochmond, Campbellford, being the only one not represented.

The meeting in the afternoon opened in the usual form, at which many matters of importance were discussed, under the very capable leadership of Sister Norwood, D.D.P. At the evening meeting Brighton Lodge held their regular session, during which the Brightonia Degree team gave the initiatory degree with Sister Edith Craig as staff captain. The visiting sisters and brothers paid the degree team some very complimentary remarks on their first work. Compliments were also paid to the officers and everyone who gave charges.

After the closing of the Lodge lunch was served, and an enjoyable hour was spent in dancing. The local Lodge extended thanks to the members who so kindly entertained the delegates and visitors.

The ladies of the Baptist Church wish to thank the citizens of Brighton for their patronage shown by them at their Easter supper. The proceeds amounted to about eighty dollars, which was used for the purpose of re-decorating the church. As this is a very small congregation, they are worthy of a great deal of praise for their undertaking of such a task, and as usual, there was quantity as well as quality.

On Monday night a miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Mrs. W. Davidson (nee Leah Pierson) at the home of Mrs. L. Pierson. Mrs. Davidson was the recipient of many useful gifts and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

On Monday evening a few Brighton young people were present at the Elysian Club's rose dance held in the Parish Hall, Trenton, and report having had a very pleasant time.

Personals.

Master Harold Craig is spending his holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Plumpton, in Codrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson spent Tuesday in Havelock, visiting Mr. Davidson's parents, before going to their own home in Detroit on Wednesday.

Master Reginald King returned to Toronto with his brother for a few days.

Little Willie Taft is in Belleville Hospital, where he has undergone an operation for removal of tonsils and adenoids.

Miss Emma Blakely has sold her beautiful residence on Main Street to Burton Brintnell, who expects to move into it in the near future.

Mrs. Mather and small daughter, Mary, of Cannifton, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Maybee.

R. H. Pollock, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has been transferred to the Belleville branch. He left Wednesday to take up his duties there.

Mr. C. F. Sutcliffe, of Peterboro, is filling the vacancy here.

Mr. Barnum, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch in New York, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Margaret Barnum.

Mr. Arthur Barns, of Pharmacy College, Toronto, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Barns.

Women Apply For Post Of Public Executioner

LONDON April 17 (United Press).—Three women were among the 500 applicants who answered the Hungarian Government's advertisement to fill a vacancy in the office of public executioner, the Central News Budapest correspondent cabled today.

One applicant repatriated from the United States, claimed a leading part in 25 lynchings as qualifications. He did not get the job.

MARTIAL LAW IN BULGARIA

Victims of Bombing May Number 140—Include 20 Women.

REPORTS CONFLICT.

SOFIA, April 17. — (Canadian Press).—Conflicting reports exist regarding the number of victims of yesterday's bombing outrage but the latest is that approximately 140 persons, including 20 women and 10 children, were killed and twenty more wounded by infernal machines placed in the roof of a cathedral, which was detonated during the funeral of General Georghieff, who was shot down the street. Six generals and 30 other officers are among the slain.

The dead include the Chief of Police, a number of prominent citizens, including a former Cabinet Minister and Generals Davidoff and Nerzoff. Martial law was proclaimed throughout Bulgaria to-day.

POLICE CLEAN UP CITY OF BERLIN

New Chief Starts Fight Against Corruption and Loose Morals.

BERLIN, April 17. — (Associated Press).—Berlin has a new Chief of Police, and everybody knows it. His name is Dr. Friedensburg, and he succeeds Herr Richter who was swept out of office because of his friendship with the Barmat brothers involved in one of the largest of post-war financial scandals.

Dr. Friedensburg has a far wider view than one usually associates with a Prussian official. He has spent six years in foreign countries, chiefly in the United States and Great Britain, and is keenly appreciative of the horror that the foreigner has of official red tape and bureaucracy. He therefore seems bent upon sweeping these bureaucratic cobwebs away as fast as possible.

One task confronting him is that of fighting corruption and loose morals in the German capital. During the inflation period all sorts of vices, such as gambling, thieving, and even murder spread in Berlin to an alarming degree.

The new Chief of Police seems determined to clean up the city. He conducts most raids personally, and already his name is feared among the element that shuns the light of day.

The new Chief of Police is much interested in the international aspects of the control of crime. He is of the opinion that the modern criminal has so many technical devices at his disposal, such as the airplane, the radio, the fast automobile, etc., that an ever closer cooperation between the police forces of the different countries is essential.

WAR BONUS CUT FROM SALARIES

Lower Paid Postal Employees Had An Allowance Until Yesterday.

NO EXPLANATION.

TORONTO, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—The war bonus allowed to postal employees has apparently become a thing of the past. Until yesterday some 300 of the lower paid men have been getting an allowance each fortnight, but when the cheques arrived for the first two weeks of this month the bonus money was absent. No sum to pay the bonus has been included in the Departmental estimates. Officials here have received no intimation as to whether or not the men are to lose the amount altogether, or will receive its equivalent in the form of a wage increase.

The men affected yesterday were those receiving an annual salary of from $1,080 to $1,320, bonus $15.50 per month; $1,320 to $1,400, bonus $14.50 per month; $1,440 to $1,560, bonus $7.83 per month. All salaries graded above these amounts included no bonus.

C.N.R. AND C.P.R. PLAN CO-OPERATION

Would Eliminate Costly Duplication of Services, Sir Henry Says.

OTTAWA, April 17. — That co-operation between Canada's two railway systems, with a view to the elimiantion of the costly duplication of services, and other wastes of competition, is being considered by the railways themselves, was intimated here last night by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National.

"You can say further," added Sir Henry, "that so far as I am personally concerned, I am heartily in favor of any action that will promote economy and reduce the dominion's transportation cost, always provided of course that efficient service is maintained."

Old Mark Bettered at Opening Meeting of Penna. Games.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 17. — Willie Ritola Co. starred with Paavo Nurmi, the Flying Finn, at the opening of the two day Penn. Club games at the Hippodrome last night, by establishing a New World's record in the 5000 yard run, bettering the old mark held by himself by six seconds. Ritola was clocked in 13.39.

WEDDING BELLS.

OLVER—JOHNSTON.

LAKEFIELD, April 17. — A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, April 15th, at the residence of the bride's mother, 8th concession of Smith, when Cora May Johnston, daughter of Mrs. Fred Johnston, was united in marriage to Allan C. Olver, of Selwyn.

The ceremony was performed at 6.30 p.m., by Rev. C. S. Redick, B.A., B.D., under a bridal arch, and a brilliant sunset concentrated on the bridal party added to the beauty of the scene.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Robert Fawcett, wore a deep cream silk gown, and the conventional bridal veil, caught with daisies. She was attended by Miss E. M. McConkey, while Mr. E. H. Olver supported the groom.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. Rev. C. S. Reddick.

After the ceremony, the bridal party partook of an elaborate dinner after which the happy couple left for Lindsay, Fenelon Falls and other northern points.

Many beautiful and costly gifts testified to the high esteem in which the young people are held in the community.

INGALLS—LARCOM.

WARKWORTH, April 17. — The marriage of Mr. Willard Ingalls, son of Mrs. Alf. Ingalls, of Warkworth, and Miss Mary Larcom, of Bay City, Michigan, took place at the bride's home on Tuesday, April 14th. The bridegroom was a former Warkworth boy, and his many friends wish him many years of happiness.

The young couple will make their home at Detroit, Michigan.

OBITUARY.

DAVID TURNEY.

WARKWORTH, April 17.—Death has removed one of the oldest residents in Cramahe Todwnship, in the person of David Turney, in his ninety-second year. He was born at Smithfield on July 21, 1832, and moved to Cramahe Township in his early twenties, and cleared the land on which he spent the rest of his days.

His wife predeceased him eighteen years ago, and he leaves one brother, John Turney, of Springfield, Ill., also four daughters: Mrs. A. Carr of Cramahe, Mrs. Herbert Campbell of Weyburn, Sask., Mrs. A. B. VanBlaricom of Morganston, and Mrs. Wm. Carr of Brighton; also two sons, Lester, principal of Oswego High School, and Wallace on the homestead.

The funeral was held on Tuesday at the Methodist Church and was largely attended.

HURLED FROM AUTO.

Two Windsor Men in Hospital—Train Hit Car.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 17.—(Canadian Press).—N. C. Mackenzie and Robert Fead, both of Windsor, are in hospital, severely injured, following a peculiar accident on the Pillette Road crossing of the Canadian National Railways Thursday, when a gravel train backing up, crashed into their motor car, hurling the men out, and dragging parts of the car for a distance of nearly two blocks.

The injured men were found a few minutes later and rushed to hospital.

Upon examination, Mackenzie was found to have sustained a fractured leg, severe head injuries and body bruises. Fead was badly lacerated and bruised, but notwithstanding the fact that he was on the side of the car that was hit by the train, was the least injured.

REDEMPTION OF TAX

lawyers who were members of the C..ernment.

Mr. Stirling urged that steps be taken to destroy the fruit combine in Western Canada. It was of no advantage to the producer or the consumer for him to receive 40 cents per box for apples and have them sold in the prairie provinces at $3.00 a box.

Sales Tax Discrimination.

Discrimination under the sales tax should be removed. Printing establishments doing business under $10,000 a year were exempt from the sales tax, while firms doing business of $10,000, or over, had to pay. A year ago an amendment had been put through wiping out the 110,000 limitation in practically all industries except printing. Mr. Stirling suggested, if the government could not wipe out the discrimination in respect to printing establishments, the least it could do would be to give large printing businesses $10,000 exemption on their tax returns. Reduction in tax was badly needed in Canada, but this would be only possible through economy. The government, unfortunately, had not carried out any real economies.

Mr. Stirling drew the attention of the House to an instance which he said, occurred in the course of the by-election in Yale, N.S., about a year ago. A western Liberal organizer had visited Penticton, called on members of the Board of Trade there, and promised that if Penticton would give a majority to Mr. Stirling's Liberal opponent a post office would be constructed in that place. The returns from Penticton had given a Conservative majority and no post office was erected. Such "messy dirtiness" of this nature sullied the fair name of Canada.

Tariff Board Project.

G. W. Kyte (Liberal, Cape Breton South and Richmond), said that a former speaker had criticized the Liberals because they had opposed a tariff board when it had been proposed by the Conservatives in 1912. That was because a government which was interested in maintaining a high tariff could not be entrusted to the appointment of such a board.

Dr. Manion had claimed there was lack of unity among the Liberals at the present time. Mr. Kyte prophesied that as the Conservative group in the house decreased in numbers, it would increase in unanimity. If the Conservatives were in power at the present time, and a tariff board were appointed, there would be no chance of low tariff representation on the board. In the case of the present government, if it was true, as stated by Dr. Manion, that high tariff men and free traders were in the party, then it certainly represented more adequately public opinion.

Things had not been well in Nova Scotia for some time, said Mr. Kyte.

"Nor anywhere else in Canada," added D. Spence, (Conservative, Parkdale).

"Oh, yes, some factories are working overtime in Ontario," replied Mr. Kyte.

"You ought to live there and you'd find out."

"I am glad to live where I do," said the Liberal whip.

"So am I," said Mr. Spence.

"Blight of Protection."

Mr. Kyte reviewed the effect of the national policy as it opertaed after 1878 in the Maritime provinces. We gave instances of the industries which had been wrecked by "the blighting influence of Tory protection."

The Conservative government, when it was in power before 1921, had "put the soft pedal on high tariffs," said Mr. Kyte. From time to time there had been a hint that tariff revision was impending, but never a suggestion that the revision ought to be upward. In 1920, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen had said that Canada could not have a high tariff because it would tend to exclude the healthy element of competition—that was, foreign competition, said Mr. Kyte.

With an election impending, Mr. Meighen in 1920 had kept an eye on the prairie west. He had said in the House that Canada must have a moderate tariff as set out in Sir Henry Drayton's budget because of the geographical variations in Canada's fiscal requirements. Mr. Kyte quoted at some length, the utterances of Conservative leaders in that year, and that their leader had exaulated a general famous in history and "marched his army" up the hill, and marched it down again."

Mr. Kyte quoted facts and figures to show that some Canadian industries, such as the fertilizer industry, had prospered under the present government's fiscal policy.

CAILLAUX STAR

stead he was sent as paymaster to one of the armies at the front and later on a financial mission to South America. On his own initiative he made a visit to Rome.

Back in Paris he made contributions to those papers which were trying to bring the war to an end by negotiations with Germany behind the backs of England, Italy and Russia. This campaign was called "Defeatism," and in the spring of 1917 caused serious mutinies among the French troops at the front.

In the Autumn Clemenceau became President of the Council with the avowed purpose of "purging France of traitors." Then followed the arrests and prosecutions against the Bonnet Rouge gang and the executions in the grove of Vincennes. Malvy, who had usualy been Minister of the Interior when Caillaux had dictated the personnel of Radical Cabinets and who had remained as such until Clemenceau came in, was first arested and then he, who was considered to be the "Master Mind" of the "Defeatists," Joseph Caillaux.

Both were tried by the Senate sitting as a high court of justice. Malvy was considered to have betrayed his trust of office and was condemned to five years' exile but without civic degradation. Caillaux, after having awaited trial for two years, was condemned in the following circumstances:

First he was acquitted by 213 votes to 28 of all charges of treason made against him, and then convicted by a vote of 230 to 91 of a charge which had not been made against him. The Senatorial High Court sentenced Caillaux to three years imprisonment (remitted on account of the time spent awaiting trial and the trial itself) to five years' of "interdiction de sejour" (that is, he was forbidden to visit certain places in France, particularly Paris) and to civic degradation for ten years, having been convicted under clause 78 of the French Penal Code of "correspondence with subjects of any enemy power which without having as its object any of the crimes mentioned" in the indictment, i.e., treason, direct communication with the enemy, etc., "has nevertheless had the result of giving the enemy information harmful to the military or political situation of France or her allies."

M. Caillaux then retired to his home in Mamers with his wife and his rehabilitation was begun by himself in articles and interviews by the Socialists and his friends of his old party, and by the League of the Rights of Man under whose auspices he lectured about the country.

ONLY THE MOTHER KNOWS ABOUT THE COUGHS AND COLDS OF THE CHILDREN

It is hard to keep them from taking cold; they will run out of doors not properly clad, or have on too much clothing; play too hard and get overheated and cool off too suddenly; get their feet wet; kick off the bed clothes at night, and do a dozen things the mother can't prevent.

The prompt use of

will check the cough or cold before any serious lung trouble can possibly develop.

Mrs. Everett E. Keetch, R.R. No. 2, Fredericton, NB, writes:—"My little boy, age nine years, had a dreadful cold which left him with a bad cough I tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after using three bottles he was completely relieved. I would advise all mothers to use this remedy for their children as it is an excellent medicine."

"THEY SAVED THE SITUATION."

On Sunday the tenth anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres, when the Canadian troops won imperishable fame for themselves by holding the line against the first German gas attack, will be observed in Peterboro by the holding of the annual church parade of ex-service men.

This method was inaugurated by the Great War Veterans' Association soon after that organization was launched, and every year since the anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres has been marked by a turnout of the men who fought overseas.

It is hoped that the attendance on Sunday will be as large as usual, and that all ex-service men, whether members of the G.W.V.A. or not, will take this opportunity of remembering the thousands of Canadians who died in saving the situation ten years ago.

Peterboro soldiers received their first baptism of fire in that engagement, and the loss of life among the quota from this city was very heavy.

It is fitting, indeed, therefore, that the comrades of those who died life heroes at Ypres should each year publicly demonstrate the fact that the memory of the fallen is kept ever-green in the hearts of the fighters who came back.

Since the public memory is not to be always trusted—there was not even a flag flying in Peterboro to mark the anniversary of Vimy Ridge—it is more than ever necessary that the war veterans themselves should see to it that this occasion is suitably marked.

THE LOCAL SHUFFLE.

The Examiner's contention that the redistribution bill was needlessly hurried through the Legislature is borne out by the fact that, although the bill received its third reading a week ago, it was only yesterday that the people of Peterboro County learned that there has been a re-shuffle of the two Peterboro ridings.

It was the general impression that the local ridings had been left unchanged, but it now is revealed, a week after the passing of the measure, that East and West Peterboro as such disappear in favour of a city and a county riding, Smith and North Monaghan being included with the city as an urban riding, while Ennismore, Harvey and Galway and Cavendish are added to the old East riding to constitute the new county riding.

It is probable that the electors will prefer this re-arrangement to the cutting down of Peterboro County's representation to one member, or of throwing part of East Peterboro for election purposes into another constituency.

The county boundaries have been respected, and the two ridings as now constituted are better balanced from the viewpoint of population, the city constituency having a population of 26,201 and the county riding of 15,731, while the old West Riding had 28,284, as compared with 13,648, in the East Riding.

FOREST FIRE WEEK.

Throughout Canada next week is being observed as "Forest Fire Week," a Dominion-wide effort to arouse Canadians to a realization of the fact that the present situation in Canada in regard to forest fires is far from satisfactory, and one of the chief reasons for this condition is public apathy.

The first step toward a better state of affairs is a recognition by all elements in the community of the fundamental importance of forest fire protection, because of its bearing on the question of the permanency of our timber supplies and, therefore, of the industries dependent thereon—hence Forest Fire Week.

In this connection the report presented by the Forest Fire Protection Committee to the British Empire Forestery Conference is of interest, particularly the following section:

"No forest authority can cope with the situations developing under adverse conditions without the whole-hearted suppor tand co-operation of the general public. In education and publicity, beginning with the children in the schools and extensive enough to reach all classes of the population, lies the only hope of attaining adequate forest fire protection. The attention given to this subject by forest authorities in the past has been, in general, intermittent and casual only. In the self-governing Dominions in particular, staffs must be built up and expenditure on education and publicity largely increased if the forest resources of the Empire are to be conserved.

"Education of the young, in our opinion, is particularly important, and in this connection it is thought that proper courses of instruction should be a part of the curriculum of all students in training to become school-teachers. Teachers who are themselves totally ignorant of the fundamentals of forest fire protection cannot be expected to make any lasting impression on their upils."

UNIVERSITY OF JERUSALEM.

The circumstances attendant on the opening of the Hebrew University at Jerusalem have probably never been paralleled. Countries unknown when Jerusalem was in the height of its early glory sent representatives of their learning to do honor to the occasion. One of the first of British statesmen, Lord Balfour, was in attendance and in an address worthy of his record and the occasion ventured to predict the inevitable success of an enterprise that could hardly have been dreamed of a dozen years ago. With him was General Allenby, who commanded the army that freed Jerusalem from the old oppressive yoke and put it on a new froting as the capital of a free state under international protection. The opening of a university, the buildings for which were started in 1918, is an evidence alike of the foresight, the patriotism and the generosity of the Jewish people throughout the world. The medical department, which was founded in 1921, is largely the outcome of what was done by Jewish physicians on this Continent. It is intended that much attention will be paid to the healing of the people and the prevention of disease. A research laboratory has been completed, and study will be given to phases in experimental medicine and chemistry as it concerns disease and its prevention. The usefulness of the university will soon be made apparent. There are probably few regions where skilled medical men can do so much for their suffering fellows of all races. Other departments of science and learning will follow, the intention being to proceed as circumstances warrant, and not to get far ahead of the capacity of the country to supply students. The Hebrew and allied languages will be the subject of courses which will be of interest to most of humanity. Beside the Jewish, the Christian and the Mohammedan religions look to Jerusalem and its history and the peoples with whom its traditions are associated for light on beginning of the worship of God. There are yet in the remains of past civilizations throughout Palestine and Mesopotamia much that can be learned, going back even to before the days of Abraham, that can be of value to seekers after the truth. The University of Jerusalem is new in a sense only. There were prophets and teachers and students of renown in the old city a thousand years before Oxford's first teachers began to expound the laws. The new men will take up an old task.—Montreal Gazette.

10 DOWNING STREET.

Cable despatches tell that in England they are thinking of pulling down and rebuilding 10 Downing Street. The old building, grimy with two centuries of London's smoke, has fallen into decay, and the modern needs of government, it is said, dictate new accommodation.

One ventures to predict that 10 Downing Street will not be demolished. For the old building, mean and petty-looking though it be, stands as a shrine of British history, as much a part of England's story as Westminster Abbey itself. "It is the smallest and at the same time the greatest street in the world," said an American Ambassador, "because it lies at the hub of that gigantic wheel which encircles the globe under the name of the British Empire." There, for almost two centuries, with varying intermissions, British Prime Ministers have lived. There British Cabinets have, as a rule, though not always, met. Wellington held Cabinets at Apsley House. The historic "Torpid Council" of 1854, at which Britain drifted into the Crimean war, took place at Lord John Russell's residence, Pembroke Lodge. Sir Algernon West, who was Gladstone's private secretary, has recalled the Ministers meeting "everywhere." "In Bertram Currie's House in Combe Wood is a brass tablet recording how a Cabinet meeting was held there during a visit of Mr. Gladstone's." The Cabinet at which Beaconsfield's Government, in 1880, decided to dissolve, met at the Foreign Secretary's office in Arlington street. Mr. Lloyd George on one occasion summoned Ministers to his house at Cobham; and the Cabinets of Salisbury and Balfour were held at the Foreign Office.

Usually, however, the British Cabinet has met in the little room at 10 Downing Street, the plain, modest building with railings at the area and a knocker on the door. No. 10 has been described by a German writer as a mean looking abode in a blind alley. Visitors from oversea and Europe are astonished upon seeing it. Sir George Downing, an American Colonist who went to England held various posts under Cromwell and Charles the Second, received the grant of the ground from the Merry Monarch and built what were then considered mansions, with "back fronts" to St. James' Park. On its passing to the Crown in the next century a life tenancy was given to Bothmar, the Hanoverian Minister. When Bothmar died, George the Second offered the House to Walpole; and on his declining it as a personal gift, it was devoted in perpetuity to the use of the First Lord of the Treasury.

There Pitt worked, read despatches, sent Wolfe on the expedition to Quebec that was to change the history of North America. There lived Gladstone and Disraeli. There Campbell Bannerman breathed his last. There Mr. Asquith's Cabinet held the fateful meetings which took the Empire into the war and there Churchill and Grey and Asquith heard the clock tick in the greatest tragedy in human history. At 10 Downing Street met Lloyd George's War Cabinet; there Lloyd George and Birkenhead and Austen Chamberlain met Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith and changed seven centuries of Irish history; there, for the first time in British history, met a Labor Cabinet.

Mean in its exterior, the interior of 10 Downing Street hushes one to awe with its impressiveness. A small room, scarcely 20 by 40 feet, with a half glass door that looks out upon a typical English city garden, it yet throbs with history. There British Ministers must feel the centuries look down upon their deliberations. Upon the walls hang the pictures of the great heroes of the past, Pitt and Burke and Canning and Disraeli and others of the British Valhalla. Their portraits look down upon their successors, reminding them that while the State endures parties change and men pass, that reputations great today may be low tomorrow, that power and popularity are transitory, that in the long view of history he serves his party best who serves his country noblest.

The story of 10 Downing Street, indeed, is the story of the British Empire. Its passing would be comparable only to the destruction of St. Paul's or to the obliteration of Westminster Abbey.—Ottawa Journal.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, April 16.—There was but a small market this morning, with only 159 cattle offering, including left overs. Everything in the butcher class cleaned up briskly at firm prices. Supplies of nice handy weight choice quality butcher cattle are, if anything, a little under the demand, and quotations average 10c to 15c higher than last week.

The advance applies strictly to butcher cattle alone. The export trade is under a temporary lull, and several loads of heavy export steers brought in this week are still unsold. There is now no boat in sight before probably a few days before the official opening of navigation on May 1. A boat which yesterday expected to partly relieve the situation was at the last moment cancelled owing to an accident of some sort.

There was but little small stuff offering today, and prices were unchanged.

Hogs are quoted steady at $12.50 f.o.b., including Saturday's deliveries

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 16.—With the export interest sidetracking the Winnipeg market and demanded purely local, wheat prices declined 8 5-8 cents in a session completely dominted by "bear" traders. Nervousness developed right at the opening of the market, prices suffering a loss of about 3 cents. Further weakness followed heavy liquidations which failed to meet supporting demand. May delivery closed at $1.48 1-2 which was around the low for the day. July slumped 7 3-4 cents at $1.46, while October dropped 4 cents at $1.28 1-4.

Trade volume was not large, although the market received fair support on the extreme breaks.

The Liverpool cables came 5 3-4 pence lowed and closed 6 pence down, fully reflecting the decline on this side yesterday.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, April 16.—A sale is reported of a car of Saskatchewan eggs at extras 28, firsts 26 1-2, seconds 24 1-4 f.o.b. Regina. The freight cost on these coming East would amount to about 3 3-4 cents per dozen. There is practically no change in Canadian markets. The Chicago market is firmer, due to a decline in receipts from the Southern and Southwest States during the past few days.

Toronto — Specials, jobbing, 34, extras 32, firsts 30, seconds 28.

Montreal—Unchanged.

Quebec—Extras, jobbing 35 to 36, firsts 33 to 34, seconds 31 to 32.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, April 16.—Sterling exchange rates were quoted on the Montreal market today as follows:

Sterling demand, $4.78 3-8.
Sterling cables $4.78 3-4.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 16—Breadstuffs went wildly downward in price today, almost a drug on the market. Selling out to stop losses on the May delivery of wheat here disclosed a nearly complete absence of demand, strikingly in contrast with widespread belief a few months ago that a world shortage this season was impending. As a result, wheat values fell as much as eight cents a bushel today and rye ten cents. The wheat market closed semi-demoralized, and as compared with yesterday's finish, 2 1-4 to 7 1-4 down, May $1.44 3-4 to $1.45, and July $1.37 3-4 to $1.38; corn 3 1-8 to 4 1-4 cents off; oats showing 3-4 to 1 1-4 cents decline, and provisions at setbacks varying from 10 to 12 to 25 cents.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, April 16.—While there was a good enquiry in the Montreal market for Canadian grain here today from the United Kingdom, exporters stated that the volume of business was small as the prices were again below working basis.

Owing to the weakness in the Canadian cash wheat situation and the further drastic declines a weaker feeling developed in the local flour market and millers reduced prices for Spring wheat grades 20 cents per barrel. Business in all directions was reported slow and the market on the whole was quiet. There was no actual change in prices announced for Winter wheat grades of flour, but the undertone was easy. An easier feeling also prevailed in the market for white corn flour and the indications were that prices would be reduced in the near future.

Egg Prices Steady.

There were no new developments in the local egg situation, the tone of the market being about steady with no change in prices to note. A fairly good business was done in a wholesale jobbing way and the market was moderately active. The receipts were 2476 cases, as against 3,106 for the same day last week, and 2,814 for the corresponding day a year ago.

The receipts of butter were 244 packages, as against 1,041 for the same day last week, and 1,496 for the corresponding day a year ago. A firm feeling prevailed in the market and prices were fully maintained but the volume of business smaller owing to the fact that buyers in most cases have provided for their wants for the time being, therefore the demand was not so urgent and the market was quieter.

There were also sales of some lots of fodder made No. 1 pasteurized creamery at 33 1-2 cents per lb., No. 1 creamery at 33 cents per lb., and No. 2 creamery at 32 cents per lb.

Cheese Market Easier.

The receipts of cheese were 406 boxes, as compared with 226 for the same day last week, and 86 for the corresponding day a year ago. An easy feeling prevails in the market on account of the more liberal arrivals and the limited demand for the same.

There was some demand from local buyers for small lots to meet immediate wants and sales of Western fodder No. 1 white and colored were made at 18 5-8 cents per lb., and No. 2 grades at 17 5-8 cents per lb., but it was stated that these prices were all fully one cent per lb. above export basis and according to late English advices buyers would be interested for a few at 17 1-2 cents per lb. here.

Beans were steady at $2.70 per bushel.

PRINCE HENRY THROWN.

Escaped Serious Accident in Steeplechase.

LONDON, April 17—Prince Henry, who virtually represents King George during the Monarch's vacation on the Mediterranean, yesterday narrowly escaped a serious accident.

The Prince was riding in a hunt steeplechase near West Grinstead when his mount came into collision with another horse and he was thrown. Fortunately the Prince escaped uninjured and was able to walk back to the paddock. His mount was so badly hurt, however, that it had to be destroyed.

RURAL SCHOOLS IN NOVA SCOTIA GROW INFERIOR

Graduating Class in One Unable to Write Receipt for Money Payment.

SALARIES LOWEST

Exteriors Forbidding—Urban Schools and Colleges Receive More Attention.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 17.—(Canadian Press).—That rural schools in Nova Scotia were inferior to those of ten years ago and were being neglected in favor of the town schools and colleges was the opinion of A. J. MacGillivray, Independent, Antigonish, speaking before the Legislative Committee on Supply Thursday when the school estimates were under discussion. Mr. MacGillivray told of visiting a rural school and examning a class of "C" grade pupils, who were ready for graduation. He had asked them to write for him a receipt for money paid. Not one of them could do it, he said, and few of them would even attempt. He believed the essential things were being neglected in the common schools.

Another aspect touched upon by Mr. MacGillivray was the exterior aspect of the county schools. He believed their exteriors should represent to some extent the spirit of what was being accomplished inside. In most cases in Nova Scotia the exteriors of school buildings in rural districts and their surroundings were forbidding, to say the least.

New System Needed.

He advocated that a new man be selected for the position of superintendent of education to replace the present incumbent, who is to retire shortly on superannuation, and that the new man be given a thorough course of instruction in schools in the United States and abroad before taking over his new work. Further, he urged that some follow-up system be inaugurated in the Provincial Normal College, so that teachers graduated from the College might be examined in their schools by professors of the College in order that assurance might be had that the knowledge the teachers had gained was being utilized in their work in the rural schools.

Lowest Salaries in World.

Dr. B. A. Leblanc, Conservative, believed there was more money being spent on education in Nova Scotia than in New Brunswick, but he believed the sister province had a superior system. He declared that Nova Scotia teachers were the lowest paid in the world.

In moving the items in the estimates, Premier Armstrong announced that henceforth the teachers would be paid directly from the education office in Halifax and not by the district inspectors as heretofore. The entire educational estimates were finally passed amounting to $738,452.

Spring-Clean MISHAPS

EVEN simple injuries are apt to cause a deal of pain and worry during 'spring clean' time. Along with the dust, are disturbed myriads of tiny disease germs. Their mission is to attack any exposed sore place and set up festering and blood-poison.

Knowing this, the wise housekeeper takes no chances. She always keeps a box of antiseptic Zam-Buk on a handy shelf.

Zam-Buk

This famous herbal balm never fails to soothe, cleanse and heal cuts, bruises, scratches, burns, scalds and abrasions.

Zam-Buk kills disease germs, prevents wounds going 'the wrong way,' and grows new skin. It is also far and away, the most successful remedy for troubles like eczema, pimples, poisoned sores, piles, ulcers, etc.

All dealers sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box.

BETHANY PEOPLE AT SPRING WORK

Wood-Sawing and Syrup-Making Finished and Farmers Are on Land.

BETHANY, April 17. — Maple syrup making and wood sawing bees are over, housecleaning is well under way, and a number of farmers are busy on the land, plowing and seeding.

The grass has been burned off both sections of railroad C.N.R. and C.P.R. and since the warm winds of Tuesday and rain of early Wednesday morning the grass is beginning to show a green tinge. The numerous trees in the village are showing their buds. A number of the citizens have been looking at their garden patches and wondering if it isn't nearly time to begin planting.

The various cars have been taken out of storage and are being overhauled and tuned up for the summer.

W.M.S Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. R. L. Crerar on Tuesday afternoon, sixteen members and four visitors being present. The president, Mrs. Ryley opened the meeting by announcing the subject for prayer and study. A hymn, "Lead on Oh King Eternal", was sung, and Mrs. Rev. Johnston led in prayer. Minutes of the March meeting were read and adopted. A reading, "Dear Little Mite Box of Mine", was given by Mrs. Monk. Miss Lily Weatherilt gave a few short notes on missionary work in India. The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture. The devotional leaflet, praise and thanksgiving in prayer was read by Mrs. W. L. Rowan and was followed by six sentence prayers of thanksgiving, after singing hymn "I Will Sing of My Redeemer." It was decided to elect the officers for the coming year as the president, Mrs. Ryley is leaving the village to make her home in Toronto.

The following officers were elected by ballot:

President—Mrs. T. J. Jackson.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. W. L. Rowan
Secretary—Mrs. A H. Monk.
Treasurer—Mrs. Wm. Byers.
Organist—Miss Weatherilt.
Superintendent Systematic Giving—Mrs. Wm. Lee.
Superintendent Mission Circle—Mrs. W. L. Rowan.
Superintendtn Mite Boxes—Mrs. R. L. Crerar.

It was decided to re-organize the Mission Band and Mrs. Crerar, Mrs. Rowan and Mrs. Byers were appointed leaders. Mrs. W. L. Rowan was nominated delegate to the branch meeting to be held in Oshawa the first of June.

Just at this point Mrs. P. C. Brown read a short address while Mrs. Jackson presented the retiring president, Mrs. Ryley, with a gold life-membership pin.

The address was as follows:

Dear Mrs. Ryley,—

We, you Sisters of this W.M.S. wish you to know how very much we have appreciated your loving leadership as president of this society for the last six years.

It is with sorrow we have accepted your resignation today, but we know that nearer and dearer ties call you from us, and so we must not be selfish in our love for you.

We hope that in the near future you may again find yourself working in our beloved society in your new church home. We know that very often your thoughts will stray to us on the second Tuesday of each month as we gather together and that your prayer on our behalf will often ascend to our Heavenly Father who is God over all. And so as a little reminder of those you leave behind, and of the hours we have spent together, we ask you to accept this small token of our Society, that when you wear it, it may bring us nearer you.

Our wish is that every good gift may be yours in the days that are to come, and if by chance you should come this way again we shall always be delighted to have you wish us.

Signed on behalf of the W.M.S., Mrs. Jackson, 1st vice president; Mrs. Monk, recording-secretary; Mrs. Crerar, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Byers, treasurer.

In responding, Mrs. Ryley said her wish was for the members to carry on in the work and not become weary in well doing, as there was great work to be done and few to do it.

Mrs. Crerar, assisted by several of the ladies, served dainty refreshments, sandwiches, cake and coffee. The small tables held vases of pink carnations and ferns. At the close a friendship chain was formed and a verse of 'Blest be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love" was sung and the Mizpah benediction brought the meeting to a close.

Personals.

Mr. Albert Birchard of Peterborough was a visitor to the village Tuesday.

Mrs. Rehill of Peterboro visited her daughter, Mrs. Crerar for a few days.

Mr. Barnes of the staff of the Bank of Toronto, Millbrook, is in charge of the Bank of Toronto here for a few days, while Mr. Maples, the manager, is in Toronto on business.

Mr. Thos Harkness of Millbrook was a business visitor to the village on Wednesday.

Mr. B. A. Monk was a business visitor to Millbrook and Peterboro on Wednesday.

Mrs. Ezra Steer and son Norman were visitors to Millbrook on Wednesday.

Mrs. T. G. Ryey has sold her home and property in this village to Louis Staples of Lifford, reeve of Manvers. Mr. and Mrs. Staples expect to move to the village about May 1.

Mrs. Ryley is selling her household effects by public auction the last of this week and expects to leave for Toronto in a few days, where she intends to make her home with her daughter, Miss Violet Ryley

Mrs. Ryley will be greatly missed in the community and especially in the church circle where she has many warm friends.

Inauguration Day was first set as the "first Wednesday in March." That happened to be March 4, and ever since the ceremonies have been held on that day, in the United States.

150 Michigan Students Give Blood to Pave Way

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 17 —One hundred and fifty students are giving their blood in transfusions to help pay their way through college, Dr. John E. Garvey, chief resident physician of the university hospital, said.

The student blood donors are subject to call night or day, being summoned from classroom, theatre or from sleep, as the emergency requires.

Payment is made on the basis of $15 for 300 cubic centimeters, or less. For amounts over this the donor gets $5 for each additional 100 cubic centimeters.

CHURCH SERVICES WELL ATTENDED

Many People at All Services on Easter Sunday at Burnbrae.

BURNBRAE, April 16.—The Sunday morning service at St. Andrew's was well attended both by members of the congregation and visitors. Rev. Mr. McKenzie's address was in keeping with the spirit of Easter, being a discourse on the proofs of the existence of a future life. "The true Christian did not fear death, knowing that joy awaited in the life hereafter." The choir rendered special Easter music. Next Sunday Mr. McKenzie intends to speak to the young people and hopes to have as large an attendance as possible.

The regular meeting of the Young People's Guild was held on Monday evening.

The sporting element in Burnbrae is beginning to think about baseball and plans are already under way for a team to be entered in the proposed new township league.

Winter is not entirely over yet, if one is to judge by the heavy fall of snow on Sunday evening last.

Personal.

Will Brady of Hamilton was a holiday visitor at Burnbrae and Menie.

Miss Annie Haig of Lakefield and Carl Haig, Queen's University, Kingston, are spending the holiday season at their home on the English Line.

Mrs. Thos. Watson and Mrs. Geo. Anderson spent the holiday with their cousin, Mrs. Wm. Mather, Toronto.

Ed. Todd of Rawdon, spent the week end in Toronto. He returned on Monday accompanied by his brother, Albert Todd.

Mr and Mrs. Max Anderson spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Milne, Menie.

Mrs. O B. Johnston, Centreville, spent a few days of this week in the vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Watson and family spent Easter Sunday with relatives in Stirling.

Messrs. Stanley Nelson, Wilbert Whithon and Stanley Little attended Belleville sale on Wednesday of last week.

A number of Burnbrae people attended the play at Petherick's Corners on Thursday evening.

Miss Eloise Watson of Belleville Public School staff is home for Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Cleugh and Wm Cleugh of Belleville visited at the home of Mr. Ed. Wison on Easter Sunday.

REMEMBER GREAT CANADIAN STAND

G.W.V.A. Will Hold Church Parade in Commemoration of Ypres.

On Sunday next the local branch of the G.W.V.A. will hold its annual church parade to St. Luke's church. The service will be held in the morning, and veterans of all ranks and campaigns will assemble at the G.W.V.A. at 10 a.m. where they will march off, headed by the band of the Peterborough Rangers under the direction of Lieut. W. Peryer.

The Sunday nearest to April 23rd was adopted by the local branch as a day that should be observed for all time to come as a fitting memorial day in commemoration of the Second Battle of Ypres.

It is one of the days that should be forever set apart and kept sacred, not only in Canada, but wherever across the whole wide world the British flag salutes the sky.

It was on that day the British Empire stood in most deadly danger, and it was saved from that danger by the heroism of sons from across the seas.

On that day "over there in Belgium" thousands of gallant Canadians, many of them from Peterborough, fought with their backs against the wall. Thousands of them laid down their lives, building with their bodies a barricade, launching with their last breath as that deadly poison gas crept through their lungs. A superb defiance to the grey clad hordes that outnumbered them three to one.

To Canadians, "Ypres Day" should be a day of undying memory, a day when the nation as a whole should bare its head and thank God for the men who died, and yet saved the day.

So on Sunday next, when the Veterans are holding their commemoration service at St. Luke's, the citizens throughout should cast their thought back to the events of ten years ago, and offer up a silent prayer for the repose of the souls of those who laid down their lives amidst Flanders poppies on that never to be forgotten day.

Lest we forget.

HE'S RICH BUT POOR.

BERLIN, April 17 —A farmer in Nebraska has inherited $50,000 from a relative, but can't find a way to get it to America. Taking of gold out of the country is forbidden, and other German money isn't worth transporting. He bought more than 100,000 pairs of socks to sell over here, but found the import duty was $28,000.

FILM NEWSPAPER NEXT?

NEW YORK, April 17.—Cans of newsreel films soon will be delivered to subscribers in much the same manner as the daily paper, Dr. Hugo Reisenfeld, manager of a New York theatre, predicts. Each home will have its own projector and thus view the more important events of the preceding day.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL MEETING

Clerk Instructed to Put Poll Tax List in Collector's Hands.

The North Monaghan Council met at the Court House, Peterborough on Tuesday, April 14th, all the members being present. A petition largely signed was presented to the Council requesting them to retain the present road commissioner for road division number 4. H. F. Doig tendered for a dump ground for $25 per annum.

A letter was read from Mr. F. C. McRae, Norwood, agricultural representative, stating that considerable agitation had been put forth asking that the representative be stationed in Peterborough instead of Norwood, and that during this spring he would be available each Saturday at the store of Roland Denne, George street to discuss agricultural problems with anyone desiring such service free.

George Whitfield was present to interview the Council in regard to the surface water flooding his property around the buildings in the spring of the year. He stated that this was caused by the first spring freshet not getting away on account of the ditch being full of snow and suggested to the Council that this first spring freshet be allowed to run through the old course where the culvert was filled in until such time as snow in the drain was melted away and the drain was in a condition to carry the water directly to the river. He said the present drain gave ample access for the water to drain the property as originally intended, but that on account of the snow in the drain not being removed the water accumulated around his buildings. A resolution was passed that the council inspect this drain and culvert as requested by Mr. Whitfield.

Wants Road Allowance.

Archie Patterson was present and proposed that the council accept from him a road allowance straight from the corner in the road south of the C.P.R. railway. Mr. Patterson offers to give the land and to grade the road, providing the council will allow him a portion of the old road now in use. This matter was also left over for inspection by the council.

Frank Pratt, township relief officer was present and presented the following bills for payment.

A. E. White, groceries, $6.23; W. J. Fitzgerald, wood $33.25; W. J. Grady, groceries, $3.16; New Centre Meat Market, 50 cents; J. A. Holden, groceries, $4.10; J. A. Holden, groceries, $1.91; J. E. A. Fitzgerald, coal, $4.25; A. E. Saunders, groceries, $4.57; A. E. Saunders, groceries, $3.3; St. Joseph's Hospital, $22.50; W. J. Byers, groceries, $13.02; W. J. Byers, groceries, $10.32; St. Joseph's Hospital, $31.50; St. Joseph's Hospital, $16.50. Total $155.14

The clerk was instructed to get a list from the assessor of those eligible to pay poll tax and to put the list in the hands of the tax collector for collection according to the terms of the by-law.

The following bills were passed for payment:

Archie Patterson, four posts, $1; Bank of Nova Scotia, cheques, $11.80.

The meeting then adjourned until the call of the reeve.

MOB OF PICKPOCKETS.

TOKIO, April 17 —More than 30 pickpockets were arrested on the Tokio street cars in one day. A special squad of plainclothes men have been placed on the cars to pick them up.

BIG JAP BLACKLIST.

TOKIO, April 17.—Police of Tokio have placed the names of 1,030 boys and 60 girls on a blacklist. Police will be stationed in the parks and the cafes to see that their conduct in the future is more exemplary.

ASSAY REPORTS OF BINGO MINE ARE CONDEMNED

Mining Geologist Says Values Quoted in Newspaper Were "Impossible."

WINNIPEG CASE

Crown Alleges Mine Was Salted With Gold Filings —No Commercial Value.

WINNIPEG, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—Examination of the Bingo Gold Mine's underground workings revealed it to be without any commercial value, John Dresser, mining geologist of Montreal, told the court here Thursday in the preliminary hearing of fraud charges against Joseph Myers, former managing director of the Bingo Gold Mine, Limited.

Asked whether is was necessary to examine the mine further, Mr. Dresser replied in the negative.

"The portion examined is without commercial ore that would pay for recovery," he said. The witness added, however, that he referred only to the mine and not the property, which had not been examined.

Shown statements published in the newspapers which indicated samples taken from the mine had assays ranging from a trace to $132 a ton, Mr. Dresser declared the high values claimed were "impossible."

This evidence was given under strenuous objection from R. A. Bonnar, chief defence counsel. The remainder of the early session was confined to evidence relating to methods of sampling and description of assaying and the possibility of error.

Record of Samples.

From his laboratory note-book, T. S. Gilchrist, of Montreal, metallurgical chemist, read to the court the values of all the samples taken at the Bingo Mine in the Dresser examination made during November and the early part of December, 1924.

Some of the values found were $20.20, $16, $36, $16.60, $72, $32.20, $96, and $82.

A. J. Andrews, for the Crown, drew from the witness that assuming sample bags contained five pounds of ore, that the amount of pure gold necessary to raise 800 samples to an average value of $25 a ton would be about $50, or 6½ cents of pure gold in each sack.

"Dirty Work" Done.

Mr. Bonnar, for the defence, registered an objection to this line of examination, but Mr. Andrews said: "I want the court to know how much gold it took to do the dirty work."

Mr. Bonnar objected to the remarks and retorted: "We'll show you where the dirty work is before we get through."

"Well, we'll call it the golden work, then," said Mr. Andrews.

Mr. Bonnar asked if it would not be possible to ascertain from the remainder of the samples in the hands of the assayers whether or not the samples were salted by detecting the presence of jeweller's gold. The witness thought it might be possible, given the necessary equipment and time.

Play to Gallery.

During the cross-examination of Mr. Gilchrist, feeling ran high and charges of making "grandstand plays to the gallery" were freely hurled back and forth.

Mr. Gilchrist admitted that the pulp in the mine would to a certain extent prove whether salting had been done in the original rock.

Replying to further questions, Mr. Gilchrist stated that given enough samples and sufficient time, he could determine by chemical tests whether gold had been added to the original rock.

Mr. Andrews, for the prosecution, asked Mr. Gilchrist what conclusions he would draw if he found gold filings in some of the pulp, and not in others.

"I would conclude gold had been added," the witness replied.

RAISE LIVE STOCK.

Advice to Ontario and Western Breeders by Col. H. A. Mullins.

TORONTO, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—"Stick to livestock raising, and increase the output of store cattle," is the advice to Ontario and Western breeders and feeders offered by Col. H. A. Mullins, of Winnipeg, who arrived in Toronto yesterday on his return from a trip to Great Britain and Ireland in connection with his business of exporting cattle to British market.

PRINCE ON LONG INLAND JOURNEY

Chat With Only Two European Women at Jebba, Nigeria.

HEAT INTENSE.

JEBBA, Nigeria, April 17.—(Canadian Press). — The train of the Prince of Wales, en route to Kano, stopped at the Jebba south station, where the Prince alighted for a bit of exercise. Clad in a khaki suit and shirt, he walked about the station grounds unconventionally. There are only two European women in this out-of-the-way place. They were at the station, and the Prince struck up a conversation with them —but neither of them recognized the Royal visitor until after they had been talking with him for five minutes.

The Prince found Jebba interesting because here he crossed the Niger River for the first time and saw the great Juju Mountain, where twenty years ago the natives offered human sacrifices by carrying victims to the top of the mountain and flinging them down.

Landing near the railway station at Lagos Wednesday, after formal introductions to local officials, the Prince immediately boarded a special train for Kano, 600 miles inland. The journey takes forty-four hours, and during every moment intense tropical heat will be experienced, but the Prince of Wales looks the picture of health and those of his party say he will have no difficulty in standing up under the blistering sunshine and sweltering nights.

While waiting to board the launch for Lagos the Prince was greatly interested in the antics of two sharks which had been attracted by bait held out by sailors on board the battle cruiser.

TEACH RELIGION IN THE SCHOOLS

Methodist Board of Religious Education, Toronto, Hears Recommendations.

TORONTO, April 17 (Canadian Press).— Increased promotion of week-day religious education in the public schools of the various provinces of the Dominion was involved in recommendations made to the Methodist Board of Religious Education at its opening session in Toronto yesterday. Delegates who are present from every province and from Newfoundland are considering a method of obtaining closer co-operation between church and school. It was reported that the executives of the Methodist and Presbyterian boards both favored more emphasis on this phase of their work during the coming year.

PRINCE DRIVES TRAIN.

Penetrates Interior of Nigeria 462 Miles From Coast.

NINNA, Nigeria, April 17 (Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wales arrived here at midnight, thus having penetrated the interior of Nigeria, 462 miles by rail from the coast.

During the afternoon's run, the Prince drove the train for a half hour. By his side was the engine driver who piloted King Edward's train when, as Prince of Wales, he visited West Africa en route to India.

RADIO CAUSED WRECK

Japanese Scientist Says That Waves Produced Sparks From Aluminum.

TOKIO, April 17.—Dr. T. Terada, science professor in the Tokio University, says that the destruction of the dirigible SS3 last March with the loss of her crew was caused by a broadcast of radio wave.

Dr. Terada was a member of the board appointed to investigate the explosion, and after it had ended its labors without finding a theory, he continued his experiments. Coating a miniature of the airship with the aluminum paint that was used on the SS3, he found that radio waves directed against it produced sparks measuring nearly an inch, and while he has not fully disclosed the nature of the experiment and its results, he expresses his conviction that he has found the cause of the disaster.

Pyorrhea is a disease of the gums—not the teeth

You may take good care of your teeth and still get Pyorrhea. Once Pyorrhea secures a firm hold, pus pockets form, gums become weak and flabby, the teeth loosen and fall out no matter how white and sound they may be.

Forhan's means healthy gums

It contains the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent, as used by the dental profession in treating Pyorrhea. Forhan's protects the gums, keeps them in a firm, healthy condition, and leaves the mouth sweet, fresh and wholesome. If you don't care to discontinue your regular tooth paste, at least brush your teeth and gums once a day with Forhan's.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HELP SCHOOL FAIR

Give Good Prizes to the Best Boy and Girl Drivers.

WARSAW, April 16.—The Women's Institute met last Thursday afternoon. It was decided to assist the School Fair by giving two prizes for driving—one to the best girl driver and one to the best boy driver. The girl's prize to be a year's subscription for a good girls' magazine, and the boy's a year's subscription for a good boys' magazine. There was no topic, but a roll call, to which most of the ladies responded with a few verses, a recipe, or a helpful hint.

There was some discussion on renovating hardwood floors, and all advised washing with gasoline after the old wax was removed. One lady's contribution was a cake of maple sugar for each of those present, and she was good enough to remember the invalids at home.

For the May meeting the subject is —"A Travel Talk," by Mrs. George Taylor.

Temperance Sermon.

Mr. Conner, prohibition representative, preached in the Presbyterian Church. He gave a very strong temperance sermon, and seemed to think that, after all the temperance people have done, things are as bad as they have been for a long time. He advised that voters know the men who run for parliament, and vote for those whom they know will stand for the right.

Easter Services.

The Easter service in the Methodist Church was largely a service of song. In addition to several Easter hymns by the congregation, the choir sang "Awake, Awake," and "Up from the Grave," and Messrs. Weir and H. Batten sang "On Calvary's Brow." Mr. Conner led in the long prayer, and Rev. F. G. Weir gave a short talk on "The Friends and Enemies of Jesus Christ, as Affected by the Crucifixion and by the Resurrection."

The Anglican Church was very prettily decorated with Easter lillies and daffodils. Rev. Mr. Cox conducted the Easter communion service. The little church was quite well filled. Messrs Marlow and J. C. Strickland accompanied Mr. Cox from Lakefield.

The old grass in the cemetery is all burned.

Missionary Service.

At the church service conducted by the women of the Missionary Society, Mrs. Taylor read a pamphlet on "Suggestions for Mission Work," and ended with a short poem, "Is it Nothing to You, Oh, Christian?" Mrs. Wallace Anderson read the financial report, which showed that though the membership is small, the financial results have been quite good, and there will be nearly, if not quite, the one hundred dollars for missionary work. They have also done a certain amount of local work.

Mrs. Robert Moore, president, gave a history of Methodist missions and of the Women's Missionary Society, which was organized in 1881. They have worked among the Indians in Canada; among the foreigners who come from the various European countries and settle in our Western Provinces; among the Japanese and Chinese in Victoria and Vancouver; also actual foreign work in China and Japan. Mrs. Moore described quite fully the work of the schools and of the hospitals in connection with the various missions. She also mentioned the need of more workers, and, incidentally, more money.

New Arrivals.

Quite recently three families have come to the village—Mr. and Mrs. John Sargent, from Wilterforce; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clements, from Peterboro, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Payne, from North Dummer. They are all members of the Methodist Church. Tuesday evening, the members of that body gave a social evening in the basement to welcome these newcomers. There were games, music, contests and light refreshments. Mr. Weir gave a short, informal address of welcome to the guests of the evening, who appreciated the gathering very much.

There was no meeting of the U.F.O. on Wednesday. Some farmers report that their wheat and clover is all right so far. Saturday's snow and rain gave the fields a greener tinge, and Sunday evening's snow is considered a good thing.

The roads, except the boundary which needs the grader badly, were in splendid condition before the storm.

Most people who had not done so before, wound up their syrup-making last week after, on the whole, one of the most unsuccessful seasons for many years. A few pails are still out.

Last week, practically every one was on the land. Many fields are being better worked than usual before seeding.

Personals.

Miss Cressa Crowe spent the week-end with her parents.

Mrs. Jacob Payne, Lakefield, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Thos. Crowe.

Miss Quinn went home for the Easter holidays.

Miss Lena Miller is spending the Easter holidays at home.

Mr. Currie is spending the holidays at his home.

Joseph Miles arrived home to-day after several weeks in Toronto.

Mrs. Moore spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Choate.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Selkirk were home for Easter.

Mr. E. N. MacDonald was in the village last week in the interest of the egg pool, which opens on April 15.

Mr. James Dewart, with his wife and family, have moved to the farm lately occupied by his brother, Ed. Dewart.

Rev. W. Atkinson has not yet returned from Toronto.

GIRL IS EYE EXPERT.

LONDON, April 16.—Considered the finest maker of artificial eyes in Great Britain, Miss Millauro, London girl of 19, can make a perfect speciment in 15 minutes.

FOOTBALL "UMPS" SMOKE.

LONDON, April 16.—Some referees of football matches here have started smoking while in charge of the game and strong opposition is expressed in several papers.

BETHANY W.M.S. NEW OFFICERS

Mrs. T. J. Jackson is President—Presentation to Mrs. T. G. Ryley.

LIFE MEMBER.

BETHANY, April 16.—The regular meeting of the W.M.S. was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Crerar, seventeen members being present. After the regular meeting was completed, the election of officers for the ensuing year was held, the following being elected:

President, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; vice-president, Mrs. W. G. Rowan; secretary, Mrs. A. H. Monk; treasurer, Mrs. W. Byers.

Mrs. T. G. Ryley, who is leaving the village in the near future and who has been president of the W.M.S. for the last six years, handed in her resignation which was accepted with regret by the entire society. Mrs. Ryley was asked to come forward, and the following address was read by Mrs. P. C. Brown:

Dear Mrs. Ryley,—We, your sisters of the W.M.S., wish you to know how very much we have appreciated your loving leadership as president of this society for the last six years. It is with sorrow we have accepted your resignation to-day, but we know that nearer and dearer ties call you from us, and so we must not be selfish in our love for you. We hope that in the near future you may again find yourself working in our beloved society in your new church home, and we know that very often your thoughts will stray to us on each second Tuesday of the month as we gather together and that your prayers on our behalf will often ascend to our Heavenly Father who is God over all. As a little reminder of those you leave behind and of the hours we have spent together we ask you to accept this small token of our society and that when you wear it it may bring us nearer to you. Our wish is that every good gift may be yours in the days to come, and if by chance you should return to our midst we shall be delighted to welcome you.

Signed on behalf of the society: Mrs. T. J. Jackson, President, and Mrs. A. Monk, Secretary.

Mrs. Ryley was presented with a life membership pin. The presentation was made by Mrs. T. Jackson. Mrs. Ryley was taken completely by surprise, and while replying to the address in a very suitable manner, was deeply affected. The hostess then served lunch and a very enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. Frank Hanna, who has been teller in the local branch of the Bank of Toronto for the last year, has been transferred to London, Ont.

Miss Jean Ingram, of Peterborough, is visiting friends and relatives in the village.

Mrs. T. A. Rehill, of Peterborough, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. R. L. Crerar.

Mr. A. Birchard, of Peterborough, spent Wednesday the guest of Mrs. T. G. Ryley.

MARMORA MAN WINS HONORS

W. D. Donnolley's Boston Terrier Takes First, Third and Special

AT SPRING SHOW.

MARMORA, April 16.—Mr. W. D. Donnolly, who attended the 19th annual international spring dog show, held in the Gowan-Kent Building, Toronto, was successful in securing a first, third and special with his female Boston terrier, "Highland Doll." This enhances the reputation which this animal has already held. Further honours, doubtless, await this most valuable of local canines. Mr. Donnolly has just shipped two Boston terrier pups to Charlton kennels, Brantford, while another is to be sent to Baltimore in the very near future.

Euchre Party.

An enjoyable euchre party and dance was held in Deloro Hall on Easter Monday through the efforts of the local lady members of the Sacred Heart Church. The weather having improved from that of Sunday evening, encouraged a splendid attendance from the district. Of the many tables set for cards, twenty were filled, and interesting play ensued. The winners of the prizes were Mrs. William Reynolds and Mr. James Hughes, both of Marmora. Cards being finished at half-past ten, refreshments were then passed round, following which dancing ruled the night. Messrs. R. Hunter, H. Dunlay, P. Clement and Miss L. Sullivan were responsible for the music for the round dances, whilst Mr. Izzard played for the square dances. All the playing was pronounced good. Mr. Harry Phillips acted as floor manager.

Personals.

Mrs. R. Young, who has been spending a couple of weeks at the home of her parents in Montreal, returned to Deloro on Monday.

Mr. Dan Gallagher has rented his farm to Mr. Irwin McCoy.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Crawford spent Easter with relatives in Kingston.

Deloro Women's Institute are arranging for a box social and dance at the hall on the 21st.

Messrs. J. H. Doige and Ray Murray spent Easter Sunday in Stirling.

Messrs. H. English and T. M. Gresham visited Hamilton over Easter.

Miss D. L. Cheeseman, of Toronto, is on a visit to her brother, Mr. Syd Cheeseman.

Mr. James B. Adams, of Toronto, was a visitor to Deloro on Monday.

DANGER OF BAD TEETH.

LONDON, April 16.—"Bad teeth are hotbeds of germs that may cause meningitis and blood poisoning," says Dr. Bronte, specialist of the Government.

HE CAUGHT 2,000 DOGS.

MOBERLY, Mo., April 16.—William Misemer, 88, claims to be the oldest dog catcher in the country. In the last 12 years he has caught almost 2,000 dogs.

BEAUTY QUITS HUBBY—GOES HOME

Charlotte Nash, who was "Miss St. Louis" in the Atlantic City pageant of 1923, and who eloped with F. G. Nixon Nirdlinger, has returned from Paris to her home in St. Louis without her husband. Nirdlinger is 30 years older than his wife.

BE YOURSELF, SAYS STUDENT.

By Gene Cohn.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 17. — The simple lesson that Yale's "wonder student" would pass on to his fellow is this: "Be yourself! Keep your sense of humor! You can be a digger and also have a good time!"

And by his versatile achievements Frank Davis Ashburn, 22, has managed to oust the old notion that to gain scholarly distinction means grind constantly and to seem deadly serious.

2—In the senior questionarie he was voted variously; "the most popular man," "the most studious" and "the classman who has done most for Yale."

3—He writes poetry — verse that carries promise — writes esays and short stories and newspaper copy; is versed in the arts to an extent that would let him pass for an esthete. He won the college poetry prize in his sophomore year.

4—He is a fighter, having carried on a campaign in th college newspaper against putting certain buildings on the campus—and won.

5—He is the only winner of the Rhodes scholarship, and thus entitled to attend Oxford, England.

6—He enjoys dances and the social activities of college life and believes in having a good time.

7—He is modest about his achievements almost to the point of shyness.

Regarding all of which he remarks: "The interests of students are becoming more varied. Apparently it once was the case that a man went in for athletics or for grind and went up on an individual record. It's silly to believe that a fellow can't balance his college diet and get along well in all of them Dozens of men in Yale are doing it with a considerable degree of success, and I think that more and more there is a tendency to vary the activities."

His birthplace is Batavia, O., and in his childhood, two trains came in daily. Since his father was an army man young Ashburn was trotted around quite a bit, going variously to the Philippines, San Francisco and Montana. It is to Batavia he goes, however, in vacation time.

It may be that this varied schooling had something to do with his varied tastes, but Ashburn doesn't reason that way. He doesn't attempt to find a "reason why."

If, he reasons, you really are interested, observant and intelligent enough to know how to take advantage of opportunities and "breaks" and "remain yourself"— that is sufficient.

What does the "wonder student" expect to do with his "best scholarship"

"Write and teach," he quickly answers. "As soon as I know enough I'm going to try a novel. Meanwhile I'll content myself with verses, articles and magazine material."

NATURE'S PARTY

Old Mother Nature is planning a party that comes every year with a spirit that's hearty. We all know, of course, it's the regular thing for Nature to shine with the coming of spring.

'Tis nice that we are all invited to come and join in the spread when all things are ahum. A treat is in store just for you and for me—just a sight that's as pretty as any could be.

The frost-bitten ground is now lending a hand and helping the growing things over the land. The buds that have slept through the long winter days will sortly be opening up in a blaze.

The oak and the maple and all other trees have sulked in the months that brought wind waits that freeze, but now they are quaking and shaking their doom and shortly we'll find them aglow in full bloom.

'Tis really no wonder that the spirit runs high, and twinkles are seen in Old Sol's shining eye. 'Tis really just natural that birds start to sing. The whole land is cheered by the coming of spring.

NEWS FROM ORLAND

Former Teacher of Orland School Returned to Attend Funeral.

ORLAND, April 15.—Lisle Carr is suffering from a broken bone in the wrist, as a result of an accident while cranking a car.

Sam McColl who was very low last week after his operation is somewhat better and is being cared for by Nurse Taylor of Brighton.

John Ames, Sr., who came down from Toronto to attend his brother's funeral, is returning today.

He has visited many of his pupils of the days long past by. Father Time has laid his hand lightly on him as he appears but little older than he looked thirty-six years ago when he taught Orland school.

He has taught almost continuously since up to the Christmas holidays since which time he has been under the weather with a bad cold. However, he has accepted the offer of a school west of Toronto, where his services are to begin after the Easter holidays.

R. N Whitton shipped a load of veal calves Monday and is shipping a load of hogs today from Brighton and most all the farmers in this locality are selling to him, although the club shipped Monday very few from hereabouts patronized them.

BIG CHURCH INCREASE.

LONDON, April 16.—The membership of the churches in England increased on a larger scale last year than at any time since the great Welsh revival. The total increase was 110,000 members.

WAREHOUSES OF HALIFAX SPILL BONDED LIQUOR

Collusion Between the Nova Scotia Government and Liquor Export Company Alleged.

LAX ENFORCEMENT.

Abolition of All the Bonded Warehouses in the Province is Advocated.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 17 — Illeit liquor traffic and the enforcement of the Nova Scotia liquor laws were again the subject of a general discussion in the Legislature yesterday when the opposition criticized the Government's method of inforcing the statutes, questioned its sincerity on the question of prohibition, disinuated connection between the Government and a local liquor export company and urged the abolition of all bonded liquor warehouses in the province.

J. A. MacDonald, Farmer, Hants, referred to statements made by the Attorney-General in the House, Tuesday night, to the effect that no leakages were occurring from the bond warehouses. If that were true, then where did the liquor come from that was purchased in Halifax and taken to the country for sale by bootleggers. He mentioned a particular case in his home town where he said the result of distribution of liquor brought from Halifax was almost unmentionable, and in that connection he accused appointed officers of the government of participation in the law-breaking.

Asked For Names

Mr. O'Hearn interjected the statement that the member for Hants had made a sweeping statement of great importance, and he would have to ask him to make a specific charge and named the officers who had been delinquent in their duties. Mr. MacDonald replied that he would give the names in confidence but was urged by the Attorney-General that he should give them to the House.

Dr. B. A. Leblanc, Conservative, Richmond, asked the Attorney-if it was as reasonable to expect Mr. O'Hearn to name the "ardent prohibitionists" whom the Attorney-General said the previous night were among those smuggling liquor into Nova Scotia.

Hr. O'Hearn replied that he had been misunderstood and that he had meant that among the smugglers, he was ready to believe, were many ardent prohibition workers because the continuance of the prohibition law made their activities profitable. The reason for their prohibition leanings was "obvious" he said.

Forman Way, Labor, Cape Breton, asked "What do you mean by 'obvious' "

"A man of the intelligence of my Hon. Friend should be able to reach his own inference," replied Mr. O'Hearn, "without any assistance from me."

Coming to the question of bonded liquor houses which the Social Service Council had asked the government to order abolished, Forman Way wanted to know if the Government could effect their abolition by asking the Federal government to do away with them.

Mr. O'Hearn said that was a legal question which he could not answer off-hand. He would have to give the matter some study.

Export Houses Closed

J. A. MacDonald, Hants, asked if the export houses in New Brunswick had been abolished. Mr. O'Hearn said after New Brunswick had collected revenue from the warehouses two years and then found that the provincial law under which the revenue was collected was declared "ultra vires" by the Supreme Court of Canada, they had got rid of them.

"Do the bonded warehouses pay anything into the Provincial revenue?" asked Dr. Leblanc.

"No!!" replied Mr. O'Hearn.

"Then why don't they? Everything else is taxed. We're taxed when we're born and taxed when we die, but the liquor dealers don't pay a cent."

"Do you want to put a tax on bootleggers?" asked Mr. O'Hearn.

"They're all the same whether they peddele it in their pockets or in vessels," Dr. Leblanc said.

D. G. MacKenzie, Farmer, Cumberland, asked if it were true that the Franco-Canadian Export Company had recently changed its name and premises with permission of the Government. Mr. O'Hearn replied that they had become a limited company and had taken new premises and the government had not objected. It was simply a case of "Dr. Jekyl becoming Mr. Hyde."

"Who is Mr. Hyde?" asked Forman Way. He understood that the company under discussion was closely allied with the government and would like to know who constituted the members of the firm—who was Dr. Jekyl and who was Mr. Hyde.

Were Only Rumors

Mr. O'Hearn: "Perhaps the Hon. Gentleman will tell the house in what way the Government and the company are connected."

"I don't know. I just heard rumors to that effect," replied Mr. Way. In any case, he continued, the company was evidently doing no good to the country and if the Government were sincere in its prohibition leanings it would move to close them up. Mr. O'Hearn said the export company gave work to stevedores and business to outfitters, was transacting a perfectly legal business so far as the laws of this country were concerned, and there was no reason to act against them. He was satisfied that even though some of the liquor from local bonded warehouses was smuggled into the United States, there was none of it finding its way into Nova Scotia. He believed that the liquor smuggled into Nova Scotia came from St. Pierre.

"Not all of it!!" said Dr. Leblanc.

"Perhaps the Hon. Gentleman is more familiar with the facts that I," suggested the Attorney-General.

"I am," replied Dr. Leblanc.

AN INACTIVE LIVER IS THE CAUSE OF CONSTIPATION

When your liver gets sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers.

Your bowels become constipated; you have sick and bilious headaches; your tongue coated and furry; your breath bad; specks float before your eyes, and often you feel as if you were going to faint, especially if in a crowded place where there is little or no ventilation.

When in this condition there is only one thing to do, and that is to take

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

They will stimulate the sluggish liver so that it will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, and thus clear away all the poisonous matter that is responsible for all your liver troubles.
